VISITORS

While the patient is a resident in this hospital there are rules and regulations all must work within. It is hoped by supplying family and friends with basic information, it will make the visit beneficial to all concerned.

The hospital supplies all clothing, meals, medications and other items necessary for the care and treatment of our patients. In addition we maintain a canteen operated for the benefit of patients through which permissible items may be purchased. By spending patient funds, i.e. cash, check, or money order, he may purchase the items he desires. Should you wish to give the patient a gift or package, you may send it through the mail or bring it to the hospital during regular visiting hours. (See Item 1 and "Acceptable Items," page 3).

VISITING AND CORRESPONDENCE INFORMATION

For information about a patient's progress, or these regulations, address inquiries to the following address:

REDACTED
Atascadero State Hospital
Drawer A
Atascadero, California 93422

Should you make an inquiry by telephone, you may not receive the information you desire as there are laws preventing the disclosure of information without the patient's permission. (See Section 5328 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.) It would be best to write and to identify yourself, the name of the patient you are writing about, and to identify your relationship to the patient.

Patients may initiate telephone calls on a collect basis from within the hospital to their relatives and/or friends. Should the person receiving the call not wish to talk to the patient, they may simply refuse the collect call. Currently there are no provisions for patients to receive direct phone calls. However, it is possible to phone the hospital and request that the patient return the call. If it is an emergency, the caller shall describe the situation. The patient can usually return an emergency call within a half hour.

VISITING

WHO MAY VISIT

A. Patients may receive visits from anyone unless their name appears on the NEGATIVE VISITING REGISTER, which is maintained at the Reception Desk. Names may only be placed on this list after the patient has been informed that his visits are being denied for good cause.
B. Minors under the age of 16 years must be accompanied by a responsible visiting adult. There are no arrangements or facilities for the care of infants or small children by hospital staff.

C. Former patients will visit in the Visiting Room unless previous approval to visit on the program within the security area of the hospital has been given by the Medical Director.

VISITING REGULATIONS

A. Visitors are encouraged to visit on weekends and holidays so as not to interfere with a patient's treatment schedule. However, if you wish to talk to staff, it is best to schedule visits during the week. The Visiting Room is open daily from 8:30 A.M. to 3:00 P.M.

B. Visitors who wish to see a staff member should so request when registering with the receptionist. This should be conducted during the work week. We suggest that requests for interviews with staff members be submitted prior to the date of visiting and allow the staff member sufficient time to arrange his or her schedule.

C. Ordinarily all visiting takes place in the visiting room within the hospital. Patients with grounds privileges may have visits in the picnic area on Saturdays, Sundays, Tuesdays and holidays, providing the weather permits. Visitors of patients with grounds privileges may bring food for their own use in the picnic area. Patients may participate but may not bring food back into the hospital. Patients are not allowed to enter private automobiles.

D. Box lunches can be purchased by those visiting through lunch hours by placing orders in the visiting room on arrival. Orders for lunch may be made up until 12:30 P.M.

E. Please leave all unnecessary items at home or locked in your car, as all visitors must pass through a contraband detector before visiting. It is a violation to bring upon these grounds any firearms, intoxicating liquors, narcotics or drugs. No article of any kind may be given to a patient or received by a patient without prior permission.

NOTICE: All persons and vehicles entering these grounds are subject to search.

F. Money in any form cannot be accepted in the visiting room. Monday through Friday it may be paid directly into the patient's account at the Trust Office, or it may be mailed at any time for the patient's account.

G. Visitors bringing in cash are encouraged to have a supply of loose change for use in the visiting room. A canteen employee will be available to make change between 11:30 A.M. and 1:00 P.M. on a daily basis.

H. Visitors should take care of all personal business before or after visiting hours. This will preclude the entering and exiting of the security area a great number of times.
I. Visitors who wish to visit more than one patient at a time must receive approval prior to the scheduled visiting time. Approval for such visit will be obtained directly from the Program Director of the patients involved. This request should be made by the visitor.

J. Any visitor wishing to leave packages or gifts for patients may do so through the Protective Services Department. Packages will be wrapped the same as for mailing and should not contain any item unacceptable in this hospital (including perishable foods). Packages will be accepted during the regular visiting hours, 8:30 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. daily. All packages will be checked by hospital staff in the patient's presence.

K. Any exceptions to the foregoing regulations should be cleared in advance with the Program staff. The Hospital Peace Officer in charge may grant additional visiting on the basis of space and supervision available after receiving approval from the patient's ward.

ACCEPTABLE ITEMS

- After-Shave Lotion in plastic container
- Radio (battery-operated only); watch or electric razor
- No items operated with electric cords will be allowed
- Stamps, writing supplies and photographs (Except of patient by himself)
- Cigarettes, cigars and pipes
- Jackets or sweaters (Cardigan type)
- Batteries, wallet (metal clip removed) and Bible
- Containers will not be accepted unless they are factory-sealed with the seal unbroken.
- A patient cannot receive any canned or jar items except coffee, tea, Tang, non-dairy creamers or shelled nuts.

If a visitor wishes to give a patient an item other than those contained on this list, he should ascertain from hospital staff whether or not such items would be acceptable.

For items that will be utilized on the ward for the total ward patient population, the visitor should see the Coordinator of Volunteer Services. This would include such items as very large birthday cakes, sheet cakes, and food for ward parties.

CONDUCT OF VISITORS

The conduct of both visitors and patients upon greeting one another and during the visit shall be socially acceptable, and shall not be offensive to other visitors and patients in the visiting room. Even though there are no set guidelines, those individuals who feel other visitors and patients are not conducting themselves in a proper manner shall report any incident to the Protective Services Officer in charge. The immediate incident will be handled by him and a decision made as to whether or not the visit should continue or be concluded.

The visitors shall wear appropriate dress, both in the picnic area and in the visiting room. There are no set guidelines as to appropriate dress, but it shall be construed as clothing which is in good taste and not subject to question by the Reception Desk or the Protective Services Officer.

When visitors picnic with patients in the areas provided, please remember that liquid fuel stoves cannot be allowed as there is a high fire hazard in this area. Charcoal burning stoves may be used at picnic area tables.

Children must be properly supervised by responsible visiting adults at all times while on the hospital grounds or in the visiting room. Please do not leave children or pets unattended in the vehicle.

No items may be passed between the visitor and the patient. This includes food, cigarettes, checks, money, medication of any kind, and legal papers. Legal papers must be given to the patient through the Trust Office.

CORRESPONDENCE

Patients may correspond with friends and relatives as often as they wish. Relatives and friends of long standing are encouraged to maintain contact through correspondence and visiting. A patient is expected to furnish his own postage; however, letters will be mailed free for patients without funds. Outgoing mail is not censored. Incoming letters are opened by the patient in the presence of an employee and cash and checks are turned over to the employee for deposit to the patient's account. The patient may draw money from his account for his personal use in the form of scrip.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Atascadero State Hospital is located midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, three miles south of Atascadero on Highway 101. A visitors' parking area is provided for persons traveling by private auto.

A Greyhound Bus Depot is located in Atascadero, approximately three miles from the hospital. If traveling by Greyhound, ask the bus driver if he can stop at the front entrance to the hospital.

Airline connections may be made at Paso Robles, 15 miles to the north, or San Luis Obispo, 17 miles to the south; however, no local public transportation is available.

While there are no public eating facilities at the hospital, visitors planning to remain at the hospital between visiting periods may bring their own lunch (to be eaten outside the visiting room), purchase a box lunch in the visiting room, or travel to local restaurants, but none are within walking distance.

Hotel and motel facilities are located in Atascadero, three miles north.

CHILD MOLESTATION: THE PROBLEM AND A PROPOSED SOLUTION

MICHAEL D. BRADBURY — DISTRICT ATTORNEY — VENTURA COUNTY
November 11, 1980

Assembly Criminal Justice Committee Members
Interim Hearings on Child Molestation

Members:

Our laws insufficiently protect our children. Although we place the highest priority upon their education and physical health, we downgrade their freedom from sexual molestation.

In California, if you sexually molest a child your chances of avoiding a prison sentence are four times better than if you had raped an adult woman. In fact, molesting a child, you have a 60% chance of obtaining probation.

This comparative leniency occurs despite the gravity of the crime. In fact, the victims of child molestation have been described by Dr. Roland Summit as "psychological time bombs."

Child molesters not sentenced to prison are frequently committed to state hospitals where, after 18 months, on the average, they are released as "non-dangerous." Yet, the scientific community is virtually unanimous that it is incapable of determining "non-dangerousness."

Our laws can be revised to better protect our children. These hearings are a promising first step.

Very truly yours,

Michael D. Bradbury

CHILD MOLESTATION, AN OVERVIEW

Child molestation is defined in the Penal Code as any lewd or lascivious act upon the body of a child under the age of 14 years where the perpetrator is motivated by a sexual intent. This statute would apply to pedophiles who molest children.

Little seems to be known about the causes or the dynamics of pedophilia. Consequently, psychiatry cannot effectively deal with its diagnosis, treatment or cure.

Pedophiles tend to have a circumscribed age preference range. This offender is sometimes referred to as "fixated." The fixated offender is described by Dr. Roland Summit of Harbor-UCLA Medical Center as a person who:

[K]nows that his love affair with a given child is time limited and that his compelling sexual attraction will turn to indifference or even repulsion within a few years. The appearance in the child of secondary sexual characteristics is like the stroke of midnight for Cinderella. The experienced pedophile learns to replace the fading attraction of each relationship with a succession of younger initiates. An active pedophile may have contact with hundreds, even thousands of children within his lifetime.

Summit, R., Recognition and Treatment of Child Sexual Abuse, p. 4 (1980), Pending publication.
Molesters victimize young boys at least as frequently as young girls. Summit, supra at p. 4. Swift, C., "Research Into Violent Behavior: Overview and Sexual Assaults," Hearings Before Subcommittee on Domestic and International, Scientific Planning, Analysis and Cooperation. U.S. House of Representatives, 95th Cong. 2d Sess. (Jan. 10-2, 1978). (Hereinafter cited as "Congressional Hearings.") The average female victim is eight years old at the time of initiation, but many are only two or three years old, or even younger. Boys are not infrequently victimized during years 1-8, but are most at risk during ages 9 to 13. Summit, supra at p. 4.

It is generally acknowledged within the mental health profession that the causes of pedophilia are yet to be clearly ascertained. Summit suggests that "fixated" pedophilia may:

[R]esult from trauma, as in a pre-adolescent sexual assault, or from excessive stimulation, such as an affectionate childhood relationship with a pedophile. In other cases there is no discernible reason for the fixation. As with other types of sexual paraphilies, theories of etiology remain diverse and controversial. Whatever the causes may be, it is important to recognize that pedophilia can exist as a disorder of sexual object choice, without associated disorders of thought, affect or behavior.

Summit, supra at p. 7.

Pedophilia may not be a mental illness. Dr. Nicholas A. Groth, Director of the Sex Offender Program for the State of Connecticut, states that "few sexual offenders against children are demonstrably psychotic in any obvious way ...." Groth, "Guidelines for the Assessment and Management of the Offender," p. 30 (1978). Many experts would agree that pedophilia is essentially a lifestyle which never changes.

At a minimum, the system's current faith in psychiatry as a solution to the problem should be coupled with some modesty.

The view that sexual crime is usually the expression of mental abnormality is often incorrect -- although the intensity of the sexual urge is sometimes sufficient to cause the sexual offender to defy the penalty he may incur, the same choice is made by many thieves and fraudulent persons and by many aggressive offenders who are rightly held to be responsible. It is unfortunate that academic theorists whose knowledge is culled from books and not from experience are not aware of these simple facts.

For almost every theory advanced about pedophilia, one can find an opposite conclusion reached by a different expert. However, there is expert agreement on the following principles:

1. Child molestation is more widespread than is commonly perceived;

2. Child molestation is vastly underreported;

3. Serious child molestation offenses often lead to long-term detrimental emotional problems for the victim;

4. There is no certainty as to the causes of pedophilia;
5. There is no known cure for pedophilia at the present time;

6. There is no reliable clinical ability to predict dangerousness; and

7. The true or "fixated" pedophile is quite likely to reoffend.
THE INCIDENCE OF CHILD MOLESTATION IS SIGNIFICANT AND SERIOUSLY UNDERREPORTED

No official national or statewide figures on the incidence of the molestation of children are available. This deficiency exists for several reasons. First, child molestation is probably the most significantly underreported crime against the person. As noted by Dr. Roland Summit of Harbor-UCLA Medical Center, studies indicate that no more than 6 percent of all child molestations are reported to authorities.

Summit, R. and Kryso, J., "Sexual Abuse of Children; A Clinical Second, some of the incidents which are reported to police do not result in arrests. Monahan, Dr. J., Congressional Hearings, p. 203-5 (1978). Third, most agencies which collect offense and arrest statistics do not report child molestation in any specific crime category. For example, child molestation is not separately reported on either the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports or the reports compiled by the California Department of Justice, Bureau of Criminal Statistics.

Typically, child molestation is lumped into the category of either "other sex offenses" or "other felonies." This deficiency also says much about the criminal justice system's attitude toward child molestation.
In the absence of meaningful official statistics, researchers have relied upon retrospective interview data. This data results from a series of surveys administered by various experts to mature individuals, gathering information about instances where they were molested sexually as children. The results of these surveys were summarized for the United States Congress by Dr. Caroline Swift of the Wyandot Mental Health Center in Lawrence, Kansas:

Estimates based on surveys [i.e., retrospective interviews] indicate that between 25-35 percent of females are sexually victimized in this country (Kinsey, 1973; Landis, 1956; Gagnon, 1970), and 5-30 percent of males (Landis, 1956; Brunold, 1964; Lloyd, 1976).

Congressional Hearings, p. 332.

As Dr. Swift summarized to Congress, these studies conclude that, "In terms of incidence, the retrospective studies seemed to indicate that between one-fourth and one-third of our entire population has been sexually exploited while growing up, and that's both boys and girls." Congressional, p. 352.

The reasons for the severe level of initial underreporting of child molestations were varied and set forth by Dr. Swift in her testimony. The major cause for underreporting is the severe taboo which society places on these cases. Thus, often the child or the parents of the child, once they are aware of the offense, do not report it to authorities. Additionally, in a significant number of the cases, the parent or stepparent of the child is the perpetrator and obviously can exercise great control over whether the matter ever comes to the authorities' attention. Studies indicate that the level of underreporting is particularly acute amongst molested boys. Swift, C., Congressional Hearings, p. 352-353 (1978).
CHILD MOLESTATION IS A PARTICULARLY SERIOUS OFFENSE

Child molestation often does not result in the infliction of physical injury upon the victim. For this reason it has sometimes been treated as a nonserious assault. Yet, the trauma and long-term psychological effects upon its victims often exceed that suffered by rape victims. Swift, Dr. C., Congressional Hearings, p. 343-8.

Contrary to some earlier assumptions, studies now show that child molest victims suffer serious long-term psychological detriments. Id. Dr. Joseph Peters, Director of the Philadelphia Sex Offender and Rape Victim Center, and Associate Professor at the University of Pennsylvania, summarized some of these detriments as:

- General emotional withdrawal from society;
- Loss of appetite;
- Discontinuation of education;
- Negative feelings toward men;
- Severe nightmares;
- Loss of sleep.

Importantly, the initial trauma inherent in a serious molestation often leads to serious life-long emotional problems for the victim. Dr. Roland Summit of Harbor-UCLA Medical Center, characterized these molestation victims as "psychological time bombs," suffering from: "self-hate, self-destructive, antisocial behaviors, substance abuse, runaway tendencies, prostitution, somatic complaints, sexual dysfunctions, hysterical seizures, dissociative disorders including multiple personality states, and homicidal frenzies, affective disorders and schizophrenia." Summit, R., Recognition and Treatment of Child Sexual Abuse, p. 3 (1980).

These symptoms were particularly aggravated when the offender was an intimate authority figure, such as father or stepfather. Peters, J., "Children who are victims of sexual assault and the psychology of offenders," 30 Amer. J. Psychotherapy, 398 (July 1976).

Society at large may be the greater victim, because studies now strongly correlate child molestation victimization with subsequent child molestation perpetration. Molest victims, as adults, become molest offenders (men), or aiders and abettors in molestations or child abusers (men and women). Swift, Dr. C., Congressional Hearings, p. 353-4; Summit, R. and Kryso, J., "Sexual Abuse of Children: A Clinical Spectrum," 48 Amer. J. Orthopsychiatry, p. 232 (April 1978).

Child molestation is also a serious crime because perpetrators (particularly fixated pedophiles) commonly are recidivists. Groth, Dr. A. N. and Longo, B. C., Undetected Recidivism Among Rapists and Child Molesters, p. 15-18 (Pub. Pend. 1980).

Because of this, as Dr. Summit has noted, supra, the typical fixated pedophile may molest hundreds or perhaps thousands of children during his lifetime.

One fact emphasized by recent studies is that the pronounced recidivism rates of child molesters cannot be measured by subsequent formal criminal record studies, based upon "arrests" or "convictions."

Dr. John Monahan, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry, University of California, Irvine, stated the reasons for criminal record inadequacies as follows:

[Police arrest rates have been the primary means of verifying whether or not a violent act has occurred during the followup period. For at least two reasons, however, arrest rates are inadequate methods of verification: Most violent behavior is never reported to the police, and the violent behavior which is reported often does not lead to the recording of an arrest.]
On the first point, a recent victimization study in eight major American cities found that only 40 to 50 percent of all violent crime was reported to the police. The reporting rate for simple assaults ranged from 27 to 39 percent (Department of Justice, 1974). While the reasons for not reporting a crime are varied... the result of underreporting is surely to reduce the usefulness of arrest records as a means of verifying the occurrence of violent behavior (Holatyn, 1975).

Added to this is the fact that the "clearance rate" of reported crime... is far from perfect. While the clearance rate for murder is reasonably high (79 percent) the clearance rates for forcible rape (51 percent), aggravated assault (63 percent) and robbery (27 percent) are such that a large portion of the violent crime that is reported never finds its way into police statistics (Kelley, 1974).

In addition to the standard reasons given to account for the low clearance rates for violent crime... one factor especially relevant to validation studies of the prediction of sexual violence is that mental hospitalization is often used by the police as an alternative to arrest. As Cacozza & Steadman (1974, p. 1013) noted in their followup study of the "criminally insane," Baxstrom [sexual] patients, "some of the patients were rehospitalized for behavior very similar to that displayed by other patients who were arrested for violent crimes."

One Los Angeles study found that 33 percent of police referrals to a medical psychiatric unit had as their primary precipitating incident "some degree of aggressive behavior." In none of these cases was an arrest made (Jacobson, Craven & Kushner, 1973).

Dr. Monahan thus concluded that most studies resting upon formal arrest or conviction reviews of "cured" sexual offenders are actually examining persons who "may be leading active careers in violent crime." Id. at 205.
Three hundred of America's leading psychiatrist concurred with Dr. Monahan's findings as they specifically relate to pedophiles. They concluded that studies resting upon formal "rates of recidivism [are] hardly reliable standards based on the innumerable criminal acts that occur and that do not receive official recognition. Prominent among these would be rape and pedophilia, which are underreported." Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, Psychiatry and Sex Psychopath Legislation: The 30's to the 80's, p. 870 (Mental Health Materials Center, N.Y., 1977) (Hereafter cited as "300 Psychiatrists' Report").

Recently, Dr. A. Nicholas Groth concluded the actual recidivism rate of child molesters was over five times that reflected by formal criminal records. This 500 percent underrecording rate was limited to molestations of separate victims (multiple criminal incidents with the same victim were not counted because they were so frequent as to significantly skew the sample). Groth, A. N. and Longo, B. C., Undetected Recidivism Among Rapists and Child Molesters, p. 23 (Pub. Pend. 1980).

Professor George Dix of the University of Texas, in a national institute of mental health study of Atascadero inmates similarly found serious underrecording of the crimes actually committed by California MDSO's. Dix, G. E., "Differential Processing of Abnormal Sex Offenders," 67 J. Crim. L. & Criminology, p. 233 (1976).
The conclusions of Doctors Groth and Dix should not be surprising in light of recent studies which conclude that no more than 6 percent of all child molestations have been reported to authorities. Summit, R. and Kryso, J., "Sexual Abuse of Children: A Clinical Spectrum," 48 Amer. J. Orthopsychiatry, p. 228 (April 1978).
THE MDSO INCARCERATION PHILOSOPHY IS OUTMODOED AND APPEARS PSYCHIATRICALLY UNSOUND

Until 1976, California clung to a rehabilitation incarceration philosophy in dealing with crimes, generally. "Rehabilitation" determined sentence length. Achievement of "rehabilitation and adjustment" caused release. See former Penal Code section 3024.5

This system did not work. Some offenders were released too early as rehabilitated (i.e., false negatives); others were held too long as not rehabilitated (i.e., false positives).

Most important, criminal rehabilitation did not occur. This California experience was not unique. Dr. James Q. Wilson of Harvard University summarized the national research findings:

Between 1966 and 1972, Robert Martinson reviewed, initially at the request of the New York State Governor's Committee on Criminal Offenders, 231 experimental studies on the treatment of criminals, including in this list all those from here and abroad that were available in print between 1945 and 1967, and that met various tests of methodological adequacy. Martinson's review came to a clear conclusion: "With few and isolated exceptions, the rehabilitation efforts that have been reported so far have no appreciable effect on recidivism." Studies done since 1967 do not provide grounds for altering that conclusion significantly.
It does not seem to matter what form of treatment in the correctional system is attempted — whether vocational training or academic education; whether counseling inmates individually, in groups, or not at all; whether therapy is administered by social workers or psychiatrists; whether the institutional context of the treatment is custodial or benign; whether the sentences are short or long; whether the person is placed on probation or released on parole; whether the treatment takes place in the community or in institutions. Indeed, some forms of treatment — notably a few experiments with psychotherapy — actually produced an increase in the rate of recidivism.

The Martinson review is unique in its comprehensiveness, but not in its findings. R. G. Hood came to much the same conclusion in a review published in 1967; Walter C. Bailey, after examining 100 studies of the efficacy of treatment and especially the 50 or so that claimed positive results, concluded in 1966 that the "evidence supporting the efficacy of correctional treatment is slight, inconsistent, and a questionable reliability. Leslie T. Wilkins observed in 1969 that "the major achievement of research in the field of social psychology and treatment has been negative and has resulted in the undermining of nearly all of the current mythology regarding the effectiveness of treatment in any form."

In retrospect, little of this should have been surprising. It requires not merely optimistic, but heroic assumptions about the nature of man to lead one to suppose that a person, finally sentenced after (in most cases) many brushes with the law, and having devoted a good part of his youth and young adulthood to misbehavior of every sort, should, by either the solemnity of prison or the skillfulness of the counselor, come to see the error of his ways and to experience a transformation of his character. Today, we smile in amusement at the naiveté of those early prison reformers who imagined that religious instruction while in solitary confinement would lead to moral regeneration. How they would now smile at us at our presumption that conversations with a psychiatrist or a return to the community could achieve the same end. We have learned how difficult it is by governmental means to improve the educational attainments of children or to restore stability and affection to the family, and in these cases we are often working with willing subjects in moments of admitted need. Criminal rehabilitation requires producing equivalent changes in unwilling subjects under conditions of duress or indifference.

Dr. Alfred Blumstein of Carnegie Mellon University and Chairman of the National Academy of Science's Panel on Research on Deterrent and Incapacitative Effects, similarly told Congress in 1978:

The results of these evaluations of rehabilitation programs have been strikingly consistent. Wherever the evaluation has been rigorous, the evaluators appear to have found no discernible difference in the post-treatment recidivism of the treatment group compared to the controlled group. This is not to say that some programs do not help some people, but it does emphasize that we still do not know enough to be able to target specific programs at specific offenders with the confidence that these programs will "rehabilitate" them to a sizeable degree. No "silver bullets" have yet been identified that are potent enough to cure large numbers of offenders, at least within the confines of what the criminal justice system is able to do.

The Legislature recognized the failure of the rehabilitation detention philosophy when it enacted the determinate sentencing law (SB 42).

We now recognize the legitimate purpose of incarceration as punishment. The length of punishment should be uniform and proportionate to the seriousness of the offense. Penal Code section 1170(a)(1). The MDSO system contradicts this general philosophy. Here this group of convicted offenders are, "treated not as criminals, but as sick persons."

W&I Code section 6250.

Thus, aside from life sentences and CRC, the MDSO system remains the only adult system incarcerating offenders on a nonuniform, nonproportionate basis. The longest presumptive incarceration term under MDSO is the maximum for the substantive offense. W&I Code section 6316. On an ad hoc basis, this can be shortened on a staff conclusion of "cure." W&I Code section 6325.1. It may also be temporarily extended beyond the maximum on a staff conclusion of continued need and amenability to treatment. W&I Code section 6316.2.

In practice, the MDSO system has abbreviated rather than lengthened the confinement. The National Institute of Mental Health Study conducted by Professor George Dix of the University of Texas found that half of all the Atascadero inmates were released within one year and none were retained longer than two. Dix, G. E., "Determining the Continued Dangerousness of Psychologically Abnormal Sex Offenders," 3 J. of Psychiatry and Law, p. 327 (1975).
More recent studies show that Atascadero confinement length has increased somewhat, but still significantly lags behind comparable confinement length for state prison. A 1978 State Department of Mental Health Task Force report stated that the average length of hospitalization for MDSO's at that time was 18 months. Horowitz, J., "Sex Offenders and the Disordered," Los Angeles Times (Part IV, August 3, 1979). Data produced by the Department of Corrections disclosed that in 1978 the comparable confinement length for child molesters in prison was 41 months. Management Information Section, Department of Corrections, Number and Time Served in Prison Before First Parole, p. 3 (April 1980).

The release decisions were based upon the hospital staff's assessment of the MDSO's continued dangerousness to others. This standard (which is the premise of the MDSO system) is now widely recognized as psychiatrically incapable of implementation.

The Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, an independent group of 300 leading psychiatrists, recently published a white paper entitled, Psychiatry and Sex Psychopath Legislation: The 30's to the 80's.
Two significant conclusions of GAP's 125-page study were:

(1) First and foremost, sex psychopath and sexual offender statutes can best be described a approaches that have failed. The discrepancy between the promises in sex statutes and performances have rarely been resolved.

(2) The categorization process projected by sexual psychopath statutes lacks clinical validity. The notion is naive and confusing that a hybrid amalgam of law in psychiatry can validly label a person as a "sex psychopath" or "sex offender" and then treat him in a manner consistent with a guarantee of community safety. The mere assumption that such a heterogeneous legal classification could define treatability and make people amenable to treatment is not only fallacious; it is startling. It is analogous to approaches that would create special categories of "burglary offender" statutes or "white collar" offender statutes and then provide for special commitments, such as to burglary psychopath hospitals.

More fundamentally, GAP found no present psychiatric cure, or "silver bullet" (in Dr. Blumstein's terms) for pedophilia.

At one time, pedophilia was thought to be highly treatable; in retrospect, this optimism appears to have confused social policy needs with actual therapeutic effectiveness.

300 Psychiatrists Report, p. 871.
Dr. Summit also saw no "silver bullet" for pedophiles:

Despite the hopes of penologists and therapists, there is no responsible documentation that treatment can realign the sexual preference of the fixated pedophile or deem any protections for the children at risk. Since the well-adjusted pedophile typically finds an unrestricted supply of noncomplaining partners there is no means short of 24-hour-supervision to monitor [his actions].

GAP concurs with this conclusion:

Early and unjustified optimism had raised public hopes about the effectiveness of clinical approaches in identifying and predicting just who would behave in a deviant or dangerous manner. Intimately fused with the belief in the ability of clinicians to identify and predict sexual psychopathy for the legal system was the illusion that treatments were available to cure and rehabilitate the individuals identified.

300 Psychiatrists Report, p. 854.

As another prominent psychiatrist stated:

The difficulty is that we have no way of successfully treating the sexual psychopath. Cures, if any, must be extremely rare. The demand, therefore, that these offenders be "treated" is a sterile one. Why do we want jurisdiction in these cases transferred from the courts to the psychiatrist? It looks as if we have talked ourselves into the privilege of holding the bear by the tail.

Davidson, Dr. H., "Legislation Dealing with Sex Offenders,"

Amer. J. of Psychiatry (November 1959).
Professor Dix, in his NIMH study of Atascadero, observed that the Atascadero staff was confronting exactly the problems outlined above:

Perhaps the immediately apparent aspect of the staff's analysis of continued dangerousness was their frequent failure to address the issues specifically -- or when it was directly addressed -- with precision. No effort was spent discussing in specific or precise terms how likely it was that a patient would reoffend if released to the community. This, of course, merely confirms the frequently made suggestion that the prediction of dangerousness -- even in the institutional context where the staff can be regarded as well informed -- is so imprecise a matter as to inherently preclude such specific analysis on a statistical probability basis.

INTRODUCTION

The following "Statement of Facts" prepared by the People of the State of California includes all statements taken in the case by investigators of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department and the Ventura County District Attorney's Office.

The material is organized by the order of the charges filed in the Information, and statements relating to uncharged victims are included under the heading "Additional Victims."

A verbatim transcript of the statement of Donald Patrick Roemer is marked Exhibit "A," attached, and incorporated herein by reference.

This "Statement of Facts" is submitted by the People of the State of California as proof of the factual basis of the pleas of nolo contendere by Donald Patrick Roemer to Counts I, II, and III of the Information.
STATEMENT OF FACTS

COUNT I: REDACTED

On January 26, 1981, the Ventura County Sheriff's Office, East Valley Station, received a report of a possible child molest from a Mrs. REDACTED, REDACTED REDACTED

Deputy Bruce McDowell responded to the call. He reported:

On 1-26-81 at about 1935 hours, I arrived at the victim's home re: a possible child molest. I contacted the victim's parents who gave this account: Mr. REDACTED told me that on 1/26/81 at about 1800 hours, victim REDACTED and the family were eating dinner. REDACTED told the family about the following incident: On 1/26/81, REDACTED went to CCD classes. Suspect, Father Patrick Roemer, asked REDACTED to look at some old pictures. REDACTED said that Father Roemer rubbed REDACTED stomach and then his "doofor." Mr. REDACTED told me that "doofor" means penis in their family. REDACTED said that Father Roemer started to shake. REDACTED said he was scared.

Mrs. REDACTED told me that REDACTED has a teacher and a helper in the CCD class. They are Mrs. REDACTED REDACTED and Mrs. REDACTED (See F/U Det. McIlvain for phone.) Mrs. REDACTED said she called Mrs. REDACTED and told her about the incident. Mrs. REDACTED advised Mrs. REDACTED to call the church and talk to the senior priest about it. I talked to the victim, REDACTED, a 7-year-old boy with blond hair and blue eyes. I first showed REDACTED my black flashlight and asked him what color it was. He said it was black. I asked him if I would be lying if I said the flashlight was yellow and he said yes. I asked if it was wrong to tell a lie and he said yes. I asked REDACTED if he would tell the truth and he said yes. Again, I stressed the importance of telling the truth.

REDACTED gave the following account: Today (1/26/81), his teacher, Mrs. REDACTED picked up REDACTED and drove him to CCD classes. The children play in the yard for awhile and then go to class. REDACTED put his books down on a bench away from the other kids; however, Father Roemer came out of his office and asked REDACTED to come inside and look at some pictures. Father Roemer sat in a chair near a desk. Father Roemer lifted up and placed on the Father's leg, far enough back so that was close to the Father's chest.

Father Roemer showed a book with pictures from when Father Roemer went to school. said it was the kind of book where everyone in the class takes pictures together. I asked if he meant a school yearbook and he said yes. While looking at the book, Father Roemer put his hand under T-shirt and started to rub stomach. I asked to show me by rubbing his own stomach. made slow circular movements on his stomach. said that Father Roemer rubbed stomach for about one-half minute. Father Roemer then slid his hand down into pants and inside underpants. Father Roemer started to rub doofer. Father Roemer rubbed doofer for a couple of minutes and then Father Roemer started shaking. His hands and legs were shaking and Father Roemer said, "I'm cold." told me it was hot in the room and that Father Roemer was wearing a jacket or coat. told me that he became scared and asked Father Roemer if he could go now. Father Roemer said, "Okay."

went toward his class and on the way he told his friend, that Father Roemer had shown him some pictures.

I asked where his "doofer" was and he pointed to his crotch area where his penis would be. I asked if he could tell me another name for doofer, but he seemed too embarrassed. I asked him if he used his doofer to go to the bathroom and he said yes.

I put my pencil on the kitchen table and told to pretend that my pencil was doofer and to show me how Father Roemer rubbed doofer. made several short, fast strokes on the pencil.

I talked to Mrs. again and she added that Father Roemer was very friendly with children and has taken several groups on field trips. Father Roemer is the youth minister and active with all the youth sports activities. Father Roemer was not very involved in adult activities.

I contacted Det. K. McIlvain and told her the above info. She called the church and left a message for Father Roemer.
On 1/26/81 at about 2230 hours, Father Roemer called the East Valley Sheriff's Station. I called Det. REDACTED at Los Robles and she advised to ask Father Roemer to come to the station. I told Father Roemer we were investigating a case and we would appreciate it if he could come down right away. Father Roemer said he wasn't busy and would come to the station. He didn't ask why.

REDACTED had told me that this had never happened before and that he never saw anyone else go into the office with Father Roemer before.

REDACTED said no one else witnessed the incident.

On January 26, 1981, Det. Kelli McIlvain of the East Valley Station responded to the REDACTED residence for the purpose of reinterviewing REDACTED Det. McIlvain reported:

Following conversation with Deputy REDACTED, I requested he have the victim and parents come to the EVSO for interview. They arrived a few minutes before 9 p.m.

Victim REDACTED 7-1/2 years, DOB: REDACTED said that today while at St. Paschal's Church, T.O., about 3:30 p.m., just prior to CCD classes (religious instruction), suspect asked him into a small office saying, "Do you want to see some pictures." The victim sat on the priest's lap as the priest showed him pictures from a book. (Described like a school yearbook.) As the boy looked at the book, the suspect put his hand inside the victim's shirt and rubbed his abdomen and chest area. Suspect then put his hand inside victim's clothing and rubbed his doofor (penis). The suspect began shaking very hard and said to the victim, "It's cold in here." The victim finally asked the suspect if he could leave and the suspect said yes. After he got outside the office, he told Mrs. REDACTED that Father Roemer had shown him some pictures. He then went to CCD class which starts at 3:45 p.m. He told his parents what had occurred at dinner. Victim also said the suspect kissed him on the neck, near the right ear, as he was rubbing him. The whole incident lasted about five minutes.

Mrs. REDACTED said she phoned REDACTED (CCD teacher) after learning what occurred and Mrs.
REDACTED recalled REDACTED telling her that Father Roemer had shown him pictures, REDACTED, after hearing Mrs. REDACTED information, told her she would contact REDACTED, an active church member, to see what should be done about the information. Mrs. REDACTED recontacted Mrs. REDACTED saying REDACTED said the police should be notified.

Mrs. REDACTED had already decided to phone the police.

Prior to the interviews with the REDACTED, I phoned the church and left a message with Father REDACTED to have Father Roemer phone me as soon as possible.

The suspect returned the call around 2245 hours. Deputy REDACTED talked with him and asked if he could come to EVSO. He said he would.

STATEMENT OF DONALD PATRICK ROEMER

Detective McIlvain's report continues:

I interviewed suspect in the EVSO on tape, following Miranda waiver, approximately 2300 hours.

Donald Patrick Roemer, DOB: 3-17-44, 36 years, 155 E. Janss Road, T.O. REDACTED

Following is a narrative summary of taped interview.

The suspect, who has been a Catholic priest for 11 years, said that everything that REDACTED said was probably true. Today, 1-26-81 around 3:30 p.m., he asked the boy into the teachers' lounge on churchgrounds, had him sit on his lap, stroked his stomach, abdomen, and genitals. He also had the boy stand up next to him for awhile and stroked his penis. As the boy was sitting on his lap, he did begin to shake. He did make a remark about it being cold to cover up for the shaking. The suspect did have an erection and an ejaculation resultant from the fondling. The victim asked if he could go out to play and Father Roemer said yes. The total time suspect was stroking victim was about two minutes. When asked if he kissed the victim, he said he didn't recall, but if the victim said he kissed him, then he did. The suspect said he knew when the boy left the office that he would be found out. He also heard the victim yell to Mrs. REDACTED that Father Roemer had just shown him pictures.
Suspect said he has been struggling with feelings of a homosexual nature since he was young and sought assistance while assigned to a parish in Santa Barbara through a church psychologist.

The suspect also admitted that information given by \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} was true and did occur on 1-18-81. \textcolor{red}{(See statements of REDACTED under Count II.)}

Also on 1-19-81, while in the teachers' lounge at 3:30 p.m., he rubbed the stomach, chest, and underarm area of \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} 6th grade, 11 years. \textcolor{red}{(See statements of REDACTED under Count III.)}

Two weeks ago, 1-12-81, teachers' lounge, he rubbed stomach, chest of \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} 7-1/2 years. \textcolor{red}{(See statements of REDACTED under Count IV.)}

Father Roemer took a group of boys on a trip to San Diego during the week following Christmas, 1980. They stayed in one hotel room with two double beds. During this trip, at night, believing \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} 14 years, to be asleep next to him in the bed, he touched his genitals.

Also during this trip, while sleeping with \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} 14 years, he attempted to touch his genitals, but the boy had not been asleep. He got out of the bed and went and laid down on the floor. The suspect asked him what was wrong and the boy replied, "You felt too low." The suspect then told the boy he would never do anything like that (to cover up his actions) and that the boy was wrong about his intentions. \textcolor{red}{(See statements of REDACTED under Count VII.)}

The suspect also related that he had use of a ranch in Fillmore, via relatives, from approximately August 1979 to August 1980 where he often took boys for the weekend or overnight. They would sleep in sleeping bags on the living room floor. \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} 13 years, and \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} 14 years, on separate occasions (one time each) were stroked on stomach and chest area. \textcolor{red}{(See statements of REDACTED pages 28 to 30, and REDACTED pages 31 to 32.)}

He stroked genitals and stomach of \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} 14 years, while asleep at the ranch on one, maybe two occasions. \textcolor{red}{(See statement of REDACTED page 30.)}

He also stroked stomach, chest area of \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} \textcolor{red}{\text{REDACTED}} two or three times in the teachers' lounge.
on churchgrounds.

The suspect was very cooperative, appeared truthful. He said he usually had an erection during the stroking activity and sometimes he ejaculated.

In a report prepared by Detective McIlvain on January 29, 1981, she stated:

On January 29, 1981, approximately 1615 hours, at the direction of Deputy District Attorney REDACTED and while my conversation of 1/26/81 with suspect Donald Patrick Roemer was still fresh in my mind, I listened to the taped recording of that conversation. The following is my word-for-word accounting of the conversation from its beginning through the Miranda waiver. All responses of suspect are underlined. My statement/questions are in quotes.

"I don't know if you are aware of the fact that there is a family in Thousand Oaks that has a young boy that is giving information accusing you of child molest. The information was given this evening and I felt like we should try to get in touch with you as soon as we possibly could because of the sensitivity of it. What is your whole name, Father?"

Donald Patrick Roemer.

"And your date of birth?"

March 17, '44.

"Making you"

36.

"And your residence address?"

REDACTED

"Do you have your own phone there?"

Yes. Well, there's a house phone and I have a private phone. The house phone is REDACTED.

"The house phone is kind of like a work phone isn't it?"
It's a work phone and I have a private line.

"I'd like to talk to you about the information given, but I have to read you your rights because at this point you are a suspect in the crime of child molest. Okay."

Yes (suspect nods yes)

"You understand that you're suspected of committing the crime of child molest? Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods head) Inaudible yes.

"You have the right to remain silent. Do you understand?"

UmmHmm.

"If you give up that right, anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"You have the right to talk to a lawyer and have him present with you before and while being questioned. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods head) Inaudible yes.

"If you cannot afford to hire a lawyer, one will be appointed to represent you before any questioning at no cost to you, if you wish one. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"Do you understand all of these rights (cough/excuse me) that I have explained to you?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"Do you have any questions about these rights?"

No, I don't think so.

"Having these rights in mind, do you wish to give up these rights and talk to me about the charge against you?"

I'd rather talk to you.

"You would?"

6520
Yes.

"Okay."

"Do you know a boy by the name of REDACTED"

The interview was approximately 60 minutes long, only the first 30 minutes were recorded on tape. On the tape, suspect discussed activity with both REDACTED boys, victim REDACTED and REDACTED. Off tape, but during second part of interview, he discussed victims REDACTED and REDACTED in San Diego, REDACTED and REDACTED in Fillmore.

A verbatim transcript of the 30-minute taped portion of the interview by Detective Kelli McIlvain of Donald Patrick Roemer on January 26, 1981 is marked Exhibit "A," attached, and fully incorporated herein by reference in this "Statement of Facts."

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED and reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 5 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the company of both parents at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is a 7-year-old, 2nd grade student at University Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He attends CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church and has done so for three years. His CCD teacher is REDACTED who also transports him to and from class.

REDACTED related the following information: I see Father Roemer every time I go to CCD classes. He always hugs me and kisses me on the head. On January 26, 1981, when I got to CCD class, Father Roemer came up and hugged me. He had a book in his hand and said, "Come into the room where the teachers meet (teachers' lounge) and look at some pictures."

When we got in there, he picked me up and put me on his lap. He was holding the book and rubbing my "wiener." He told me to stand up because it would be easier. He started shaking after he started rubbing my "wiener." I asked him why he was shaking and he said because he was cold. He still had his hand under my pants and I asked him if I could go outside. He said, "Sure" and took his hand out of my pants.

I went outside and told Mrs. REDACTED that Father Roemer had shown me some pictures and tickled my chest.

When I got home and was eating dinner, I told my Mom and Dad what had happened. I felt like a "tattletale" for telling them.

I have never seen Father Roemer shake like that before. When he was rubbing my "wiener," I didn't tell him to stop because I was afraid.

On February 12, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED by telephone.

Investigator Smart reported:

On February 12, 1981 at approximately 8 a.m., I telephoned the above witness regarding an incident that occurred on January 26, 1981 involving Father Roemer and REDACTED

Mrs. REDACTED is a teacher at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. She transports several children to and from CCD classes, including REDACTED and REDACTED and REDACTED

Mrs. REDACTED related the following information:

On January 26, 1981, I drove REDACTED REDACTED to CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church. When we arrived, the boys got out of the car and walked toward their classrooms. I went to my classroom and then went to the supply room to get some supplies for my class.

As I was returning from the supply room, en route to my classroom, REDACTED came up to me and told me that Father Roemer had taken him into his office and had shown him some pictures. I made some appropriate comment, like, "That's nice," or something like that.

At that moment, Father Roemer walked up and asked me what REDACTED had told me. Father Roemer asked if REDACTED had told me that he had shown him some pictures. The discussion was brief as it was time for classes to start and REDACTED and I left for our classroom. I did not notice anything unusual about REDACTED that day, but I do recall he may have been nervous during class. He had to leave the classroom twice that day to go to the bathroom, which is unusual for REDACTED.

In retrospect, I guess it was unusual for Father Roemer to walk up to me and ask what REDACTED had said to me. Father Roemer usually does not walk up to adults and talk to them. He spends the majority of his time with kids.

I know REDACTED quite well and I know in my heart he would not fabricate a story or lie about what has happened.

I have been very concerned about the entire incident because of the impact it has had on the community, the church, the young boys involved, and Father Roemer. I have a young son who is involved in the church and also attends CCD classes. I have questioned him about Father Roemer and he has denied that anything like that has happened or has been attempted. I feel confident he is being truthful.

COUNT II: REDACTED

On January 26, 1981, VSO Deputy REDACTED interviewed REDACTED (REDACTED brother), 10 years, DOB: REDACTED and reported:

He related that on 1/19/81, while suspect was hearing his confession, the suspect rubbed his stomach, chest, and underarm area (touching skin under his shirt). The suspect and REDACTED were sitting side-by-side in chairs. The suspect also kissed him on the right ear twice.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator REDACTED interviewed REDACTED and reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 5:50 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the company of both parents at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is 10 years old and is a 5th grade student at University Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church. He also attends CCD classes at the church on each Monday afternoon and is transported to and from the class by Mrs. REDACTED

REDACTED related the following information:

On January 19, 1981, my entire CCD class went to confession. The confession was with Father Roemer who instructed me to sit on a bench in the confessional. Father Roemer sat beside me. He hugged me and kissed my right ear two times. At the same time, he put his hand under my shirt and started rubbing my stomach, chest and under my arm. He continued rubbing for 30-45 seconds and then stopped.

I finished with confession and left. I did not tell anyone what Father Roemer had done until REDACTED told my parents what had happened to him. Father Roemer has not done anything like that to me before.

COUNT III: REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Sergeant Jack Hughes interviewed REDACTED 12 years, DOB REDACTED REDACTED drive, REDACTED, REDACTED Sergeant REDACTED reported:

REDACTED interviewed 1/27/81. REDACTED told me he attends catechism classes at St. Paschal's Church every Monday from 1600 hours to 1700 hours. He first denied going into a teachers' lounge, but then stated he did after his mother described the room. This interview was recorded and REDACTED mother and father were present. He said that Father Roemer talked to him about how he was doing in school. He denied sitting on Father Roemer's lap. He told me he was afraid of getting Father Roemer in trouble. He did say that sometimes he (Father Roemer) put his hands under his REDACTED shirt. Father Roemer scratching under his arm. REDACTED denies that Father Roemer scratched or rubbed his chest. He did say that he rubbed his stomach once. He didn't remember when. REDACTED then said he didn't want to talk about it anymore. His mother inquired as to why and he replied he just didn't want to talk about it.
His parents told me they would call me if they told them anymore. Father if

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 3:30 p.m., I interviewed in the presence of his mother at his residence in Thousand Oaks. Deputy District Attorney was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is 12 years old. He is a 6th grade student at Acacia Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes in Thousand Oaks. He has been a member of St. Paschal's Church for approximately five years. Through his association with the church, he is acquainted with the defendant, Father Roemer.

REDACTED related the following information:

On January 5, 1981, while attending CCD classes on the churchgrounds, I was talking to Father Roemer about my new school. I was telling him that nobody there liked me and that was bothering me. Father Roemer said he knew that and asked me to go into the teachers' lounge with him to talk about it.

We went into the teachers' lounge and sat down on individual chairs. They were placed one behind the other. I sat down and Father Roemer sat directly behind me. We were talking about my new school. Father Roemer started rubbing my stomach and chest, under my shirt. He started shaking while he was rubbing me. He continued rubbing my stomach and chest for approximately five minutes. (At this point I asked him to estimate when five minutes had lapsed. We continued talking and Tim interrupted to tell me that five minutes had passed. The actual time that had lapsed was five minutes and six seconds, as timed by REDACTED stopwatch.

The next incident occurred the following week (January 12, 1981) at CCD classes. Father Roemer took me into the nurse's office. I thought he wanted to talk to me about my new school. I sat on a couch and Father Roemer sat behind me. He started rubbing my chest and under my arms. His hand was under my shirt while he was rubbing. This lasted for about three minutes and Father Roemer was shaking while he rubbed me. We did not say anything about the rubbing, but I was a little concerned about it.

On the following week (January 19, 1981) at CCD class, Father Roemer took me into the teachers' lounge to talk to me about my new school.

We sat in individual chairs again. Father Roemer sat behind me and put his hand under my shirt. He started rubbing my chest and under my arms. He was shaking, like he was nervous, while he rubbed me. This time it lasted about eight minutes. We talked about my new school and I looked at a magazine while Father Roemer was rubbing me. About two minutes after he stopped rubbing, the bell rang and I went to class.

This is the last time anything happened. I did not see Father Roemer when I first went to class the next week (January 26, 1981). (REDACTED incident occurred on this date.)

COUNT IV: REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Sergeant Jack Hughes interviewed REDACTED 8 years, REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED Sergeant Hughes reported:

REDACTED interview, 1/27/81. I talked with Ronald with his father, REDACTED present. The interview was recorded. REDACTED told me he attends catechism classes at St. Paschal's Church. He attends class only on Mondays. He missed the class on Jan. 19, 81, but was there on Jan. 12, 81. His father confirmed these dates as REDACTED was not sure of the dates. He told me sometimes he sits on Father Roemer's lap and they talk about football. He plays football for the Raiders. REDACTED did not remember when he went to the teachers' lounge with Father Roemer, maybe two or three weeks ago. He said his father dropped him off and he went to the lounge with Father Roemer. They left the lounge prior to the class bell ringing. He said he did not go in with his shirt off. REDACTED said that in the lounge, Father Roemer rubbed his chest and stomach. I asked REDACTED to show me how Father Roemer rubbed his chest. REDACTED pulled up his shirt and put his hand under the shirt. He rubbed his breast and stomach. I asked him what that part of his body was called and he told me, "boobies." He then said that Father Roemer rubbed his boobies. He said Father Roemer never put his hand inside his pants and Father Roemer never asked him to touch any part of Father Roemer's body. He said that Father Roemer only rubbed his chest the one time in the room. REDACTED said that Father Roemer shivered like he was cold while rubbing him. Nobody was in the room when this occurred. He did not tell anyone what had happened and no one has told him it happened to them also. I asked REDACTED how long the Father rubbed him and he told me five minutes. I then asked REDACTED to tell me about how long, to tell me when to stop timing him, when it had been as long as with the Father. REDACTED stopped me around 40 seconds after I started timing him. He told me he did not tell Father Roemer to stop. I asked REDACTED if he knew what a lie was and he told me it is when you don't tell the truth.

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 1:10 p.m., District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 1:10 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his father at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was also present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is 9 years old and is a 2nd grade student at La Dera Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes. He is acquainted with Father Roemer through his association with the church.

REDACTED related the following information:

My Dad usually takes me to CCD classes and drops me off. When I get there, I just walk around, usually by myself until class starts. I always see Father Roemer there. One day, Father Roemer walked up to me and said, "Hi." We started talking about football. Father Roemer said he had won trophies and asked me if I wanted to see them. We went into the teachers' lounge and he closed the door. Father Roemer asked me to sit down on the couch and he sat down beside me, about six inches away from me.
We were talking about football and he showed me a medal he won in football. He stuck his hand under my shirt and started rubbing my stomach and chest, including my nipples. He asked me if it felt good and I said, "Kinda."

Father Roemer had his hand on my leg while he was rubbing my stomach. He was shivering while rubbing my chest and stomach. He started shivering soon after he started rubbing my stomach. When his hand was on my leg, it was close to my privates, but he did not touch them. After Father Roemer stopped shivering, he told me I had better go out now because classes were about to start.

I asked REDACTED if Father Roemer had ever done this to him before. He said that he had about seven times before, always outside on the churchgrounds while he was waiting for CCD classes to start. REDACTED said it only happened the one time in the teachers' lounge and that was the only time he was aware that Father Roemer shivered. REDACTED said that he felt that it was "weird or strange" that Father Roemer rubbed his stomach and he felt uncomfortable and thought it was wrong.

COUNT V: REDACTED

On January 28, 1981 at approximately 11 a.m., Detective Kelli McIlvain received a telephone call from Mrs. REDACTED regarding her son, REDACTED. Detective McIlvain reported:

Approximately 1100 hours, 1/28/81, I received a phone call from Mrs. REDACTED. She related that she had taken her son, REDACTED, 11 years, to see suspect for some counseling around the middle of November 1980. The suspect arranged to take him to a drive-in movie the Saturday night after Thanksgiving, 11/29/80. The suspect picked him up about 8:30 p.m. and returned him early, around 10 p.m. When he got home, he said he was tired and went right to bed. Either that same evening or the following day, she received a phone call from suspect. He said he just wanted to know how REDACTED was doing. Mrs. REDACTED thought suspect was just concerned. Another counseling appointment was made with suspect, but REDACTED refused to go to it. Then last night, following press article of suspect's arrest, REDACTED told her that while at the drive-in the suspect had touched his leg and he REDACTED moved to the far side of the car and kept his coat pulled tightly around himself. After a while, he told the suspect he was tired and wanted to go home, to get away from the suspect. Mrs. REDACTED said she had talked with her son's pediatrician and that REDACTED has some emotional problems stemming from abuse by his natural father and the pediatrician recommended, and she concurred, that REDACTED was not at a state where he should be interviewed. She went on to say she felt the whole thing should have been handled by the church. She knows the Roemer family and has felt physically ill ever since the news article came out. She was very upset on the phone, crying. She did say, near the end of the conversation, that she would talk to her husband and possibly consider an interview at a later date (Mrs. REDACTED husband had phoned me 1/27/81 and advised his stepson could possibly have some information regarding the case and he said his wife would bring him in for an interview at 1 p.m., 1/28/81).

The District Attorney's Office made repeated efforts to interview both Mrs. REDACTED and REDACTED, but permission was refused by Mrs. REDACTED. She stated that her son's emotional condition was too precarious to permit such interviews, and she had been advised by REDACTED pediatrician to avoid the trauma of testifying in court. Mrs. REDACTED refused to disclose the name of the doctor, and refused the offer of the District Attorney's Office to put her doctor in contact with Dr. REDACTED of the Harbor-UCLA Medical Center so that the pediatrician would have the benefit of expert advice and consultation in order to properly assess what the effects of testifying would be on REDACTED. Shortly before the scheduled preliminary hearing of March 3, 1981, Mrs. REDACTED retained Attorney REDACTED and directed the District Attorney's Office to deal with him.

COUNT VI: REDACTED

On January 28, 1981, Detective REDACTED interviewed REDACTED, 12 years, DOB REDACTED at Thousand Oaks, REDACTED. REDACTED 12 years, DOB REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED.

Above witness interviewed on tape 1/28/81 at 1530 hours in presence of his mother, REDACTED.

He said that during the summer 1980, he attended REDACTED Sports Camp held at St. Paschal's School. It was held from Monday through Friday from about 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. He missed Monday's session. On Tuesday, his first day at the camp, the suspect stood close behind him, wrapped his arms around his chest area, leaned his (suspect) head down, chin resting on witness' head and was talking to him. This made REDACTED nervous and uncomfortable. For the rest of Tuesday he tried to avoid suspect. When his Mom picked him up Tuesday afternoon, he told her that he didn't want to return to the camp and explained what suspect had done. His Mom told him to avoid the suspect and she would come to the field early to pick him up every day and watch him. On Wednesday, witness felt like the suspect was looking for him all day. At one point, while witness was playing soccer, suspect came up to him and said, "You can't get away from me." On Thursday, while witness was playing football, the suspect told the witness that the witness was a pretty good runner and when he (suspect) was in school, he was a good runner too. He asked the witness to come to his office sometime and look at his sports pictures in his high school yearbook.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator REDACTED interviewed REDACTED Investigator REDACTED reported: REDACTED.

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 9:30 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED at the East Valley Sheriff's Office in the presence of his mother, REDACTED. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present during the interview. REDACTED is a 7th grade student at Ascension Lutheran School in Thousand Oaks.
was questioned regarding his involvement with the defendant, Father Donald Patrick Roemer. He related the following information: I attended the Sports Camp at St. Paschal's Church
Father Roemer was present each day that I attended.
I was acquainted with Father Roemer, having first met him while playing flag football in October 1979, but had no previous personal contact with him.

On June 17, 1980, while at the sports camp, Father
Roemer came over to a bench where I was sitting with three or four other boys. He said, "Hi, how's it going?" and sat down between me and another boy. He put his arm around my shoulder and started asking questions. He asked me what my name was, how old I was, what my favorite sport was, and other similar questions. While he was sitting there, his body was in contact with mine and on at least two occasions, he placed his head next to mine. His face would be very close to mine when his head was leaning on my shoulder and he would turn to talk to me.

Father Roemer said I was a nice boy and that I could run very fast. At that point I got up and went out to play basketball. While playing ball,
I saw Father Roemer put his head on the shoulder of some other boys that were sitting on the bench.
I didn't see Father Roemer anymore that day.

When my Mom picked me up that day, I told her I didn't want to go back because the priest was doing weird things. After I told her about what Father Roemer was doing, we stayed there for awhile and watched him.

Mrs. REDACTED interjected that she watched Father Roemer go from child to child, hugging, touching, and kissing them. She saw him rubbing their faces, heads and upper bodies. The kids appeared to try to get away from him, but he would resist their attempts. Mrs. REDACTED stated her observations made her very concerned about Father
Roemer's conduct and felt he was overly friendly.

REDACTED continued: I returned to the sports camp on June 18, but did not see Father Roemer on that day. On June 19, at about 11:30 a.m., I was going ready to play soccer. I saw Father Roemer and tried to avoid him. He pursued me and said,
"You can't get away from me." He came up behind me and wrapped his arms around me and put his chin on my shoulder. I started to walk away from him and he walked with me, still holding that position. He was talking to REDACTED and I pulled away from him. I was under the impression that Father Roemer's behavior was similar to that of a homosexual.

When the activities were over for that day, I went to the front of the church and waited for my ride. I was sitting on a bench when Father Roemer came up and sat very close to me. His body was touching mine and he put his arm around my shoulder. He kept his arm around me until some other boys came up and started talking to him. The kids and Father Roemer left and I was picked up shortly thereafter.

On June 20, 1981, I returned to the sports camp and ran the 50-yard dash. Father Roemer came up and said, "You run very fast." He said that he was a runner in high school and said, "Someday you can come over and look at my annual." I said, "yeah, sure," in a low voice, expressing reluctance. Father Roemer said, "See you later," and walked away. I think he knew I was reluctant.

In October 1980, I saw Father Roemer when I was signing up for flag football at Thousand Oaks High School. I hid from him, not wanting him to see me because I was afraid of him.

I saw him one time after that in January 1981 at the Westlake Theatre. He was there with a young boy and did not see me. I have not seen him since that time.

COUNT VII: REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Detective Kelli McIlvain interviewed REDACTED 14 years, DOB: REDACTED

REDACTED, REDACTED, REDACTED.

Detective McIlvain reported:

Above victim interviewed on tape in presence of his father, REDACTED approximately 1930 hours.

He related that he, REDACTED and REDACTED, went to San Diego with suspect from December 26, 1980 to December 30, 1980, from Friday to the following Tuesday. They stayed in a Holiday Inn in a room with two double beds. The evening of December 26, 1980, REDACTED slept in one bed with suspect. The next three nights, December 27, 28,
29, 1980, REDACTED slept in the bed with suspect. On Saturday night, December 27, 1980, REDACTED recalls the suspect and boys laid in bed (actually slept on the floor the whole four nights) and talked until about 0100 (December 28, 1980). This was the first time REDACTED slept with suspect. As they were all talking, suspect was rubbing his chest, underarm and stomach area. About 1 a.m., they quit talking and decided to go to sleep. The suspect was still rubbing and as he began rubbing REDACTED lower stomach area, REDACTED got up out of the bed and went and laid down on the floor. The suspect got out of bed and sat on the floor next to REDACTED. Suspect asked him what was wrong. REDACTED said, "You rubbed too low."

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart and reported:

On February 4, 1981, I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his mother at the REDACTED residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is a 9th grade student at Thousand Oaks High School. He is Catholic and attends church and CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. He is acquainted with Father Roemer, having been introduced to him by REDACTED at McDonald's Restaurant approximately three years ago. He has socialized with Father Roemer on several occasions. He has gone to movies with Father Roemer and on one occasion, went on an overnight trip to San Diego with him.

While attending the movie, Father Roemer would put his arm around him and would rub his bare back. REDACTED said he thought that was okay and didn't see anything wrong with Father Roemer rubbing his back.

Regarding the trip to San Diego, REDACTED related the following information:
Father Roemer called and asked me if I wanted to go to San Diego. I told him that I would like to go.

On December 26, 1980, Father Roemer, and I went to San Diego. We stayed in a single room with two double beds at the Holiday Inn in downtown San Diego. Father Roemer paid for the room, our meals, and most of the expenses while we were there.

The first night we were there, I slept in one of the beds alone. Father Roemer and I slept in the other bed and slept on the floor. The next night, I slept in bed with Father Roemer. I slept in my boxer shorts and Father Roemer wore pajamas.

Father Roemer started rubbing my back. He also rubbed my stomach and chest. He was not saying anything about what he was doing. I was uncomfortable and got out of bed. Father Roemer got out of bed and asked me what was wrong. I told him I was uncomfortable and that he had "rubbed a little too low."

Father Roemer said he was half asleep and didn't know what was going on. He apologized and said he was sorry if he had annoyed me.

COUNT VIII: REDACTED

On December 27, 1980, Deputy Joseph Cipollini of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed REDACTED REDACTED REDACTED Deputy REDACTED reported:

I responded to REDACTED Newbury Park, where I contacted victim REDACTED, a 6-year-old boy. I asked REDACTED to tell me what happened in his own words.

REDACTED said that, "Awhile" ago, he and his family went camping with a church group. One night they were there, he asked suspect (he calls him Father Pat) to come over to his bed to say his goodnight prayers. After saying the prayers, suspect reached down his pajama bottoms and began feeling his "penis." He said he did it for about the time it takes to count to 20. During the time the suspect talked about "peace," REDACTED did not say or do anything during this time.

I asked Redacted why he waited to tell what happened. He said that he was afraid that he (victim) would be sent to jail. He also said that suspect has never done anything like this to him before, nor has he since. Redacted has not talked to victim about what happened. Redacted said he had felt bad since it occurred, so he finally told his mother. Redacted said he could not give any further details.

I talked to Redacted mother. She relayed the following:

On May 10 and 11, 1980, she and her family went on a religious retreat at Camp Yolijwa in the San Bernardino Mountains. They went with Father Patrick Roemer and other members of St. Paschal's congregation, Thousand Oaks. She said that after they returned, Redacted no longer wanted to go to church. He seemed to have a dramatic change in attitude toward church.

She said that Redacted told her about the incident on December 25, 1980. She waited to report it because they were out of town. She said their family is very close to Father Roemer and she reported it in hopes he would receive help.

On January 28, 1981, Detective Tom Odle of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department reported an interview with Redacted

Redacted at the request of Lt. Redacted , I interviewed above victim at his home at Redacted in Newbury Park. The victim stated that he and his father had gone to a weekend retreat with Father Roemer from St. Paschal's Church. The victim, nor his father, could remember exactly when the trip took place, possibly in late April or May of 1980. The victim stated he was in his pajamas at approximately 2000 hours when Father Roemer started talking to him about the church and God. During the conversation, Father Roemer touched the victim in the groin area. According to victim, Father Roemer then removed his hand and nothing more happened. The victim's father was asleep in another bunk in the room at the time it happened.

I asked victim's mother if she desired criminal proceedings and she stated she was only interested in seeing that Father Roemer received help for his problem.
The above information was relayed to Lt. McKinley.

On January 5, 1981, Lt. Braden McKinley of the Ventura County Sheriff's Office filed the following report regarding action taken by him in the matter involving REDACTED

Lt. McKinley reported:

On Monday, 29 December 80, Lt. REDACTED telephoned me and advised me of information contained in original report. On Tuesday, 30 December 80, I contacted Father REDACTED Sacred Heart Church, for advice on how to best handle the situation, administratively.

On Friday, 2 January 81, I telephoned Mrs. REDACTED mother of victim and arranged for Det. REDACTED to further interview victim on that date.

Mrs. REDACTED told me that she and her son had spoken to Father REDACTED Father Roemer's superior, and informed him of the incident, who assured them the incident would be thoroughly handled. Det. REDACTED evaluation of the victim was that he was probably truthful about the incident.

As the incident occurred more than seven months ago in another jurisdiction (San Berdo) and a copy of the report had been sent to SBSO for statistical purposes and victim and parents desire no formal prosecution and they have brought the incident to the superior of suspect, presumably competent authority, no further action is warranted by this department. Case closed.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator

Pete Smart interviewed Mrs. REDACTED and her son, REDACTED Investigator REDACTED reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 11 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED and her son, REDACTED at the Ventura County Sheriff's East Valley Station. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present during the interview.

REDACTED is a 7-year-old male. He is a 2nd grade student at Bannon Elementary School in Newbury Park.

Mrs. REDACTED related the following information:

I first met Father Roemer about three years ago at a CCD teachers' class at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. At that time, I was attending a Catholic church in Newbury Park. About a year later I started attending St. Paschal's Church because of Father Roemer. He was very friendly, maybe even overly friendly, but I liked him very much.

On May 10 and 11, 1980, our family attended a family retreat in San Bernardino. We stayed in barrack-type houses. The men occupied one and the women were housed in the other. Sleeping facilities consisted of bunk-type beds, similar to military style. We stayed at the camp for two days and then returned home.

I was not aware of any unusual appearance or incident while attending the retreat. However, on December 27, 1980, REDACTED related an incident involving Father Roemer that occurred at the retreat. REDACTED said that Father Roemer had rubbed his stomach and his genitals while he was in bed and had called Father Roemer to help him say his prayers.

The incident was reported to the Sheriff's Office. I also reported the incident to Father O'Ryan who is the pastor at St. Paschal's Church. Father O'Ryan assured me the matter would be dealt with. Therefore, we decided not to pursue criminal prosecution. I have not received any feedback from Father O'Ryan as to what action was taken regarding this incident if, in fact, anything had been done whatsoever.

REDACTED was then asked a series of questions regarding the incident that occurred at this retreat. He related the following information:

We got there (church camp) at about 9:30 or 10 p.m. We had a snack and then went to bed. We were sleeping with our clothes on in sleeping bags on bunk beds. My Dad was sleeping in a bunk across from me on the other side of the room. The lights were all turned off, except for the one in the bathroom.

I called Father Roemer and asked him a question. He came over and knelt down beside my bed. He was still dressed at that time. I asked Father Roemer a question. He started to answer the question and at the same time stuck his hand under my pants.
He held onto my penis and moved his fingers. His fingers were wrapped around my penis and he moved the lower fingers while holding it. REDACTED demonstrated with the use of a soda bottle that he had been drinking from.) He held onto my penis for about 60 seconds. He did not say anything about it. I did not say anything about it because I was "too scared to tell him to stop." He was patting me on the head at the same time he was holding my penis.

After about 60 seconds, Father Roemer said goodnight and left. I saw him go into the bathroom. After Father Roemer left, I laid there for about a half hour because I could not go to sleep. "I had nightmares about Father Roemer dying because he did sin."

The next morning someone said that I fell out of bed and Father Roemer picked me up and put me back in bed. I do not remember anything about that.

I thought about what Father Roemer had done to me, but I did not tell my Dad because I was too scared. I did not think anyone would believe me.

I saw Father Roemer that day, but only with my Mom and Dad. Nothing else happened while we were at the camp. I saw Father Roemer at church thereafter, but he never did anything like that to me again. He always hugged and kissed me, but that is all.

On February 6, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart talked with Mrs. REDACTED by telephone.

Investigator Smart reported:

On February 6, 1981 at approximately 1 p.m., I telephoned Mrs. REDACTED regarding an incident involving her son, REDACTED.

Mrs. REDACTED stated she talked to Father REDACTED on December 27, 1980 and again on January 30, 1981 regarding the Father Roemer incident involving her son, REDACTED.

Mrs. REDACTED stated that Father REDACTED appeared to be grateful that the matter had been brought to his attention. He assured her that the situation would be thoroughly looked into and something would be done about it. He gave the analogy that the situation "is like having a splinter in your thumb, if something isn't done about it, it continues to get worse."
Mrs. REDACTED stated that Father O'Ryan has never discussed the matter with her since that time. Therefore, she is not aware of any action taken by Father O'Ryan, if, in fact, any had been taken.

On February 10, 1981, District Attorney Investigator REDACTED telephoned Father Colm O'Ryan, Pastor of St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. Investigator Smart reported:

On February 10, 1981 at approximately 7:50 a.m., I called Father O'Ryan regarding a scheduled appointment for an interview that he had cancelled.

Father O'Ryan stated he had consulted with legal counsel who had advised him not to discuss the case involving Father Roemer with the District Attorney. Therefore, he felt he should follow that advice.

I asked Father O'Ryan if he had been advised by defense attorney, REDACTED Father O'Ryan said he had not. He stated he had been advised by a local legal counsel in the community and refused to identify that person.

I informed Father O'Ryan it was essential that we talk with him regarding Father Roemer since he is Father Roemer's supervisor and obviously knowledgeable about the allegations involving Father Roemer. I told Father O'Ryan he would receive a subpoena in the near future. Therefore, he would be required to appear as a witness, without the benefit of discussing the facts of the case with the District Attorney.

Father O'Ryan stated he would recontact his legal advisor and let me know if and when he would allow an interview.
ADDITIONAL VICTIMS

A. REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Detective McIlvain interviewed REDACTED 14 years, DOB: REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED

Detective REDACTED reported:

Above victim interviewed on tape. He was brought in by parents, REDACTED and REDACTED approximately 2010 hours, EVSO.

He said that the suspect never did anything to him. A couple of times he went on overnight trips with suspect to a ranch in Fillmore. On the first trip, he was one of six boys taken by suspect. He didn’t really know the other five, but recalls one boy’s name was REDACTED. On the second trip, he was one of five boys. His friend and neighbor, REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED went also. He cannot remember who else went. (He and his parents could not recall the dates.) They all slept in sleeping bags on the floor in the living room. The suspect had tickled his chest and stomach area, but nothing else. After talking with victim REDACTED I asked his parents if they would check to see if they could identify dates of Fillmore trips. One trip was during school year, prior to summer 1980. Approximately 2100 hours, I received a call from Mrs. REDACTED She advised that the REDACTED were mistaken. Her son, REDACTED had never gone on any trip with suspect. She also said she had talked with her son and the suspect had never done anything to him. She seemed upset.

On February 5, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 5, 1981 at approximately 9:40 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of both of his parents at the District Attorney’s Office. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

'REDACTED is a 9th grade student at Newbury Park High School. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes. He has known Father
Roemer since he (Roemer) came to St. Paschal's parish and is very fond of him. REDACTED is also active in the St. Paschal's youth program. He has socialized with Father Roemer on several occasions. He has attended movies and has gone on overnight outings with him to Father Roemer's parents' ranch in Fillmore. He has never been alone with Father Roemer on any of these social outings.

REDACTED thinks Father Roemer is a very affectionate person. Father Roemer has hugged him and kissed him on the forehead many times. REDACTED claims he has never gone into the teachers' lounge with Father Roemer. However, he has gone into his office and has been shown pictures in a book. While looking at the pictures, they were sitting side-by-side and Father Roemer had his arm around him.

On one occasion, REDACTED invited Father Roemer to his home for a swimming party. This occurred in early-August 1980. REDACTED and REDACTED were also present. Mr. & Mrs. REDACTED were not at home; however, were aware of the party and gave their approval.

During the course of the party, Father Roemer "tickled" REDACTED in the rib area. REDACTED denies that Father Roemer had ever rubbed his stomach and/or chest.

REDACTED has also gone to the movies and on overnight outings to Father Roemer's ranch in Fillmore. At the movie, Father Roemer would sit between REDACTED and one of the other boys who were present. Father Roemer would put his arm around him and occasionally tickle his knee. He did not attempt to rub his back or other parts of his body.

REDACTED and several boys were invited by Father Roemer to spend the night at his parents' ranch in Fillmore. They arrived at the ranch at approximately 4:30 or 5 p.m. They went for a walk, ate, and then sat around the living room telling ghost stories. Father Roemer had his arm around someone all of the time.

At approximately 10 or 11 p.m., they decided to turn in for the night. They all slept in sleeping bags on the floor, except Father Roemer. He slept on the couch. Everyone slept in pajamas. They changed into their pajamas in the bedroom, out of the presence of Father Roemer and each other.
REDACTED denied that Father Roemer had touched or rubbed him while they were at the ranch. He did not observe Father Roemer touching or rubbing any of the others present. There were no unusual or remarkable occurrences while at the ranch. The following morning they got up around 8 a.m. and returned home.

REDACTED said that Father Roemer is a very affectionate person and has hugged him, kissed him on the forehead and tickled him. However, he has not attempted to rub his stomach or chest. REDACTED said that Father REDACTED is also affectionate, but he doesn't tickle. REDACTED denies being aware of Father Roemer shaking or shivering during any of the aforementioned contacts with him.

B. REDACTED

Detective Kelli McIlvain of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed REDACTED 14 years, DOB: REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED. Detective McIlvain reported:

He related the suspect had never done anything to him. He did go on an overnight trip to the ranch once. Neither he nor his father could recall the date. He told me he went to San Diego with Father Roemer the Friday after Christmas. They left on December 26, and stayed five days and four nights at the Holiday Inn in San Diego, Room 1003. He said two other boys went along, REDACTED (unknown last name). They stayed in a single room which had two double beds. The first night, the night of December 26, 1980, he slept with Father Roemer. REDACTED slept on the floor and REDACTED slept in the other bed alone. He only slept the one night in the same bed with Father Roemer. He said he did not know if anything had happened as far as Father Roemer touching him anywhere. He is a sound sleeper, which his mother confirmed. His mother said that REDACTED is very hard to wake up. There was no reason he did not sleep in the same bed as Father Roemer. He just fell asleep on the floor watching TV. He told me he is fond of Father Roemer, but would tell me if he remembered anything happening.

D. REDACTED

Deputy William Montijo of the Ventura Sheriff's Department, on February 12, 1981, attempted to interview REDACTED and made the following report:

At approx. 1930 hours, I drove to REDACTED Drive, T. Oaks, in an effort to interview REDACTED, victim's step-father, met me outside of the house and I explained my purpose. REDACTED told me his son was not home, that he was in L.A. and would be returning the following day some time around 6 p.m. I explained to REDACTED that it was important I obtain a stmt. from victim. REDACTED related he had talked with his son about Father Roemer and he told me his son told him nothing had happened. I made an appoint- ment to attempt contact with victim btwn. 1900-2100 hours on 2/13/81.

2/13/81:

At approx. 1930 hours, I drove to the REDACTED residence and again was met by REDACTED his wife, and two other adults outside of the residence. REDACTED related his son had not yet returned from L.A. I again told REDACTED it was important we spoke with his son. I told REDACTED we could contact his son at Colina School or at a later time. REDACTED questioned me regarding the case. I told REDACTED that the "S" had admitted touching his son.
REDACTED asked me if questioning his son could wait until his court appearance. I explained it was necessary to interview his son prior to court. I asked REDACTED if his son was home and he just did not want me to talk to him. He said that his son was not home. REDACTED seemed to be evasive about his son's whereabouts and I felt his son was possibly in the residence. I was of the impression by REDACTED conduct that he really did not want his son involved with Roemer's case and was sympathetic towards his plight.

No further effort to interview REDACTED by this officer,

E. REDACTED

On February 2, 1981, Detective Kelli McIlvain of the Ventura County Sheriff's Office submitted the following report:

This date I talked with REDACTED
Director, of Special Education and Special Services,
Conejo Valley Unified School District, 1400 East
Janss Road, Thousand Oaks, REDACTED

He related in late October or early November 1980, a previous student, REDACTED told his mother that suspect, after a church-related class, had rubbed his stomach and chest.
The suspect shook all over during this action.
Mrs. REDACTED told REDACTED (Acacia School), REDACTED teacher at the time. Mrs. REDACTED was advised to phone the Ventura Sheriff's Department with this info.

The possible victim now lives at REDACTED
REDACTED and REDACTED
School.

Approximately 1600 hours, this date, Sgt. REDACTED REDACTED and I attempted to contact victim at his residence. Sgt. REDACTED talked with REDACTED
(victim's Dad) who said he would have his wife
contact us if she had any information.

On February 17, 1981, Detective Kelli McIlvain, Ventura County Sheriff's Department, interviewed REDACTED , REDACTED REDACTED , REDACTED Mrs. REDACTED is a special
Detective McIlvain reported:

Mrs. REDACTED related that in September 1980, Mrs. REDACTED, mother of student REDACTED, told her the following: Father Roemer, after either CCD or class or altar boy class, had put his hand inside REDACTED shirt and stroked his stomach. While doing this, Father Roemer began to tremble all over.

Mrs. REDACTED thinks this occurrence was in June of 1980. After learning of this in September, she immediately gave the information to her supervisor, and then to Dr. REDACTED, Director of Special Education of Conejo Valley Unified School District. (Prior to REDACTED) At a later date, she gave the information to REDACTED. She recalls she went to REDACTED because Father Roemer was on Acacia School campus talking and visiting with students about once a week. It was Father Roemer's practice for at least school year 79-80 and 80-81 (to time of arrest) to come to Acacia School during the lunch hour on Mondays.

Mrs. REDACTED knew of no formal purpose/reason for his visits. She recalls that after her discussion with Mrs. REDACTED, Father Roemer quit coming to her class table in the cafeteria as he had done in the past. He stopped visiting as much with REDACTED.

Mrs. REDACTED said that another student of hers, REDACTED, 11 or 12 years, had told her that Father Roemer was his "favorite rabbi" because Father Roemer had kissed him on the cheek. REDACTED later told her that Father Roemer had invited him to his home. Mrs. REDACTED does not think REDACTED visited Father Roemer at his residence because the newspaper article of his arrest was printed shortly after her talk with REDACTED.

She learned that Father Roemer was often on Glenwood Elementary School campus and had filled out some sort of on-campus application for Redwood School. Mrs. REDACTED did not know if he had ever filled out any similar application for REDACTED in the past. She knew of no other person who was routinely on REDACTED campus without a formal purpose.

WHEREFORE, The People of the State of California respectfully submit this Statement of Facts as proof of the factual basis of the pleas of nolo contendere by Donald Patrick.

INTERVIEW OF DONALD P. ROEMER BY KELLI MC ILVAIN,

DR = Donald Roemer

REDACTED = REDACTED

(unintelligible)

KM: And your date of birth.

DR: REDACTED

KM: And your residence address?

DR: REDACTED

KM: Do you have your own phone there?

DR: Yes. Well, there's a __________

KM: Okay. Is the house phone kinda like your work phone?

DR: That's a work phone.

KM: And what's your --

DR: REDACTED

KM: I'd like to talk to you about the information ____ I have to read you your rights. Because at this point you are a suspect in the crime of child molest. Okay?

DR: Okay.

KM: You understand that you're suspected of committing the crime of child molest. Do you understand?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: You have the right to remain silent. Do you understand?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: If you give up that right, anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law. Do you understand?

You have the right to talk to a lawyer and have him

EXHIBIT "A"
you understand?

DR:

KM: If you cannot afford to hire a lawyer, one will be appointed to represent you before any questioning at no cost to you if you wish one. Do you understand?

DR:

KM: Do you understand all these rights that I've explained to you? Do you have any questions about these rights?

DR: No, I don't think so.

KM: Having these rights in mind, do you wish to give up these rights and talk to me about the charges against you?

DR: I'd rather talk to you.

KM: You would?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Okay. Do you know a boy by the name of REDACTED

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you see REDACTED Today?

DR: Yes, I saw him today.

KM: What time did you see him?

DR: Saw him when he got there for his religious instruction class. I forget the exact, probably about 3:20 to 3:25.

KM: What did you say to REDACTED?

DR: What did I say to him?

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: I asked him--I'm just going to tell you.

KM: Okay.

DR: I have no problem.

KM: Okay.
DR: No problem. Because, well -- it, it is a problem, it isn't -- maybe it's the best way for it to come out.

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: I mean, I've dealt with it before on a spiritual basis and it never works and I am having a problem, not that I'm going around molesting children and stuff like that. I'll just tell you exactly what happened, probably exactly what he said.

KM: Okay.

DR: Can I ask you what he said?

KM: He said that ah you asked him to come into an office and look at some pictures --

KM: Okay.

DR: My year book.

KM: Your year book pictures and he said that you had him sit on your lap.

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Is that right?

DR: And I had him stand up.

KM: And you had him stand up? Where did you have him stand up?

DR: Just right in front of me. I mean, not expose himself, I,
I touched him.

KM: Did you touch his penis?

DR: Yeah.

KM: Did you --

DR: Not all the way, but I --

KM: Did you stroke his penis?
DR: Well, kinda, just kinda back and forth, but I never really grabbed it or touched it all the way.
KM: Did, did you do this while he was sitting on your lap?
DR: No, while he was standing.
KM: What did you say to him when you were doing this?
DR: Well, I started out by stroking his stomach and asking him if that felt good --
KM: Uh-huh.
DR: -- and I he said yes and I just went further. He didn't say anything but yes and he was paging through the book.
KM: This was when he was standing up?
DR: Well, yeah, he was, he was sitting in my lap first and then I asked him to stand up and -- KM: Okay. So then you ah, put your hand under his shirt and stroked his stomach
DR: At first.
KM: --at first, and then did you--was he sitting on your lap when you were stroking his penis?
DR: I think I did it first when he was, when he was standing up and when he sat down again I did it for a short time, just a few seconds and that was it.
KM: So you, you had him sit down, stand up, sit down, is that right?
DR: Well, when he first came in he stood up, but then he sat down in my lap, looked at the pictures. That's when I started it--
KM: Uh-huh.
DR: He stood up, then he sat down.
KM: Okay. Did you tell him to stand up?
DR: Yeah.
KM: Why did you tell him to stand up?
DR: So it would be easier or me to get my hand down there.
KM: How long do you think, how long do you think this whole incident took?
DR: About a minute and a half, two minutes. It really wasn't long.
KM: Ah,
DR: I know this is hard for you; it's hard for me.
KM: I'm sure it is, Father. Have you already told Father REDACTED is it?
DR: Father REDACTED really isn't the pastor anymore. Father REDACTED is.
KM: Have you already told Father REDACTED
DR: I will.
KM: How did Father REDACTED already know about it when I called?
DR: About what?
KM: About ah, a 7-year-old, a young boy making an accusation, do you know?
DR: Father REDACTED knew about it?
KM: Yeah. I called and talked with you, and you must have got my message because you--
DR: Oh, I, I got your message.
KM: And the Father asked me is this concerning a young boy and I said that I only would talk with you.
DR: It could be that the parents had called and talked to him.
KM: No, they didn't. I've already talked with them. Maybe somebody else, or they talked. Maybe--

DR: How could he have possibly known?

KM: Somebody else must have called. This only happened today.

DR: Yes.

KM: Is it alright if I have a cigarette?

DR: Sure.

KM: Okay, they have another boy who's name is REDACTED.

DR: Yes.

KM: He told me something that happened during confession. Would you know what that would be?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: What was that then?

DR: He came in and sat on my lap for confession, I put my hand under his shirt. I didn't, you know, molest him or anything like that.

KM: When ah, when-REDACTED. was in your office, did you kiss hi on the ear?

DR: Can't remember.

That's the truth, I don't--

KM: You don't remember?

DR: I don't remember.

KM: Do you think you could have?

DR: I could have.

KM: He also said that when you were stroking his penis and he was sitting on your lap, you were shaking.

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Is that true?

DR: Yes.
KM: When ah, when was in confession and you had him sit on your lap, and you rubbed his chest, did you kiss him on the ear?

DR: I don't think so. Did he say that I did?

KM: Yeah.

DR: If he did, then it was probably right. I don't

KM: Have you, you were saying you've been dealing with this spiritually--

DR: And psychologically.

KM: And psychologically.

DR: There's a priest in Santa Barbara that I go to, used to go to on a regular basis, but I haven't seen him in about 4 or 5 months.

KM: Has anything like this ha--have you ever done anything like this in the past?

DR: I've come close to it, yeah.

KM: Am I going to find out about other victims besides, besides REDACTED

DR: It has happened before, yes.

KM: It has?

DR:

KM: Has it happened before, while in Thousand Oaks at this particular church? How long have you been at this church?

DR: For 3 years. Not quite 3, it'll be 3 years this June.

KM: And where were you assigned previously?

DR: Santa Barbara.

KM: Santa Barbara.

DR: Never happened there.
KM: Have you ever been arrested for anything prior to this?

DR: No.

KM: How long have you been a Father?

DR: 11 years.

KM: 11 years.

DR: Please be patient. This is painful.

KM: I know and I appreciate how hard it must be. Nobody, I'm sure, but you, can know how terribly hard it is.

DR: Last year I got the, because of interest in working with kids and it's not just motivated by the problem, last year I got the honorary service award from the National PTA for working with kids. What a farce now --

KM: Can you give me an estimate of how many times in the past this has happened, fondling the genitals?

DR: I don't know. Two, two times before.

KM: And how long ago has this been?

DR: It's been within this year.

KM: This year? All, January of this year?

DR: I don't think January.

KM: 1981?

DR: Yeah.

KM: It's been since Christmas?

DR: Well, there was one occasion, right after -- I'm not trying to elude you. I'm just, I don't really know when exactly it was.

KM: Ah, other than fondling with your hand -- the other two incidents, was there any type of sexual activity?

DR: No.
KM: Okay. Have you had very many boys sit on your lap during confession and rub their chests?

DR: Besides REDACTED brother, I don't know --

KM: Do you think that's appropriate behavior, Father?

DR: No, I know it's not appropriate. I, I--

KM: I understand that you realize what you did was wrong, but I've got the feeling, from what you said before,

DR: No, I don't, I'm not trying to cover up or anything --

KM: It's not as overt as what happened with REDACTED, but --

DR: Yeah.

KM: -- but it's still inappropriate--

DR: Yeah, it most certainly is. I have not nearly enough sought out, I think, enough psychological help for the problem I have. (pause) Like, even after it happened, I think I knew, I really did know --

KM: You knew what?

DR: That I was I just felt it, I mean, it's not like I haven't told anybody before.

KM: Have you told people before?

DR: Not people, but this priest that's up in Santa Barbara.

KM: Yeah. But you've--have you told anyone else?

DR: No.

KM: Do you know the names of the other two boys?

DR: Ah -- there is one, well there's one kid that sat on my lap in confession and I did it -- REDACTED

KM: And how long ago do you think that was?

DR: Not long, I think it was two weeks ago.

KM: You know how to spell it?
DR: REDACTED

KM: How old is REDACTED

DR: I think REDACTED is 7-1/2.

KM: Was he already going to confession?

DR: I think he made his first one, but I didn't do it in confession.

KM: When did it happen?

DR: That was in, in that same room--it's not my office, it's the teachers' lounge. That is in the center of the school.

KM: Now would that have been the 12th, Monday the 12th? It would be two weeks ago today.

DR: I think, I think that would be ____________

KM: Was, is he going to CCD? Wouldn't that be about the same thing?

DR: It was Monday. You're just talking about in general, not genital?

KM: You didn't rub his genitals that time?

DR: No. I didn't rub his at all.

KM: _______ did you rub his stomach?

DR: Yes. And his chest.

KM: _______ touch his skin --

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Did you show him your year book that time?

DR: No.

KM: How long did this--ah, how long was it?

DR: About 2 minutes.

KM: Was this about 3:30?

DR: Ah, around 3:30.
KM: And besides REDACTED the other incident?

DR: One other -- REDACTED He's a 6th grader. And that was the same day -- I don't think that was on the same day. I can't remember exactly when that happened, I think it was last week, last Monday. He spells it REDACTED

KM: He's in 6th grade, so he's 11 or 12?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: And you think this was last Monday?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Which be the same day REDACTED went to confession and this happened.

DR: Ah, REDACTED ah REDACTED went to confession -- Okay, when he went to confession was not on a Monday, it was his day for CCD. Yes it is, he comes--he was sick today. So, it was the same--it was the same, think it was--the same day.

KM: He was sick today?

DR: Yeah. His brother was not there.

KM: Okay. So, so it was on the same day with REDACTED Did this happen in the confessional?

DR: No.

KM: Where did it happen?

DR: In the room.

KM: In the, ah, the same room we were talking about previously?

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you have the 6th grader sit on your lap?

DR: No. He sat in a chair next to me.

KM: And this wasn't during confession?

DR: No.
KM: How did you have him come into the office?
DR: As soon as he got there. It was previous--confess--the confession time wasn't Saturday. It was, it was a special time that Father REDACTED and I have the penance service and they can go to confession if they want. So, that was after 4 o'clock. I don't know the precise time, but this is before CCD. It starts at 3:30.

KM: REDACTED
DR: REDACTED

KM: Well, was he in that office for a prepenance conference?
DR: No.

KM: What was he in the office for?
DR: I asked him to come in there.

KM: Why did you, did you ask him to come in to look at anything or for what reason?
DR: I jus--he's in a special class at school.
KM: Uh-huh.

DR: Not at our school, but at REDACTED and I asked him to come in to see how he was doing because I didn't see him at lunch that day when I was there.

KM: What did you say to him, while you were rubbing his chest?
DR: I just asked him how things were going, just had like a general conversation.

KM: You were jus--and you were rubbing his chest while you were having a general conversation?
DR: Uh-huh, yes.

KM: Well, did he seem alarmed?
DR: No. You're asking me for a fact.
KM: Yeah. Yeah, I know.

DR:

KM: Well, that's right.

DR: I know what I'm doing is -- wrong.

KM: I'm just trying to see--you're sitting side-by-side--

DR: And I reached over like this.

(pause)

KM: Rubbing his chest.

DR: Yeah.

KM: Did you have an erection when you were doing this?

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you have an erection when you were doing this to ah, REDACTED

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you ejaculate?

DR: Ah, yes.

KM: Did you ejaculate while rubbing the chest?

DR: Ah, I can't remember.

KM: Okay. Do you remember if you ejaculated after rubbing REDACTED?

DR: Ah, today you mean?

KM: No REDACTED wasn't -- today.

DR: Oh, that's right, ah no. That was different.

KM: But you had an erection when, you -- with REDACTED

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: And you had an erection when you were with REDACTED

(pause)

DR: Yes.

6560
KM: Have you ever done anything like this with any little girls?

DR: No.

KM: Well, it was 2 weeks ago with REDACTED a week ago with REDACTED and today with REDACTED. Is there anything else, Father, is there anything else that will come to light, that you think you should talk about now?

DR: Yeah.

KM: What is that?

DR: Everything I tell you has to go down?

KM: It does, Father.

DR: Probably be made public too?

KM: The ah--

DR: You don't have to answer that.

KM: The details of this, I won't make public. It will be public information that you've been arrested.

DR: What does that mean?

KM: Well, whoever is arrested -- that's public information, just point of fact -- that's what it is, public information, but I won't be talking to the press, myself, about details of the case. And I know that that is very frightening from your position right now. But the real point is this activity is wrong -- it's gotta be stopped.

That's the important part.

DR: Right.

KM:

DR: I understand. I -- but, like how it's stopped --

KM: Yeah. Important too.
DR: What, what kind of help can I get, if any at all?
KM: What kind of psychiatric help?
DR: Is that part of the procedure?
KM: It is part of the procedure, you will be ah, evaluated by psychiatrists and I, I really don't know what kind of help they will give you. I know it is essential you're motivated to be helped.
DR: Yeah. There's no doubt about it, it's kind of like trying and trying and trying not to get involved in that, failing over and over again and not knowing what to do.
KM: Fighting it and fighting it.
DR: Fighting it and not knowing how to handle it anymore. Fooling yourself that the more you go and talk to a spiritual leader it's gonna do, and letting it go, you know?
KM: There are special psychiatrists for this kind of problem that specialize in this area. Ah, I don't, I can't tell you what, what the courts will do about this. I can't say no, they'll just put you, you know, in a psychiatric program, I really can't tell you, cause I don't know what the sentencing will be.
DR: Can I just ask you some questions? I mean just --
KM: Sure, go ahead.
DR: It'll obviously be all over town. I mean, just tell me.
KM: I think that the people in your church have a great respect for all the work you've done and I think that from investigations in the past, you will have some friends that will stick by you and will help you through this time and ah, I've already heard that you have done excellent work with the youth in the church.

DR: That's all shot.

KM: Well, people understand that, if the work was done, it was accomplished and you've done it, so I wouldn't say it's all shot. People that care about you are going to be most concerned of handle the whole thing. We both know, there are times when it takes a great deal more courage to tell the truth than it does to lie.

DR: I know it. I know.

KM: People make mistakes.

DR: I'm gonna trust ________, maybe it's for the best.

Where do I go from here?

KM: Well, I'm going to have to arrest you.

DR: Fine. I mean, like do all the rest of those people have to be contacted?

KM: They should be contacted. They will be contacted, Father. The parents of REDACTED and REDACTED are very upset, naturally, but they also expressed a lot of concern about what would happen to you.

DR: That's great.

KM: Is there anything else that I'm going to find out?

DR: Yeah.

KM: Okay
superior while assigned to St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. Father \text{REDACTED} stated he was the defendant's superior for approximately two and one-half years and speaks very highly of the defendant's talents. He stated that the church was completely unaware of the defendant's behavior and at this point the church is awaiting the outcome of the court proceedings to guide what alternative they will choose. He says this is an extreme tragedy as the defendant is a very talented man and will give of himself to any one. He states that the defendant is a compulsive worker and that he apparently gave in to a weakness that he was not able to tolerate. Father \text{REDACTED} stated that the Catholic Church has an intensive psychiatric in-patient program near San Francisco called "The House of Affirmation." This program is up to one year in duration, an intensive psychiatric institution where wayward Catholic priests can receive therapy. He states that the defendant is now aware of that alternative and Father \text{REDACTED} stated that he hopes the court will consider that alternative when sentencing the defendant.

EVALUATION:

Sentencing Alternatives: The defendant pled nolo contendere to three counts of violating Section 288(a) of the Penal Code. Each count is punishable by commitment to State Prison for either three, five or seven years. Further, pursuant to Section 288.1 of the Penal Code and 6302.2(c) of the Welfare and Institutions Code, mentally disordered sex offender proceedings are mandatory.

Negotiated Plea: The defendant has entered into a negotiated plea wherein Counts IV (288(a) PC), Count V (288(a) PC), Count VI, (288(a) PC), Count VII (288(a) PC), and Count VIII (288(a) PC) will be dismissed at the time of sentencing.

Circumstances in Aggravation: The following appear to be the circumstances in aggravation:

1. The victims were particularly vulnerable (Rule 421a3).
2. The planning and sophistication with which the crime was carried out indicates premeditation (Rule 421a8).
The defendant took advantage of a position of trust and confidence to commit the instant offense (Rule 421a12).

Circumstances in Mitigation: The following appear to be the circumstances in mitigation:

1. The defendant has no prior record (Rule 423b1).
2. The defendant voluntarily acknowledged wrongdoing at an early stage of the criminal process (Rule 423b3).

Probation Suitability:

1. The defendant is statutorily eligible for probation (Rule 414a).
2. There is not a great likelihood that if not imprisoned the defendant will be a physical danger to others (Rule 414b).
3. In the instant offense the defendant, a Catholic priest, molested various young boys between the ages of six and twelve. The molestation occurred over a nine-month period. The acts of molestation varied from the defendant rubbing the victims' stomach, chest and underarm areas to rubbing the boys' genital areas. The majority of the acts were committed on church grounds or while under the auspices of church-related business (Rule 414c1).
4. The victims were extremely vulnerable in that they were young, sexually naive and had placed full trust in the "man of the cloth" and parental figure which the defendant represented to them. There was no physical harm to the victims in the instant offense, but the psychological ramifications are extremely far-reaching as evidenced by the current state of the victims (Rule 414c2).
5. By virtue of the defendant's admitted "sexual fantasies" involving young boys, he planned the commission of the crime and was in fact an active participant (Rule 414c5).
6. Focusing his molestations on young, sexually naive victims and participating in such behavior over at least a nine-month period indicates a degree of criminal sophistication (Rule 414c7).
7. The defendant as both a religious and parental figure appears to have represented to his victims a considerable degree of trust. Clearly, that trust was taken advantage of to commit the instant offense (Rule 414c8).
8. The present case is the defendant's first criminal arrest (Rule 414d1).
9. The defendant professes a willingness and appears to have the ability to comply with the terms of probation (Rule 414d3).
10. The defendant is a 37-year-old graduate of St. John's Seminary in Camarillo. He appears to be of average physical health and his true mental health will be determined in future proceedings. The defendant's family ties are stable and intact (Rule 414d4).
The defendant has been a Catholic priest since May of 1970. He lists no military service and financial assets of approximately $1,000.00 (Rule 414d5).

There appears to be no danger to either drug or alcohol addiction (Rule 414d6).

Inprisonment at this time would have a traumatic effect upon the defendant and his dependents (Rule 414d7).

It appears there would be no undue effects upon the defendant's life as a result of a felony record (Rule 414d8).

The defendant is extremely remorseful (Rule 414d9).

Criteria Affecting Concurrent or Consecutive Sentencing:

1. The crimes and their objectives were predominantly independent of each other (Rule 425a1).

2. The crimes were committed at different times and separate places rather than being so close in time and place as to indicate a single period of aberrant behavior (Rule 425a3).

3. The defendant's total criminal involvement concerned multiple victims, however each individual crime involved only one victim (Rule 425a4).

4. The convictions for which sentences are to be imposed are numerous (Rule 425a5).

Analysis: the defendant appears before the court having pled no contest to three of eight charged accounts of child molestation. The circumstances and ramifications of the instant offense are extremely aggravated and far-reaching for all concerned. Such factors are clearly supportive of the mandatory mentally disordered sex offender proceedings. Hopefully, those psychiatric evaluations will be beneficial to the court and the undersigned in reaching a final disposition in this case.

Should the defendant now or at a later date be committed to the Atascadero State Hospital, the maximum term of retention is ten and one-third years. The Court's attention is respectfully directed to the fixed term worksheet which is attached hereto and made a part of this report.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is respectfully recommended that criminal proceedings be suspended and mentally disordered sex offender proceedings be initiated.
Community stunned by report of priest's arrest

BY FAYE FIORE

Comparing him to a "sacrificial lamb" who is being "hung and crucified" before his trial, several local residents expressed shock and anger about the arrest of a Conejo parish priest on charges of child molesting.

The News Chronicle has received a flood of phone calls after reporting Tuesday that the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, 36, was booked Monday night at the East Valley Sheriff's Station on a single count of child molesting.

Callers have angrily criticized the newspaper for publishing the report of the arrest, saying publicity should have been withheld until after Roemer is tried.

Roemer is accused of "making advances of a sexual nature" toward a 7-year-old boy who attends Bible study classes at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks, sheriff's deputies said.

The News Chronicle routinely publishes reports of such arrests.

Roemer is scheduled to appear at 8:30 a.m. Friday in Ventura Municipal Court Division 11 to enter a plea.

The child's parents told deputies that their son began to describe at the dinner table an alleged encounter with Roemer. Sheriff's detectives investigated the situation and determined there were grounds to arrest the priest, who has been a priest for 10 years.

Roemer has been publicly commended for his patient work with children during his few years in the local parish, and disbelieving parents are stepping forward in his defense.

"Our priests are constant targets," said Penny Lord, a parishioner at St. Jude's Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks. "All priests are like sacrificial lambs," who are vulnerable to accusations, she said after calling the News Chronicle.

Lord related overhearing people at St. Jude's parish praying for Roemer, who has come to be known as "Father Pat" in the community.

"The people at the church are hurt because they know him and they love him and they want to be sure he's going to be given a fair trial," she said.

Darts of criticism have also been aimed at the sheriff's department, which callers say overreacted to the "remarks of a 7-year-old."

Detectives are caught precariously between justifying the arrest to the public and suppressing important evidence that must be saved for court.

Contacted by the News Chronicle this morning, East Valley Commander Larry Kalsbeek reinforced his earlier comments that the arrest was not made on a whim.

"Obviously, you do not build a case around only one statement by a 7-year-old," Kalsbeek said. "We did conduct further investigation and for those who have concluded that the arrest did not have sufficient cause, they should hold their comments until the preliminary examination where evidence can be made public in court. But we are satisfied that there is sufficient evidence for arrest and prosecution."

Members of the parish insist that even if Roemer is found innocent in court, his reputation and work in the community will be permanently soiled by the allegations.

"This ruined the man," said Bud Sweeney, a St. Paschal's parishioner who accused the News Chronicle of poor judgment in publishing the article. "There's a lot of bad that could be caused by this, especially because this man has been working with children for years."

"It's taking from him the very thing he stood for all his life. He's being hung and crucified before his trial. It must be tearing this man apart."

Emotions are undoubtedly running even higher because Roemer has reached out to so many children in the community, prompting the Parent Teachers Association to award him its 1980 Honorary Service Award for his work with Conejo youth.

A News Chronicle article published last April described the clergyman's candidness and sense of humor with the children, as well as his philosophy of "being there" for those who need him.

"For people, or for kids, that's what it's all about," he was quoted as saying.

Bill Sugars, president of the Conejo Valley chapter of Concerned Parents for Stronger Legislation Against Child Molesters (SLAM) said he, too, has been reproved for his comments about the arrest.

The community uproar is hasty, he said, because the public has seen none of the evidence gathered by detectives.

"I would prefer that the community wait until the arraignment is over until they pass any judgment on anybody — whether it's SLAM, the sheriff's department, members of the church or parents.

"I think the community is blindly rushing to the aid of this man," he said. "A show of support is expected, but to make accusations about something they know nothing about is foolish on a whim."

Sheriff's detectives are continuing to investigate the case before they take it to the Ventura County district attorney's office, where it will be reviewed for possible prosecution.

HELENNE ACTION, Thousand Oaks.

Is it conditional?

Editor, News Chronicle: What have we heard from Father Romeo’s friends and supporters? They say he was the kind of person who cared about love and support conditions? Are you saying that the outcome of this case, we all know your friends and support, you no matter what.

If it is a terrible burden is being placed upon this human being.

Working with children has taught me that they will try very hard to please the adults in their lives. To conclude that they should be fabricate to continuos children; making it impossible for other children to come forward about what they’ve become.

CANDY CUNNINGHAM, Thousand Oaks.

Losing patience

Editor, News Chronicle: I am rapidly losing patience with the New News Chronicle. The headlines read: “Community stunned by report of priest’s sexual abuse.”

I have not even seen it. “Community outraged by latest sexual report.”

And I am not even going to mention the Roman Catholic priest in his home name. The current papal title is “Horrer,” or “Evil Father.”

LARRY PEACOCK, Thousand Oaks.

Perverted world

Editor, News Chronicle: My name is Edna Leavitt. I am 36 and an attendant at St. Paschal Baylon parish. I am trying to understand what is going on in my parish. For most of my life, I have been in the Catholic Church, and I have never heard of anything like this. I don’t know what to think.

Today was a big lesson from school was the relationship of Father Romeo’s charge and on so many parents were made. It was shocked and amazement. Now when I think of it, it is the most appalling, devastating, ridiculous thing that I have ever heard. I was previously a member of the youth group and I don’t know what to say about the news. The idea of this is just plain scary.

As a member of the youth group, I am 14 and my brother is 12. We are both what would be described as 'normal' kids, of my age enough to know when something is being done. If we see other children our age or older find such a complaint, the consequences that are going to us would be so severe and I am not sure if we could handle it. The idea that a man such as 36. Romeo should be accused of a crime such as this by the word of a 12 or 14-year-old child would be unbelievable.

In conclusion, I do not believe that Father Romeo is guilty of anything.

Is he? It seems like there are always those who want to make sure that they don’t do anything wrong.

LOUISA MCGANN, Thousand Oaks.

Not ashamed

Editor, News Chronicle: We members of St. Paschal’s youth group would like to comment on the article published on Jan. 27 concerning Father Romeo and his way it was handled. We feel that the newspaper report is not the whole truth.

In our community, a man guilty till proven innocent, or he is innocent till proven guilty. We feel that the manner in which the article was written presents Father Romeo as guilty until proven innocent. We would like to set the record straight.

How exactly do you set such a sensationalizable book, published for the only judgment that should be rendered to the community by the press.

Even if the story is retracted, the damage is done, and they get hurt the career of one of the honest people we know. Father Romeo has done so many things well for us in so many ways, just being there when someone needed to talk.

In all the articles written, so many were mentioned in his testimony. But we of Paschal’s youth group are not ashamed to say, love and support Father Romeo.

What is achieved?

Editor, News Chronicle:
I am constantly amazed at how we tend to exaggerate and go to extremes without the slightest thought of the consequences. This is especially true of our print media. Anything, no matter how insignificant, has to be monumentalized. This is true of the front pages. No one seems to be satisfied today. Sadly, no one seems even to acknowledge that.

Truly a Father

Editor, News Chronicle:
Some days observations, over a long period of time, and opinion recently, have caused a few facts to be overlooked, and a few facts to be interpreted on the basis of certain conclusions:

1. In 1956 the Chronicle printed a short article-essentially one side of the story—concerning several statements of persons who would support the conclusions of the report:
2. Some patients are uncertain enough of their own rights, that they are often willing to be told anything.
3. Certain individuals really care what to do and how.

Millions of persons are members of certain organizations, and are often bound to them by certain feelings, while others are quite free to express their opinions. They may belong to a certain type of organization, or they may belong to a certain type of movement. They may be interested in a certain type of activity, or they may not be interested in it. They may support a certain type of political party, or they may support another type of political party. They may believe in a certain type of philosophy, or they may believe in another type of philosophy. They may be members of a certain type of society, or they may be members of another type of society. They may belong to a certain type of family, or they may belong to another type of family. It is obvious that an individual who believes in a certain type of family, and who is a member of a certain type of society, and who belongs to a certain type of organization, is likely to be influenced by the family, and by the society, and by the organization, to which he belongs.

Student, Sydney:
This family is formed by all who know and understand the family. It is formed by all who believe in the family. It is formed by all who belong to the family. It is formed by all who have faith in the family. It is formed by all who are members of the family. It is formed by all who are members of the society. It is formed by all who are members of the organization. It is formed by all who are members of the family, and by all who are members of the society, and by all who are members of the organization.

Parents of molested kids mad at Catholic Church

By GREGG ZOROYA

Parents of children molested by a priest who has recently died today about their children's suffering and blamed the Catholic Church for doing nothing to help them.

"We thought the church would step forward and say, 'Hey, what can we do to help?' But they haven't done a dam thing," said the father of a Mississippi boy who was molested by the Rev. Donald Patrie, former St. Paul's Bayview Catholic Church in Toronto last night.

Parents of children resorting today by Seattle County Superior Court Judge Robert Shaw, following a glowing report from Atascadero State Hospital, where the priest was committed after his estranged wife for child molestation.

"The Bishop of Seattle, Father J. F. Taylor, is making recommendations for the victim families to help parents pay for therapy.

One testimony today by several of those abused presents a serious indictment of the Catholic archbishop.

A couple of months after the morning, one woman told the court that her distraught daughter was raped by Christmas Day 1980. The victim, a student at Reemer several times since.

She said that during a church-sponsored camping trip to an Ontario county, he was molested at night in the cot where he was sleeping.

"She quoted her son as saying, 'As he (Patrie) was talking about how wonderful God was ... he started moving his hands down into my pants,'" the woman said her son felt something was wrong with him, that he had done a terrible thing.

"She placed their sons in therapy programs, but several said they knew longer afford the payments. All the parents talked about how the church seemed to abdicate their children's personalities and their own lives as church members.

"I did," she answered. "I called Catholic Social Services and told them. And they said they couldn't help me.

"In fact, I wrote a very long, appealing letter to Cardinal (Eugene) Mooney, and I got a letter back saying they couldn't help me, saying they would pray for my son. I was heartbroken."

Then, she added, "All the other parents of these children also have the same thing."

"Shaw said, "You can't protect a sick person from doing something in some kind of restricted way. Simply, the church must also be involved. If any institution should be involved in the victims."

INTRODUCTION

The following "Statement of Facts" prepared by the People of the State of California includes all statements taken in the case by investigators of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department and the Ventura County District Attorney's Office.

The material is organized by the order of the charges filed in the Information, and statements relating to uncharged victims are included under the heading "Additional Victims."

A verbatim transcript of the statement of Donald Patrick Roemer is marked Exhibit "A," attached, and incorporated herein by reference.

This "Statement of Facts" is submitted by the People of the State of California as proof of the factual basis of the pleas of nolo contendere by Donald Patrick Roemer to Counts I, II, and III of the Information.
STATEMENT OF FACTS

COUNT I: REDACTED

On January 26, 1981, the Ventura County Sheriff's Office, East Valley Station, received a report of a possible child molest from a Mrs. REDACTED REDACTED REDACTED.

Deputy Bruce McDowell responded to the call. He reported:

On 1-26-81 at about 1935 hours, I arrived at the victim's home re: a possible child molest. I contacted the victim's parents who gave this account: Mr. REDACTED told me that on 1/26/81 at about 1800 hours, victim REDACTED and the family were eating dinner. REDACTED told the family about the following incident: On 1/26/81, REDACTED went to CCD classes. Suspect, Father Patrick Roemer, asked REDACTED to look at some old pictures. REDACTED said that Father Roemer rubbed REDACTED stomach and then his "doofor." Mr. REDACTED told me that "doofor" means penis in their family. REDACTED said that Father Roemer started to shake. REDACTED said he was scared.

Mrs. REDACTED told me that REDACTED has a teacher and a helper in the CCD class. They are Mrs. REDACTED REDACTED and Mrs. REDACTED (See F/U Det. REDACTED for phone.) Mrs. REDACTED said she called Mrs. REDACTED and told her about the incident. Mrs. REDACTED advised Mrs. REDACTED to call the church and talk to the senior priest about it. I talked to the victim, REDACTED a 7-year-old boy with blond hair and blue eyes. I first showed REDACTED my black flashlight and asked him what color it was. He said it was black. I asked him if I would be lying if I said the flashlight was yellow and he said yes. I asked if it was wrong to tell a lie and he said yes. I asked REDACTED if he would tell the truth and he said yes. Again, I stressed the importance of telling the truth.

REDACTED gave the following account: Today (1/26/81), his teacher, Mrs. REDACTED picked up REDACTED and drove him to CCD classes. The children play in the yard for awhile and then go to class. REDACTED put his books down on a bench away from the other kids; however, Father Roemer came out of his office and asked REDACTED to come inside and look at some pictures. REDACTED went into the office and Father Roemer sat in a chair near a desk. Father Roemer lifted REDACTED up and placed REDACTED on the Father's leg, far enough back so that REDACTED was close to the Father's chest.

Father Roemer showed REDACTED a book with pictures from when Father Roemer went to school. REDACTED said it was the kind of book where everyone in the class takes pictures together. I asked if he meant a school yearbook and he said yes. While looking at the book, Father Roemer put his hand under REDACTED T-shirt and started to rub REDACTED stomach. I asked REDACTED to show me by rubbing his own stomach. REDACTED made slow circular movements on his stomach. REDACTED said that Father Roemer rubbed REDACTED stomach for about one-half minute. Father Roemer then slid his hand down into REDACTED pants and inside REDACTED underpants. Father Roemer started to rub REDACTED dooper. Father Roemer rubbed REDACTED dooper for a couple of minutes and then Father Roemer started shaking. His hands and legs were shaking and Father Roemer said, "I'm cold." REDACTED told me it was hot in the room and that Father Roemer was wearing a jacket or coat. REDACTED told me that he became scared and asked Father Roemer if he could go now. Father Roemer said, "Okay."

REDACTED went toward his class and on the way he told his friend, REDACTED" that Father Roemer had shown him some pictures.

I asked REDACTED where his "dooper" was and he pointed to his crotch area where his penis would be. I asked REDACTED if he could tell me another name for dooper, but he seemed too embarrassed. I asked him if he used his dooper to go to the bathroom and he said yes.

I put my pencil on the kitchen table and told REDACTED to pretend that my pencil was REDACTED dooper and to show me how Father Roemer rubbed REDACTED dooper. REDACTED made several short, fast strokes on the pencil.

I talked to Mrs. REDACTED again and she added that Father Roemer was very friendly with children and has taken several groups on field trips. Father Roemer is the youth minister and active with all the youth sports activities. Father Roemer was not very involved in adult activities.

I contacted Det. K. McIlvain and told her the above info. She called the church and left a message for Father Roemer.
On 1/26/81 at about 2230 hours, Father Roemer called the East Valley Sheriff's Station. I called Det. McIlvain at Los Robles and she advised to ask Father Roemer to come to the station. I told Father Roemer we were investigating a case and we would appreciate it if he could come down right away. Father Roemer said he wasn't busy and would come to the station. He didn't ask why.

REDACTED had told me that this had never happened before and that he never saw anyone else go into the office with Father Roemer before.

REDACTED said no one else witnessed the incident.

On January 26, 1981, Det. Kelli McIlvain of the East Valley Station responded to the REDACTED residence for the purpose of reinterviewing REDACTED. Det. McIlvain reported:

Following conversation with Deputy REDACTED, I requested he have the victim and parents come to the EVSO for interview. They arrived a few minutes before 9 p.m.

Victim REDACTED, 7-1/2 years, DOB: REDACTED said that today while at St. Paschal's Church, T.O., about 3:30 p.m., just prior to CCD classes (religious instruction), suspect asked him into a small office saying, "Do you want to see some pictures." The victim sat on the priest's lap as the priest showed him pictures from a book. (Described like a school yearbook.) As the boy looked at the book, the suspect put his hand inside the victim's shirt and rubbed his abdomen and chest area. Suspect then put his hand inside victim's clothing and rubbed his doofer (penis). The suspect began shaking very hard and said to the victim, "It's cold in here." The victim finally asked the suspect if he could leave and the suspect said yes. After he got outside the office, he told Mrs. REDACTED that Father Roemer had shown him some pictures. He then went to CCD class which starts at 3:45 p.m. He told his parents what had occurred at dinner. Victim also said the suspect kissed him on the neck, near the right ear, as he was rubbing him. The whole incident lasted about five minutes.

Mrs. REDACTED said she phoned REDACTED (CCD teacher) after learning what occurred and Mrs.
 recalled telling her that Father Roemer had shown him pictures. REDACTED after hearing Mrs. REDACTED information, told her she would contact REDACTED, an active church member, to see what should be done about the information. Mrs. REDACTED recontacted Mrs. REDACTED saying REDACTED said the police should be notified.

Mrs. REDACTED had already decided to phone the police.

Prior to the interviews with the REDACTED, I phoned the church and left a message with Father REDACTED to have Father Roemer phone me as soon as possible.

The suspect returned the call around 2245 hours. Deputy REDACTED talked with him and asked if he could come to EVSO. He said he would.

STATEMENT OF DONALD PATRICK ROEMER

Detective McIlvain's report continues:

I interviewed suspect in the EVSO on tape, following Miranda waiver, approximately 2300 hours.

Donald Patrick Roemer, DOB: 3-17-44, 36 years, REDACTED T.O. W-496-0222. L-495-8717.

Following is a narrative summary of taped interview.

The suspect, who has been a Catholic priest for 11 years, said that everything that REDACTED said was probably true. Today, 1-26-81 around 3:30 p.m., he asked the boy into the teachers' lounge on churchgrounds, had him sit on his lap, stroked his stomach, abdomen, and genitals. He also had the boy stand up next to him for awhile and stroked his penis. As the boy was sitting on his lap, he did begin to shake. He did make a remark about it being cold to cover up for the shaking. The suspect did have an erection and an ejaculation resultant from the fondling. The victim asked if he could go out to play and Father Roemer said yes. The total time suspect was stroking victim was about two minutes. When asked if he kissed the victim, he said he didn't recall, but if the victim said he kissed him, then he did. The suspect said he knew when the boy left the office that he would be found out. He also heard the victim yell to Mrs. REDACTED that Father Roemer had just shown him pictures.
Suspect said he has been struggling with feelings of a homosexual nature since he was young and sought assistance while assigned to a parish in Santa Barbara through a church psychologist.

The suspect also admitted that information given by [REDACTED] was true and did occur on 1-18-81. (See statements of [REDACTED] under Count II.)

Also on 1-19-81, while in the teachers' lounge at 3:30 p.m., he rubbed the stomach, chest, and underarm area of [REDACTED], 6th grade, 11 years. (See statements of [REDACTED] under Count III.)

Two weeks ago, 1-12-81, teachers' lounge, he rubbed stomach, chest of [REDACTED] 7-1/2 years. (See statements of [REDACTED] under Count IV.)

Father Roemer took a group of boys on a trip to San Diego during the week following Christmas, 1980. They stayed in one hotel room with two double beds. During this trip, at night, believing [REDACTED], 14 years, to be asleep next to him in the bed, he touched his genitals.

Also during this trip, while sleeping with [REDACTED], 14 years, he attempted to touch his genitals, but the boy had not been asleep. He got out of the bed and went and laid down on the floor. The suspect asked him what was wrong and the boy replied, "You felt too low." The suspect then told the boy he would never do anything like that (to cover up his actions) and that the boy was wrong about his intentions. (See statements of [REDACTED] under Count VII.)

The suspect also related that he had use of a ranch in Fillmore, via relatives, from approximately August 1979 to August 1980 where he often took boys for the weekend or overnight. They would sleep in sleeping bags on the living room floor. [REDACTED] 13 years, and [REDACTED] 14 years, on separate occasions (one time each) were stroked on stomach and chest area. (See statements of [REDACTED] pages 28 to 30, and [REDACTED] pages 31 to 32.)

He stroked genitals and stomach of [REDACTED] 14 years, while asleep at the ranch on one, maybe two occasions. (See statement of [REDACTED], page 30.)

He also stroked stomach, chest area of [REDACTED] [REDACTED] two or three times in the teachers' lounge.
on churchgrounds.

The suspect was very cooperative, appeared truthful. He said he usually had an erection during the stroking activity and sometimes he ejaculated.

In a report prepared by Detective McIlvain on January 29, 1981, she stated:

On January 29, 1981, approximately 1615 hours, at the direction of Deputy District Attorney REDACTED ... and while my conversation of 1/26/81 with suspect Donald Patrick Roemer was still fresh in my mind, I listened to the taped recording of that conversation. The following is my word-for-word accounting of the conversation from its beginning through the Miranda waiver. All responses of suspect are underlined. My statement/questions are in quotes.

"I don't know if you are aware of the fact that there is a family in Thousand Oaks that has a young boy that is giving information accusing you of child molest. The information was given this evening and I felt like we should try to get in touch with you as soon as we possibly could because of the sensitivity of it. What is your whole name, Father?"

Donald Patrick Roemer.

"And your date of birth?"

March 17, '44.

"Making you" 36.

"And your residence address?"

REDACTED "Do you have your own phone there?"

Yes. Well, there's a house phone and I have a private phone. The house phone is REDACTED "The house phone is kind of like a work phone isn't it?"
It's a work phone and I have a private line.

"I'd like to talk to you about the information given, but I have to read you your rights because at this point you are a suspect in the crime of child molest. Okay."

Yes (suspect nods yes)

"You understand that you're suspected of committing the crime of child molest? Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods head) Inaudible yes.

"You have the right to remain silent. Do you understand?"

UmmHmm.

"If you give up that right, anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"You have the right to talk to a lawyer and have him present with you before and while being questioned. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods head) Inaudible yes.

"If you cannot afford to hire a lawyer, one will be appointed to represent you before any questioning at no cost to you, if you wish one. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"Do you understand all of these rights (cough/excuse me) that I have explained to you?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"Do you have any questions about these rights?"

No, I don't think so.

"Having these rights in mind, do you wish to give up these rights and talk to me about the charge against you?"

I'd rather talk to you.

"You would?"
Yes.

"Okay."

"Do you know a boy by the name of REDACTED ?"

The interview was approximately 60 minutes long, only the first 30 minutes were recorded on tape. On the tape, suspect discussed activity with both REDACTED boys, victim REDACTED and REDACTED . Off tape, but during second part of interview, he discussed victims REDACTED in San Diego, REDACTED and REDACTED in Fillmore.

A verbatim transcript of the 30-minute taped portion of the interview by Detective Kelli McIlvain of Donald Patrick Roemer on January 26, 1981 is marked Exhibit "A," attached, and fully incorporated herein by reference in this "Statement of Facts."

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED and reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 5 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the company of both parents at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is a 7-year-old, 2nd grade student at University Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He attends CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church and has done so for three years. His CCD teacher is REDACTED who also transports him to and from class.

REDACTED related the following information: I see Father Roemer every time I go to CCD classes. He always hugs me and kisses me on the head. On January 26, 1981, when I got to CCD class, Father Roemer came up and hugged me. He had a book in his hand and said, "Come into the room where the teachers meet (teachers' lounge) and look at some pictures."

When we got in there, he picked me up and put me on his lap. He was holding the book and rubbing my "wiener." He told me to stand up because it would be easier. He started shaking after he started rubbing my "wiener." I asked him why he was shaking and he said because he was cold. He still had his hand under my pants and I asked him if I could go outside. He said, "Sure" and took his hand out of my pants.

I went outside and told Mrs. REDACTED that Father Roemer had shown me some pictures and tickled my chest.

When I got home and was eating dinner, I told my Mom and Dad what had happened. I felt like a "tattletale" for telling them.

I have never seen Father Roemer shake like that before. When he was rubbing my "wiener," I didn't tell him to stop because I was afraid.

On February 12, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED by telephone.

Investigator Smart reported:

On February 12, 1981 at approximately 8 a.m., I telephoned the above witness regarding an incident that occurred on January 26, 1981 involving Father Roemer and REDACTED

Mrs. REDACTED is a teacher at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. She transports several children to and from CCD classes, including REDACTED and REDACTED, and REDACTED

Mrs. REDACTED related the following information:

On January 26, 1981, I drove REDACTED and REDACTED to CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church. When we arrived, the boys got out of the car and walked toward their classrooms. I went to my classroom and then went to the supply room to get some supplies for my class.

As I was returning from the supply room, en route to my classroom, REDACTED came up to me and told me that Father Roemer had taken him into his office and had shown him some pictures. I made some appropriate comment, like, "That's nice," or something like that.

At that moment, Father Roemer walked up and asked me what REDACTED had told me. Father Roemer asked if REDACTED had told me that he had shown him some pictures. The discussion was brief as it was time for classes to start and REDACTED and I left for our classroom. I did not notice anything unusual about REDACTED that day, but I do recall he may have been nervous during class. He had to leave the classroom twice that day to go to the bathroom, which is unusual for REDACTED.

In retrospect, I guess it was unusual for Father Roemer to walk up to me and ask what REDACTED had said to me. Father Roemer usually does not walk up to adults and talk to them. He spends the majority of his time with kids.

I know REDACTED quite well and I know in my heart he would not fabricate a story or lie about what has happened.

I have been very concerned about the entire incident because of the impact it has had on the community, the church, the young boys involved, and Father Roemer. I have a young son who is involved in the church and also attends CCD classes. I have questioned him about Father Roemer and he has denied that anything like that has happened or has been attempted. I feel confident he is being truthful.

COUNT II: REDACTED

On January 26, 1981, VSO Deputy Bruce McDowell ... interviewed REDACTED (REDACTED, brother), 10 years, DOB: REDACTED, and reported:

He related that on 1/19/81, while suspect was hearing his confession, the suspect rubbed his stomach, chest, and underarm area (touching skin under his shirt). The suspect and REDACTED were sitting side-by-side in chairs. The suspect also kissed him on the right ear twice.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED and reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 5:50 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the company of both parents at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

//////
is 10 years old and is a 5th grade student at University Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church. He also attends CCD classes at the church on each Monday afternoon and is transported to and from the class by Mrs. REDACTED

REDACTED related the following information:

On January 19, 1981, my entire CCD class went to confession. The confession was with Father Roemer who instructed me to sit on a bench in the confessional. Father Roemer sat beside me. He hugged me and kissed my right ear two times. At the same time, he put his hand under my shirt and started rubbing my stomach, chest and under my arm. He continued rubbing for 30-45 seconds and then stopped.

I finished with confession and left. I did not tell anyone what Father Roemer had done until REDACTED told my parents what had happened to him. Father Roemer has not done any thing like that to me before.

COUNT III: REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Sergeant Jack Hughes interviewed REDACTED 12 years, DOB REDACTED, REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED Sergeant Hughes reported:

REDACTED interviewed 1/27/81. He told me he attends catechism classes at St. Paschal's Church every Monday from 1600 hours to 1700 hours. He first denied going into a teachers' lounge, but then stated he did after his mother described the room. This interview was recorded and REDACTED mother and father was present. He said that Father Roemer talked to him about how he was doing in school. He denied sitting on Father Roemer's lap. He told me he was afraid of getting Father Roemer in trouble. He did say that sometimes he (Father Roemer) put his hands under his shirt. Father Roemer scratching under his arm. He denies that Father Roemer scratched or rubbed his chest. He did say that he rubbed his stomach once. He didn't remember when. REDACTED then said he didn't want to talk about it anymore. His mother inquired as to why and he replied he just didn't want to talk about it.
His parents told me they would call me if REDACTED told them anymore. REDACTED father if REDACTED REDACTED.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED. Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 3:30 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his mother at his residence in Thousand Oaks. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is 12 years old. He is a 6th grade student at Acacia Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes in Thousand Oaks. He has been a member of St. Paschal's Church for approximately five years. Through his association with the church, he is acquainted with the defendant, Father Roemer.

REDACTED related the following information:

On January 5, 1981, while attending CCD classes on the churchgrounds, I was talking to Father Roemer about my new school. I was telling him that nobody there liked me and that was bothering me. Father Roemer said he knew that and asked me to go into the teachers' lounge with him to talk about it.

We went into the teachers' lounge and sat down on individual chairs. They were placed one behind the other. I sat down and Father Roemer sat directly behind me. We were talking about my new school. Father Roemer started rubbing my stomach and chest, under my shirt. He started shaking while he was rubbing me. He continued rubbing my stomach and chest for approximately five minutes. (At this point I asked him to estimate when five minutes had lapsed. We continued talking and interrupted to tell me that five minutes had passed. The actual time that had lapsed was five minutes and six seconds, as timed by REDACTED stopwatch.

The next incident occurred the following week (January 12, 1981) at CCD classes. Father Roemer took me into the nurse's office. I thought he wanted to talk to me about my new school. I sat on a couch and Father Roemer sat behind me. He started rubbing my chest and under my arms. His hand was under my shirt while he was rubbing.
This lasted for about three minutes and Father Roemer was shaking while he rubbed me. We did not say anything about the rubbing, but I was a little concerned about it.

On the following week (January 19, 1981) at CCD class, Father Roemer took me into the teachers' lounge to talk to me about my new school.

We sat in individual chairs again. Father Roemer sat behind me and put his hand under my shirt.
He started rubbing my chest and under my arms.
He was shaking, like he was nervous, while he rubbed me. This time it lasted about eight minutes. We talked about my new school and I looked at a magazine while Father Roemer was rubbing me. About two minutes after he stopped rubbing, the bell rang and I went to class.

This is the last time anything happened. I did not see Father Roemer when I first went to class the next week (January 26, 1981). REDACTED incident occurred on this date.)

COUNT IV: REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Sergeant Jack Hughes interviewed

REDACTED, 8 years, REDACTED, Thousand Oaks,

REDACTED. Sergeant Hughes reported:

REDACTED interview, 1/27/81.

I talked with REDACTED with his father, REDACTED REDACTED present. The interview was recorded. REDACTED told me he attends catechism classes at St. Paschal's Church. He attends class only on Mondays. He missed the class on Jan. 19, 81, but was there on Jan. 12, 81. His father confirmed these dates as REDACTED was not sure of the dates. He told me sometimes he sits on Father Roemer's lap and they talk about football. He plays football for the Raiders.
REDACTED did not remember when he went to the teachers' lounge with Father Roemer, maybe two or three weeks ago. He said his father dropped him off and he went to the lounge with Father Roemer. They left the lounge prior to the class bell ringing. He said he did not go in with his shirt off. REDACTED said that in the lounge, Father Roemer rubbed his chest and stomach. I asked REDACTED to show me how Father Roemer rubbed his chest. REDACTED pulled up his shirt and put his hand under the shirt. He rubbed his breast and stomach. I asked him what that part of his body was called and he told me, "boobies." He then said that Father Roemer rubbed his boobies. He said Father Roemer never put his hand inside his pants and Father Roemer never asked him to touch any part of Father Roemer's body. He said that Father Roemer only rubbed his chest the one time in the room. REDACTED said that Father Roemer shivered like he was cold while rubbing him. Nobody was in the room when this occurred. He did not tell anyone what had happened and no one has told him it happened to them also. I asked REDACTED how long the Father rubbed him and he told me five minutes. I then asked REDACTED to tell me about how long, to tell me when to stop timing him, when it had been as long as with the Father. REDACTED stopped me around 40 seconds after I started timing him. He told me he did not tell Father Roemer to stop. I asked REDACTED if he knew what a lie was and he told me it is when you don't tell the truth.

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 1:10 p.m., District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 1:10 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his father at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was also present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is 8 years old and is a 2nd grade student at La Dera Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes. He is acquainted with Father Roemer through his association with the church.

REDACTED related the following information:

My Dad usually takes me to CCD classes and drops me off. When I get there, I just walk around, usually by myself until class starts. I always see Father Roemer there. One day, Father Roemer walked up to me and said, "Hi." We started talking about football. Father Roemer said he had won trophies and asked me if I wanted to see them. We went into the teachers' lounge and he closed the door. Father Roemer asked me to sit down on the couch and he sat down beside me, about six inches away from me.

We were talking about football and he showed me a medal he won in football. He stuck his hand under my shirt and started rubbing my stomach and chest, including my nipples. He asked me if it felt good and I said, "Kinda."

Father Roemer had his hand on my leg while he was rubbing my stomach. He was shivering while rubbing my chest and stomach. He started shivering soon after he started rubbing my stomach. When his hand was on my leg, it was close to my privates, but he did not touch them. After Father Roemer stopped shivering, he told me I had better go out now because classes were about to start.

I asked REDACTED if Father Roemer had ever done this to him before. He said that he had about seven times before, always outside on the churchgrounds while he was waiting for CCD classes to start. REDACTED said it only happened the one time in the teachers' lounge and that was the only time he was aware that Father Roemer shivered.

REDACTED said that he felt that it was "weird or strange" that Father Roemer rubbed his stomach and he felt uncomfortable and thought it was wrong.

COUNT V: REDACTED

On January 28, 1981 at approximately 11 a.m., Detective Kelli McIlvain received a telephone call from Mrs. REDACTED regarding her son, REDACTED Detective McIlvain reported:

Approximately 1100 hours, 1/28/81, I received a phone call from Mrs. REDACTED She related that she had taken her son, REDACTED 11 years, to see suspect for some counseling around the middle of November 1980. The suspect arranged to take him to a drive-in movie the Saturday night after Thanksgiving, 11/29/80. The suspect picked him up about 8:30 p.m. and returned him early, around 10 p.m. When REDACTED got home, he said he was tired and went right to bed. Either that same evening or the following day, she received a phone call from suspect. He said he just wanted to know how REDACTED was doing. Mrs. REDACTED thought suspect was just concerned. Another counseling appointment was made with suspect, but REDACTED refused to go to it. Then last night, following press article of suspect's arrest REDACTED told her that while at the drive-in the suspect had touched his leg and he REDACTED moved to the far side of the car and kept his coat pulled tightly around himself. After a while, he told the suspect he was tired and wanted to go home, to get away from the suspect. Mrs. REDACTED said she had talked with her son's pediatrician and that REDACTED has some emotional problems stemming from abuse by his natural father and the pediatrician recommended, and she concurred, that REDACTED was not at a state where he should be interviewed. She went on to say she felt the whole thing should have been handled by the church. She knows the Roemer family and has felt physically ill ever since the news article came out. She was very upset on the phone, crying. She did say, near the end of the conversation, that she would talk to her husband and possibly consider an interview at a later date (Mrs. REDACTED had phoned me 1/27/81 and advised his stepson could possibly have some information regarding the case and he said his wife would bring him in for an interview at 1 p.m., 1/28/81).

The District Attorney's Office made repeated efforts to interview both Mrs. REDACTED and REDACTED, but permission was refused by Mrs. REDACTED. She stated that her son's emotional condition was too precarious to permit such interviews, and she had been advised by REDACTED pediatrician to avoid the trauma of testifying in court. Mrs. REDACTED refused to disclose the name of the doctor, and refused the offer of the District Attorney's Office to put her doctor in contact with Dr. REDACTED of the Harbor-UCLA Medical Center so that the pediatrician would have the benefit of expert advice and consultation in order to properly assess what the effects of testifying would be on REDACTED. Shortly before the scheduled preliminary hearing of March 3, 1981, Mrs. REDACTED retained Attorney REDACTED and directed the District Attorney's Office to deal with him.

COUNT VI: REDACTED

On January 28, 1981, Detective Kelli McIlvain interviewed REDACTED 12 years, DOB REDACTED, REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED Detective McIlvain reported:

On tape 1/28/81 at 1530 hours in presence of his mother, REDACTED .

He said that during the summer 1980, he attended REDACTED Sports Camp held at St. Paschal's School. It was held from Monday through Friday from about 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. He missed Monday's session. On Tuesday, his first day at the camp, the suspect stood close behind him, wrapped his arms around his chest area, leaned his (suspect) head down, chin resting on witness' head and was talking to him. This made REDACTED nervous and uncomfortable. For the rest of Tuesday he tried to avoid suspect. When his Mom picked him up Tuesday afternoon, he told her that he didn't want to return to the camp and explained what suspect had done. His Mom told him to avoid the suspect and she would come to the field early to pick him up every day and watch him. On Wednesday, witness felt like the suspect was looking for him all day. At one point, while witness was playing soccer, suspect came up to him and said, "You can't get away from me." On Thursday, while witness was playing football, the suspect told the witness that the witness was a pretty good runner and when he (suspect) was in school, he was a good runner too. He asked the witness to come to his office sometime and look at his sports pictures in his high school yearbook.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 9:30 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED at the East Valley Sheriff's Office in the presence of his mother, REDACTED Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present during the interview. REDACTED is a 7th grade student at Ascension Lutheran School in Thousand Oaks.
was questioned regarding his involvement with the defendant, Father Donald Patrick Roemer. He related the following information: I attended the REDACTED Sports Camp at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks on June 16 through June 21, 1980. Father Roemer was present each day that I attended. I was acquainted with Father Roemer, having first met him while playing flag football in October 1979, but had no previous personal contact with him.

On June 17, 1980, while at the sports camp, Father Roemer came over to a bench where I was sitting with three or four other boys. He said, "Hi, how's it going?" and sat down between me and another boy. He put his arm around my shoulder and started asking questions. He asked me what my name was, how old I was, what my favorite sport was, and other similar questions. While he was sitting there, his body was in contact with mine and on at least two occasions, he placed his head next to mine. His face would be very close to mine when his head was leaning on my shoulder and he would turn to talk to me.

Father Roemer said I was a nice boy and that I could run very fast. At that point I got up and went out to play basketball. While playing ball, I saw Father Roemer put his head on the shoulder of some other boys that were sitting on the bench. I didn't see Father Roemer anymore that day.

When my Mom picked me up that day, I told her I didn't want to go back because the priest was doing weird things. After I told her about what Father Roemer was doing, we stayed there for awhile and watched him.

Mrs. REDACTED interjected that she watched Father Roemer go from child to child, hugging, touching, and kissing them. She saw him rubbing their faces, heads and upper bodies. The kids appeared to try to get away from him, but he would resist their attempts. Mrs. REDACTED stated her observations made her very concerned about Father Roemer's conduct and felt he was overly friendly.

REDACTED continued: I returned to the sports camp on June 18, but did not see Father Roemer on that day. On June 19, at about 11:30 a.m., I was getting ready to play soccer. I saw Father Roemer and tried to avoid him. He pursued me and said, "You can't get away from me." He came up behind me and wrapped his arms around me and put his chin on my shoulder. I started to walk away from him.
and he walked with me, still holding that position. He was talking to REDACTED and I pulled away from him. I was under the impression that Father Roemer's behavior was similar to that of a homosexual.

When the activities were over for that day, I went to the front of the church and waited for my ride. I was sitting on a bench when Father Roemer came up and sat very close to me. His body was touching mine and he put his arm around my shoulder. He kept his arm around me until some other boys came up and started talking to him. The kids and Father Roemer left and I was picked up shortly thereafter.

On June 20, 1981, I returned to the sports camp and ran the 50-yard dash. Father Roemer came up and said, "You run very fast." He said that he was a runner in high school and said, "Someday you can come over and look at my annual." I said, "yeah, sure," in a low voice, expressing reluctance. Father Roemer said, "See you later," and walked away. I think he knew I was reluctant.

In October 1980, I saw Father Roemer when I was signing up for flag football at Thousand Oaks High School. I hid from him, not wanting him to see me because I was afraid of him.

I saw him one time after that in January 1981 at the Westlake Theatre. He was there with a young boy and did not see me. I have not seen him since that time.

COUNT VII: REDACTED

Detective McIlvain reported:

Above victim interviewed on tape in presence of his father, REDACTED, approximately 1930 hours.

He related that he, REDACTED and REDACTED went to San Diego with suspect from December 26, 1980 to December 30, 1980, from Friday to the following Tuesday. They stayed in a Holiday Inn in a room with two double beds. The evening of December 26, 1980, REDACTED slept in one bed with suspect. The next three nights, December 27, 28, 29, 1980, REDACTED slept in the bed with suspect. On Saturday night, December 27, 1980, REDACTED recalls the suspect and boys laid in bed (actually slept on the floor the whole four nights) and talked until about 0100 (December 28, 1980). This was the first time REDACTED slept with suspect. As they were all talking, suspect was rubbing his chest, underarm and stomach area. About 1 a.m., they quit talking and decided to go to sleep. The suspect was still rubbing and as he began rubbing REDACTED lower stomach area, REDACTED got up out of the bed and went and laid down on the floor. The suspect got out of bed and sat on the floor next to REDACTED. Suspect asked him what was wrong. REDACTED said, "You rubbed too low." The suspect told him that he had been asleep/half asleep and he would never do anything to hurt him. That it was not his purpose or intention to do anything besides stroke his stomach. The victim, REDACTED says he believes the suspect. The suspect didn't touch him the next two nights. REDACTED said that what occurred is really nothing and he doesn't want to get the suspect in any trouble.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator

Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart and participated in the interview.

On February 4, 1981, I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his mother at the REDACTED residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present.

REDACTED is a 9th grade student at Thousand Oaks High School. He is Catholic and attends church and CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. He is acquainted with Father Roemer, having been introduced to him by REDACTED at McDonald's Restaurant approximately three years ago. He has socialized with Father Roemer on several occasions. He has gone to movies with Father Roemer and on one occasion, went on an overnight trip to San Diego with him.

While attending the movie, Father Roemer would put his arm around him and would rub his bare back. REDACTED said he thought that was okay and didn't see anything wrong with Father Roemer rubbing his back.

Regarding the trip to San Diego, REDACTED related the following information:

Father Roemer called and asked me if I wanted to go to San Diego. I told him that I would like to go.

On December 26, 1980, Father Roemer, REDACTED and I went to San Diego. We stayed in a single room with two double beds at the Holiday Inn in downtown San Diego. Father Roemer paid for the room, our meals, and most of the expenses while we were there.

The first night we were there, I slept in one of the beds alone. Father Roemer and REDACTED slept in the other bed and REDACTED slept on the floor. The next night, I slept in bed with Father Roemer. I slept in my boxer shorts and Father Roemer wore pajamas.

Father Roemer started rubbing my back. He also rubbed my stomach and chest. He was not saying anything about what he was doing. I was uncomfortable and got out of bed. Father Roemer got out of bed and asked me what was wrong. I told him I was uncomfortable and that he had "rubbed a little too low."

Father Roemer said he was half asleep and didn't know what was going on. He apologized and said he was sorry if he had annoyed me.

COUNT VIII: REDACTED

On December 27, 1980, Deputy Joseph Cipollini of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed REDACTED REDACTED , Newbury Park, REDACTED . Deputy Cipollini reported:

I responded to REDACTED , Newbury Park, where I contacted victim REDACTED , a 6-year-old boy. I asked REDACTED to tell me what happened in his own words.

REDACTED said that, "Awhile" ago, he and his family went camping with a church group. One night they were there, he asked suspect (he calls him Father Pat) to come over to his bed to say his goodnight prayers. After saying the prayers, suspect reached down his pajama bottoms and began feeling his "penis." He said he did it for about the time it takes to count to 20. During the time the suspect talked about "peace," REDACTED did not say or do anything during this time.
I asked REDACTED why he waited to tell what happened. He said that he was afraid that he (victim) would be sent to jail. He also said that suspect has never done anything like this to him before, nor has he since. Suspect has not talked to victim about what happened. REDACTED said he had felt bad since it occurred, so he finally told his mother. REDACTED said he could not give any further details.

I talked to REDACTED's mother. She relayed the following:

On May 10 and 11, 1980, she and her family went on a religious retreat at Camp Yolijwa in the San Bernardino Mountains. They went with Father Patrick Roemer and other members of St. Paschal's congregation, Thousand Oaks. She said that after they returned, REDACTED no longer wanted to go to church. He seemed to have a dramatic change in attitude toward church.

She said that REDACTED told her about the incident on December 25, 1980. She waited to report it because they were out of town. She said their family is very close to Father Roemer and she reported it in hopes he would receive help.

On January 28, 1981, Detective Tom Odle of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department reported an interview with REDACTED

At the request of Lt. REDACTED I interviewed above victim at his home at REDACTED in Newbury Park. The victim stated that he and his father had gone to a weekend retreat with Father Roemer from St. Paschal's Church. The victim, nor his father, could remember exactly when the trip took place, possibly in late April or May of 1980. The victim stated he was in his pajamas at approximately 2000 hours when Father Roemer started talking to him about the church and God. During the conversation, Father Roemer touched the victim in the groin area. According to victim, Father Roemer then removed his hand and nothing more happened. The victim's father was asleep in another bunk in the room at the time it happened.

I asked victim's mother if she desired criminal proceedings and she stated she was only interested in seeing that Father Roemer received help for his problem.
The above information was relayed to Lt. McKinley.

On January 5, 1981, Lt. Braden McKinley of the Ventura County Sheriff's Office filed the following report regarding action taken by him in the matter involving REDACTED

Lt. McKinley reported:

On Monday, 29 December 80, Lt. REDACTED telephoned me and advised me of information contained in original report. On Tuesday, 30 December 80, I contacted Father REDACTED, Sacred Heart Church, for advice on how to best handle the situation, administratively.

On Friday, 2 January 81, I telephoned Mrs. REDACTED, mother of victim and arranged for Det. REDACTED to further interview victim on that date.

Mrs. REDACTED told me that she and her son had spoken to Father REDACTED, Father Roemer's superior, and informed him of the incident, who assured them the incident would be thoroughly handled. Det. REDACTED, evaluation of the victim was that he was probably truthful about the incident.

As the incident occurred more than seven months ago in another jurisdiction (San Berdo) and a copy of the report had been sent to SBSO for statistical purposes and victim and parents desire no formal prosecution and they have brought the incident to the superior of suspect, presumably competent authority, no further action is warranted by this department. Case closed.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed Mrs. REDACTED and her son, REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 11 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED and her son, REDACTED at the Ventura County Sheriff's East Valley Station. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present during the interview.

REDACTED is a 7-year-old male. He is a 2nd grade student at Bannon Elementary School in Newbury Park.

Mrs. REDACTED related the following information:

I first met Father Roemer about three years ago at a CCD teachers' class at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. At that time, I was attending a Catholic church in Newbury Park. About a year later I started attending St. Paschal's Church because of Father Roemer. He was very friendly, maybe even overly friendly, but I liked him very much.

On May 10 and 11, 1980, our family attended a family retreat in San Bernardino. We stayed in barrack-type houses. The men occupied one and the women were housed in the other. Sleeping facilities consisted of bunk-type beds, similar to military style. We stayed at the camp for two days and then returned home.

I was not aware of any unusual appearance or incident while attending the retreat. However, on December 27, 1980, REDACTED related an incident involving Father Roemer that occurred at the retreat. REDACTED said that Father Roemer had rubbed his stomach and his genitals while he was in bed and had called Father Roemer to help him say his prayers.

The incident was reported to the Sheriff's Office. I also reported the incident to Father REDACTED who is the pastor at St. Paschal's Church. Father REDACTED assured me the matter would be dealt with. Therefore, we decided not to pursue criminal prosecution. I have not received any feedback from Father REDACTED as to what action was taken regarding this incident if, in fact, anything had been done whatsoever.

REDACTED was then asked a series of questions regarding the incident that occurred at this retreat. He related the following information:

We got there (church camp) at about 9:30 or 10 p.m. We had a snack and then went to bed. We were sleeping with our clothes on in sleeping bags on bunk beds. My Dad was sleeping in a bunk across from me on the other side of the room. The lights were all turned off, except for the one in the bathroom.

I called Father Roemer and asked him a question. He came over and knelt down beside my bed. He was still dressed at that time. I asked Father Roemer a question. He started to answer the question and at the same time stuck his hand under my pants.
He held onto my penis and moved his fingers. His fingers were wrapped around my penis and he moved the lower fingers while holding it. REDACTED demonstrated with the use of a soda bottle that he had been drinking from.) He held onto my penis for about 60 seconds. He did not say anything about it. I did not say anything about it because I was "too scared to tell him to stop." He was patting me on the head at the same time he was holding my penis.

After about 60 seconds, Father Roemer said goodnight and left. I saw him go into the bathroom. After Father Roemer left, I laid there for about a half hour because I could not go to sleep. "I had nightmares about Father Roemer dying because he did sin."

The next morning someone said that I fell out of bed and Father Roemer picked me up and put me back in bed. I do not remember anything about that.

I thought about what Father Roemer had done to me, but I did not tell my Dad because I was too scared and I did not think anyone would believe me.

I saw Father Roemer that day, but only with my Mom and Dad. Nothing else happened while we were at the camp. I saw Father Roemer at church thereafter, but he never did anything like that to me again. He always hugged and kissed me, but that is all.

On February 6, 1981, District Attorney Investigator REDACTED talked with Mrs. REDACTED by telephone. Investigator REDACTED reported:

On February 6, 1981 at approximately 1 p.m., I telephoned Mrs. REDACTED regarding an incident involving her son, REDACTED.

Mrs. REDACTED stated she talked to Father O'Ryan on December 27, 1980 and again on January 30, 1981 regarding the Father Roemer incident involving her son, REDACTED.

Mrs. REDACTED stated that Father O'Ryan appeared to be grateful that the matter had been brought to his attention. He assured her that the situation would be thoroughly looked into and something would be done about it. He gave the analogy that the situation "is like having a splinter in your thumb, if something isn't done about it, it continues to get worse."
Mrs. REDACTED stated that Father O'Ryan has never discussed the matter with her since that time. Therefore, she is not aware of any action taken by Father O'Ryan, if, in fact, any had been taken.

On February 10, 1981, District Attorney Investigator REDACTED telephoned Father Colm O'Ryan, Pastor of St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. Investigator Smart reported:

On February 10, 1981 at approximately 7:50 a.m., I called Father O'Ryan regarding a scheduled appointment for an interview that he had cancelled.

Father O'Ryan stated he had consulted with legal counsel who had advised him not to discuss the case involving Father Roemer with the District Attorney. Therefore, he felt he should follow that advice.

I asked Father O'Ryan if he had been advised by defense attorney, REDACTED. Father O'Ryan said he had not. He stated he had been advised by a local legal counsel in the community and refused to identify that person.

I informed Father O'Ryan it was essential that we talk with him regarding Father Roemer since he is Father Roemer's supervisor and obviously knowledgeable about the allegations involving Father Roemer. I told Father O'Ryan he would receive a subpoena in the near future. Therefore, he would be required to appear as a witness, without the benefit of discussing the facts of the case with the District Attorney.

Father O'Ryan stated he would recontact his legal advisor and let me know if and when he would allow an interview.

ADDITIONAL VICTIMS

A. REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Detective McIlvain interviewed

REDACTED 14 years, DOB: REDACTED, REDACTED

Thousand Oaks, REDACTED...

Detective REDACTED reported:

Above victim interviewed on tape. He was brought in by parents, REDACTED and REDACTED approximately 2010 hours, EVSO.

He said that the suspect never did anything to him. A couple of times he went on overnight trips with suspect to a ranch in Fillmore. On the first trip, he was one of six boys taken by suspect. He didn't really know the other five, but recalls one boy's name was REDACTED. On the second trip, he was one of five boys. His friend and neighbor, REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED went also. He cannot remember who else went. (He and his parents could not recall the dates.) They all slept in sleeping bags on the floor in the living room. The suspect had tickled his chest and stomach area, but nothing else. After talking with victim REDACTED I asked his parents if they would check to see if they could identify dates of Fillmore trips. One trip was during school year, prior to summer 1980. Approximately 2100 hours, I received a call from Mrs. REDACTED. She advised that the REDACTED were mistaken. Her son, REDACTED, had never gone on any trip with suspect. She also said she had talked with her son and the suspect had never done anything to him. She seemed upset.

On February 5, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED, Investigator

Smart reported:

On February 5, 1981 at approximately 9:40 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of both of his parents at the District Attorney's Office. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is a 9th grade student at Newbury Park High School. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes. He has known Father
Roemer since he (Roemer) came to St. Paschal's parish and is very fond of him. REDACTED is also active in the St. Paschal's youth program. He has socialized with Father Roemer on several occasions. He has attended movies and has gone on overnight outings with him to Father Roemer's parents' ranch in Fillmore. He has never been alone with Father Roemer on any of these social outings.

REDACTED thinks Father Roemer is a very affectionate person. Father Roemer has hugged him and kissed him on the forehead many times. REDACTED claims he has never gone into the teachers' lounge with Father Roemer. However, he has gone into his office and has been shown pictures in a book. While looking at the pictures, they were sitting side-by-side and Father Roemer had his arm around him.

On one occasion, REDACTED invited Father Roemer to his home for a swimming party. This occurred in early-August 1980. REDACTED and REDACTED were also present. Mr. & Mrs. REDACTED were not at home; however, were aware of the party and gave their approval.

During the course of the party, Father Roemer "ticked" REDACTED in the rib area. REDACTED denies that Father Roemer had ever rubbed his stomach and/or chest.

REDACTED has also gone to the movies and on overnight outings to Father Roemer's ranch in Fillmore. At the movie, Father Roemer would sit between REDACTED and one of the other boys who were present. Father Roemer would put his arm around him and occasionally tickle his knee. He did not attempt to rub his back or other parts of his body.

REDACTED and several boys were invited by Father Roemer to spend the night at his parents' ranch in Fillmore. They arrived at the ranch at approximately 4:30 or 5 p.m. They went for a walk, ate, and then sat around the living room telling ghost stories. Father Roemer had his arm around someone all of the time.

At approximately 10 or 11 p.m., they decided to turn in for the night. They all slept in sleeping bags on the floor, except Father Roemer. He slept on the couch. Everyone slept in pajamas. They changed into their pajamas in the bedroom, out of the presence of Father Roemer and each other.
REDACTED denied that Father Roemer had touched or rubbed him while they were at the ranch. He did not observe Father Roemer touching or rubbing any of the others present. There were no unusual or remarkable occurrences while at the ranch. The following morning they got up around 8 a.m. and returned home.

REDACTED said that Father Roemer is a very affectionate person and has hugged him, kissed him on the forehead and tickled him. However, he has not attempted to rub his stomach or chest. REDACTED said that Father REDACTED is also affectionate, but he doesn't tickle. REDACTED denies being aware of Father Roemer shaking or shivering during any of the aforementioned contacts with him.

B. REDACTED

Detective Kelli McIlvain of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed REDACTED, 14 years, DOB: REDACTED, REDACTED Thousand Oaks, REDACTED Detective McIlvain reported:

Above victim interviewed in presence of his father, REDACTED in EVSO on tape.

He related the suspect had never done anything to him. He did go on an overnight trip to the ranch once. Neither he nor his father could recall the date. They did sleep in sleeping bags on the living room floor and the suspect slept next to him in a sleeping bag, but he could not recall suspect touching him.

C. REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Sergeant Jack Hughes of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed REDACTED

14 years, REDACTED REDACTED Thousand Oaks,

REDACTED Sergeant Hughes reported:

REDACTED interview 1/27/81, 1915 hours. I recorded the interview with REDACTED with his father and mother present.

He told me he went to San Diego with Father Roemer the Friday after Christmas. They left on December 26, and stayed five days and four nights at the Holiday Inn in San Diego, Room 1003. He said two other boys went along, and (unknown last name). They stayed in a single room which had two double beds. The first night, the night of December 26, 1980, he slept with Father Roemer. He slept on the floor and REDACTED slept in the other bed alone. He only slept the one night in the same bed with Father Roemer. He said he did not know if anything had happened as far as Father Roemer touching him anywhere. He is a sound sleeper, which his mother confirmed. His mother said that REDACTED is very hard to wake up. There was no reason he did not sleep in the same bed as Father Roemer. He just fell asleep on the floor watching TV. He told me he is fond of Father Roemer, but would tell me if he remembered anything happening.

D. REDACTED

Deputy William Montijo of the Ventura Sheriff's Department, on February 12, 1981, attempted to interview REDACTED and made the following report:

At approx. 1930 hours, I drove to REDACTED Drive, T. Oaks, in an effort to interview a victim in this investigation. REDACTED, victim's step-father, met me outside of the house and I explained my purpose. He told me his son was not home, that he was in L.A. and would be returning the following day some time around 6 p.m. I explained that it was important I obtain a stmt. from victim. REDACTED related he had talked with his son about Father Roemer and he told me his son told him nothing had happened. I made an appointment to attempt contact with victim btwn. 1900-2100 hours on 2/13/81.

2/13/81:

At approx. 1930 hours, I drove to the REDACTED residence and again was met by REDACTED, his wife, and two other adults outside of the residence. REDACTED related his son had not yet returned from L.A. I again told REDACTED it was important we spoke with his son. I told REDACTED we could contact his son at Colina School or at a later time. REDACTED questioned me regarding the case. I told REDACTED... that the "S" had admitted touching his son.
asked me if questioning his son could wait until his court appearance. I explained it was necessary to interview his son prior to court. I asked REDACTED if his son was home and he just did not want me to talk to him. He said that his son was not home. REDACTED seemed to be evasive about his son's whereabouts and I felt his son was possibly in the residence. I was of the impression by REDACTED... conduct that he really did not want his son involved with Roemer's case and was sympathetic towards his plight.

No further effort to interview REDACTED by this officer.

E. REDACTED

On February 2, 1981, Detective Kelli McI1vain of the Ventura County Sheriff's Office submitted the following report:

This date I talked with REDACTED
Director, of Special Education and Special Services,
Conejo Valley Unified School District, 1400 East
Janss Road, Thousand Oaks, REDACTED

He related in late October or early November 1980, a previous student, REDACTED... DOB: REDACTED... told his mother that suspect, after a church-related class, had rubbed his stomach and chest.
The suspect shook all over during this action.
Mrs. REDACTED told REDACTED... (Acacia School), teacher at the time. Mrs. REDACTED, was advised to phone the Ventura Sheriff's Department with this info.

The possible victim now lives at REDACTED
Road, Moorpark, REDACTED and attends Poindexter School.

Approximately 1600 hours, this date, Sgt. REDACTED and I attempted to contact victim at his residence. Sgt. REDACTED talked with REDACTED
(victim's Dad) who said he would have his wife
contact us if she had any information.

On February 17, 1981, Detective Kelli McI1vain, Ventura County Sheriff's Department, interviewed REDACTED

Street, Thousand Oaks, REDACTED Mrs. REDACTED is a special education teacher at Acacia School, 55 Norman Avenue, Thousand Oaks, REDACTED

Detective McIlvain reported:

Mrs. REDACTED related that in September 1980, Mrs. REDACTED mother of student REDACTED, told her the following: Father Roemer, after either CCD or class or altar boy class, had put his hand inside REDACTED shirt and stroked his stomach. While doing this, Father Roemer began to tremble all over.

Mrs. REDACTED thinks this occurrence was in June of 1980. After learning of this in September, she immediately gave the information to her supervisor, REDACTED, and then to Dr. REDACTED Director of Special Education of Conejo Valley Unified School District. (Prior to REDACTED) At a later date, she gave the information to REDACTED because Father Roemer was on Acacia School campus talking and visiting with students about once a week. It was Father Roemer's practice for at least school year 79-80 and 80-81 (to time of arrest) to come to Acacia School during the lunch hour on Mondays. REDACTED knew of no formal purpose/reason for his visits. She recalls that after her discussion with REDACTED, Father Roemer quit coming to her class table in the cafeteria as he had done in the past. He stopped visiting as much with REDACTED. REDACTED said that another student of hers, REDACTED, 11 or 12 years, had told her that Father Roemer was his "favorite rabbi" because Father Roemer had kissed him on the cheek. REDACTED later told her that Father Roemer had invited him to his home. REDACTED does not think REDACTED visited Father Roemer at his residence because the newspaper article of his arrest was printed shortly after her talk with REDACTED.

She learned that Father Roemer was often on Glenwood Elementary School campus and had filled out some sort of on-campus application for Redwood School. REDACTED did not know if he had ever filled out any similar application for Acacia School in the past. She knew of no other person who was routinely on Acacia campus without a formal purpose.

WHEREFORE, The People of the State of California respectfully submit this Statement of Facts as proof of the factual basis of the pleas of nolo contendere by Donald Patrick Roemer to three counts of violation of section 288(a) of the Penal Code (Counts I, II, and III of the Information).

DATED:

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL D. BRADBURY, District Attorney
County of Ventura, State of California

KM: Having these rights in mind, do you wish to give up these rights and talk to me about the charges against you?

DR: I'd rather talk to you.

KM: You would?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Okay. Do you know a boy by the name of REDACTED

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you see REDACTED Today?

DR: Yes, I saw him today.

KM: What time did you see him?

DR: Saw him when he got there for his religious instruction class. I forget the exact, probably about 3:20 to 3:25.

KM: What did you say to REDACTED

DR: What did I say to him?

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: I asked him--I'm just going to tell you.

KM: Okay.

DR: I have no problem.

KM: Okay.
DR: No problem. Because, well -- it, it is a problem, it isn't -- maybe it's the best way for it to come out.

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: I mean, I've dealt with it before on a spiritual basis and it never works and I am having a problem, not that I'm going around molesting children and stuff like that. I'll just tell you exactly what happened, probably exactly what he said.

KM: Okay.

DR: Can I ask you what he said?

KM: He said that ah you asked him to come into an office and look at some pictures --

KM: Okay.

DR: My year book.

KM: Your year book pictures and he said that you had him sit on your lap.

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Is that right?

DR: And I had him stand up.

KM: And you had him stand up? Where did you have him stand up?

DR: Just right in front of me. I mean, not expose himself, I, I touched him.

KM: Did you touch his penis?

DR: Yeah.

KM: Did you --

DR: Not all the way, but I --

KM: Did you stroke his penis?
DR: Well, kinda, just kinda back and forth, but I never really grabbed it or touched it all the way.

KM: Did, did you do this while he was sitting on your lap?

DR: No, while he was standing.

KM: What did you say to him when you were doing this?

DR: Well, I started out by stroking his stomach and asking him if that felt good --

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: -- and I he said yes and I just went further. He didn't say anything but yes and he was paging through the book.

KM: This was when he was standing up?

DR: Well, yeah, he was, he was sitting in my lap first and then I asked him to stand up and --

KM: Okay. So then you ah, put your hand under his shirt and stroked his stomach--

DR: At first.

KM: --at first, and then did you--was he sitting on your lap when you were stroking his penis?

DR: I think I did it first when he was, when he was standing up and when he sat down again I did it for a short time, just a few seconds and that was it.

KM: So you, you had him sit down, stand up, sit down, is that right?

DR: Well, when he first came in he stood up, but then he sat down in my lap, looked at the pictures. That's when I started it--

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: He stood up, then he sat down.
KM: Okay. Did you tell him to stand up?

DR: Yeah.

KM: Why did you tell him to stand up?

DR: So it would be easier or me to get my hand down there.

KM: How long do you think, how long do you think this whole incident took?

DR: About a minute and a half, two minutes. It really wasn't long.

KM: Ah,

DR: I know this is hard for you; it's hard for me.

KM: I'm sure it is, Father. Have you already told Father

REDACTED is it?

DR: Father REDACTED really isn't the pastor anymore. Father

REDACTED is.

KM: Have you already told Father REDACTED

DR: I will.

KM: How did Father REDACTED already know about it when I called?

DR: About what?

KM: About ah, a 7-year-old, a young boy making an accusation, do you know?

DR: Father REDACTED knew about it?

KM: Yeah. I called and talked with you, and you must have got my message because you--

DR: Oh, I, I got your message.

KM: And the Father asked me is this concerning a young boy and I said that I only would talk with you.

DR: It could be that the parents had called and talked to him.

KM: No, they didn't. I've already talked with them. Maybe somebody else, or they talked. Maybe--

DR: How could he have possibly known?
KM: Somebody else must have called. This only happened today.
DR: Yes.
KM: Is it alright if I have a cigarette?
DR: Sure.
KM: Okay, they have another boy who's name is REDACTED.
DR: Yes.
KM: He told me something that happened during confession.
    Would you know what that would be?
DR: Uh-huh.
KM: What was that then?
DR: He came in and sat on my lap for confession, I put my hand under his shirt. I didn't, you know, molest him or anything like that.
KM: When ah, when-REDACTED was in your office, did you kiss hi on the ear?
DR: Can't remember.
    That's the truth, I don't--
KM: You don't remember?
DR: I don't remember.
KM: Do you think you could have?
DR: I could have.
KM: He also said that when you were stroking his penis and he was sitting on your lap, you were shaking.
DR: Uh-huh.
KM: Is that true?
DR: Yes.
KM: When ah, when REDACTED was in confession and you had him sit on your lap, and you rubbed his chest, did you kiss him on the ear?
DR: I don't think so. Did he say that I did?
KM: Yeah.
DR: If he did, then it was probably right. I don't KM: Have you, you were saying you've been dealing with this spiritually--
DR: And psychologically.
KM: And psychologically.
DR: There's a priest in Santa Barbara that I go to, used to go to on a regular basis, but I haven't seen him in about 4 or 5 months.
KM: Has anything like this ha--have you ever done anything like this in the past?
DR: I've come close to it, yeah.
KM: Am I going to find out about other victims besides, besides REDACTED
DR: It has happened before, yes.
KM: It has?
DR:
KM: Has it happened before, while in Thousand Oaks at this particular church? How long have you been at this church?
DR: For 3 years. Not quite 3, it'll be 3 years this June.
KM: And where were you assigned previously?
DR: Santa Barbara.
KM: Santa Barbara.
DR: Never happened there.
KM: Have you ever been arrested for anything prior to this?

DR: No.

KM: How long have you been a Father?

DR: 11 years.

KM: 11 years.

DR: Please be patient. This is painful.

KM: I know and I appreciate how hard it must be. Nobody, I'm sure, but you, can know how terribly hard it is.

DR: Last year I got the, because of interest in working with kids and it's not just motivated by the problem, last year I got the honorary service award from the National PTA for working with kids. What a farce now --

KM: Can you give me an estimate of how many times in the past this has happened, fondling the genitals?

DR: I don't know. Two, two times before.

KM: And how long ago has this been?

DR: It's been within this year.

KM: This year? All, January of this year?

DR: I don't think January.

KM: 1981?

DR: Yeah.

KM: It's been since Christmas?

DR: Well, there was one occasion, right after -- I'm not trying to elude you. I'm just, I don't really know when exactly it was.

KM: Ah, other than fondling with your hand -- the other two incidents, was there any type of sexual activity?

DR: No.
KM: Okay. Have you had very many boys sit on your lap during confession and rub their chests?

DR: Besides REDACTED brother, I don't know --

KM: Do you think that's appropriate behavior, Father?

DR: No, I know it's not appropriate. I, I--

KM: I understand that you realize what you did was wrong, but I've got the feeling, from what you said before, --

DR: No, I don't, I'm not trying to cover up or anything --

KM: It's not as overt as what happened with REDACTED but --

DR: Yeah.

KM: -- but it's still inappropriate--

DR: Yeah, it most certainly is. I have not nearly enough sought out, I think, enough psychological help for the problem I have. (pause) Like, even after it happened, I think I knew, I really did know --

KM: You knew what?

DR: That I was I just felt it, I mean, it's not like I haven't told anybody before.

KM: Have you told people before?

DR: Not people, but this priest that's up in Santa Barbara.

KM: Yeah. But you've--have you told anyone else?

DR: No.

KM: Do you know the names of the other two boys?

DR: Ah -- there is one, well there's one kid that sat on my lap in confession and I did it -- REDACTED

KM: And how long ago do you think that was?

DR: Not long, I think it was two weeks ago.

KM: You know how to spell it?

DR: REDACTED

KM: How old is REDACTED

DR: I think REDACTED is 7-1/2.

KM: Was he already going to confession?

DR: I think he made his first one, but I didn't do it in confession.

KM: When did it happen?

DR: That was in, in that same room--it's not my office, it's the teachers' lounge. That is in the center of the school.

KM: Now would that have been the 12th, Monday the 12th? It would be two weeks ago today.

DR: I think, I think that would be

KM: Was, is he going to CCD? Wouldn't that be about the same thing?

DR: It was Monday. You're just talking about in general, not genital?

KM: You didn't rub his genitals that time?

DR: No. I didn't rub his at all.

KM: Did you rub his stomach?

DR: Yes. And his chest.

KM: _____ touch his skin --

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Did you show him your year book that time?

DR: No.

KM: How long did this--ah, how long was it?

DR: About 2 minutes.

KM: Was this about 3:30?

DR: Ah, around 3:30.
KM: And besides [REDACTED] the other incident?

DR: One other -- [REDACTED] . He's a 6th grader. And that was the same day -- I don't think that was on the same day. I can't remember exactly when that happened, I think it was last week, last Monday. He spells it [REDACTED]

KM: He's in 6th grade, so he's 11 or 12?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: And you think this was last Monday?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Which be the same day [REDACTED] went to confession and this happened.

DR: Ah, [REDACTED], ah [REDACTED] went to confession -- Okay, when he went to confession was not on a Monday, it was his day for CCD. Yes it is, he comes--he was sick today. So, it was the same--it was the same, think it was--the same day.

KM: He was sick today?

DR: Yeah. His brother was not there.

KM: Okay. So, so it was on the same day with [REDACTED] Did this happen in the confessional?

DR: No.

KM: Where did it happen?

DR: In the room.

KM: In the, ah, the same room we were talking about previously?

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you have the 6th grader sit on your lap?

DR: No. He sat in a chair next to me.

KM: And this wasn't during confession?

DR: No.
KM: How did you have him come into the office?

DR: As soon as he got there. It was previous—confess—the confession time wasn't Saturday. It was, it was a special time that Father REDACTED and I have the penance service and they can go to confession if they want. So, that was after 4 o'clock. I don't know the precise time, but this is before CCD. It starts at 3:30.

KM: REDACTED

DR: REDACTED

KM: Well, was he in that office for a prepenance conference?

DR: No.

KM: What was he in the office for?

DR: I asked him to come in there.

KM: Why did you, did you ask him to come in to look at anything or for what reason?

DR: I jus—he's in a special class at school.

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: Not at our school, but at Acacia and I asked him to come in to see how he was doing because I didn't see him at lunch that day when I was there.

KM: What did you say to him, while you were rubbing his chest?

DR: I just asked him how things were going, just had like a general conversation.

KM: You were jus—and you were rubbing his chest while you were having a general conversation?

DR: Uh-huh, yes.

KM: Well, did he seem alarmed?

DR: No. You're asking me for a fact.
KM: Yeah. Yeah, I know.

DR:

KM: Well, that's right.

DR: I know what I'm doing is -- wrong.

KM: I'm just trying to see--you're sitting side-by-side--

DR: And I reached over like this.

(pause)

KM: Rubbing his chest.

DR: Yeah.

KM: Did you have an erection when you were doing this?

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you have an erection when you were doing this to ah, REDACTED

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you ejaculate?

DR: Ah, yes.

KM: Did you ejaculate while rubbing the chest?

DR: Ah, I can't remember.

KM: Okay. Do you remember if you ejaculated after rubbing REDACTED

DR: Ah, today you mean?

KM: No REDACTED wasn't -- today.

DR: Oh, that's right, ah no. That was different.

KM: But you had an erection when, you -- with REDACTED

DR: Uh-huh.

(pause)

DR: Yes.
KM: Have you ever done anything like this with any little girls?
DR: No.
KM: Well, it was 2 weeks ago with REDACTED, a week ago with REDACTED, and today with REDACTED. Is there anything else, Father, is there anything else that will come to light, that you think you should talk about now?
DR: Yeah.
KM: What is that?
DR: Everything I tell you has to go down?
KM: It does, Father.
DR: Probably be made public too?
KM: The ah--
DR: You don't have to answer that.
KM: The details of this, I won't make public. It will be public information that you've been arrested.
DR: What does that mean?
KM: Well, whoever is arrested -- that's public information, just point of fact -- that's what it is, public information, but I won't be talking to the press, myself, about details of the case. And I know that that is very frightening from your position right now. But the real point is this activity is wrong -- it's gotta be stopped. That's the important part.
DR: Right.
KM:
DR: I understand. I -- but, like how it's stopped --
KM: Yeah. Important too.
DR: What, what kind of help can I get, if any at all?
KM: What kind of psychiatric help?
DR: Is that part of the procedure?
KM: It is part of the procedure, you will be ah, evaluated by psychiatrists and I, I really don't know what kind of help they will give you. I know it is essential you're motivated to be helped.
DR: Yeah. There's no doubt about it, it's kind of like trying and trying and trying not to get involved in that, failing over and over again and not knowing what to do.
KM: Fighting it and fighting it.
DR: Fighting it and not knowing how to handle it anymore.
    Fooling yourself that the more you go and talk to a spiritual leader it's gonna do, and letting it go, you know?
KM: There are special psychiatrists for this kind of problem that specialize in this area. Ah, I don't, I can't tell you what, what the courts will do about this. I can't say no, they'll just put you, you know, in a psychiatric program, I really can't tell you, cause I don't know what the sentencing will be.
DR: Can I just ask you some questions? I mean just --
KM: Sure, go ahead.
DR: It'll obviously be all over town. I mean, just tell me.
KM: I think that the people in your church have a great respect for all the work you've done and I think that from investigations in the past, you will have some friends that will stick by you and will help you through this time and ah, I've already heard that you have done excellent work with the youth in the church.

DR: That's all shot.

KM: Well, people understand that, if the work was done, it was accomplished and you've done it, so I wouldn't say it's all shot. People that care about you are going to be most concerned of handle the whole thing. We both know, there are times when it takes a great deal more courage to tell the truth than it does to lie.

DR: I know it. I know.

KM: People make mistakes.

DR: I'm gonna trust ______, maybe it's for the best.

Where do I go from here?

KM: Well, I'm going to have to arrest you.

DR: Fine. I mean, like do all the rest of those people have to be contacted?

KM: They should be contacted. They will be contacted, Father. The parents of REDACTED and REDACTED are very upset, naturally, but they also expressed a lot of concern about what would happen to you.

DR: That's great.

KM: Is there anything else that I'm going to find out?

DR: Yeah.

KM: Okay

PENAL CODE

16. In General
In a prosecution of defendant for burglary and other crimes, evidence showing that defendant raped the victim twice, sodomized her and compelled her several times to orally copulate him over two-hour period was insufficient to support the jury's finding that he inflicted "great bodily injury" on the victim within the meaning of Pen. Code, § 461, which prescribes enhanced punishment for the intentional infliction of such injury. Neither forcible rape, sodomy, nor oral copulation can, in and of themselves, constitute great bodily injury for the enhancement of punishment provision of burglary, and neither can the commission of such offenses together, without any additional physical manifestations or consequences, constitute such injury. People v Caudillo (1978) 21 Cal 3d 562, 146 Cal Rptr 859, 580 P2d 274.

§ 286.1. [Repealed by Stats 1975 ch 71 § 8.]
See § 286.

§ 286.5. [Sexually assaulting animal]
Any person who sexually assaults any animal protected by Section 597f for the purpose of arousing or gratifying the sexual desire of the person is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 287. [Penetration sufficient to complete the crime]
Any sexual penetration, however slight, is sufficient to complete the crime of sodomy.

Amendments:
1975 Amendment: Substituted "of sodomy" for "against nature".

Witkin Crimes pp 494, 496.
21 Cal Jur 3d Criminal Law § 2331.

A state statute prohibiting "crimes against nature" is not unconstitutionally vague for failing to give fair warning to a man convicted under it for forcing a woman to submit to his acts of cunnilingus, where the phrase "crime against nature" had been considered by the courts of some states to encompass acts of cunnilingus, the broad interpretation of "crime against nature" as including forms of sexual aberration beyond those acts constituting the common law offense of sodomy, as opposed to the narrow interpretation of "crime against nature" being limited only to acts constituting sodomy at common law, was not itself unconstitutionally vague, the state's highest court, although not specifically holding that cunnilingus fell within the statute, had given clear notice in its decisions that the statute would receive the broader of two plausible interpretations and would be applied to acts of cunnilingus when such a case arose, and there was no possibility of retroactive lawmaking whereby a criminal statute, narrow and precise on its face, would be expanded by judicial construction to encompass acts clearly outside the scope of the statute as written. Rose v Locke (1975) 423 US 48, 46 L Ed 2d 185, 96 S Ct 243.

§ 288. [Crimes against children: Lewd or lascivious acts: Punishment]
(a) Any person who shall willfully and lewdly commit any lewd or lascivious act including any of the acts constituting other crimes provided for in Part 1 of this code upon or with the body, or any part or member thereof, of a child under the age of 14 years, with the intent of arousing, appealing to, or gratifying the lust or passions or sexual desires of such person or of such child, shall be guilty of a felony and shall be imprisoned in the state prison for a term of three, five, or seven years.

Other news enough

Editor, News Chronicle:
Isn't there been enough factual news of late to occupy your reporter? Surely, with a new president and the return of the hostages to Washington D.C. on Tuesday, your publication must have been at an all-time high.

Tell me why, News Chronicle, did you have to publish with front-page sensationalism the article about Father Pat Roemer? What purpose did it serve? Allegations stemming from the mouth of a 7-year-old are hardly grounds for tarnishing the reputation of one who has done so much good for our community and who is loved by so many, Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

Would you have granted the same kind of coverage if the person accused had been a layman and not so well known? I think not.

World Book Dictionary gives as synonyms for the word "scandal" the three words "discredit, disgrace, dishonor." You have made an honest effort to bring all three to Father Roemer and, in doing so, have firmly established yourself as our neighborhood scandal sheet.

Charges are wrong

Editor, News Chronicle:
I'm a high school sophomore and I have known Father Roemer since the beginning of the eighth grade.

Is it that wrong to show a little affection toward a child? Come on! Anybody who knows Father Roemer will say these charges are wrong (News Chronicle, Jan. 27).

He is the only person I know in Thousand Oaks that does these things for kids. Practically every kid in St. Pancras' has went out with Father Roemer.

Why not wait?

Editor, News Chronicle:
Re: Article that appeared Tuesday, Jan. 27 regarding Father Pat Roemer.

I'm really very upset about your article concerning Father Pat Roemer. Do you realize how much that man is admired and loved by so many children and adults? If you did, you wouldn't have been so quick to write what you did.

Lest we forget

Editor, News Chronicle:
We think that the article concerning Father Pat Roemer came across as speculative and opportunistic. As parishioners of his church and personal friends of his we have found that his conduct is more than acceptable.

In his extensive work with children in many areas such as AYSO, Boy Scouts and many other children's organizations, it seems to us that you forget that in the United States a man is innocent until proven guilty.

Always there when needed

Editor, News Chronicle:
I'm very sorry to see the article you wrote about Father Pat Roemer. I've known him for 10 years. He is one of the best friends I have ever had and is always there when I need him. I think it was a disgrace the way you put him down in your paper. I personally think that he has done more than any other man for the youth in the Conejo Valley.

Too good of a guy

Editor, News Chronicle:
My mom and dad told me about the article in the Tuesday, Jan. 27 News Chronicle on Father Roemer. I go to St. Pancras' Church and I attend CCD (Confraternity of Christian Doctrine) classes twice a week. I know he wouldn't do anything like that, he wouldn't. I know he's too good of a guy, like once he took me and some other boys to see a movie and after CCD class he's there to greet us. He's a really nice guy and I support him all the way.

Means so much

Editor, News Chronicle:

The article that I printed in your paper, Page 1, Jan. 27, concerning Father Gerald Patrick Roemer was a total outrage to his brother teacher, Joe, and myself. Joe felt guilty before his court date. This man means so much to us personally, not to mention the entire congregation of St. Pachal's. If this man is cleared, he will carry the shadow you have cast over his life to his grave. I love Joe, and all because the News Chronicle likes to sensationalize at all costs. He has given his life to God and his congregation and you slipped it right from under him.

If anyone quotes anything from your paper without other proof, I would never believe them and I would tell them why. The News Chronicle loves to sensationalize.

Children hurt

Editor, News Chronicle:

Regarding your article about Father Roemer on Jan. 27. I was shocked and mad after reading your article about Father Roemer. As a concerned parent I condemn anything that would hurt the mental and physical well-being of our children. Do you realize how many children you have hurt by printing such a story? Granted, you don't know him, but you should try to be more Christian. Before a man has been found guilty is a grave injustice.

I would like to ask you if Joe is the child in this case as members of the parish, why didn't you contact the parish itself? Don't you trust the church you attend?

Father Roemer has achieved what parents and educators work for — the love of God and understanding and I hope you let this stand because of a probable misunderstanding. Father Roemer, Melissa and Michael send you their love; they want you back.

MARY L. BORAU

Close friend

Editor, News Chronicle:

I am a close friend to Father Pat. He taught me how to be an altar boy. Don't you think that is pretty important? But rather than putting it in the newspaper (it's pretty straightforward), he feels embarrassed about it. He is putting it in the paper when the person has earned up nickname as "Incredible Father Buhl, or "Blonde Priest," or "Paper Priest," or "Mini Priest."

The printing of stories should be brought in more consideration. The first story's bad enough but to print another one is pretty stupid, isn't it? P.S. Come back to Redwood (Intermediate” School) soon.

State of shock

Editor, News Chronicle:

I am a certain those of us who are a part of the Catholic community here in Thousand Oaks. The article in a state of shock concerning the accusations brought against our Father Roemer, of St. Pachal's. At this time, I must cough what I could claim that virtue is Jesus. We are all struggling with our human desires to some degree or another.

I am not saying this man is guilty, I have no way of knowing. And I am not defending those who believe him to be a fine man. But the danger in blindly discounting a serious accusation disrupts me greatly. It is important that every claim of this sort is thoroughly investigated to protect the innocent.

The major fault here, I think, is of the newspaper's handling and coverage of this matter. Since a man's reputation and career could be irrevocably damaged, as in this case, cannot wait to report until after it has been determined whether the man is innocent or guilty.

Second father

Editor, News Chronicle:

I am 13 years old and I'm in Junior high. I've known Father Pat since fifth grade. As my brothers, ages 12 and 10, I spent many hours and days alone with Father Pat and I think it's wrong what people are doing to him. He's almost like a second father to me and I love him very much. I know he wouldn't do such a thing like he's accused of. Sure he hugged me and I love him because he is just showing me how much he loves me. I play tennis with him and he takes me to many different places.

I just want to say that a lot of people are behind Father Pat and we all love him very much.

JOHN RODRIGUEZ and FAMILY

In third place

Editor, News Chronicle:

I am 14 years old and my sister is 12 years old. Ever since I knew Father Pat, he has never made any of those things a boy. 7-year-old boy staked to the police and you (News Chronicle) to me or to my sister. He has taken a lot of my friends and myself to different places all over. Last year he took all the eighth-graders on a retreat to Malibu before our Confirmation. He works with all children all the time and my sister says he goes through all the CCD (Contrastly of Christine Doctrine) classes and says hello. I thought that printing that article on the front page was really bad. As one lady said in the letters to the editor on Jan. 30, that this paper was a scandal sheet on her street and I have to agree with her on that because everybody is afraid to see this crumbl because of a probable misunderstanding. Father Roemer, Melissa and Michael send you their love; they want you back.

M. L. BORAU

Wrong reasons

Editor, News Chronicle:

Is there room for one more letter concerning the Father Roemer case? It seems that many people are getting hot for what appears to me the wrong reasons.

1. To imply that an accusation from a 7-year-old has little credibility because of his youthful age is terribly unjust. I find this as odd and embarrassing as any kind of a story for a child to be making up. More children should be given a responsive but still discerning ear.

2. Perhaps this "checking with a friend" about the child's story was in an effort to be fair to Father Roemer, so as not to take such an accusation lightly.

3. I also ask, what makes a man of the cloth exempt from emotional disturbances? It has happened before. Does this mean that any person holding a position of influence and respect should automatically be free from suspicion?

4. And to say that any person who has an inability to be immoral sounds quite presumptuous to me. The only person I can think of who would claim that virtue is Jesus. We are all struggling with our human desires to some degree or another.

5. I am not saying this man is guilty. I have no way of knowing. And I am not defending those who believe him to be a fine man. But the danger in blindly discounting a serious accusation disrupts me greatly. It is important that every claim of this sort is thoroughly investigated to protect the innocent.

6. The major fault here, I think, is of the newspaper's handling and coverage of this matter. Since a man's reputation and career could be irreparably damaged, as in this case, cannot wait to report until after it has been determined whether the man is innocent or guilty.

Will rebuild life

Editor, News Chronicle:

I cannot believe that article about Father Pat Roemer in the News Chronicle on Jan. 27. Your article is totally unfair and I really do not want to write here about Father Pat. I know that you have refused Father Pat's relationship with the little kids but I hope that he will still have the contact with kids he once had. Knowing Father Pat, he will rebuild his life and I will always love him, no matter what and so will everyone else. He is my friend and everyone can talk to and we know that he can help us with our problems and understand us too.

Father Roemer is great and he loves all of us kids here at St. Pachal's school and all kids he comes in contact with. I am really sorry for the parents of the 7-year-old boy for they don't understand the true meaning of love with respect and dignity.

I would like to say that we thank Father Pat and everyone loves you, Father. Please come back to St. Pachal's parish because you love us and you need us.

Jan. 29, 1981

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I am writing this in support of my parish priest, a friend and a colleague, Fr. Pat Roemer. I would just like to express my love and appreciation for this man, be he found innocent or guilty. I know that child molesting is a sickness, a weakness, and I would want him to find the help he would need, but I would still not hesitate to trust him with my own children. He has been at my house often—my children love him, as do my husband and myself, and he is always and will be always welcome here.
I would really like it if he stay in the community, if possible, and fight his way back from here, if police support was behind him. I feel it's going to be difficult for him anywhere and I think the whole community could really rally round this man and show a true Christian spirit and brotherhood.

When things seemed dark, I realized his innocence or guilt didn't matter to me—I would love him anyway and support him. That seemed to me Christ's true message, unconditional love. Please let him stay, if possible. Thank you.

Community stunned by report of priest’s arrest

By FAYE FIORE

Comparing him to a "sacrificial lamb" who is being "hung and crucified" before his trial, several local residents expressed shock and anger about the arrest of a Conejo parish priest on charges of child molesting.

The News Chronicle has received a flood of phone calls after reporting Tuesday that the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, 36, was booked Monday night at the East Valley Sheriff's Station on a single count of child molesting.

Callers have angrily criticized the newspaper for publishing the report of the arrest, saying publicity should have been withheld until after Roemer is tried.

Roemer is accused of "making advances of a sexual nature" toward a 7-year-old boy who attends Bible study classes at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks, sheriff's deputies said.

The News Chronicle routinely publishes reports of such arrests.

Roemer is scheduled to appear at 8:30 a.m. Friday in Ventura Municipal Court Division 11 to enter a plea.

The child's parents told deputies that their son began to describe at the dinner table an alleged encounter with Roemer. Sheriff's detectives investigated the situation and determined there were grounds to arrest the clergyman, who has been a priest for 10 years.

Roemer has been publicly commended for his patient work with children during his few years in the local parish, and disbelieving parents are stepping forward in his defense.

"Our priests are constant targets," said Penny Lord, a parishioner at St. Jude's Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks. "All priests are like sacrificial lambs," who are vulnerable to accusations, she said after calling the News Chronicle.

Lord related overhearing people at St. Jude's parish praying for Roemer, who has come to be known as "Father Pat" in the community.

"The people at the church are hurt because they know him and they love him and they want to be sure he's going to be given a fair trial," she said.

Darts of criticism have also been aimed at the sheriff's department, which callers say overreacted to the "remarks of a 7-year-old."

Detectives are caught precariously between justifying the arrest to the public and suppressing important evidence that must be saved for court.

Contacted by the News Chronicle that morning, East Valley Commander Larry Kalsbeek reinforced his earlier comments that the arrest was not made on a whim.

"Obviously, you do not build a case around only one statement by a 7-year-old," Kalsbeek said. "We did conduct further investigation and for those who have concluded that the arrest did not have sufficient cause, they should hold their comments until the preliminary examination where evidence can be made public in court. But we are satisfied that there is sufficient evidence for arrest and prosecution."

Members of the parish insist that even if Roemer is found innocent in court, his reputation and work in the community will be permanently soiled by the allegations.

"This ruined the man," said Bad Swee-ney, a St. Paschal's parishioner who accused the News Chronicle of poor judgment in publishing the article. "There's a lot of bad that could be caused by this, especially because this man has been working with children for years.

"It's taking from him the very thing he stood for all his life. He's being hung and crucified before his trial. It must be tearing this man apart."

Emotions are undoubtedly running even higher because Roemer has reached out to so many children in the community, prompting the Parent Teachers Association to award him its 1989 Honorary Service Award for his work with Conejo youth.

A News Chronicle article published last April described the clergyman's candidness and sense of humor with the children, as well as his philosophy of "being there" for those who need him.

"For people, or for kids, that's what it's all about," he was quoted as saying.

Bill Sugars, president of the Conejo Valley chapter of Concerned Parents for Stronger Legislation Against Child Molesters (SLAM) said he, too, has been reproved for his comments about the arrest.

The community uproar is nasty, he said, because the public has seen none of the evidence gathered by detectives.

"I would prefer that the community wait until the arraignment is over until they pass any judgment on anybody — whether it's SLAM, the sheriff's department, members of the church or parents."

"I think the community is blindly rushing to the aid of this man," he said. "A show of support is expected, but to make accusations about something they know nothing about is foolish."

Sheriff's detectives are continuing to investigate the case before they take it to the Ventura County district attorney's office, where it will be reviewed for possible prosecution.
Conejo priest denies guilt in molest case

BY FAYE FIORE

Father Donald Patrick Roemer this morning pleaded innocent to a charge that he sexually molested a youngster who attended Bible study classes at his Thousand Oaks church.

There are nine counts included in the complaint filed by the Ventura district attorney's office this morning, officials there said.

The priest, flanked by a handful of supporters, squatted shrewdly in the stark light of a television camera waiting for him as he walked out of the doors of the Ventura municipal courtroom after his arraignment.

The formal charge was filed by the Ventura County district attorney's office this morning after prosecutors reviewed evidence collected by Conejo sheriff's deputies. Detectives have been investigating the case since the 8-year-old St. Piochha Los Angeles parish priest was arrested Monday night.

Emotions which exploded in the community after the report of his arrest were heightened at today's arraignment as local parishioners huddled around the priest to protect him from the camera and reporters.

"Why are you doing this to him?" one woman yelled.

"Why not? They did it to Jesus," another responded bitterly.

The priest, renowned locally for his work with children, was booked after the parents of a 7-year-old Thousand Oaks boy reported that Roemer allegedly molested the youngster. Sheriff's deputies who investigated the complaint say they found enough additional evidence to warrant an arrest and prosecution, although they will not disclose the facts of the case.

Neither Roemer nor his Los Angeles attorney, J.J. Brandlin, would comment on the matter.

Roemer did respond, however, to the shower of support he has received from churchgoers who are appalled by the arrest and disgusted by the media coverage.

"I am tremendously grateful," the small, red-haired priest said softly as he waited to enter his plea.

Municipal Court judge Edwin M. Osborne ordered Roemer to appear for a preliminary hearing at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 18 in Division 13 of the municipal court where Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor said he expects to present about a half-day of testimony.

A judge will then decide if there is enough evidence to order the clergyman to stand trial.

The swift arraignment lasted less than five minutes, but the uproar outside the courtroom yielded to a lengthy flood of conflicting comments.

"My question is why don't they publish the names of the accusers?" Penny Lord, a St. Jude's Catholic Church parishioner and a friend of the clergyman, said.

Sheriff's department policy prohibits deputies from releasing the name of the victim of an alleged sexual crime or the name of the family when the victim is a minor.

"We've heard of cases where children lie; it happens all the time," Lord said.

The residence of church members to discount the 7-year-old's complaint disturbed Jean Kleppenburg, national president of Concerned Parents for Stronger Legislation Against Child Molesters (CLAM).

"I wonder why adults find it so hard to believe children," she said outside the courtroom.

"This problem exists in every walk of life. It is not limited to any profession. It crosses all boundaries, whether they be political or racial or whatever," Kleppenburg said, adding that she will follow the case through the court process.

"People sometimes believe that if a person is a man of God, he is above all of this . . . I have compassion for him and I know he has feelings, but I still have feelings for child safety," Kleppenburg said.

Roemer has been honored for his active work with Conejo youth and parishioners today complained that his arrest is an affront to his good deeds.

"The very same people who arrested him are the ones who would call him in the middle of the night to ask his help with a teen-age problem," Bob Lord complained.

The priest's supporters complained of biased coverage "which has never told Father Roemer's side," the group has met with repeated responses of "no comment" from the church, Roemer and his attorney.

An 8:30 a.m. Mass at St. Piochha's coincided with Roemer's appearance in court; observers said the church was crowded with parishioners who evidently turned out to pray for him.

Conejo priest charged with child molesting

By FAYE FIORE

A Conejo parish priest was charged Monday with one count of child molesting after he allegedly "made advances" toward a 7-year-old Thousand Oaks boy.

Father Donald Patrick Roemer, 36, was arrested at 2:30 p.m. at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church, 135 E. Janes Road, and booked at East Valley Sheriff's Station, Detective Sgt. Andy Vasquez said today.

Deputies were tight-lipped about the incident this morning, saying only that the youngster told his parents the priest made "advances of a sexual nature toward him."

The child was attending a catechism class at the church, in which children are taught about the Catholic faith, authorities said.

A member of the parish told the News Chronicle that the boy was eating dinner with his parents when he began to describe an incident with Roemer.

"The parents are friends of ours and they called me, wondering what to do," the parishioner, who asked not to be identified, said. "Father Roemer has worked with their child and ours, too."

The youngster's parents contacted sheriff's deputies and Roemer was arrested after an investigation by detectives.

"It's very important that people know about this kind of thing because, hopefully, it will bring other people forward," Bill Sugars, president of the Conejo chapter of Concerned Citizens for Stronger Legislation Against Child Molesters (SLAM), said.

"Especially in a position of trust like this, he should not be allowed to work with children ever again if he is guilty of what he's charged with," Father Colm O'Ryan, co-administrator of the parish, refused to comment on the arrest this morning.

Members of the church said the priest works extensively with children and has been at St. Paschal's for about three or four years.

Those contacted were shocked to learn of the arrest. "He's such a neat guy," one woman said.

Roemer was released from the sheriff's station on his promise to appear in Ventura County Municipal Court Thursday at 8:30 a.m.

Authorities are in the process of filing the charges with the Ventura County district attorney's office.

If an arraignment is conducted Thursday, Roemer will enter his plea to the charges.

PTA cites 2 for youth work

For ongoing services to the youth of The Conejo, two Conejo residents were honored Wednesday evening by the Conejo Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

The Rev. Donald Roemer, affectionately known as "Father Pat," was presented with the PTA Honorary Service Award, with Dee Joerger receiving the Continuing Service Award.

Plans for the presentations were kept secret until Wednesday's ceremony, hosted by Wildwood Elementary School, one of 13 schools in the Conejo Council of PTAs. Nominations for the awards were solicited from all aspects of the community, including sporting groups, other civic and youth-oriented clubs and organizations, said Jackie Friedman, current council president.

The winners were selected by a committee of individuals representing each of the PTAs in the council.

Before a gathering of some 40 persons, Joerger expanded on the attributes of Roemer, who works with youths to help them earn special scouting badges and with young people who have court problems or who are on probation. He leads a weekly church group for teen-agers, offers a children's mass once a month, and invites the children to come and sit on the altar steps during services at St. Pancras Bayon Catholic Church, where he is one of the parish priests.

Before presenting the award, Joerger noted that "Father Pat" is a product of Ventura County, having attended Santa Clara High School in Oxnard and graduating from St. John's Seminary in Camarillo.

"He spends a lot of time at Camarillo State Hospital with the young people there and does a lot to promote youth sports. He has set up softball and baseball leagues at St. Pancras and shows up at Little League, AYSO soccer and Bobby Sox games -- for no particular reason but to show support. He also serves as a noon duty aide on public-school campuses that invite him. And he doesn't have to call the children -- they flock to him," Joerger said.

The Honorary Service Award is presented annually; to receive the Continuing Service Award, the recipient must have already achieved Honorary status. Joerger was presented with the continuing service award for his outstanding service to young people in The Conejo.

wife of Bill Joerger and mother of three children, 14, 16, and 18 years of age -- Joerger "has been a parent volunteer throughout the area for the 12 years she's lived here," explained Irvin King, who presented the surprise award.

Joerger served as PTA president at Meadows Elementary School for two years and as president of the Los Cerritos Intermediate School Parent-Teacher Student Association. She served as president of the Conejo Council of PTAs for two years, worked on various school district committees and toward the passage of school bonds in the district. She has led various projects within the PTA organization at all levels.

Joerger has been active in the St. Pancrat Bayon Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program, and has coached Bobby Sox teams for years. She is currently second vice president of the Conejo Council and was chairman of the 1986 awards ceremony.

In addition to the two top council awards, the Conejo Council gave special recognition to those selected this year as Honorary or Continuing Service Award winners at their individual schools. They are:

- Colina Intermediate -- Carolene Masten, honoree; Mary McLean, honoree; Carolene Masten, honorary; George Cilley, honorary.
- Meadows Elementary -- Dean Phillips, honorary; Dave Long, honorary.
- Thousand Oaks High -- John Barnes, honorary.
- Piedmont Elementary -- Geraldine Ebel, honorary; James Gordon, honorary.
- Wildwood Elementary -- Robert Sicl, Nancy Sice and Paradee Dooly, all honorees.

Try politicians

Editor, News Chronicle:

Normally I do not write to newspaper editors, but lately I have been so excited about your articles that I feel you must be entertained, and if you don’t mind I will point out how your newspaper might be able to do a real service for all of us in the area valley.

Having read your recent reports on clerks, I have little doubt that should you write to newspaper editors with as much attention to detail as you are able to quickly rid us of inflation, air pollution, craft, and high taxes. Your article on Jan. 27 did us a superb job of such a manner. That’s the way the smoke is probably still. Putting all those opinions on the front page sure was turning back to the editorial section, and it does a good job of firing the readers who never do.

On Jan. 27, you hit the front page with not 10, but two, sizable headlines, again tarred at the clerks. That’s what I call educated attention to political issues. That headline on the clerks and the hostages did the clerks a disservice. The headline implied, “...all of the hostages did the clerks a disservice.” I would say that one of the hostages did a disservice. That’s the way they think.

As we all saw, any attempt to understand a situation like this leaves readers with the impression that newspaper has a soft underbelly and is ready to raise the alarm when it is a very necessary need.

Four if on. (News Chronicle. But please tell the clerks stuff for a while. They work near nothing and their only real reward the satisfaction of helping others. There’s no news there. Nothing you can do to help that.

I believe, however, that if you accept my encouragement, and go after those guys who are cutting into our income, whittling away our days, creating a never-ending demand on our billsides and choking our industries between regulations and bureaucracy — and do it with the same journalistic technology recently exhibited — you will shape up this city and the town like no other prize-winning newspaper has ever dreamt of doing. I am confident that all of my Conejo friends would join me in welcoming such an effort.

Show compassion

Editor, News Chronicle:

I am a 14-year-old resident of this community here from the East. For a "hometown" newspaper you take great efforts to follow the lines of big city papers — your camera crews are on hand to flash the cruel results of an accident or a youthful victim of overdose. I’m not surprised, therefore, to see your crusade of a priest who has given more of himself to the children of this community than you could ever pay off the press. The quote of the leader of S.L.A.M. at our standard of living, carving up our billsides, and chocking our industries with regulations and bureaucracy — and do it with the same journalistic technology recently exhibited — you will shape up this city and the town like no other prize-winning newspaper has ever dreamt of doing. I am confident that all of my Conejo friends would join me in welcoming such an effort.

Doesn’t equate

Editor, News Chronicle:

I grew up in an environment of loving and touching affection as are my son and daughter growing up now. I learned early that hats, kites and loving touches are things you get just because you’re loved. They are not just rewards for good behavior, but worthless communications of love. These expressions and feelings were shown to me by many people, not just by my parents, but by teachers, clergymen, friends and even once by a stranger who found me when I was lost, alone, and scared. That anyone could mistake these actions for sexual advancements frightens me beyond expression. What a sorry state this society is in when people equates love and sex. When teachers, clergymen and even strangers are forbidden to touch children in a sincerely loving and caring way, then something is wrong.

Any highly publicized accusation of the type that was brought against Father Roemer (News Chronicle, Jan. 27) or anyone with as high a standing in the community as he has, is an automatic condemnation. Regardless of his innocence he will be forever scarred by this. And for this paper to sensationalize it is in an unjustifiable act of cruelty. Myself and my family abhor the act of child molestation and agree that it must be stopped, but to try, convict and sentence a man without due process of law, as you did by the writing of that article, is also abhorrent.

Our prayers are with you, Father Roemer, for we love you and trust you. Our prayers are also with the little boy whose parents find something ugly and sinful in sincere and unconditional love.

One-sided views

Editor, News Chronicle:

I have lived in the Conejo Valley off and on for the last 20 years. I have found the News Chronicle to be informative on both local and world issues. However, an article which appeared in your paper this week shows that Jan. 27 was written with the journalistic technique of that of a third-rate movie magazine.

The article (written by Paye Fiere) dealt with the alleged child molestation of a 7-year-old by a Catholic priest. The delicateness of this matter cannot be stretched enough. Fiere was accurate as far as I am concerned. Before there has even been an arrangement, Fiere has labeled him guilty.

Fiere’s use of such a term as S.L.A.M. (Concerned Citizens for Stranger Legislation Against Molesters) to infer on their views on the issue. S.L.A.M. is made up of parents who have had convicted cases of this nature. To infer the word "molest" people triggers thoughts of their own hardships.

The views of S.L.A.M. can only be one-sided. To contain them at this point in time is extremely premature for there has not even been an arrangement.

In the priest’s defense she used the quote of a parishioner “But he’s such a nice guy.” Well said. This sophomoric statement attacks against Fiere’s slanderous conviction and gives the article an air of falsity. One would read this in the article, turn the page and “S.L.A.M.” the imaginary prison door on the priest.

One must admit it takes uncompromising courage to be a journalist, and to write an article of this nature. Why then didn’t Fiere have the courage to contact the priest or give the family of the child? All of Fiere’s information was secondhand.

Fiere, I can see you have reached your verdict. But you have also reached the unknowing and poisoned their minds with your doubts.

Editor, News Chronicle:

Hi, my name is Ted Caloroso. I am Father Pat’s best friend. I don’t think you should put this crap in the paper. Father Pat always takes me to his ranch. He had never molested me or grabbed me, but he does kiss me on the cheek but that does not make him a fiag.

Other news enough

Editor, News Chronicle:
Hasn’t there been enough factual news of late to occupy your reporter? Surely, with a new president and the return of the hostages to Washington D.C. on Tuesday, your circulation must have been at an all-time high.

Tell me why, News Chronicle, did you have to publish front-page sensationalism the article about Father Pat Roemer? What purpose did it serve? Allegations stemming from the mouth of a 7-year-old are hardly grounds for tarnishing the reputation of one who has done so much good for our community and who is loved by so many, Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

Would you have granted the same kind of coverage if the person accused had been a layman and not so well known? I think not.

World Book Dictionary gives as synonyms for the word "scandal" the three words: "discredit, disgrace, dishonest." You have made an honest effort to bring all three to Father Roemer and, in doing so, have firmly established yourself as our neighborhood scandal sheet.

Charges are wrong

Editor, News Chronicle:
He has taken me out many, many times and he has never done anything wrong. He tries to do so many things for kids. When I needed a job, he got me one, when my brother or I played sports or any other kid played sports, he watched us, and (he) is even my godfather.

I would just like to say that my whole family loves him and I know he could say that a lot of other families do too. These accusations make me very upset. So people who believe the same way I do - write Pat POWERS and FAMILY,

Why not wait?

Editor, News Chronicle:
First of all, a man is innocent until proven guilty, right? Thus the case, why the hell couldn't you wait to see the outcome of the hearing in court before you even printed this story? If you had to print it at all, Aren't there enough newsworthy stories these days?

Bury the story

Editor, News Chronicle:
My late husband, Ken Shane, gave Thousand Oaks its first newspaper, known as the Thousand Oaks News. At the time, he was also the lieutenant and editor of the County News. He had tremendous knowledge of news reporting and knew how to maintain the rights and dignity of all people, including mine of the craft. I am sure if he were here today, he would agree with me that Fayre Flores presented her news reporting of the Rev. Donald Roemer in very bad taste.

There was no need to "hot shot" the first story by giving it top billing on the front page. It could have been buried on the second page. This also applies to the story published on March 3. The embarrassment of the priest as well as the boys involved would have been less damaging.

Judging from your comments about the phone calls you received and from the numerous letters to the editor printed in the paper, should tell you that Flores's stories are not worthy of front page material. The country is not big enough for two Marilyn O'Hairs.

They deserve an apology

Editor, News Chronicle:
I arrived with dismay but not surprise the equivalent of a guilty plea by Rev. D. Patrick Roemer to sexually molesting three young boys in his parish (News Chronicle, March 3). It was painful to accept the fact that a clergyman in a position of trust and responsibility would so disregard his sacred obligations and use the people he promised to help. However, I am not surprised. The Catholic ordination does not immunize a man from being human and weak.

Yet, it disturbs me that many in our Catholic community refused to accept the possibility that "their" priest could be guilty. The testimonies written by the children were an immature and poor response. I believe, encouraged by frightened parents.

The News Chronicle and Fayre Flores deserve an apology from the individuals who bitterly malignned and accused them of poor journalism. Many in the community overreacted their feelings instead of (using) reason and logic. Father Roemer needs our prayers and compassion, not our judgment.

F. BIANCHING, PH.D.,

Wha is achieved?

Editor, News Chronicle:
I am constantly amazed how we tend to exaggerate and go to extremes without the slightest thought of the consequences. This drama is especially true of our print media. Anything provocative, blemishing has to be "exposed" and goes to the front page. No cover-up is the slogan today. Sadly, no tact, decency or good judgment.

The story about Father Roemer did get to the front page of our newspaper (Jan. 27). As a mother, I understand the concern (to put it mildly) of the involved parents. But would it not have been resolved better if the parents went straight to the administrative head of the local church and told him of their shocking discovery? This probably would have settled the matter and efficiently without the irreparable damage to the man himself and to the many children who were innocently associated with him. If you see, many children truly loved Father Roemer, because he was loving and caring to them. And now, children's innocent affection for the man and even memory of many really good things he did for them are permanently marred by suspicion. And the worst kind of suspicion — concerning love and plain human warmth.

So what do we achieve by making all matters public, without discrimination and matter judgment?

Absence would hurt

Editor, News Chronicle:
I would like to make a comment on the article that was written about Father Roemer molesting a child in the newspaper (front page) on Jan. 27.

Now first of all I know Father Roemer very well and he wouldn't even dream about molesting a child. He has loved to work with children. Look, he even teaches boys how to be altar boys. I used to go to Madrona Elementary School and he would come and visit with everybody. A lot of kids love Father Roemer and it would hurt them if Father Roemer couldn't work with them anymore.

P.S. Father Roemer, we're all behind you and we love you.

Total support

Editor, News Chronicle:
Today (Jan. 27) the News Chronicle reached an all-time low in journalistic sensationalism. The name of Father Roemer, a most respected and loved priest and Conejo citizen, was smeared in a devastatingly brutal front-page article. Such poor judgment in journalism has no place in our newspaper. The shock of reading this unfairly biased article will remain with us for a long time to come.

Father Roemer has contributed enormously to our St. Paschal Baylon parish and to the whole Conejo community. He has even received awards for his services and his work with children of all ages has been admired and greatly appreciated by parents. He has that unique gift of communicating God's word to children and enabling them to express their love of God and of their world. He has been most evident in our youngest children in the parish through his work in the development of our preschool religious education program.

Our children, like all other children, Father Roemer comes into contact with, love him for the kind of person he is. We share our children's love for him.

Father Roemer has the complete confidence and total support of our family. We're sure that that feeling is shared by all those who know him. It is our hope and prayer that this matter will be resolved very soon. In the meantime, it is hoped that the News Chronicle will demonstrate better judgment in reporting such matters.

Truly a 'Father'

Editor, News Chronicle:

Some close observations, over a long period of time, have made me aware of a few facts that are too important to be ignored:

1. Some News Chronicle articles contain facts that are not true.
2. Some presidents of certain organizations do not know what they are talking about.
3. Some parents are uncertain of what their child's education is about.
4. Certain friends are not as good as they pretend to be.
5. Millions of persons are incapable of recognizing that there are, in this world, a very few persons, men and women, married or single, who have conspired their lives to God with a far higher love than most of us will ever understand, because it is really divine love. Many of these few persons reach a higher level of understanding, even though they may not always be able to communicate it to others.
6. Some of these few persons are hidden in cloisters, and monasteries; some are quiet, everyday husbands or wives; and perhaps children.
7. Some are your favorite grocery clerks or janitors; some are the ministers and priests in your own town. You find out if you work with someone for a long time just how these few persons would be holy, consecrated, dedicated in such a high way, that even an accusation, even a signed complaint at a police station could not change their name to be immortal, could not change that person's inconstancy.
8. Such a person — a priest closely associated with our children for a long time now is the one who has truly earned the title "Father": the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer.

The future public

Editor, News Chronicle:

(Copy of a letter to John Belles, President, News Chronicle Foundation):

As members of the foundation, we wish to tell you of our activities. We would like to also applaud you of our needs in this community.

Through various fund raisers, we have set aside some money for cultural activities for our children. These activities have included music, theater, band and opera. We are planning experiences in ballet and various other dance forms such as Hawaiian and Irish. We are also planning to have artists work at our school so that our students can see these creative people in their media. Our aim is to expose our students to cultural events and to have them understand and appreciate the background, talent and education necessary for the arts.

In order to have the proper setting for the finished product, we need an auditorium. We have borrowed children to Shrine Auditorium for opera. We have had floor seating at our school for various activities. However, an auditorium would be wonderful!

We support the effort towards building a cultural center in the Conejo. We are aware of our good fortune in giving these experiences to our children. We also recognize that other schools cannot provide these things for their students. An auditorium would benefit everyone.

The proposed center should be large enough to accommodate first-class productions and exhibitions. We are doing our best to provide a concerned and appreciative public for cultural events in The Conejo. Now is the time for action.

Thank you for your efforts. Please notify us if we can help you.

I am rapidly losing patience with the News Chronicle. Your front page headline, "Community stunned by report of priest's arrest," should have read, "Community outraged by slanted news report."

And do not ever again refer to a Roman Catholic priest as a "santa". The correct title is "Father," "Reverend," or "Rev."

Perverted word

Editor, News Chronicle:

My name is Erika Luneberg, I am 14 and an attendant of St. Paschal Baylon parish. I am writing to you to inform you of my opinion (most likely to be the feeling of many others also).

Today on my way home from school I was informed of Father Roemer's charge and on what had really happened. I was shocked and amazed. Now when I think of it, it is the most appalling, ludicrous idea that I have ever heard. I was previously a member of the youth group and my brother is an alter boy. We both know and like Father Roemer very well.

The idea of this is just plain dumb! As I have stated before, I am 14 and my brother is 12. We are both what would be termed children but are old enough to know when something is being done. If we or any other children were old enough to find such a complaint, the Sexual Offenses Act would be going on now would be acceptable, but at the age of 8 or 7? The idea that a man such as Father Roemer should be accused of a crime such as this by the word of a 4- or 5-year-old child is absurd.

We are far too young people of the many inspired and acquisitive sermons you gave us. When you spoke, we all listened, young...

and we know it's not always easy to catch youth's ear. Although it's impossible to do so adequately, we thank you for all you have done for us and pray that God will give you the strength and courage to go through this very difficult period.

If there is anything I can do to help in any way, I would consider it a privilege.

Unforgivable act

Editor, News Chronicle:

I became a victim today, one among many from reading the local paper tonight, of another one of those senseless car burglaries and malicious damage to my car. It was not so much the idea that after working all night and then coming out in the morning to find my car had been broken into and my stereo and digital clock stolen. But to add insult to injury, that the perpetrators had to go and do the damage they did is unforgivable.

All I have to say is that whoever got into my car at the Ihop parking lot last night and stole my stereo and digital clock, 'I hope you enjoy it but why you had to do and do the damage is beyond me. I can forget about the stereo and the clock but never will I forgive you for the damage."

I would most sincerely accept a chance to testify in behalf of Father Roemer and many others would, too. I have one question to ask of you. Is this world becoming so perverted as to claim a simple hug or touch, a sign of friendship and caring, as an act of child molestation? If no, I sincerely wonder what type of crumby world I will live in when I am an adult.

Not ashamed
Editor, News Chronicle:
We members of St. Pachal's youth group would like to comment on the article published on page 34 of the Feb. 3 issue of Father Roemer, and the way it was written. We feel that the article was very biased.

In this country, it is not guilty till proven innocent, or is he innocent till proven guilty? It is a fact, that the article which was written presents Father Roemer as guilty till proven innocent. We could not find any such sensational article be published, for the only sensationalized thing is renditioned in the courtroom by due process.

Even if the story is retracted, the damage has been greatly hurt and the career of one of the nearest people we know. Father Roemer has done so much nice things for us in so many ways, that just being there when you need someone to talk to.

In the written article, no names were mentioned in his condemnation, but we of St. Pachal's youth group are not ashamed to stand up and support Father Roemer.

SLAM clarified
Editor, News Chronicle:
Regarding the letter by Tom Puth (Feb. 1) I would like to clarify a couple of points.

In his letter, Puth states: "SLAM is made up of parents who have had convicted cases of this nature. To utter the word 'molest' is to these people trigger thoughts of their own hardships. The word of SLAM can only be one-sided."

I am a member of SLAM and have two small boys. Neither of them have ever been molested, nor have I or any member of my family. To my knowledge, the 20 to 30 percent of people most actively involved with SLAM in this area have not had problems with molestation.

We are not a bunch of fanatics out to jail every person who smiles at a child. We are simply parents who are very concerned about the high incidence of child molesting and want to help decrease and prevent repeat offenses through stiffer laws.

Children are vulnerable victims. In their innocence they trust most adults. Adults mean authority. Adults mean love, reward, punishment, approval — so many aspects of adulthood that can be used to manipulate a child.

Children are in the tender process of developing and forming the attitudes and values they will have for life. Abuse at this stage has serious and long-reaching effects.

It is crucial that we learn to show love to our children and do all we can to add to their protection. How can we hope for a stable, well-adjusted future society if we don’t place more importance on their development of healthy attitudes?

As far as the Father Roemer case goes, I am personally not convicting the man (whether I be affiliated with SLAM or not). That would simply be unfair. But it would be equally unfair to discard the boys’ story out of hand. Nothing has been proven one way or the other. Isn’t this why we have a judicial system — to try to access the truth and dispense justice? So let’s be fair to everyone and keep an open mind until the truth is found.

Unenviable position
Editor, News Chronicle:
It must come as no shock that your position in the Father Roemer case is an unenviable one. The degree of public reaction to your coverage has been intense and at times virulent. But there are issues involved that most of your critics fail to consider.

Other cases like this have been covered in your paper, many with the same or even greater prominence. It is hard, however, to imagine a case with the emotional potential of this one. The First Amendment allows the press freedom to select its subject matter and the coverage given it. It also imposes an obligation, in exactly the same sense, though not to the same degree as the Watergate or Vietnam stories. Though dissimilar in subject, they are important in that they test the ability of government, not pressure groups, not even private citizens has the right to prescribe what the rest of us shall know. Certainly, there are always groups who would like to restrict coverage of their activities. Any responsible paper should never back away from a story because of its emotional content.

When any paper abuses the rights guaranteed by the First Amendment, it is the responsibility of all of us to stop supporting you. You have not abused those rights. It must have been with a terrible sense of sadness that you decided to go ahead with your coverage of the Father Roemer story. And it would seem that you felt obligated to fulfill your responsibilities with the amount of letters critical of that coverage.

In a follow-up article, concerning another investigation of Father Roemer, it was stated that only 6-10% of the population make up such an account of sexual encounters. But that encounter could have taken place with the child's father, Father Roemer, and been confused in the child's mind, for whatever reasons. I must take issue with you on the implication that paragraph in your coverage. It would be too far removed the thoroughness of your reporting to have decided.

It is certainly understandable that the sheriff's department and prevent repeat offenses through stiffer laws. Children are vulnerable victims. In their innocence they trust most adults. Adults mean authority. Adults mean love, reward, punishment, approval so many aspects of adulthood that can be used to manipulate a child. Children are in the tender process of developing and forming the attitudes and values they will have for life. Abuse at this stage has serious and long-reaching effects. It is crucial that we learn to show love to our children and do all we can to add to their protection. How can we hope for a stable, well-adjusted future society if we don’t place more importance on their development of healthy attitudes?

Means so much
Editor, News Chronicle:
The article that was printed in your paper, Page 1, Jan. 21, concerning Father Roemer was a total outrage! Your article has proven him guilty beyond a shadow of a doubt. This man means as much to our family, as well as to the entire congregation of St. Paschal's. If this man were to be permitted to carry the shadow you cast over his life to his grave, and all because the News Chronicle likes to sensationalize at all costs. He has given his life to God and his congregation and you slipped it right from under him.

If you have quoted anything from your paper without other proof, I would never believe them and I would tell them why. The News Chronicle loves to sensationalize.

Children hurt
Editor, News Chronicle:
Regarding your article about Father Roemer on Jan. 27.
I was shocked and mad after reading your article about Father Roemer. As a conscientious read, I understand that the church would not punish anything that would hurt the mental and physical wellbeing of our children. Do you realize how this is hurting our children? You have hurt a child by printing such a story? Granted, you don't know him, but to print such a story before the man has had a chance to explain himself is a grave injustice.

I would like to ask the parents of the child in this case as members of the parish, why didn't you contact the parish! Hasn't the church been不利 to you by this article? Father Roemer has achieved what parents and educators work for—the love of our children and I hate to see this crucify because of a probable misunderstanding.

Father Roemer, Melissa and Michael send you their love; they want you back soon!

Wrong reasons
Editor, News Chronicle:
Two reasons for your letter concerning the Father Roemer case. 1) It seems that many people are getting hot for what appears to me the wrong reasons.

1. To imply that an accusation from a 7-year-old has credibility because of his youthful age is terribly unjust. I find this an old and embarrassing kind of a story to be making up. More children should be given a responsive but still discerning ear.

2. Perhaps this "checking with a friend" about the child's story was in an effort to be fair to Father Roemer, so as not to take such an accusation lightly.

3. Also ask, what makes a man of the cloth exempt from emotional disturbances? It has happened before. Does this mean that any person holding a position of influence and respect should automatically be free from suspicion?

4. And to say that any person has an inability to be immoral sounds quite presumptuous to me. The only person I can think of who could claim that virtue is everyone. We are all struggling with our human desires to some degree or another.

5. I am not saying this man is guilty. I have no way of knowing. And I am not referring to be believe him to be a fine man. But the danger in blindly discounting a serious accusation disturbs me greatly. It is important that every claim of this sort is thoroughly investigated to protect the innocent.

6. The major fault here, I think, is of the newspaper's handling and coverage of this matter. Since a man's reputation and career could be irreversibly damaged, as in this case, can't the paper wait to report until after it has been determined whether the man is innocent or guilty?

State of shock
Editor, News Chronicle:
I am certain that some of us who are a part of the Catholic community here in Thousand Oaks are in a state of shock concerning the accusations brought against our Father Roemer, of St. Paschal's. At this point in time, all we can do is wait to hear the evidence and the verdict as to whether Father Roemer is guilty or innocent. Knowing Father as we do, we would rather believe he is innocent and pray our beliefs are correct.

I am angry over this entire incident, but my anger for the moment is directed strictly at the News Chronicle and the reporter who took it upon herself to

Second father
Editor, News Chronicle:
I am 13 years old and I'm in Junior High. I've known Father Pat since fifth grade, as well as my brothers, ages 12 and 8, have spent many hours and days alone with Father Pat. I have never heard a word that would lead me to believe Father Pat is anything wrong. It is hard to believe some people are doing to him. He's almost like a second father to me and I love him very much. I know he's wrong if he didn't like what he's accused of to anyone. Sure he hurts me and I love him because he is just showing me how much he loves me. I play tennis with him and he takes me to many different games of only two people.

I just want to say that a lot of people are behind Father Pat and we all love him very much.

In third place
Editor, News Chronicle:
I am 14 years old and my sister is 13 years old. Ever since I knew Father Pat, he has never made any sexual advances on anyone. We both heard of the 7-year-old boy stated to the police and you (News Chronicle) to me or any one. He has taken a lot of my friends and myself to different places all over. Last year he took all the kids up to Malibu as a treat before our Confirmation. He works with all children all the time. So my sister says he goes through all the usual (Catholic doctrine) classes and says hello. I thought he was培训 the kids to this page was really low-class. As one lady said in the letters to the editor on Jan. 30, that this paper was a scandal about her and I have to agree with her on that because everybody at school and along the streets talk about the article. This article was first on my list of papers but now it is third out of only two papers.

All my friends agree with me saying we are behind you 100 percent, Father Pat. We all know you are guilty and we hope the district attorney of Ventura County will notice it, too.

We love you, Father Pat!
SCOTT MCFAYRE,

Close friend
Editor, News Chronicle:
I am a close friend to Father Pat. He taught me how to be an alter boy. Don't you think he feels pretty bad right now? But putting it in the newspaper (la) pretty outright; stupid; he feels embarrassed enough without putting it in the paper when the person whose charges are the name of a very loving man before he was declared guilty or innocent. The damage has been done now, Faye Fiero, and God willing, if Father is declared innocent I would not want what you have done on my conscience.

I ask you, News Chronicle, and Fiero, why did you not take it upon yourself to print the name of the 7-year-old and his parents and the friends of the parents. Who involved themselves in this horrific story? You tell me the difference and what gives you the right to smear the name of a man of God and not the name of a 7-year-old, and don't give me that song and dance because the child is a minor and it is for his own protection. What about someone protecting Father Roemer? I find this act you have committed unbearable, deplorable and abusive to the entire Catholic community and the administrators of St. Paschal's. God help your miserable souls and God help us all in the future if this is the kind of prejudging we are all destined to be exposed to as this community by the news media.

I now direct the next question to the parents of the child in question. Why did you not go directly to the church administrators with your accusation? It was a lie, check shot to involve any outsider until you took it up with church authorities. You allowed your friends to make Father Roemer the center ring of a three-ring circus. Help our all if this is what we have to contend with in today's society. Leave it to the news media to get our blood boiling. I suggest, Fiero, the next time you jump the gun to get a sensational story, you call upon your own God and conscience to guide your every step.

Mrs. Francine Justice Sherwin and Family Thousand Oaks.

Will rebuild life
Editor, News Chronicle:
I cannot believe that article about Father Pat Roemer in the News Chronicle, on page Jan. 27. Your article is totally untrue and I really do not believe it in my heart. I think you have raised Father Pat's name above the little kids but I hope that he will still have a chance with kids he has never had. Knowing Father Pat, he will rebuild his life and I will always love him, no matter what and so will everyone else. He is the only person everyone can talk to and we know that he can help us with our problems and understand us too.

Father Roemer is great and he loves all of us kids here at St. Paschal's school and all kids he comes in contact with. I am really sorry for the parents of the 7-year-old boy for they don't understand the true meaning of love with respect and dignity.

I would like to say that Father Pat and everyone loves you, Father. Please come home to St. Paschal's parish because we love you and need you.

Molestation Charges Against Priest Split Community

Some Parents Support Clergyman but Another Group Backs Police; Innocent Plea Entered

By JAMES QUINN, Times Staff Writer

The arrest of a popular Thousand Oaks parish priest on multiple charges of child molestation has stunned the community and led to a flurry of accusations between an anti-child molestation group and supporters of the clergyman.

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, known as "Father Pat" to the hundreds of youngsters he has counseled at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church, has pleaded innocent to seven felony counts and two misdemeanor counts of child molesting, involving nine different boys.

The indictment alleges he made "advances of a sexual nature" against the boys during an eight-month period ending Jan. 26.

Roemer, 36, has been ordered to appear for a preliminary hearing Feb. 16 in Ventura Municipal Court.

Accompanied by Parents

At his arraignment, Roemer was accompanied by a handful of parents from several Catholic parishes in the Conejo Valley.

They accompanied him into and from the courtroom in a show of support and made statements attacking the police for filing the charges and newspapers for reporting them.

Supporters physically shielded Roemer from reporters and photographers.

"Why are you doing this to him?" one woman shouted at reporters.

Also present, but to show support for the police, were members of Concerned Parents for Stronger Legislation Against Child Molesters (SLAM), a Ventura County-based organization working for stronger laws against child molesters and longer jail sentences for those convicted of child molesting.

At the same time that Roemer was being arraigned in Ventura, a Mass was being conducted at St. Paschal.

The church reportedly was filled with parishioners praying for the priest.

From the outset, the case has upset a wide spectrum of Conejo Valley residents.

The Thousand Oaks News Chronicle reported receiving a "flood of phone calls" from persons who "angrily criticized" the local daily paper for reporting the priest's arrest.

Since arriving in Thousand Oaks several years ago, Roemer has become widely known for his work with youngsters.

The Parent Teachers Asso, awarded him its 1980 Honorary Service Award for his work as counselor to children and organizer of youth activities.

Penny Lord, a parishioner at St. Jude's Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks who accompanied Roemer at the arraignment, said, "Our priests are constant targets. All priests are like sacrificial lambs."

Bud Sweeney, a St. Paschal's parishioner, said the arrest "has ruined the man. There's a lot of bad that could be caused by this, especially because this man has been working with children for years."

Another supporter complained, "The very same people who arrested him (the police) are the ones who would call him in the middle of the night to ask his help with a teen-ager."

Jessie Kloppenburg, national president of SLAM, said after the arraignment, "I wonder why adults find it so hard to believe children . . ."

"People sometimes believe that if a person is a man of God, he is above all of this. . . . I have compassion for him and I know his feelings, but I still have feelings for children, too."

SLAM was organized two years ago following the conviction of Theodore Frank for the torture-murder of Amy Lou Seitz, a Camarillo toddler. Frank had been convicted previously for child molestation but had been released from prison after psychiatrists pronounced him able to return to society.

Criticism From Judges

The organization has drawn sharp criticism from some Ventura County judges who say they feel pressured by the presence of SLAM members in their courtrooms and by letter-writing campaigns that SLAM members have launched against specific judges they accuse of lenient sentencing practices.

After Roemer's preliminary hearing, a judge will decide whether there is enough evidence to order him to stand trial.

The complaint alleges that of the nine boys Roemer is accused of molesting, eight are under the age of 14. Police said two of them are ages 6 and 7.

Freeze on hiring in county lifted; $5 million saved

By Dennis Wagner

The hiring freeze in Ventura County government has been lifted as officials announced that saving more than $5 million will be the result of new county spending controls.

The county supervisors imposed the hiring freeze Jan. 1, and county agency and department heads were told to work with the Chief Administrative Officer, Richard Boulton, to reduce spending for the rest of the year.

Chief Administrative Officer Boulton and his department heads cooperated in the spending control plan. Based on new spending cuts and projected revenue increases, the county expects to save $5 million.

County Supervisor John Flynn of Oxnard said, "It makes sense to use our savings to hire more police and firefighters."

The hiring freeze and spending control plan were originally implemented to reduce costs and balance the budget for the next fiscal year. The county has reduced its budget from $30 million to $25 million.

Board member Ed Jones of Thousand Oaks said this morning that the fiscal impact of state revenue cuts is still uncertain. The county has drawn down $10 million in reserve funds to help with the budget cuts.

Pierce Padilla, county budget analyst, said most of the savings occurred as a result of attrition and efficiency measures. The county has avoided layoffs and furloughs by reducing spending and finding ways to work with fewer resources.

Priest to plead no contest to child molesting

By Gregg Zoroya

A Thousand Oaks priest said this morning he will plead no contest to molesting a child patient while at a clinic in a hostile environment.

KABC-TV officials were not available to comment on the matter.

Municipal Court Judge Burt Henson rejected a court order sought by the county to bar a local television station from airing an editorial on the case.

The station is seeking to air an editorial that criticizes the county's handling of the case. The station has stated that it will air the editorial on Monday night.

Henson said the station's request was denied because it does not involve the county and the editorial is not related to any pending court case.
Teachers offered hike of 16% over 2 years

By Robin Sjogren

Ventura teachers have been offered an 8 percent cost-of-living salary increase this year and another 8 percent next year in a tentative settlement reached Sunday.

The increase this year would be retroactive to July 1.

That offer is higher than any made before by Ventura Unified School District trustees.

The last publicized offer was for 8 percent this year and from 5 to 8 percent next year, depending on state income the district might get.

Dave Stuart, president of the Ventura Unified Education Association, said the latest offer and the entire two-year agreement were well received by teachers Monday.

About 300 teachers showed up at a general meeting after school at Buena High to hear the offer, and no one voiced objections, Stuart said. “I was surprised,” he added.

Teachers will be taking a ratification vote Monday. The school board is then expected to formally approve the contract.

Superintendent Patrick Rooney has said it will be a real challenge for trustees and administrators to come up with the salary money.

It will cost the district $240,000 more to give teachers the 8 percent.

The hiring freeze and spending control plan were originally imposed because supervisors feared dramatic cutbacks in state and federal revenues during the next year. Based on Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.’s proposed budget, supervisors had predicted funding decreases ranging from $3 million to $35 million.

County Supervisor John Flynn of Oxnard said, “It ends up kind of like rewriting the budget.”

In a memo to supervisors, Wittenberg said, “Our approach was to set up standards for determining adjusted spending levels and apply them to all agencies and departments.”

Neither Wittenberg nor other county officials would identify where the cuts had been made.

“We don’t want agencies shooting at one another,” explained Board Chairman Jim Dougherty of Simi Valley.

Dougherty and Wittenberg claimed county agency heads might complain if a breakdown indicated more cutbacks had been required of their department than others.

Wittenberg said the cuts involved elimination of some “major purchases.”

A Thousand Oaks priest said this morning he will plead no contest to child molesting.

Priest to plead no contest to child molesting

By Gregg Zoroya

A Thousand Oaks priest said this morning he will plead no contest to molesting one child.

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, 36, priest at St. Petesch Eliau Catholic Church, said he would make the plea in exchange for district attorney’s offices dropping five other child molestation charges against him.

The agreement between Roemer and the District Attorney’s Office was revealed during a court appearance before Municipal Court Judge D. M. Renson.

Roemer pleaded no contest.

The appearance was to be a preliminary hearing, but a stipulation waived the preliminary hearing and presented to Henson. District Attorney, conditioned on an agreement by Roemer to plead no contest.

Henson ordered Roemer to appear for arraignment in Superior Courthouse at 10 a.m. on Tuesday.

If Roemer pleads no contest, he could face a maximum of 10 years in prison for the crimes.

The expressless priest hustled his way through a dozen newspapers and radio and television reporters with acknowledging any of the questions directed to him.

“We don’t have any comments, comments at all,” Oxnard attorney Bruce Mayfield said while escorting his client out of the building.

The priest was accompanied by 25 sheriff’s deputies on suspicion of making advances of sexual nature to a child during a catechism class.

The original complaint accused Roemer of molesting nine boys separate occasions last year and this year. Two of the molestation cases were initiated in this county, district attorney charges.

The ages of the victims range from 8 to 15. The three felony cases which Roemer indicated he would plead no contest occurred in January and were Deputi District Attorney. Taylor.

As a result of the agreement an prior decision by district attorney officials, five counts, including misdeemeanor counts, will be dropped. A sixth count was going to be dismissed anyway, Taylor said.

The families of the victims were informed Monday that the plea would not have to appear at preliminary hearing, Taylor said, dictating that the agreement had tentatively reached that day.

Roemer remains free on a writ of promises to appear in court.

Dear Bishop Manning,

I am just sure you are aware of the Bumble that appears in our Presidents' paper. In regard to Patric Roman, this has just moved out of control and being a member of St. Patrick's, I think it is time for you to make a decision on this. He admits he is guilty, and thus
The trying to tell all that went on with these 1-8 17 year boys.
The paper states that in May of '80 father O'Reyne was told about Roman's Conduct and why was he left here at St. Patrick's and nothing done?
I think if father O'Reyne knew this he should leave Thousand Oaks
as soon as possible.

Thank you.

Are you aware of what is going on in St. Patrick's?
Are you aware of the Rev. Pat O'Reilly in a homosexual situation?
Are you aware that he never really returned to the clergy position in Saratoga before he went to St. Patrick's to take on the spiritual program?
Are you aware that Rev. O'Reilly has been absent from the clerical meetings?
Are you aware of the role that Rev. O'Reilly is still playing and now saying he came to be honest with the truth?
Are you aware that your personal relationship with Rev. O'Reilly was an important role in Saratoga, how long was it?
Are you aware of the presence of the family? They are now in gay community. Their children and families will remember them, not definitions for the rest of their lives, and should be mentally and psychologically disturbed.

Their children don't want to go to church or C.O. to claim any more. They were grateful during the times.

The vision was.

Can you go back to sit when you knew the circumstances. I don't want to tell them at St. Patrick's any more is still under the umbrella of a much more Romanticism is the important thing. I think
The family is the best group in the whole world.

Finally, his love story. In the meantime, our family understands each other, unhappy people.
This commentary concerns Fr. Pat Roemer, the Thousand Oaks priest who has confessed to three counts of child molestation.

This is not a defense of what he did. This commentary is on the kind of man he used to be and the kind of man he no doubt can be again. It is a sad commentary on the fact that Fr. Roemer asked for psychological help and got some while he was assigned to a Santa Barbara parish. But apparently not enough help. And for that, we are critical of his superiors who, knowing he suffered weaknesses, assigned him to a parish where temptation assaulted him at every turn.

The Catholic Hierarchy has in this country, and in other countries, places called Houses of Affirmation where priests are sent for counseling, therapy, to recover from emotional burn-out, alcoholism, rehabilitation. Roemer certainly could have qualified for long term therapy, for removal from pressures.

Max It was not made available to him nor was he ordered to hospitalize himself. Nowhere in the 3½-page statement of fact which the district attorney gave to the judge and to the press is there any reference to intensive counseling, to a long respite from the pressures of the work of a priest, to the condition of being a priest.

A man who went to school with Roemer, through years and years in seminaries, said there was never any evidence of Roemer's weakness during those years and this priest-friend of his said "That's the kind of thing that all of us guys would have reported immediately if anything like that was going on ... we wouldn't have tolerated any activity of that kind."

In the 1½ years or so since Fr. Roemer's ordination, his service was beyond reproach, his friend said. Until about a year ago when he seemed to undergo a kind of personality change. It followed a crisis in his life, the death of a cousin who was like a brother to him, and his closest friend.

Too late now, Fr. Roemer's friend said, they noticed he was not his usual self, too... late now the friend said, Fr. Roemer is wondering how he could ever do such things, and that sometimes he wishes himself dead.

You have to give him credit for something, said a woman who is not Roemer's friend .... no way would he put the kids he molested through another ordeal, that of a courtroom. His plea saved them that.

His friend tells us that Fr. Roemer, who is not living in Ventura County at this time, is allowed to say Mass every day and that among his greatest sorrows are the remorse for his reprehensible actions, for the anguish he's caused his family and all his former classmates at Oxnard's Santa Clara High, and for the horrendous publicity the St. Catholic church suffers because of him.

Both his friend and his non-friend said "There's a man who really needs our prayers."

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I hope all is well with you!

I simply wanted to express my thanks again to you for coming to celebrate Mass of Resurrection last Saturday. I realize you came because you deeply love for all your friends, but I just wanted to add my own personal gratitude because I love my very dear friend REDACTED and her whole family were so happy that you came. They are doing fairly well. Your best, good and bad days, I guess — all part of the group process. So do I! But we all think and hope. Well! The old bricks and stones are needed, so I will close! "May all go well for you!"

Sincerely,

Pot Breen

Dear friend,
Monday morning,

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I just wanted to write of "hells!" and hope that it goes well for you!

Especially, I am so grateful for your kindness and support to me when I came to see you that day. I've experienced some rough days, but the love and love of the Lord through you has helped me accept and understand these experiences much better.

I have been living mostly at the canonical college, and visiting the parish to do some work for a couple of hours each day. Monsignor Burke told me today that, because of the court, I have to go to a "morning". We arranged for Irene, Madam, I'll be there until my preliminary court day 7 Oct. 1971. I have been in my parish with the wonderfully supportive people, but I clearly understand. I am also going to be REDACTED at the Queen of the Rosary. Only 2 days a week. The "poor" is really excellent! It's a new member of the Pardela Community. REDACTED and took my wife this on a great day off up to Lake Arrowhead. They are my close friends.

I just wanted to tell you thanks and let you know as they say, what's happening. Thanks again for your understanding, patience, loving and goodness. I am very much grateful.

In our love,
Pat Lorenzo

Warmest personal regards

March 15th

Dear Father,

As I sat in church this morning feeling very anxious, I knew I must express my feelings directly. I thought putting it on paper might be best as I could put my thoughts in order, taking the time to clearly think them out.

As you probably have read, my husband and I are involved in the organization called S.L.A.M. (Stronger Legislation Against Child Molestus). Since our involvement with this group we have learned quite a bit about the problem and just how widespread it is.
We have learned that no one knows the cause or the cure—perhaps just how to keep it under control and unfortunately only a few percentage of molesters have been able to do that. So without knowing what causes it or how to cure it our only option as parents and concerned citizens is to prevent it from happening in anyway we can.

Probably the most important aspect in reducing molestations is education. We must learn as much as possible about child molesting—what pattern the pedophile follows, what signs we as parents and citizens might be aware of and the fact
It can happen in any walk of life. Most often it is done by someone the child knows. Too many have the misconception that the act is done by a "stranger grabbing children off the street." This is not just a problem of the Catholic Church; it is a problem that everyone needs to be made aware of.

I have heard you speak about the fact that we should not seek revenge and I agree — revenge does not solve the problem. But change needs to be made so this does not happen again — not just at St. Pascali's but any parish. Our children have a right to be protected.
and we as parents must speak for them.
I feel poor judgment was exercised by failing to remove Father Roemer from his position after the first incident was reported. With an accusation of such a serious nature, one must not let other children possibly become potential victims while the matter is being investigated. This could be handled in a discreet manner until such facts are proven.

What good are mistakes if we don't learn from them. We should all work together - the Church and community - to try and find solutions so we might help reduce this Violation to our children. I would like to see new guidelines written within the Church laws on how to handle such an incident if it should reoccur in any parish. Perhaps you could use your influence to effect such changes.

As far as Father Roemer is concerned, I truly hope he is part of the small percentage that can keep his problem under control. He is a man of talents and could put them to use in so many areas other than with children.

Most important of all, let's remember our responsibility to our children. Too often the victims carry their...
Pear close to adulthood. Let's all look ahead and try to find solutions. If the Catholic Church wants to do their part in preventing this matter from happening again and would like to speak to people who have expertise on the subject, my husband and I would be glad to supply you with a list of names.

In closing, there is still one unanswered question. Being friends with the family of one of the victims we have witnessed and shared their emotions and hurt throughout this unpleasant situation. They too are not vengeful people but are very perplexed as to why they have not had any inquiries from the children as to their well-being or that of their children. They feel really let down. I don't have an answer for them.

[REDACTED] and I are hoping to hear from you.

Sincerely

No answers on priest
Church officials mum on allowing cleric to work with youths

By FAYE FIORE

Local Catholic Church leaders are refusing to comment on why a Conejo priest was made youth minister at his Thousand Oaks parish while he was undergoing counseling for his homosexual attraction to children.

The silence by administrators at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church and the Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles is both frustrating and disquieting to a young Thousand Oaks couple whose two children were molested by the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer.

The story of the popular priest, who admits molesting boys who attended the church for Bible instruction, is just beginning to unfold even for the victims.

Now, they are looking with amazement at evidence which states the 36-year-old priest was fighting a homosexual attraction to children and receiving psychological counseling from another clergyman at the San Roque Catholic Church in Santa Barbara, where he was assigned before coming to St. Paschal’s three years ago.

Evidence shows that Roemer was receiving counseling up until “four or five months ago,” well into the time he was actively working with children attending Bible study classes at St. Paschal’s and taking some on weekend retreats.

The information means that Roemer was seeking psychological care at the time he received the 1980 Honorary Service Award from the PTA for his work with Conejo youth.

An obviously pain-st Roemer indicated in a confession he made to East Valley sheriff’s deputies hours after his arrest that he had been “fighting and fighting” his attraction to young boys.

Placing such a troubled man in a setting with children is much like locking an alcoholic in a liquor store and saying, “Don’t drink,” the parents of two of the victims agree.

Contacted this morning at St. Paschal’s, the Rev. Colm O’Ryan was asked by the News Chronicle why Roemer was assigned as youth minister where parishioners say he rarely associated with adults. “I have no comment,” was his only reply.

The pastor also refused to be interviewed by deputies during the investigation, records reveal.

The Rev. Clement Connolly, secretary to Cardinal Timothy Manning at the archdiocese, also refused to comment, saying it would violate the “confidentiality” of Roemer’s counseling.

“This is obviously a very delicate matter and the confidentiality of his counseling is highly delicate,” he said.

Connolly would not say whether Roemer’s private attorney, Bruce Mayfield, is being paid out of church funds or by the priest.

In addition, he would release no information about what Roemer’s future in the priesthood might be now that he must register as a sex offender. Roemer currently is not assigned to any parish and is “in private,” Connolly said.

Tuesday night, the Millers (not the family’s real name) sat in their living room reflecting on the turmoil of the recent weeks since their 7-year-old son told them Roemer molested him.

“We are angry and a little bitter,” the boy’s father said upon hearing prosecutors’ evidence that church officials had several chances to remedy the problem, and let each go by.

As early as Dec. 27, a Newbury Park woman avoided pressing charges against the priest after he allegedly molested her 6-year-old son.

Interested only in seeing that the well-loved Roemer received help, the woman called St. Paschal’s acting pastor O’Ryan on Dec. 27 and Jan. 30.

According to the woman’s statements to investigators, O’Ryan promised her that the problem would be “thoroughly handled,” offering this analogy: “It’s like having a splinter in your thumb; if something isn’t done about it, it continues to get worse.”

In the next four weeks, three more children were molested by the priest — the three counts to which he essentially pleaded guilty in court.

Two of those three counts involved the Millers’ sons.

The family has considered leaving the parish, feeling slighted by church leaders and some of its members.

“If a church isn’t going to back its people, then what is a church?” the mother said.

Their report to deputies provided an inlet that led to a wave of similar complaints, all from children and families who knew of the priest’s actions but did not come forward, often out of guilt or fear.

After the arrest, the parents were preoccupied with what the effects of the incident might be — whether their sons would be psychologically harmed by the encounters, if the children would feel guilty because “Father Pat” had to leave the parish or if they would blame their parents for calling deputies.

All of that, they now realize with anger, could have been avoided if the situation was better handled by church officials. “I think they acted poorly,” the father said.

O’Ryan called the family only once after the incidents, the couple said, and that was request that they not speak with the press.

Although the couple was informed that some members of the church were praying both for Roemer and the children, they said the small amount of support was not enough to offset the bitter response from community members who accused them of having too little faith in their parish to keep the matter within the church and out of the hands of deputies.

The Millers feel that church leaders and some parishioners were more concerned about protecting Roemer than about the welfare of the children.

“First, I felt sorry for Father Roemer,” the mother said. “But it kept going on longer with no support for the victim — all of it went to the suspect.”

The woman said that five days after Roemer was arrested, she took her son to church to make his first confession, a Catholic ceremony that children practice weeks for.

“Father Roemer wasn’t there and I just broke down,” she said. “I felt guilty and (her son) was disappointed because he had rehearsed with Father Pat.”

The letters published on the News Chronicle editorial page did not ease the disquietude. The Millers said they even saw a critical letter from a friend who was unaware that she knew the family.

She said the faultfinding parishioners spoke without knowing the difficulty of trying to prepare their children to testify, before Roemer’s no contest plea saved them from taking the stand. They were unaware that she dreaded that the boys would have to face Roemer, whom they, too, loved, and point him out in court as a child molester.

Tuesday was the couple’s first opportunity to voice the anger they had withheld for weeks as they read the letters that chastised them and called for publication of the name of their son — knowing the priest had already confessed.

“I am so angry that people would think my 7-year-old is a liar,” the mother said.

“They were upset that we went to the police because Father Pat ’showed a little too much affection.’

“They didn’t understand that besides our children being victims of a child molest and what all of this did to our family, that we, too, lost Father Pat.”

Dear Cardinal Timothy,

I write this letter to our Brother Priest Father D. Pat Roemer expressing my concern and love for him offering my prayers and friendship in his difficult situation. I spoke with my REDACTED and he was gracious in offering our assistance if needed. It is important to begin professional help, we offer our monastery in Shawnee, Oklahoma as a possibility. We could pursue the possibility of St. Benedict’s in Atchison, Kansas which I believe is a great option, and St. Joseph’s in Laramie, Wyoming which my REDACTED states that there is better professional help available there.

I know that as our Archbishop you are doing all you can to help Father Roemer at this time and this offers is only to give you another alternative. I hope this does not sound presumptuous, but is written out of a real concern for Father Roemer.

May I take this occasion to ask for your continued prayer for our Parish Renewal weekend and forgiveness, if I have been critical of you indirectly by criticizing some of your appointees? I appreciate more my union and love for you as my bishop as measures my union and love for Christ Himself.

In the Lord Jesus,

REDACTED

Cardinal Timothy Manning,
Dear Father:

We have a scandal in our area. It could have been handled much better, but instead of placing the priest in trouble in a position not involving boys and getting him the help he needed, he was still allowed to stay where he was with the boys. Fr. Boomer should have been transferred immediately, when the priest in charge was notified some time ago about their son's experience by the parents. Now we have this "scandal" and all the good, sincere priests must suffer.

Many years ago, I had a similar experience, when one of my sons was young. I notified the priest in question. The priest was removed immediately and given help.
The spiritual welfare of these young boys should have first priority. As a concerned grandmother of 38 and great-grandmother of 33, I am forced to speak up at this time.

You said the funeral Mass for REDACTED in a few years ago at Blessed Sacrament Church.

I am asking you to see that our boys are protected from the priests with this type of weakness.

Thank you.

Your Honor:

The case before you concerning Father Pat Roemer is very much on my mind. In fact, as the mother of one of the victims, I have found it increasingly difficult to put this matter out of my mind, and yet I am trying to do that.

There are a few things I would like you to know as you hear this case, and I can speak only for my own family, and the effects on us. I am relieved not to have had to appear in court and not to have had my son undergo the further problems that I feel would have certainly resulted from his having to testify. Even so, I think it is best that you understand the consequences of this situation, at least in our family— and, I strongly suspect, to varying degrees in each of the victim families, because of the emotional shock of a sexual encounter at such a tender age.

REDACTED was only six when he had this unfortunate sexual encounter with Father Roemer. He has been deeply involved in his own Christian life for several years. We were all very proud when he passed his First Communion test at the age of five. He made his First Communion that year, which is about three years early, but he was very involved with Jesus.

I'm not trying to paint him as the picture of a perfect kid. He's had his share of problems. When his grandfather died we had quite a problem with him for awhile. He was angry and resentful. This was the only grandfather he had known. But this period of time had been followed by such an upswing, with his behavior turning around and his cheerful attitude returning. And so, it was confusing to us after our family retreat that when we arrived at Mass he would sit there with his seat belt on and say, "Please, just let me wait in the car. I don't want to go in. I'll behave out here. Just please let me sit in the car." But he wouldn't explain, and we couldn't understand, and so we made him join us each week. He wouldn't listen; he wouldn't pay attention. His attitude became irreverent. He started having problems in school: arguing, kicking, being rude. He became as inconsiderate and rude at home as any little boy who had never been special, or known how to behave. It was bewildering.

Finally, just before Christmas vacation, his teacher called me and said that his attitude was just getting worse, not better, and that she didn't know and couldn't seem to find out what his problem was, but that she was sure it was important for us to find out. She had seen such a decline in his behavior, in his attitude, and certainly in his grades, that she was afraid he was only marginally passing. This is the same child who had skipped a grade and still received nearly straight A's in the first quarter. He ranks in the 90th percentile in the National Individual Test Record scores for this year. So his teacher asked me to really work on the problem over the Christmas vacation. He maintained consistently that he didn't know why he wasn't behaving, while he proceeded to do things he had never done before: carving deep pictures on furniture, writing on walls, tearing up pictures - and no amount of discipline slowed him down.

We had a great day on Christmas, and finally, Christmas night, after the boys were tucked in, the two boys said their prayers, and as I started to leave the room, REDACTED's little voice came out - "I hope God will forgive me for doing something terrible." I went back and sat on the edge of the bed, asking him what he meant. He told me that he had done something so terrible he was afraid to tell me. I reassured him that he could tell me anything without being afraid. I took him out to the family room, sat him in my lap and asked for him to explain to me what was bothering him so much. He became increasingly more upset as he related to me the details of what had happened to him on that retreat. I didn't want to believe him...and yet, I knew by the way he was talking that he was letting go of a burden he had carried alone for a long time, that it was, indeed, the truth, and that it was still bothering him.

The one thing he said that really hurt, because it made me feel that he hadn't been able to trust anyone, even me, enough to tell what had happened earlier, was that he didn't tell me because "I knew no one would believe me, because we all love Father Roomer so much that you wouldn't believe he would do something so bad. And I didn't tell you because I know I'm not too young to go to jail for something like this. I thought if I just forgot about it, it would go away. It doesn't go away. Now it's always in my head unless I'm talking. It's always there. What's wrong with me?" And when he asked me what was wrong with him, it really shook me up, because I knew that he had been sending out signs of needing help, and that I had reacted to his misbehavior with anger, frustration, and resentment, and all of the adult things we feel when someone doesn't act the way we expect them to. I had let him down when he needed me most.

REDACTED is having therapy now. It's been a hard decision not to take this into court to have the church pay for his therapy. After all, we didn't cause this problem; it's not fair for us to shoulder the financial burden of its repair. And yet, he is our son, and we want him to have the best opportunities in life, and that includes good emotional health. I feel that a civil proceeding would increase the trauma for him - and, in fact, for our entire family. The cost has its own reward as we see him, even with his small improvements, gradually calming a little, listening when spoken to, and behaving less violently. I feel very fortunate that we have received such support from the District Attorney's office, because we certainly haven't gotten it from our church.

REDACTED has all acted with such gentleness and concern for the family, keeping us informed, protecting us from the media insanity, that I have gained a great deal of respect for just what the District Attorney does for us. The compassion and support you would have expected to come from the parish level is coming from the DA!

For myself, the most difficult thing to accept in all of this is that Father Roomer has done something terrible. Each of us has done something terrible at one time or another. He needs help. To me, that's more than obvious. He's in our prayers right along with our own son, who also needs help, and is getting it. We hope that Father is also getting help. I am also praying for my own ability to overcome the shock of the incident. It has left me with the feeling that I cannot protect my own children, and that is scary. REDACTED heads out for school, and I don’t want him to go. I don’t know who’s out there - maybe somebody we don’t know, maybe somebody we think is a friend. I just pray that he’ll come home each day without having had any more problems. God knows he’s had enough. And right now, I feel that we have, too.

I hope you understand the motivation behind this letter. I understand that the next court appearance is on April 14th. Our baby is due REDACTED, and perhaps the timing is a blessing, as it will give a new focus to our family, as we try to put this entire episode behind us. It will be good to see a legal conclusion to this. I pray for God’s guidance for you as you hear this case.

Sincerely,

REDACTED

Your Holiness:

The last few months have been most bewildering to me as a Catholic. If this latter accomplishes nothing more than to clear this burden from my heart, it will have succeeded its most important duty. The problem I would like to speak with you about is that concerning Father Pat Roemer. As the mother of one of the little victims, I have found it increasingly difficult to put this matter out of my mind, and yet I am trying to do that.

There are a few things I would like you to know as you offer guidance in this case. I can speak only for my own family and the effects on us, but perhaps you can extend this to the fourteen families and fifteen victims now known to be involved to differing degrees. I am relieved not to have had to appear in court, and not to have had my son undergo the further problems that I feel would have certainly resulted from his having to testify. Even so, I feel it is best that you understand the consequences of this situation, and the parish's apparent attitude, because of the emotional shock of a sexual encounter at such a tender age.

...was only six when he suffered this unfortunate sexual encounter with Father Roemer. Evidence indicates that he was one of the most serious of the molestations, having emotional consequences we are trying to deal with. ...has been deeply involved in his own Christian life for several years. We were all very proud when he passed his First Communion test at the age of five. He made his First Communion on Easter Sunday that year, about three years early. This Easter, we will be lucky just to get him in the church with no complaints.

I'm not trying to paint him as the picture of a perfect kid. He's had his share of problems. When his grandfather died, we had quite a problem with him for awhile. He was angry and resentful. This was the only grandfather he had known. But this period of time had been followed by such an upsweep, with his behavior turning around and his cheerful attitude returning. He ranks in the 90th percentile in the National Individual Test Record scores for this year. So his teacher asked me to really work on the problem over the Christmas vacation. REDACTED maintained consistently that he didn't know why he wasn't behaving, while he proceeded to do things he had never done before: carving deep pictures on furniture, writing on walls, tearing up pictures - and no amount of discipline slowed him down.

We had a great day on Christmas, and finally, Christmas night, after the boys were tucked in, the two boys said their prayers, and as I started to leave the room, REDACTED 's little voice came out - "I hope God will forgive me for doing something terrible." I went back and sat on the edge of the bed, asking him what he meant. He told me that he had done something so terrible he was afraid to tell me. I reassured him that he could tell me anything without being afraid. I took him out to the family room, sat him in my lap and asked for him to explain to me what was bothering him so much. I had let him down when he needed me the most.

REDACTED is having therapy on a weekly basis now. It's been a hard decision not to take this into court to have the church pay for his therapy. After all, we didn't cause the problem; it's not fair for us to shoulder the financial burden of its repair. Our insurance covers all but $200.00 for the first 30 weeks, then it stops. His counselor believes that we can accomplish all or nearly all that is needed in this time frame. The financial support offered by our parish priest, Fr. REDACTED, was withdrawn after therapy had begun, and that was another shock to the system. What has my church been teaching me all these years? To turn its back on the innocent victims in favor of protecting someone who is already in all of our prayers? Our medical bills are now higher than our food bills. REDACTED

And yet, REDACTED is our son, and we want him to have the best opportunities in life, and that includes good emotional health. I feel that a civil proceeding would increase the trauma for him - and, in fact, for our entire family. The cost of therapy has its own reward as we see him, even with his small improvements, gradually calming a little, listening when spoken to, and behaving less violently. I feel very fortunate that we have received such support from the District Attorney's office, because we most certainly haven't gotten it from our church. The people in the District Attorney's office have acted consistently with such gentleness to and concern for the family, keeping us informed, protecting us from the media insanity, that I have gained a great deal of respect for just what the District Attorney does for us. The compassion and support you would have expected to come from the parish level is coming from the DA!

For myself, the most difficult thing to accept in all of this is not that Father Roemer has done something terrible. Each of us has done something terrible at one time or another. He needs help. To me, that is more than obvious. He's in our prayers right along with our own son, who also needs help, and is getting it. We hope that Father is also getting help. I am also praying for my own ability to overcome the shock of the incident. It has left me with the feeling that I cannot protect my own children, and that is scary. REDACTED heads out for school, four blocks away, and I don't want him to go. I don't know who's out there - maybe somebody we don't know, maybe somebody we think is a friend. I just pray that he'll come home each day without having had any more problems. God knows he's had enough. And right now, I feel that we have, too.

I hope you understand the motivation behind this letter. I have met you a few times through REDACTED and when you Confirmed my high school CCD class year before last. As spiritual leader for us all, your complete knowledge is very valuable. The only time any church member has contacted me was to request that I not speak with the news media. My husband and I believe that this does not reflect your attitude, or the true meaning of the Catholic church. I pray for God's guidance for you as you consider helping the families and victims with their healing process, as we all try to find a new focus for the family, putting this episode behind us. God bless and guide you...

Sincerely,

Dear REDACTED

I was met one Sunday after Mass at Sacred Heart church in Ventura. I am a member of Our Lady of Assumption but sometimes attend Mass at Sacred Heart, hoping to have not only my hour with God but a moment or two with Fr. REDACTED

I am sending to you a radio editorial I did on a subject which has caused all of us so much anguish -- since it aired, I have been accused of being "soft" on Fr. R because I am Catholic and/or because my son, REDACTED who lived in Thousand Oaks is a friend of Fr. R's.

The reason I wrote and aired the dx edit- REDACTED is neither of those. The reason for it is that I join many Catholics in our concern that a young priest is allowed to try to work out his problems with either no help or minimal help. One of my sources tells me that the pastor at St. Paschal Baylon had been told earlier by parents who did not go to the police of their son's molestation. If there was an investigation it was not intensive enough, and Fr. R. remained in a situation he could not manage.

I would be most interested in hearing from you.

Thank you for your consideration, and God bless you during this time of this horrendous travail,

Sincerely,

Dear Judge Shaw,

These are my feelings about where I am now, and where I would hope to be in the future. I find it difficult to make this statement: maybe this is a symbol of my overall problem--avoidance. I have not adequately faced some deep issues in my life and done something about them.

Some time ago I realized that I had a sexual attraction to young boys and adolescents which was not normal. This really scared me, and I did confide my fears and described my problem to a priest-confidante in Santa Barbara. At first, I felt I was handling it well, but later when my attraction became too strong for me to suppress, and I actually did molest a child, I stopped facing the problem. Although I had feelings of guilt and disgust, I avoided doing anything specific about it. I am not sure why I didn't, except that I felt very fearful and embarrassed, and maybe felt that I would be removed from parish work, which was my whole life. I know now what a disaster this was, my avoidance, my not taking appropriate measures to definitely correct this problem.

When I was called into the sheriff's office on January 26, I knew it was over in the sense that I was forced to clearly confront this problem and do something about it. As I look back on my confession and those incidents, I very deeply regret any harm my actions caused to those children. I know that I have a real talent and gift for working with children, and I do deeply care about them. But I also feel very badly that I took advantage of their trust and love for me and that this could cause serious harm to them. I worry a lot about this now, and I am truly sorry.

I still have a deep concern for children and their welfare. I also have a clear understanding that as long as my present problem continues, I should not be in a position to work with children. I am completely open to this reality.

Some people have stated that they thought most of my parish involvement was with children. This is not true. I did a great deal of work with adults-- their education, needs, concerns and problems. I can see now that working with adults could be the thrust for my future ministry. I am totally open to anything the court and church decides in this regard.

Most of all, I am open to the personal re-evaluation and rehabilitation I must go through in my psychological counseling. Once all the court proceedings and sentencing are completed, I still am left with myself. Therefore, the most difficult and painful part has already begun, facing my personal problems and doing something about them. Since January 26th, I have seen a psychologist twice a week. I feel I am growing, and can grow, and must grow into a more integrated and authentic person with this continuing help. This is the most painful and challenging part: to no longer avoid major issues in my life that affect myself and others, but to face them and deal with them. This is my present and future home!

Donald Patrick Roemer
Earlier molest complaint was filed against priest

By FAYE FIORE

She was up until 1 a.m. today, concerned about the tone of the letters in the newspaper.

She's read the comments from faithful supporters who cannot fathom the idea that Father Donald Patrick Roemer was arrested for charges of child molesting.

But she views the case from a different perspective. Her son, she says, was also molested by the 36-year-old St. Paschal Baylon priest.

The young Newbury Park woman contacted the News Chronicle late this morning to say that her family filed a complaint with the Ventura County Sheriff's Department last December after their son, then 6 years old, was allegedly sexually molested by Roemer.

Authorities confirmed today that such a complaint was filed with them in December.

What most disturbs the young woman, who insisted she not be identified, is that the clergyman's supporters have blindly refused to accept the possibility that a man she says she, too, respects is less than perfect.

"The input I wanted to give," she said in a slow, even voice, "is that this is a man I can't even be angry with. I see him as being very sick and in need of help, but he also gives so much help.

"He has done so much good, and one bad thing doesn't cancel all of that."

Supporters who insist upon Roemer's innocence in fervent letters to the News Chronicle are placing an unfair burden upon his shoulders by refusing to accept that he is capable of a human flaw, the woman said. The community response so disturbed her, she said, that she decided to call the newspaper.

"People who are writing these letters are making it sound like he has to be innocent because if he isn't, he's no good," she said. "He knows they have a false confidence in him to be perfect and they are not giving him any slack at all."

This morning, Roemer pleaded not guilty to a child molestation charge during an arraignment in Ventura Municipal Court.

The newspaper and sheriff's department have both been the target of criticism by local parishioners with unwavering confidence in his innocence. They have chastised the media for publishing the report of his arrest.

The man said she and her husband contacted the Child Abuse, Neglect and Protection Clinic in Ventura after the incident, details of which she was careful not to discuss to avoid jeopardizing the court case.

The clinic reportedly told her that a child of 6 or 7 years of age does not have the creative capacity to invent the detailed sexual encounter described.

Vocal critics have alleged that the child manufactured the story and that many of the men involved in the church are now apprehensive about working with children.

"I know the charges are true," she said. "I don't know if there is a third or a fourth victim, but I know that, other than my husband, there is no man whom I would hate more to hear this about."

Since the incident, the mother said, her child's grades have fallen in school and he is unable to concentrate.

On his last report card before the incident, the youth received the equivalent of 22 out of 26 A's. This time, she says, his teacher called to warn her that he is receiving mostly C's and D's and is having particular problems in behavior.

The family is not a member of St. Paschal's parish and, the alleged encounter occurred in a setting outside of the parish, she explained. When their child described the incident to them, the woman said they sought advice from St. Paschal's co-administrator, Father Colm O'Ryan.

Church officials, she was told, were instructed to speak with Roemer about the problem.

In response to bitter complaints that the sheriff's department hastily arrested the clergyman on the "word of a 7-year-old," the woman pointed out that the investigation was already proceeding last December.

RE: The attached

I would have preferred a brief note of understanding support somewhat along the following lines:

Dear REDACTED

"The Cardinal has asked me to respond to your kind letter. By all means we perfectly understand the financial burdens which have beset you in these difficult days.

We are attaching a check for $500.00. This hopefully will assist you in paying for your maternity costs which are surely exorbitant.

Your genuine concern for the Church, its ministers and its people is deeply appreciated. We shall indeed keep a prayerful remembrance for you."

I have indicated in my letter a check for $500.00 since this steers away from the precise figure of $380.00 requested for compensation.

One other disadvantage is that REDACTED letter introduces the idea of a contest between two parties and your obligation to support the priests.

Dear Father,

The answer you gave to my troubled letter in regards to Fr. O. D. Reeney and the scandal at our church was a complete shock to me and my entire family.

Nowaday a sincere Catholic does not know who to turn to for spiritual help.

With the "mass" non Mass in name so little reverence, more like a "town hall meeting", Men and women all over the altar, so much hand clapping as if at a show. Very little reverence for the tabernacle, pushed over in the corner out of the way, the altar stripped of the railing. The goblet of wine, being passed by men and women, even the Host, "Take it in the Hand" is the spirit of the day. Do knowling, to receive the Sacred Host. Instead of knowling and preparing ourselves to receive Our Blessed Lord, we are busy shaking hands with everyone. "Peace be to you," when there is no peace, only confusion. I see where some churches have altar girls replacing altar boys. Why?

The Ascension of Pentecost has been stripped of its true meaning. There used to be long lines going to Confession, now hardly any people go. I have talked to many about this, especially the young, they said "they won't go to this new type." Another "Miss" now, with all these Bishops having done to destroy our lovely books, faith in this taking ascertainment, we have enemies outside the church, we have plenty enemies.

There is so much more I could go into but I know it would be useless. Our American Bishops defy the Pope right on T.V., they pray for the "secular" priests who are suffering with us,
I wrote ten years ago to Cardinal Manning, and it didn't do any good. We went right on "messing" up our beautiful Sacred Mass. For that he will be long remembered. Then married children in Sacramento, Big Sur, Newport Beach, Naples, San Diego, and we all saw the same determination to destroy our beloved faith. I feel sorry for Cardinal Manning, he is to be pitied. We need a strong priest and all we have are weak ones. I see so many other people leaving the church. I can understand why.

I thank God every day, I had the privilege to have attended all those sacred Masses, where our "real priests" offered Mass to God and brought spiritual help to the troubled people. Now all we have is a "merry town hall meeting." Adieu, Adieu!

Sincerely,

[Redacted]

Did deputies delay project arrest?

Case ‘closed’ by investigator who was also a Catholic deacon

By PAYE FIORE

If the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer had not been a Catholic priest, would Ventura County sheriff’s deputies have arrested him on charges of child molesting one month earlier — before his list of six victims grew to nine?

Would deputies have moved more rapidly in the case if the suspect had been just a bachelor who worked with children, instead of a clergyman?

The decision to close the investigation of the St. Pius X Baytown priest after he was arrested for molesting a 6-year-old boy was made last December by a police lieutenant who also serves as a deacon in a Catholic church, the News Chronicle has learned.

Brad McKinley said it was a “judgment call” when he opted to discontinue the investigation of the Thousand Oaks clergyman after a parent complained that her son was molested by Roemer while on a religious retreat in San Bernardino County.

One month later, Roemer confessed to nine counts of child molesting, three of which occurred after McKinley closed the case, police reports indicate.

During that time, neither Roemer nor his church superiors were contacted by deputies, several sheriff’s administrators confirm.

McKinley defended his decision in the Roemer case, saying that it was “not prosecutable.” The alleged crime occurred in May, he pointed out, seven months before the boy’s mother reported it Dec. 27.

In addition, McKinlay said, the alleged molestation took place outside the jurisdiction of Ventura County, investigators had no evidence to corroborate the child’s story, and the parents did not want to pursue criminal prosecution.

“I can’t say that normally the suspect in a case like this would not be interviewed, but it was a judgment call at the time,” McKinley said.

“If I don’t have a case I can competently make an arrest on or legitimately investigate, I can’t justify the manpower,” McKinley said. He also never directly contacted Roemer’s superior, the (See ARREST, Page 3)
Rev. Colm O’Ryan. He said the victim’s mother told him she had spoken to O’Ryan and was satisfied that he was going to take some sort of action.

Undersheriff John Gillespie said in a News Chronicle interview that while it is not unusual that a suspect is not interviewed in such cases, it is unusual that superiors were not interviewed by law enforcement officials.

“Not to talk to a church official would probably be unusual,” if there was “firm information” that a child molestation had occurred, Gillespie said.

Now, Sheriff’s observers are wondering if three young victims might have been spared if O’Ryan had been contacted by the sheriff’s office.

A few days after the boy’s parents called deputies on Dec. 27, McKinley contacted the Rev. Jack Christiansen at the Sacred Heart Catholic Parish in Ventura for advice on how to handle the situation “administratively,” police reports indicate.

McKinley has since refused to comment on what advice the priest gave him, however, saying the matter is still in litigation because Roemer has not yet been seen.

On Jan. 9, a deputy, talking with Christiansen, McKinley and Deputy Tom Ode to interview the victim on Feb. 7. The deputy determined in the police report that the child was “probably truthful” about the incident.

The child’s mother told Ode that she had spoken to the Rev. Colm O’Ryan, Roemer’s superior at St. Pius X’s. O’Ryan assured her that the situation would be handled by church officials, police documents state.

The investigation stopped there. As McKinley wrote in a police report dated Jan. 9:

“As the incident occurred more than seven months ago in another jurisdiction and a copy of the report had been sent to San Bernardino County sheriff’s office for statistical purposes, and the victim and parents desire no formal prosecution and they have brought the incident to the attention of the superior of the (the) suspect, presumably competent authority, no further action is warranted by this department. Case closed.”

Undersheriff John Gillespie explains the handling of the case this way: “If the superior of a church says this has to be an isolated case and we will handle it, then perhaps our detectives believed that. Every case is just a little bit different . . . I can’t defend it (the decision not to prosecute), but I can’t take it apart, either,” Gillespie said.

Detectives routinely consider the character of the suspect in each case before deciding how to act upon a particular matter — whether the suspect be a priest, doctor, teacher or mechanic, he explained.

Gillespie said it is not uncommon for investigators to avoid interviewing a suspect, especially if the victim wishes no criminal prosecution. Other times, however, suspects are interviewed whether or not prosecution is desired. It is purely the discretion of the investigators, he said.

“If an 18-year-old kid is accused of molesting a 13-year-old girl, then we might talk to him and put the fear of God in him and it would probably keep an 18-year-old in line.

“If we’re talking about a respected priest, then probably the most effective tool would be to contact his superior and let it go at that.”

Gillespie stressed that he did not feel the investigator’s personal religious beliefs influenced his decision to leave the matter in the hands of church officials without speaking with Roemer.

“We have looked at the possibility of conflict of interest,” Gillespie said. “But you have to know the man. Lt. McKinley is probably as honest a police officer as any I’ve ever met. He is a police officer — a major-crime detective, first — and a lay deacon in the church, second.”

Church officials will not comment on what, if any, action was taken after the victim’s mother made them aware of the situation in December. The only certain fact is that the molestations continued.

Dear Cardinal Manning:

I am a responsible Catholic family father who has lived in the Thousand Oaks area for nearly 20 years. I presently attend St. Julies' Billiat church in Newbury Park. I have always held our priests and religious in the highest esteem.

The recent disclosures in the press and on television concerning Father Patrick Roemer of St. Paschal Baylon's of Thousand Oaks has prompted this letter. I have known Father Roemer casually for years, and have always thought highly of him.

I and the faithful have prayed that the molestation charges brought against him were not true. Unfortunately, it appears that they were. Enclosed is the latest of a series of articles that have dealt harshly with his situation. This problem can't be corrected since what is done-is done. But what will occur in the future is something we must all be concerned with.

The following is submitted for your kind consideration:

a. The church should provide support and counseling for the children involved in these incidents. The parents of these children should also be counseled. Letters of apology should include these offers of help.

b. Stringent procedures and disclosure requirements of any abnormal behavior patterns of Clergy and the religious should be established. Voluntary help by those in need should be stressed.

c. Immediate substantial professional counseling should be mandated for those suffering problems. (This situation may have been avoided if advantage was taken of the Catholic psychiatrists in this area).

d. Reassignment of religious to less sensitive jobs until permanent correction of any problem can be established.

These suggestions are meant to be constructive, and I am sure you feel as deeply hurt by this incident. We all pray that Father Roemer is not judged to harshly, and that future occurrences are eliminated.

Yours faithfully,

The judge then could set the first sentence date, or give me a sentence there and leave that.

This may only come later in May. I go to Montana near 5 P.M.

Dear Monsignor Hawkes:

In a telephone conversation earlier this week you asked me to put some things in writing.

The first matter concerns the payment of salary to Fr Pat Roemer. I have been paying his salary while he's been on sick leave, and I will pay his salary for April. You said you would pick up the payments after that.

The second concerns the parish car Fr Pat has been driving. REDACTED has approved the appointment of the Rev. REDACTED as Associate here at St. Paschal's as of April 28 1981. On June 14, Fr REDACTED will go elsewhere, at which time I hope to have a replacement. At least, the Placement Board say I may expect this. It is for this reason that I requested Fr. Pat to attempt to find other transportation as of that date.

Allow me to thank you for your kindness to Pat. The guy needs all the support we can give him at this stage. And he deserves it, for there was scarcely a better priest than he.

Yours sincerely in Christ

His Eminence Cardinal Timothy Manning
1531 West Ninth Street
Los Angeles, California  90015

Dear Cardinal Manning:

I am the father of two children. We are parishioners of St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks where my son attends CCD training. The REDACTED family are good friends of ours and came to me for help when their two boys were victimized by Father Patrick Roemer. I also worked with the REDACTED family whose son was also a victim.

Your Eminence, the purpose of this letter is to request a meeting with you within the next 10 days. If we can have some direct and open communication between us, perhaps we can work together to help the families and the victims of this terrible tragedy. To my personal knowledge, none of these families seek civil action against the church. Our mutual and sincere interest is to help prevent or minimize the chances of this tragedy from being repeated.

This terrible nightmare occurred and we cannot ignore it. Sex crimes against children have gone unreported too long and have left the children carrying the scars for a lifetime. These crimes occurred on church property or church sponsored activity and were committed by an employee and member of the church's staff. You must agree that the responsibility for the safety and protection of all our children is at stake and must be considered the most important priority.

We have been disturbed by the handling of this case:

1. Father Colm O’Ryan was informed of the activity of Father Roemer but due to his lack of understanding of the problem failed to take appropriate action.

2. The church immediately assigned REDACTED a civil attorney employed by the archdiocese, to defend these criminal actions,

   a. This attorney attempted to intimidate the families by talking about having cameras in the courtroom and printing the names of the victims,
b. He compounded the hardships of the victims by handing out a list of names to other victims' families. This showed little ethics and concern for the families involved.

c. REDACTED called the REDACTED and demanded to talk to the children when legally he was not entitled to do so.

3. There was no cooperation between the archdiocese or Father O'Ryan and the law enforcement agencies investigating this case.

4. Father O'Ryan called the victims and requested that they write a letter to keep Father Roemer from going to prison. His attitude seemed to be -- What can we do for Father Roemer, not -- What can we do for the children.

5. Not once did the church (local or diocese) call any of the victims and offer spiritual support, family counseling, or monitory aid for psychological help needed for the children.

Where is the compassion for the innocent victims? Is there a total disregard for the plight of these children? Some of the families involved have left the church or moved to other parishes. Three of the children have become almost agnostic.

There was criminal sophistication in Father Roemer's actions. He used his talent working with these children and violated their trust and friendships. Father Roemer is a man who admits to having tremendous psychological, emotional and spiritual training. With his knowledge and background, he should have removed himself from the temptation of committing these sex offenses. The crimes did not happen by chance. Each time Father Roemer called a victim into the teacher's lounge, he showed intent and he used that opportunity to accost the child alone and get him in a compromising situation. A child is not capable of giving consent, and all responsibility for the acts committed lie with the abusing adult. We, therefore, question the value of placing Father Roemer in the House of Affirmation in San Francisco for therapy.

Your Eminence, it's normal to want to bury this incident, but that won't protect our children. We must learn to recognize and confront the problem of sexual child abuse. We must accept our burden of responsibility to initiate change and to adopt preventive measures to keep this from reoccurring.
Cardinal Timothy Manning

We must bear in mind that the churches' utmost responsibility is for the safety and welfare of the children entrusted to it by its parishioners. That crimes against children have no equal and cannot be tolerated. Had it not been for the bad publicity and exposure, would Father Roemer been transferred to another location and continue to offend? As long as he is a member of the church, it is the churches' responsibility to see that anyone guilty of these crimes is not placed in a position which chances the repeat of these offenses.

The Catholic Church can use this tragedy to educate its staff on the subject. Guidelines should be given to all pastors on how to handle this sensitive problem. Seminaries and schools can be given specific instruction on the consequences of criminal actions committed by a clergy. A priest found guilty of inappropriate conduct cannot be shielded by his Roman collar from criminal prosecution. The nature of this crime demands immediate removal of the duties and activities that place the accused in contact with children.

I have enclosed a copy of the Statement of Facts in this case for your review. Also enclosed are:

1. A copy of Child Molestation: The Problem and a Proposed Solution written by the District Attorney of Ventura County
2. Articles written by Dr. Roland Summit and Carolyn Swift, both considered experts in the field of child molestation. These articles may shed some light as to the lifetime trauma the victims experience as a result of these crimes.

We urge your personal attention to the details of this case and hope to meet with you at your convenience soon.

Dear Cardinal Manning:

I am the father of two children. We are parishioners of St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks where my son attends CCD training. The REDACTED family are good friends of ours and came to me for help when their two boys were victimized by Father Patrick Roemer. I also worked with the REDACTED family whose son was also a victim.

Your Eminence, the purpose of this letter is to request a meeting with you within the next 10 days. If we can have some direct and open communication between us, perhaps we can work together to help the families and the victims of this terrible tragedy. To my personal knowledge, none of these families seek civil action against the church. Our mutual and sincere interest is to help prevent or minimize the chances of this tragedy from being repeated.

This terrible nightmare occurred and we cannot ignore it. Sex crimes against children have gone unreported too long and have left the children carrying the scars for a lifetime. These crimes occurred on church property or church sponsored activity and were committed by an employee and member of the church’s staff. You must agree that the responsibility for the safety and protection of all our children is at stake and must be considered the most important priority.

We have been disturbed by the handling of this case:

1. Father Colm O’Ryan was informed of the activity of Father Roemer but due to his lack of understanding of the problem failed to take appropriate action.

2. The church immediately assigned REDACTED a civil attorney employed by the archdiocese to defend these criminal actions, REDACTED is a criminal attorney and represents F. Roemer.

   a. This attorney attempted to intimidate the families by talking about having cameras in the courtroom and printing the names of the victims,
b. He compounded the hardships of the victims by handing out a list of names to other victims' families. This showed little ethics and concern for the families involved.

c. REDACTED called the REDACTED and demanded to talk to the children when legally he was not entitled to do so.

3. There was no cooperation between the archdiocese or Father O'Ryan and the law enforcement agencies investigating this case.

4. Father O'Ryan called the victims and requested that they write a letter to keep Father Roemer from going to prison. His attitude seemed to be -- What can we do for Father Roemer, not -- What can we do for the children.

5. Not once did the church (local or diocese) call any of the victims and offer spiritual support, family counseling, or monetary aid for psychological help needed for the children.

Where is the compassion for the innocent victims? Is there a total disregard for the plight of these children? Some of the families involved have left the church or moved to other parishes. Three of the children have become almost agnostic.

There was criminal sophistication in Father Roemer's actions. He used his talent working with these children and violated their trust and friendships. Father Roemer is a man who admits to having tremendous psychological, emotional and spiritual training. REDACTED
I almost forgot - all my little notes are sent to you and my judge, I have you. They wished to know who "my Darren" was and as kind of the head copiee of my "secret." I hope to hear from you. Thanks. At X.
The House of Affirmation presents a total psychotheological program in which all psychotherapists are competent in the psychological sciences and have a deep understanding of the religious and priestly life.

Our Whitinsville residential center is approximately forty miles from Boston and twenty-eight miles from Providence, Rhode Island. Our California residential center is at Montara, California, which is located about fifteen miles south of San Francisco on the ocean side of the peninsula. Our Missouri residential center is located at Webster Groves, an immediate suburb of St. Louis.

DONATION SCHEDULE

The following information pertains to our donation schedule and residential program. The requested donation of $87.00 per diem reflects the following services rendered: private room and board, ancillary therapies, nursing services, bibliotherapy, psychotheology and spirituality programs; individual psychotherapy sessions usually held twice a week; group psychotherapy sessions held four times a week in the form of Psychodrama, Inter-Communication Lab, and Group Therapy; and Group Art Therapy Sessions.

In addition there is, on occasion, a requested donation of $35.00 for each psychiatric consultation, $25.00 for each medical consultation, and $10.00 per week for art therapy supplies. Outside medical referrals, laboratory services and pharmacy charges are additional.

Billing is entered at a flat rate of $87.00 per diem.
Please note that we are not a hospital but a Residential Center for religious professionals. We do not submit claims to Blue Cross or to any other insurance company. However, it has been our experience to have some communities/dioceses obtain a partial refund of the money paid House of Affirmation. Should your particular contract allow for reimbursement of payments made, we will assist you in completing your forms.

The donations requested are approximately one-half to two-thirds below the current marketable set rate for similar services. We at the House of Affirmation believe that we cannot charge the usual professional fee because the priests and Religious we serve do not have the same kind of financial income that other people have.

It continues to be our policy not to refuse assistance to anyone who is unable to meet our requested donations. Requests for assistance should be submitted accordingly. However, it must be noted that our scholarship funds are limited.

PSYCHO THEOLOGICAL EVALUATION AND ASSESSMENT PROGRAM

The client comes to the House of Affirmation for three days during which time he or she undergoes complete psychological testing and interviews. This program does allow for a more personal and complete evaluation of the client's problematic and also offers the client an opportunity to meet the Clinical Staff and personally assess the program offered here. A complete report along with the recommendations of the Clinical Staff is then forwarded to the assigned ecclesial leader as authorized by the client. Should the Clinical Staff be of the opinion that the client would indeed benefit from a period of residency at the House of Affirmation, the client is then given priority on our waiting list. The donation for the Psychotheological Evaluation and Assessment Program (including room and board) is $500.00, and arrangements for same may be made with our nurse, Mrs. REDACTED

Dr. REDACTED informed me that more than likely Father Roemer would have to undergo a ninety day Psychiatric Evaluation in an institution. He asked if I could possibly find a Catholic Psychiatric Hospital? Otherwise the state might commit him to Atascadero.

Through the assistance of the Sisters of St. Vincent I was put in touch with a Dr. REDACTED at DePaul Community Health Center, St. Vincent's Division, 12303 DePaul Drive, Bridgton, No. 63044.

Dr. REDACTED said that they would be happy to take Father Roemer for the 90 days and place him in a congenial atmosphere.

RE: Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer

Your Eminence:

This letter is to inform you that Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer participated in our three day psychotheological assessment program May 3 to May 6, 1981. These results have been communicated to him by me personally. A clinical report will follow shortly. Father Roemer will receive copies of these letters.

At this point we would normally put him on a waiting list for residency which could take anywhere from three to six months before we would have an opening. However, due to the nature of his legal problems we are offering an immediate opening when and if the courts will allow him to come to us.

I am enclosing some information concerning our program, its cost, etc. which will be helpful to you. We do require a written statement from you informing us that you are supportive of the client's decision and are willing to assume full responsibility for all expenses incurred throughout the client's stay at the House of Affirmation. Please send that statement to our Central Administration in Massachusetts to REDACTED REDACTED 120 Hill Street, Whitinsville, Massachusetts 01588.

Priest seen as mentally disordered

By GAIL CROSS

Daily News staff writer

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, who admitted to molesting young boys at his Thousand Oaks parish, Friday was declared a mentally disordered sex offender needing confinement in a mental hospital.

Judge Robert L. Shaw of Ventura County Superior Court said he "probably would be ineligible" to commit the Catholic priest to Atascadero State Hospital, but he indicated he would consider sending Roemer to a private facility.

Roemer, 37, pleaded no contest - treated the same way as a guilty plea in criminal proceedings - to three of eight felony counts involving the raping of boys aged 7 and 10. They were all members of St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks, where Roemer headed the youth program.

The prosecution agreed to drop the remaining two counts at the time of sentencing.

Deputy District Attorney Joseph E. Taylor said Roemer, "a potentially in the structurally disordered sex offender, but he urged a jail sentence for the priest, citing what he called the enormity of his crimes and the ineffectiveness of available treatment.

Shaw said he would name the hospital May 29 in order to give another William J. Schofield, Jr., County mental health director, more time to explore alternatives to Atascadero.

Kieut recommended sending Roemer to the S. California Health Complex in Bridgton, Mo. Recommended by the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, the facility is experienced in dealing with sex-offended priests, he said.

Shaw agreed with three court-appointed psychiatrists that Roemer would benefit from treatment. He also concurred with two of the doctors, as well as attorneys, for both prosecution and defense, that the priest is mentally disabled and poses a danger to society.

"Dr. Donald Patterson of Santa Barbara gave the court a favorable prognosis for Roemer's cure in his written evaluation. He said a behavioral program is recommended for Roemer, adding, "He is in need of care and treatment if anyone is. He has never used drugs or violence on any of his victims."

"The recommendation of the three doctors is that Roemer faces a maximum confinement of 10 years."

Taylor said the priest molested at least 16 young parishioners between last May and January 1981. Roemer confessed to the crimes.

But Taylor, in arguing for reinstatement of criminal proceedings, said Roemer had used his position of trust for his own sexual gratification for 11 years before being caught.

The law allowing sex offenders to be classified as mentally disordered and sent to hospitals instead of prison is "an approach that has failed," Taylor said, quoting from an American Psychiatric Association statistical manual.

The district attorney contends men who are sexually attracted to young boys cannot be treated successfully in the criminal justice system.

Defense attorney Bruce Mayfield argued that Roemer is a sick man who needs psychiatric help, not prison. Incarceration would be "psychologically lethal and physically devastating" to the priest, whom he described as a "generally gentle and kind man who succumbed to a weakness he could not control."

Mayfield reminded the judge of the three dozen letters sent to the court by Roemer's supporters, many from the parish.

Earlier molester complaint was filed against priest

BY FAYE FIORE

She was up until 1 a.m. today, concerned about the tone of the letters in the newspaper. She's read the comments from faithful supporters who cannot fathom the idea that Father Donald Patrick Roemer was arrested for charges of child molesting.

But she views the case from a different perspective. Her son, she says, was also molested by the 36-year-old St. Paschal Baylon priest.

The young Newbury Park woman contacted the News Chronicle late this morning to say that her family filed a complaint with the Ventura County Sheriff's Department last December after their son, then 6 years old, was allegedly sexually molested by Roemer.

Authorities confirmed today that such a complaint was filled with them in December.

What most disturbs the young woman, who insists he can't be identified, is that the clergyman's supporters have blindly refused to accept the possibility that a man who says he is too, respects is less than perfect.

"The input I wanted to give," she said, "is that this is a man I can't even be angry with. I see him as being very sick and in need of help, but he also gives so much help."

She has done so much good, and one bad thing doesn't cast a shadow on the other."

Supporters who insist upon Roemer's innocence in fervent letters to the News Chronicle are placing an unfair burden upon his shoulders by refusing to accept that he is capable of a human flaw, the woman said. The community response so disturbed her, she said, that she decided to call the newspaper.

"People who are writing these letters are making it sound like he has to be innocent because he isn't, it's his fault," she said. "They know they have a false confidence in him to be perfect and they are not giving him any slack at all."

This morning, Roemer pleaded not guilty to a child molesting charge during an arraignment in Ventura Municipal Court.

The newspaper and sheriff's department have both been the target of criticism by local parishioners and unwavering confidence in his innocence. They have charged the media for publishing the report of his arrest.

The woman said she and her husband contacted the Child Abuse Neglect and Protection Clinic in Ventura after the incident, the details of which she was careful not to discuss in avoid jeopardizing the court case.

The clinic reportedly told her that a child of 6 or 7 years of age does not have the creative capacity to invent the detailed sexual manner described.

Vocal critics have alleged that the church manufactured the story and that many of the men involved in the church are now apprehensive about working with children.

"I know the charges are true," she said. "I don't know if there is a third or a fourth victim, but I know that, other than my husband, there is no man whom I would hate more to hear this about."

Since the incident, the mother said, her son's grades have fallen in school and he is unable to concentrate.

On his last report card before the incident, the youth received a grade of C+ out of 26 A's. This time, she says, his teacher called to warn her that he is receiving mostly C's and D's and is having particular problems in behavior.

The family is not a member of St. Paschal's parish and the alleged encounter occurred in a setting outside of the parish, she explained. When their child described the incident to them, the woman said they sought advice from St. Paschal's co-administrator, Father Colin O'Flynn.

Church officials, she said, told them to instruct the boy to speak with Roemer about the problem.

In response to bitter complaints that the sheriff's department hastily arrested the clergyman on the "word of a 6-year-old," the woman pointed out that the investigation was already proceeding last December.

"The district attorney's approach ignores the man," Mayfield said. "Admittedly, they are bad acts, they are tragic acts, but you cannot ignore the man here..."

"His sickness is indeed very sad, but I think if we incarcerate him without treatment, this society and this community will lose one of its valuable resources," he added.

Taylor recounted several of the molestations and the devastating effect on some of the boys, several of whom are still receiving psychological counseling. He interrupted his presentation to brand pictures of the victims.

"How could a person occupy a higher position of trust?" Taylor asked. "He dealt with the lives, souls and the minds of these children."

FROM: BISHOP MORENO

DATE: 26 MAY 1981

Having met with the priests of Ventura at their Area Senate meeting, they expressed two concerns to me as Vicar. One was Father REDACTED. He has informed them of his plans. They are worried about him, offering no comment about the possible Moorpark parish, except hoping that something can be done to help him in his vacation. I responded that we were well aware of the situation - that we were doing our best, and that I would convey their concerns to you. Since I am informed about this, you do not need to respond to this.

Their other concern is about the families that were hurt in the Bat REDACTED. They were asking if anything can be done to help them. Again, my response was that I would bring this concern to you. Perhaps Monsignor Rawden can inform us as to the best way to proceed.

Cardinal Timothy Manning
Archbishop of Los Angeles
1531 W. Ninth Street
Los Angeles CA. 90015

Dear Cardinal Manning;

Christ is Risen! Indeed He is Risen! I am writing to you out of fraternal concern for a priest of your archdiocese, Patrick R., whose difficult situation was reported earlier this month in the papers of San Francisco and was recently talked about at a gathering of priests and brothers here in The City. Upon first reading about the problems facing this priest, I was overcome with a great sadness and compassion for him. I do not know the man personally, but my heart goes out to him. After reflecting on the deep and loving concern that was expressed by those who were talking about the situation at a social gathering, I felt compelled to write to you to ask that you convey to him my personal pledge of prayer for him and also convey the compassion of others for him. Over the past few years I have been privileged to find myself in situations where I have been able to assist persons struggling with various issues of sexual variations, among whom have been some priests and brothers. More than ever before, the words of Jesus on whom to fear, "the one who can kill the soul", have come home to me very clearly. The evil of self-rejection and self-hatred is very present to persons going through a sexual crisis. It is at this time in such person's lives that the Gospel of God's unconditioned love and acceptance of each of us must be proclaimed to them gently but firmly. In this area I wish to commend you for your reported compassionate support of the priest in question. Thank you for being a good shepherd and father to the church of Los Angeles.

It is at times such as this that the true nature of love becomes manifest. It is so easy to love persons when they are "squeeky clean" but not so easy to embrace them when they are "messy". And yet this is what Jesus has done to us, even to the point of embracing the ugliness and messiness of our world and nailing to the cross with Himself. He became despised and rejected so that we no longer will despise and reject ourselves or each other.

I leave it to your best judgement on how best to convey my sentiments to Patrick R. It is because of this that I have written to you personally and confidentially. Be assured of my continued prayers for you and for him.

Fraternally in Christ,

I have made it my policy never to act in an ecclesiastical manner in a case that is still pending in a Civil Court. I feel that this might jeopardize the defendant.

I feel that two or three priests in the area might visit these families after a moratorium of perhaps six months.

Rooney urges closure of 2 Ventura schools

Ventura Unified School District Superintendent Patrick Rooney formally recommended Friday that Mill and Santa Ana elementary schools be closed after this school year.

He set up Thursday evening - the third in a series of school closures in the district - before announcing that the district will make a decision in June.

The meeting, which began at 7:30 p.m. in the district offices, was a public hearing. Trustee members are expected to make a decision at their June meeting.

Rooney says in his report that, although declining enrollment is the driving force behind the school closures, other factors are also important.

Readily available space, however, is the most severe financial crisis, he said. The district faces a $5 million deficit next year, according to Rooney.

Trustees have already cut $1.5 million in spending. Those cuts include cutting class sizes for one year, shrinking the student population, and reducing the number of bus routes and contracts.

The district needs to cut another additional $130,500, Rooney said. That money should be generated by a property tax increase in the area.

District naming committee chair Bill Arnaud said the $1.5 million cut would save about $20 million in expenditures.

The report doesn't go into much detail about why. However, the decision to reduce staffing is not unexpected, Rooney said.

Reduce staffing would bring class sizes down an average of 5 percent in the district to below 35 students. That reduction would be considered close, according to Rooney.

In response to trustees, Rooney further recommends that students from Mill and Santa Ana schools be sent to other schools.

He said Santa Ana students in the Loma Vista area should be sent to Oak View School and the rest should be sent to Arrowhead School.

Mill students in the Crestview/Crestline area should be sent to Snyder Elementary School.

In BMI, where enrollment is below 35, Rooney said, the district should go with a dual-language immersion program.

Adria Drainor has faced two men in Ventura County on Thursday.

The controversial term as director of the state Department of Transportation (Caltrans) has a 100-milewide area that includes the Los Angeles metropolitan area.

Drainor's opponents were given a chance to speak on the issue.

"Very honestly, the legislation is pretty well led by the unrepresentative public," said Drainor, who was a member of the legislation committee.

Supporters for widening and other improvements on the non-Cutwaters will be recognized.

Dealing with it

Roemer case is over, but results aren't

Not to deal with the case of Fr. Patrick Roemer would be easier for this newspaper than dealing with it. It would have been easier, too, for the courts not to deal with it, or for the church and its parishioners. It would have been easier for all to avoid the topic.

But it will not go away; the sense of obligatory need to complete the record overwhelms the temptation to "render unto Caesar" and let it go at that.

The law has spoken in the case of the near-perfect priest who is a confessed homosexual pedophile. It is difficult to conceive a more awful fate than his: to be treated not as a priest but as a routine sexual psychopath. In effect, what the court said was that Roemer's priesthood is second to his criminality; that is a weighty judgment to make, and it speaks to the very center of the issue in the case.

It was in his work as a youth priest that Roemer found his vocation, offering the depth of faith and affectionate concern for young people, many of whom had lost both. That the reaching-out came from a man of the church made it all the more important to a segment of our population that too often is "turned off" by religion and its practitioners.

But it was also in that work that Roemer found a path toward fulfillment of those desires that ran absolutely counter to his priestly oath.

Those acts also carried with them the added weight of a religious source and may have driven off the victims as surely as others had their faith affirmed.

Fr. Roemer's fall from grace was a matter for religious interpretation, and one which the court of law could not chart or document. That is an ecclesiastical concern that will presumably be addressed by church authorities; if they had actual knowledge of it early-on, as indicated in probation investigation reports, they must look to their conscience to see why they did not act on it in a more timely manner. We are not privy to the church's methods in handling such situations after they are revealed, but must assume some disciplinary proceedings will follow for those who had a supervisory responsibility in this case.

But Fr. Roemer's inflicting of frightening, immoral and illegal acts on children was a matter for civil proceedings from the first, and should have been addressed before the list of his victims grew to two. In this case, it was not done, and it could have been. Why it wasn't is a question for explanation to higher civil authorities. The state attorney general's office ought to look into the way the county sheriff's office handles molestation complaints from parents of children, to assure that they are listened to and acted on before more damage occurs.
Dear Clem:

I tried to call you on telephone last Friday, and you called back later when I was out of the house.

Pat Roemer will be taken to Atascadero state hospital to-morrow, Wednesday. Since Friday he has been in virtual isolation at the honor farm in Ojai.

Reports from and of the state hospital in Atascadero could hardly be worse. I truly fear for Pat's welfare. Far from any possibility of rehabilitation, I fear he will be ruined there. The decision to send him there was, in the opinion of many, including jurists, political.

To add insult to injury, the local newspaper has an editorial on the topic tonight – which I'm enclosing for you to read and to share with His Eminence. It is inflammatory, I believe. I have appealed time and again to our people NOT to respond to needling from same paper; and they have responded with magnanimous discipline. Now, the editor, not wanting to let the dust rest on this case, calls for the disciplining of those who exercised "supervisory" control. This is a direct attack on me. It also calls for an investigation of the Sheriff's office for their alleged failure to follow up on an earlier complaint.

Our parishioners will be very angry over this latest attack. Only God knows what sufferings we have endured in the past 4 months. Now this! I fear the people will no longer be able to restrain themselves. And, I suppose, this is what the media people would love: more publicity, more controversy, more incitement of passi-ons.

Meanwhile, Pat goes to rot in a place where he does not belong. God help us all.

Sincerely - REDACTED

Church officials mum on allowing cleric to work with youths

By FAYE FIORE

Local Catholic Church leaders are refusing to comment on why a Conejo priest was made youth minister at his Thousand Oaks parish while he was undergoing counseling for his homosexual attraction to children.

The silence by administrators at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church and the Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles is both frustrating and disquieting to a young Thousand Oaks couple whose two children were molested by the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer.

The story of the popular priest, who admits molesting boys who attended the church (or Bible instruction), is just beginning to unfold even for the victims.

Now, they are looking with amazement at evidence which states the 36-year-old priest was fighting a homosexual attraction to children and receiving psychological counseling from another clergyman at the San Roque Catholic Church in Santa Barbara, where he was assigned before coming to St. Paschal's three years ago.

Evidence shows that Roemer was receiving counseling up until "four or five months ago," well into the time he was actively working with youth Bible study classes at St. Paschal's and taking some on weekend retreats.

The information means that Roemer was seeking psychological care at the time he received the 1986 Honorary Service Award from the PTA for his work with Conejo youth.

An obviously painted Roemer indicated in a confession he made to East Valley sheriff's deputies hours after his arrest that he had been "fighting and fighting" his attraction to young boys.

Placing such a troubled man in a setting with children is much like locking an alcoholic in a liquor store and saying, "Don't drink," the parents of two of the victims agree.

Contacted this morning at St. Paschal's, the Rev. Colm O'Ryan was asked by the News Chronicle why Roemer was assigned as youth minister where parishioners say he is rarely associated with adults. "I have no comment," was his only reply.

The pastor also refused to be interviewed by deputies during the investigation, records reveal.

The Rev. Clement Connolly, secretary to Cardinal Timothy Manning at the archdiocese, also refused to comment, saying it would violate the "confidentiality" of Roemer's counseling.

"This is obviously a very delicate matter and the confidentiality of his counseling is highly delicate," he said.

Connolly would not say whether Roemer's private attorney, Bruce Mayfield, is being paid out of church funds or by the priest.

In addition, he would release no information about whether Roemer's future in the priesthood might be now that he must register as a sex offender. Roemer currently is not assigned to any parish and is "in private," Connolly said.

Tuesday night, the Millers (not the family's real name) sat in their living room reflecting on the turmoil of the recent weeks since their 7-year-old son told them Roemer molested him.

"We are angry and a little bitter," the boy's father said, upon hearing prosecutors' evidence that church officials had several chances to remedy the problem, and let each go by.

As early as Dec. 27, a Newbury Park woman avoided pressing charges against the priest after he allegedly molested her 6-year-old son.

Interested only in seeing the well-loved Roemer received help, the woman called St. Paschal's acting pastor O'Ryan on Dec. 27 and Jan. 30.

According to a woman's statements to investigators, O'Ryan promised her that the problem would be "thoroughly handled," offering this analogy: "It's like having a splinter in your thumb; if something isn't done about it, it continues to get worse.

In the next four weeks, three more children were molested by the priest - the three counts to which he essentially pleaded guilty in court.

Two of the three counts involved the Millers' sons.

The family has considered leaving the parish, feeling slighted by church leaders and some of its members.

"If a church isn't going to back its people, then what is a church?" the mother said.

Their report to deputies provided an inlet that led to a wave of similar complaints, all from children and families who knew of the priest's actions but did not come forward, often out of guilt or fear.

After the arrest, the parents were preoccupied with what the effects of the incident might be - whether their sons would be psychologically harmed by the encounters, if the children would feel guilty because "Father Pat" had to leave the parish or if they would blame their parents for calling deputies.

All of that, they now realize with anger, could have been avoided if the situation was better handled by church officials. "I think they acted poorly," the father said.

O'Ryan called the family only after the incident, the couple said, and that was to request that they not speak with the press.

Although the couple was informed that some members of the church were praying both for Roemer and the children, they said the small amount of support was not enough to offset the bitter response from community members who accused them of having too little faith in the system to keep the matter within the church and out of the hands of deputies.

The Millers feel that church leaders and some parishioners were more concerned about protecting Roemer than about the welfare of the children.

"At first, I felt sorry for Father Roemer," the mother said. "But it kept going on longer with no support for the victims - all of it went to the suspect."

The woman said that five days after Roemer was arrested, she took her son to church to make his first confession, a Catholic ceremony that children practice weeks for.

"Father Roemer wasn't there and I just broke down," she said. "I felt guilty and (her son) was disappointed because he had rehearsed with Father Pat."

The letters published on the News Chronicle editorial page did not ease the disquietude. The Millers said they even saw a critical letter from a parishioner who was unaware that she knew the family.

She said the faultfinding parishioners spoke without knowing the difficulty of trying to prepare their children to testify, before Roemer's no contest plea saved them from taking the stand. They were unaware that she dreaded that the boys would have to face Roemer, whom they, too, loved, and point him out in court as a child molester.

Tuesday was the couple's first opportunity to voice the anger they withheld for weeks as they read the letters that chastised them and called for publication of the name of their son - knowing the priest had already confessed.

"I am so angry that people would think my 7-year-old is a liar," the mother said. "They were upset that we went to the police because Father Pat 'showed a little too much affection.'"

"They didn't understand that besides our children being victims of a child molester and what all of this did to our family, that we, too, lost Father Pat."

Atascadero attempts to cure sex offenders

Attention was focused recently on child molestation when a Catholic priest was convicted of molesting boys. This story, the first of two parts, examines the kind of treatment sex offenders can receive from the state.

By WALT STEGMIR

The future home of the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, the former Thousand Oaks priest convicted of molesting boys, is a small, L-shaped building set among the hills of Atascadero, a small community 18 miles north of San Luis Obispo.

Atascadero State Hospital, houses behind the priest, was once known as the Sanatorium, and its mission was dedicated to the treatment of patients with tuberculosis.

Yet despite the violent background of the 1,000 patients, staff members and visitors have reported that the hospital has been peaceful.

It is in this hospital that Roemer will receive therapy and treatment that hospital officials hope will deter him from molesting young boys in the future.

Roemer can be cured of his pedophilia — the unnatural desire to molest boys — is an unanswered question. Roemer has admitted to molesting at least 30 boys over a period of 11 years, but some experts believe pedophiles cannot be successfully cured of their unnatural desires.

These experts take the position that pedophiles may not be a mental illness but is essentially a lifestyle that never changes.

They say there is no certainty as to the cause of pedophilia, no known cure and no reliable clinical ability to predict future dangerousness.

One well-known expert who takes this position is Dr. Roland Summit of the Harbor-UCLA Medical Center and a recognized authority in the area of child molesting.

During a hearing last year on changing the child molesting laws, Summit described pedophiles as men who have "a lifetime sexual desire for children." The doctor said pedophiles do not come across as criminals or as mentally disturbed, but believe they have the "right and duty" to molest children.

As a result of this viewpoint, there is currently pending legislation in Sacramento to not only lengthen prison sentences for child molesters, but to require that if they are treated at Atascadero that they be returned to prison to serve out their sentence once treatment is completed.

Roemer is under a 10-year, four-month maximum commitment. This is the longest time he could be committed to Atascadero, or if the judge finds he would not benefit from further treatment, be sentenced to state prison.

Ventura County Superior Court Judge Robert Shaw, who found Roemer to be a mentally disordered sex offender and amenable to hospital treatment, has ordered that the first progress report on the priest be filed by Sept. 1.

Roemer will probably be transferred to Atascadero this week according to county jail officials. At Atascadero he will be seen by a psychiatrist and a mental profile will be developed, said David B. Hamilton, assistant to the hospital medical director.

The hospital staff will then determine what kind of treatment program Roemer should be placed in, Hamilton said. It said this assessment can take 30 days or longer.

There are different treatment programs at Atascadero, Hamilton said. A child molester could end up in the same program as a violent rapist if the program is aimed at solving a basic problem that led to sex crime, Hamilton said.

One program dealing with sex offenders who are judged to be a danger to others, such as Roemer, deals with sex-related problems. Another group is for patients with chronic phobias and another deals with patients who have been institutionalized and seeks to teach the "men self-evaluation" and self-discipline, Hamilton said.

There is also a group at the hospital, directed by Dr. Richard Laws, that seeks to cure deviant sexual behavior through aversion therapy.

Deputy District Attorney Joseph E. Taylor, who handled the prosecution of Roemer, did research on treatment offered at Atascadero, explained that it is first determined what kind of sexual activity excites the patient.

Once this is determined, the patient is shown pictures or movies of this kind of sexual activity and when becomes excited an ampule containing ammonia is released, Taylor said. In theory, the patient begins to associate the unpleasant experience of the ammonia with the deviant sexual behavior and no longer is attracted by this kind of sexual activity, Taylor said.

Friday, June 19 -

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I sure hope that all goes well for you. I appreciated your letter, and the enclosed letter.

I was so happy to have you here yesterday at the house. The sign (jail) in Harwood here June 4th is not where I was supposed to be placed in an admissions ward for testing to see what program I’d be entering. There were men from all over, some violent and some sedated, and others, psychotic and a few “communicable.” I stayed there 10 days because there was no opening on my present ward. I’m one of the best in the whole hospital.

I sure like 1 week ago today – all.
The men have the same problem I need, and they’re amenable to treatment and seem very friendly. They had differing attitudes to workshops (actually) about me being a priest and gave me a different but silent treatment a little at first. I also was very nervous and had no idea about what to expect. I just need loads of trust and patience.

Now, after 1 week, I feel much more comfortable and have made some good friends. I began my first therapy group (11 of us) today and also tomorrow. I have conferences and classes Monday and all next week. I’m just getting used to the daily routine... and already have a job—mopping

I got a hall card now that means a little more freedom to wander through our massive

I know I can grow and benefit from what offered here. The are definitely some good program offered! I know the House of Affirmation is more intimate, but there sharing & learning I can receive from other men here is invaluable & so I want to "go for it."

I've noted that several of the men here are "normal" or "typical" Catholics. They have asked me to "talk" & "listen" to them about "sacred." Here could be a good opportunity to very directly & very gently let the Lord work.

I pray your summer is a Blessed one! Thanks for you always continuing concern & prayers.

Dear [REDACTED]

I hope this note finds you well.

I write to express my gratitude for your thoughtful actions and care.

Last night, the day at the hospital - what an experience! One of the nurses shared with me that she could never wish to anyone else.

I came here to work to help, not to stay on. I have not seen you for nearly a day and a half. I'll have a little more freedom then. We are scheduled to work from 11 pm to 7 am and again from 6:30 am to 11 pm, which is a great shift for a nurse. Sometimes, I wish I could take a break without any notice.

I am grateful for the new friends I've made here. The patients have been kind and the relationships have been wonderful. I am looking forward to the upcoming visits.

With gratitude,

May all go well for you in the future.

Dear Cardinal Manning:

Thank you for meeting with us last month. We appreciate your sincere concern for the protection of our children. Your expressed interest to initiate an educational training program giving lay and religious administrators, teaching staffs, parents and pastors the necessary guidelines and information to help confront the problem of sexual child abuse is desperately needed. We have ignored our responsibility to the victims of this type of crime for too long. The only way we can protect our children is through an informed citizenry.

The enclosed reference material will provide the Superintendent of Education staff with some in-depth research and expert opinions on this massive nationwide problem. Our experience in working on this issue in the community has helped us recognize that:

1. Sexual child abuse is a widespread and underreported crime,

2. The victim
   a) often becomes a runaway because of abuse at home,
   b) may carry life-long trauma, and some victims are referred to as "psychological time bombs" (refer to Dr. Roland Summit),
   c) suffers from fear and guilt which often leads them to drugs, prostitution, homosexuality or suicide,
   d) may become a child abuser
   e) has very low self-esteem

3. The perpetrator
   a) most often is a male and can be a respected member of the community (Big Brother, scout leader, teacher, priest, etc.) who has very good relationships with children,
   b) is often known to the victim, or may be a stranger who kidnap his victims, Cardinal Timothy Manning             June 15, 1981

  c) suffers from low self-esteem and often has been a victim of sexual abuse himself,

  d) has molested children before and is very likely to reoffend

  e) is not considered mentally ill (refer to enclosed psychiatrist research and reports)

  f) may be a pedophile for whom there is no known cure through the mental health profession

We realize that this information may take a while to review. However, we hope that the Department of Education will recognize the urgency of this matter and give it the proper priority.

We will make ourselves available at your convenience to assist in any way and to have a follow-up meeting at any time. Please contact REDACTED or REDACTED at REDACTED

Dear REDACTED

It occurred to me that you might wish a word of greeting and reassurance.

Last week I spent more than an hour with Father Pat. I was very relieved to see how reconciled he is to the situation and how much he is cooperating with the therapy that is assigned to him.

I know that these past months have been a time of great anxiety and distress. I have shared to a large extent in those sentiments, yet I trust that God's holy will is in operation here and that much good will come through the darkened clouds.

May God sustain you both in your faith and love.

Dear [Redacted],

Your gracious and understanding letter was most welcome. Pat was very pleased at your visit to Atascadero State Hospital, and he was most grateful to be able to have a conference with Cardinal Manning. It was a real morale-booster.

And I am pleased to be reassured that Pat is responding to therapy and that his attitude is good. This experience at Atascadero, thankfully, doesn't seem to be the negative one we all feared. We can only assume that this is all part of God's plan.

And I shall always be grateful for the spiritual, moral, and financial support of Cardinal Manning, and of all of the clergy. The prayers and support of Pat's friends and parishioners have been a source of great edification to all of us.

We too are filled with hope for Pat, who is truly a good and dedicated servant of the Lord. Our prayers that God will allow... him to resume service in His Priesthood in the not too distant future.

and I are thankful for your concern, and really appreciate your courtesy in writing to us.

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I sure hope that all goes well for you and all that's happening in your life (lives).

Thought I'd drop several lines and let you know that I am okay and much seems to be progressing in my life at this moment! As I mentioned last form letter (sorry about these impersonal notes, but sometimes it's the only way I can adequately answer my mail) - I'm working both in our professional (staff) library and our patient library. Both take lots of "patience." (No pun intended?) It's a challenge to have 50 student psychiatric technicians come in and demand attention, and then 10 doctors and psychiatrists walk in at the same time and ask for different tapes and books or journals on a rare mental illness, and of course, I am supposed to know precisely where to find it all! Fun and games and intense neurosis (panic) are my immediate feelings. At least I have a job that helps me combine work, relating to others, and a relaxation from the personal, more intensive therapy that happens in my groups back on the ward.

Speaking of the ward: I just was elected ward government secretary and this means taking and typing minutes and submitting proposals etc. on our own behalf. I enjoy this experience and it helps me reach out more to fellow patients. I am also the chairman of the Ward Relations Committee. This is a more difficult position because when one of us receives a "write-up" for a ward rule violation, then they come in front of a group of us and explain and we note whether it is a valid infringement or not. It does get a little nerve-wracking at times. I sometimes get kidded a little; they call me the "gestapo mini-Pope." All in fun, I hope. 99% of my ward is over 6 feet tall.

My personal therapy is moving along well. As I stated before, becoming my own best friend is an experience vitally important for me. Out of this new honesty and intimacy, I can more validly reach out to fellow adults. Taking life one day at a time is still my motto. Facing myself honestly in front of others is still a challenge. We have a large group twice a week called "therapeutic community." All 38 of us sit around in a circle and bring up our needs and problems. This can be a really "hairy" experience. Yet the risk is worth it in the long run.

My gardening is also coming along well; sweet peas, stocks, snapdragons, calendulas, and pansies are all up and near to blooming. I must honestly admit that there are several acres of weeds also!

I don't know anything further about my status here. I have to say that I don't feel that I have gotten the full benefit of this place yet, uncomfortable as it is here. I will be here six months as of December the first. So I just may ask what the staff thinks about my asking to exit from here -- I mean that I have that small possibility when I feel I am ready, but, of course, they also must agree!!! It will probably be one year before I feel really good about asking this question; who knows, it may come before then? I just cannot be sure. All I can do is consider the NOW and try not to worry about the future! Does this sound therapeutic? I sure do miss all of you and I continually dream about seeing my friends "out there." Have a wonderful week. Always know that you are in my prayers and heart.

Your friend,

Pat Romer

I also enclose a "form" letter I recently wrote-I usually attach a personal note along with it. REDACTED Come last week, brought the C-Charity and Anointing of the Sick for me. What a super day!

visited with REDACTED about 2 weeks ago and really enjoyed those experiences. It means a lot— an oasis and all the stress and daily strain of this place. One of the topics I discussed with REDACTED was my feelings about the House of Affirmation. I know I have the Archdiocese looking for eventually going there. I also know that as of now, I am going to need more time to decide if I really feel called to continue my ministry as a priest in the future. Actually, I feel I now will continue, yet I am not totally sure. I do not feel I can decide this here. I also know that the number of people for priests etc. - I was not part of the Archdiocese. So you do understand that I felt a little strange asking if I could go there—then perhaps after one year or so of therapy that, decide not to continue, at least for some time, or perhaps for good, as a guest. I would not want to lose the income that money etc. Can you see the point I am making?

stated that he felt a money man would not be placed on my head/therapy! I assumed, in a way, this to be true. I just felt I needed to share with you some of my feelings. I wish you to know just what I am thinking. Your stress and care for me has been one of the primary factors why I feel so good about my participation here. I feel close to. The faith-faith for what I have come. This is vital especially because so much is going on inside of my mind and heart. I feel that I have gotten lots done already and I trust those now here. It's very unpleasant at times, but my attitude is still positive and good. I can as I've stated before, really feel the prayers of so many. I also have (note) it pray. Privy here is very much at a premium - ate, no money and partaking in groups is highly valued yet I've found that personal intimacy of prayer needs "solitude" and that hard to come by. It's funny but in the (note) I could have been more private and taken the time for personal pray.
time I'd prayed, and followed after that. Now it's harder to do that & I am doing just that. God sometimes intervenes to let me feel the grief as by the rack of giving a study online. I am the kind who needed that at this place of my life. I wouldn't (I guess) have offended like I did if I would have taken charge of my life earlier and worked about relationships of myself here. There are loads of factors and perceptions involved, and I'll have to have it all totally figured out. I've gone on long enough. Sorry about all this, but I trust in some of my insights and would like to share them.
My garden is growing well and I do enjoy getting outside in the cool and crisp days. It's very clear and beautiful here and I notice I appreciate the little, usually unnoticed things of everyday life. I notice a lot more!!!

My prayers and thoughts are really with you. May all go well for you and all of the Red Cross.

I appreciate receiving the things every week, and the letters and private papers. As we all say, have a great week!

Dear Pat,

Thanks for your recent letter and the sharing of your thoughts. We keep you in our prayers and are always glad when we hear from someone who has visited with you.

Given the limited horizons within which you presently live, it would be unwise for you to make decisions about the outcome of your present life. It is best to leave that in the Lord’s hands and in His good time.

I leave for Rome on Sunday and will be gone for a week. You are always in my prayers Pat.

Very devotedly

Trauma of molesteed boys varies

Hospital may discover identities of the others

Attention was focused recently on child molestation when a Catholic priest was convicted of molesting boys. This article, the second of two parts, concerns the trauma that affects victims of molestation.

By WALT STEGMER
Daily News Staff Writer

While the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer is undergoing treatment at Atascadero State Hospital, some of his child molesting victims are also undergoing counseling for the trauma they suffered from that Thousand Oaks priest.

Roemer, 37, has admitted to molesting 30 boys during the past 11 years. Fifteen of those 30 have been identified, said Deputy District Attorney Joseph E. Taylor, and the incidents go back about a year.

The victims who have been identified range in age from 6 to 14, and Taylor said some are undergoing counseling for the psychological damage they have suffered. Taylor said he hopes the boys will not suffer any long-term psychological effects.

In many cases, Roemer fondled the boys to obtain sexual gratification, and Taylor said the trauma from this kind of molesting is usually less than in cases in which a man engages in specific sexual acts, such as sodomy, with a boy over a long period of time.

For one boy, however, the fondling continued over a period of several months and the effect on the boy was very destructive, Taylor said. The boy's grades at school went down and the boy did not want to attend church, Taylor said.

It was just recently that the other child molestings, which go back to 1970, came to light. Taylor said there is no way his office can force Roemer to identify them.

Once Roemer is placed in a treatment program at Atascadero State Hospital, however, doctors have the power to make Roemer try to recall who the other victims are, Taylor said.

If the identification of these boys, who now might be adults, is made, then the question is how to deal with a molestation that occurred years ago, Taylor said.

Taylor indicated the best approach would probably be to find out if there is a potential damanged child and then proceed from there. The parents of the boys would probably be notified that their sons were molestation victims, Taylor said.

Only recently has there been increased concern about the victims of child molestation. Previously, thousands of dollars were spent treating convicted child molesters at Atascadero and other state hospitals, but little attention was paid to what happened to the victims.

One man who has concerned himself with the victims is Dr. Herman Kagan, director of the children's program for the county mental health department in the Simi-Conejo Valley areas.

Kagan said a boy or girl who is sexually molested by someone he or she trusts often develops very confused feelings, because he or she both trusts the molester but is also frightened.

"When (children are) confused, they feel they have done something wrong," Kagan said. He said one of the purposes of therapy is to help the child understand this confusion is a natural reaction to trusting someone and then seeing something happen that makes him or her afraid.

In counseling, the doctor tries to explain everything to the child. It is difficult for the child to believe she was at fault. It is important to "get the blame shifted to the right party and get the confusion cleared up," Kagan said.

In working with victims of child molesting, Kagan said, parents play a very important supporting role. "If the parents support the child, it certainly makes it a lot easier," Kagan said. Without the parents' support, the child can feel he or she is not only abused by the abuser, but he is also abused by those who are supposed to provide him with support," Kagan said.

Kagan said child molesting can result in the child's developing doubts about himself and his own worth. "The child thinks he is damaged goods, he is bad," Kagan said.

The damage caused by a child molestation might surface later in life, when the person is in his or her 30s, Kagan said.

Officer wounded on robbery call

PHOENIX (UPI) — A Phoenix police officer suffered a minor gunshot wound to the hand when a liquor store clerk mistook him for a robbery suspect.

Police said an armed man forced Michael El Mani, 21, an employee of Buckeye Liquors, to hand over about $150 Saturday night.

As the suspect was leaving, El Mani pulled out a 357 magnum revolver and fired a shot, investigators said. Nearby officers heard the shot and responded to the scene.

As Officer William Heydenreich was approaching the door with a drawn gun, police said El Mani looked up, saw the gun and fired a round — striking the officer in the left hand.

Heydenreich was treated and released. El Mani does not face any charges, investigators said.
Dear Monsieur Haukens,

I surely hope that all goes well for you, and all you do. I'm doing "okay," as best I can after being here 9 months today! I may possibly decide to get the "hull tutting" for the purpose of "sholiday" in June at my next stepping conference. I had a formal step service when I walked up, the results were positive, and then go to the court. I still have areas of my life to work on here (natural), but I also feel I am coming close to the time when I'll feel good about receiving the sentence he's fit for what I've put up. The Ventura County Mental Health Board is also positive, and my lawyer is contacting both my I'm writing to let you know that I have a need. I am much down in funds. Would it be possible to have some money from the bank on my account in present to go to the Cantor and take care of some basics etc. I need to pay a D.S. try from out of 151 or 152. I'd appreciate any assistance you can give me.

Have a good week!

Dear Pat:

This is to acknowledge your letter of last week for which I am indeed most grateful.

I was happy to learn that everything is going according to plan for you. I can hardly believe that you have been in Atascadero for nine months. It was good to learn that the results of your formal staff review were positive.

Dear Cardinal Homesby,

I pray that all is well there! I thought I'd say hello in one of my "four letters" and also include my latest progress report - the one that got to court and my lawyer. I feel this report is positive. I also feel more strongly about going ahead to ask out - at least begin the process in June. It's still crowded and very tense around here. I do have ways of accepting and positively dealing with that.

May all you do, and all the Archdiocese, be blessed. Have a good week.

Gratefully and prayerfully,

Dear Armenia Frueling,

I sure hope that all goes well for you and all there! Thought I'd drop some lines and let you know what's happening here. Right now I'm sitting at my desk (job) in the library - I had intended to walk a little in the courtyard today - the only "outside" we have in this place. Spring has been trying to "sprung," but the rain drowned that idea quickly. So, I have a few minutes to myself between classes and therapy groups.

I had another formal staffing conference about three weeks ago. They thought I've made real progress, but need to talk to all the staff members on a more regular basis. We have 13 staff and I missed talking to about 4 of them, so now I will try to set up regular "one to ones" with them all! It's all part of the process here and can be very beneficial. My main "sponsor" (the psychiatric technician who writes your reports and talks to you the most) quit, and I lost my co-sponsor, so now I'm in a completely different group and have two new sponsors. It's nearly like beginning all over again.

At first I wasn't too "keen" on this idea, but now I see that it's a chance to continue growing with someone else's input and insights beside me. Since I completed my "sex education" class, I've joined an "Assertiveness skills" group and I am picking up loads of helpful techniques on really getting my needs met in assertive ways. A book that has helped me a great deal with monitoring my "inner talk" and eradicating irrational feelings and emotions is called "A New Guide to Rational Living," by Ellis and Harper. You don't have to have come to a mental hospital to be aided by this book and the process it talks about. I (and our staff) highly recommend this little gem. (No! I don't receive commissions from the psychologist authors!) The psychologist I meet with weekly is a walking book authority (he eats and digests vast volumes weekly - and practices what he reads and preaches too!) and has given me many helpful titles to pull over from month to month. I keep track of a lot of our weekly discussions in a journal. This process of self growth mapping out I find a real experience that I can "have" over and over. I go back and re-read what I wrote about my deepest thoughts, feelings, emotions, musings, experiences, humorous reflections, anecdotes, insights, and etc...... and I can see growth, regressions, needs fulfilled, insights into my own thinking and feeling processes - it's useful and helps me to keep myself honest.

I have been in some contact with my lawyer and the county mental health department. He has been in contact with the D.A.'s office. I originally had decided to begin the process of "asking out" of here during June, sometime. I am not so sure this is what I will strive for. This comes not from what my lawyer or the court feels, but from within me. I will be here one year in June. Yet I feel there are still some things I want to consider a little more here before I feel strongly ready to ask out. So, I am not sure; all I will do is continue to take it all one day at a time! Sound familiar? I keep saying that, but now that phrases' meaning comes through clearly for me. I feel that if I work for a certain date (an arrival point) then my energies will go towards the arrival, and I could forget the process of getting there - so I want to be a little more "open ended" about it. I hope this letter makes sense - I guess I'm a little "heavy" today. Must be the rainy weather? Please pray I can maintain a good attitude. There's still much tension around here and we are overcrowded as usual. I promise to remember you and your needs daily in my mind and heart. Thanks for your kindness and goodness to me. May all go greatly as time goes on!

Love and prayers and gratitude,

Pat Pomer

Decision Knots

I'VE DECIDED TO DECIDE TO REDECIDE WHAT I DECIDED THAT I NEEDED TO REDECIDE, I THINK. BUT BEFORE I REDECIDE, I NEED TO DECIDE HOW I AM GOING TO DECIDE TO REDECIDE, OR ELSE REDECIDING WILL BE A DECISION I WILL HAVE TO REDECIDE BEFORE I CAN DECIDE MY REDECISION. IN OTHER WORDS, THE REDECISION WILL COME AFTER I DECIDE TO REDECIDE ABOUT MY REDECISION. WHAT'S KEEPING ME FROM DECIDING IS THAT I CAN'T DECIDE WHICH DECISION I NEED TO DECIDE TO REDECIDE, SO IN THE MEANTIME I HAVE DECIDED NOT TO DECIDE TO REDECIDE THE ORIGINAL DECISION UNTIL I DECIDE TO REDECIDE THE DECISION NOT TO DECIDE.

Dear Cardinal Manning,

Greetings from the concrete, nuthouse, monastery of the north! Actually don't let this opening greeting throw you; I do take this place seriously. I also try to balance everything off with a good sense of humor!

So much has happened since Easter. The attitudes on our ward had gone downhill. Not too many of us have really tried to discuss it and bring out the reality of what was going on. Four men attempted an escape process; one turned himself in, and the whole ward had to have emergency discussion sessions. Then, last Monday, while one patient was being searched because of a "supposed" drug incident, another patient "discovered" a sharp piece of "contraband" metal on his bunk. This led to our ward's total "lockdown"; just yesterday the doors were once again opened. All this week we were in enforced discussion-therapy sessions together. Many feelings, emotions, thoughts, ideas were expressed, sore in violent reactions and others in open communication. It was a tiring, tense, difficult experience. But... It did work! Patients who hardly ever talk to one another sat down and worked things out. Many of us worked long hours to write up commitments that would try to insure communications and provide real tools so that we could together adjust attitudes in ourselves and help others' attitudes change. Now, we will see if we can truly work together. I really got a lot from this week although it was a very difficult one. Sometimes I just thank God that I am here where I am able to really work on myself and benefit from all that is offered despite the discomfort of this "place."

I still work with the Catholic psychologist about 3 hours per week. This has really helped me out a lot. My parents visit once a month; I talk to them privately for a while, and then Dr. [redacted] works with all of us in a more "therapeutic" way. This is good since one of the problems I have had is this: I need to be "confrontative" with those I really love and care about. This is the commitment I made to the whole ward as part of the resolution stage of the whole problem we have all had lately. (Every ward member also made a specific commitment to our whole body, publicly!) Keeping a good balance between any leisure time I can take and my therapy and work schedule is a goal I continually am aware of.

So, my garden in our little ward courtyard keeps me occupied for a couple of hours weekly. The spring flowers are coloring the corners of the yard and the few vegetables I planted are desperately struggling to poke up through the rocky, hard soil.

Before I close,--- I pray and hope all the best for you and all you do. I remember you all often as I descend with my mind into my heart! May all you do be successful. Have a great week!

Your friend,

Pat Rommes

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I hope and pray that you are well and all goes well for you and the diocese! So much has been happening - that's why I included another of my " CCTV" from letters to help with some updating."

I have another formal strategy conference on Monday, May 24. I originally had decided to "cash out" (at least initiate the long process) that day. However I put off until my next formal conference in August because I've discussed more areas with Dr. (Catholic psychologist-friend) of my new sponsor-therapist, and I feel good about working now on some areas. I feel happy that my parents come one day per month, and Dr. meets with them and we all find this helpful. Our communications, particularly in the area of my homosexuality, has greatly improved. I'm really grateful for all their assistance. Our staff feels good about giving me a stronger positive sex role if I want the August also. I'll be here 1 year on June 5th. I cannot really say that all of my time here is flying just some part!"

Our classes' 12th ordination anniversary is May 23rd. I will celebrate a special "private" Mass this Sunday at 9pm...come staff & friends who can come. (3-4) at least I am allowed to celebrate Mass on Christmas, Easter & my anniversary. I'll remember you & all my class that day in a special way. I'll miss being with you next week at the Mass we have at the Holy Family convent on Christmas Eve & lunch afterward. That day we have "chopped beef" for lunch (ugh) but I'll just pretend I have "cheap salad" & wine. (I'll buy up my photos edges that day!) Please remember me also at Mass on the day you celebrate with your classmate.

I feel I am growing more & more as an adult. I thank God for this. I also feel I am developing into one of a "trusting" person, practically, also. I need that so very badly. Please tell them I said "hi."

Have a good week. May you...

Dear Monroe [Redacted],

Please hope that all goes well for you, and all you’re doing. I manage to stay active and “therapeutic” and continue to grow and take things one day at a time. The process becomes increasingly different as I come closer to my possible leaving. In August, I “walked out” on my staff agreed that I have reached benefit all I can get from here. I received a recommendation for outpatient status, this coming Tuesday, Nov. 16, at 1:30 pm, I have my final program staff conference. After this, if I am “okay,” formally, I’ll come up to the last three or four “exit” court to await being called to court for the judge’s decision. If he goes along with the staff... posture recommendation, and our county. Then I'll have 1 year of outpatient status in Venture County. I must find a job, and get a car & apartment and be on my own for that time—going to groups once/twice per week for ongoing therapy etc. I eagerly look forward to that experience of being out and practicing all I've learned in here. I am looking for a job, as for job openings etc. When will return to court? I cannot be sure. It could be soon after Christmas, or between Dec. & March. Paperwork in the state system (like the church, eh?!) is often complicated, complex, I know! I'll just have to continue being a true "patient" patient!!

I do have a special request. I have depleted most of the funds I have. REDACTED paid for most of the books. I' ordered as part of After my therapy class group here. But I have not had any additions to my patient account since you last came to see me. Would it please be possible to have a check for about $150.00? I definitely could use it for my own personal needs and small donations. I need it because I'm part of different groups that have no money for parties or special needs. I thank you for your assistance.

I'd also like to ask—after I leave here, is there a way I could get a loan of some kind from the Meridian so I can begin my new life on my own. Outside I have about $1400.00 saved up, but I can see that this will not go far in getting an apartment or car. Some basic needs rest.
Surely that phrase sounds a little "lazy" in asking, but I honestly would like to let you know how I feel and think as of now. I'd appreciate any comments you may have for me regarding these "thoughts and questions."

I appreciate your consideration in all these areas.

May all go well for you!

Sincerely and gratefully,

Dear Msgr. Rawden:

In the absence of His Eminence, I am writing to you concerning Father Patrick Roemer. It has come to my attention that he may be released toward the end of December and that he will be required to live within Ventura County.

I would not, of course, offer him the hospitality of the seminary without the approval of His Eminence. I consulted the faculty here, and we are all eager to manifest priestly compassion and concern toward Father Roemer. The faculty was unanimous in its willingness to have Father Roemer stay at the seminary if such be in accord with the wishes of His Eminence and the requirements of law. Our facilities are limited and we would not have a faculty room available, but it seems to me that a student room would be very pleasant in light of his present experience.

I would also find this arrangement to be a very good example to the student body, and I believe that Father Roemer's presence among us would be in accord with a statement I observed in the proposed code to the effect that no difficulties of the priesthood should be kept from seminarians.

Since I presume that you will be charged with making arrangements for Father Roemer, I wanted you to know that we are eager to be cooperative.

Fraternally yours in Christ.

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I send my greetings and best to you! I pray that all goes well for all you are involved in.

This Tuesday I have my last formal meeting with program staff—called "dispositional staffing." If all goes well there, I have noon to be out ward and must tell the staff called back to count. That probably will be after Christmas "anytime." Of course, "anytime" means just that.

In the state bureaucratic system, it could mean after the "Second Cong" because of paperwork. I've heard it expressed among Christian staff here.

I'm the nearest that "paperwork" is holding up the return of the book.

I just continue to be a "patient" patient. You that I know our could actually become a genuine "but"); they often ask me to translate odd

Dear [Name],

Another letter from me... I guess I've had so much on my mind lately. I hope your trip to home was successful and pleasant. Since I was "positively stopped" last week, I've met with my social worker. He needs to know exactly where I'll be before I leave here. If I'm granted the outpatient status by the judge, I just need a place to stay for about 4-6 weeks. I wonder if I could live in residence at St. John's during that time, as a "transition phase" until I can settle "independently" at my own apartment and find a job etc. I get a car of my own.
I previously wrote how I asked about this possibility. He said this question be up to you. This faculty there. I do not to know as soon as possible or my paperwork can be sent off to the county. If the answer is no, I do understand. I would appreciate hearing your feelings and reasons soon. If I cannot stay at the posts, I'll look elsewhere possibly at my parents house in St. John. This would be a good choice because I could more easily make the transition back into my own, independent residence in "society" by living near fellow funds as I look for a job at an apartment in the county area.
"Thank you for your contribution in this area. I always am appreciative of your kindness towards me.

May you be blessed in all you do!

"Second Chance" A Personal Testimony of God's Mercy, b. Pat Reiner

I just finished reading over my journal which had become like a close friend during my 22 months in a mental hospital. After I finished recalling the pain, struggles and joys I found there, tears welled up in my eyes. I clearly realized that the Lord truly had mercy on me. He gave me a second chance. Once a trusted person, I betrayed that trust by a serious crime. Instead of being sentenced to prison, I was sent to a state hospital. I used my time there well, motivated by a strong sense of God's mercy. I benefitted from the treatment and was freed in 22 months.

He Made His Home With Me

Before my time in the hospital, I recall how critical and even condemnatory I was of other peoples' faults. I read the newspapers, for example, and was very quick to criticize another's wrongdoing. I can see that until I had experienced the Lord's mercy towards me - and I was the one needing his mercy and forgiveness all along - I never actually had any true empathy and mercy for anyone else. I like to look on mercy as the gift of God "being present" to me, i.e., the Lord "making His home with me." This is why the story of Zacchaeus is one of my favorites (Luke 19:1-9). This little man, a public sinner, climbed a tree to see the Lord. Jesus met him where he "was at," a sinner in need of mercy. He told him "Hurry down, Zacchaeus, because I must stay at your house today." Jesus loved him and made his home with him. To me, this is what Jesus did for me. He did not turn me away. He made his home with me through all the difficult experiences I was encountering. I felt His merciful presence and knew I was not alone and because of this, I progressed.

Making Room for Others in My Heart

Since I received His mercy as a gift, I can now extend to others what I first received. Believe me, when I find another person in need of the mistakes they have made, I can feel a little of what they feel and be a merciful person in dealing with them. This experience reminds me of "hospitality." Hospitality means making room for someone in your heart, so to speak. The Lord made room for me in His heart; he shared my house. Now I can be hospitable to anyone who comes to me with a need. I can find room in my heart for them and reach out to them in any way I can.

There were times that I felt tempted to give it all up and toss in the towel, clam up, and no longer participate in therapy sessions. It was then that I recalled how easily I could now be sitting in prison where there is no chance for help. Most of the time, my attitude was positive since I experienced the Lord's mercy as a "second chance." In the hospital, I could get help. Prison would have meant more suffering and possibly death. I felt that God's mercy was spoken through my judge's final words at my last hearing when he said "If any man could benefit from treatment, this man can." I will never forget that. How good and merciful is the Lord!

One Day at a Time

One of the most relevant experiences that I remember was learning to take things just one day at a time. Some days seemed like an eternity as I delved into myself and faced areas of my life that I had tried to forget for so long. The therapeutic process seemed endless: I had so many problems. However, the more I looked to the front door (release) and was not true to the daily process of growth, the harder it got. As I relaxed more and more and took things one day at a time, my attitude changed. I can honestly say that my realization that God was "with me" motivated me to accept myself and freed me to work on my problems and not worry about "getting out." This realization buoyed me up and enabled me to face the now of each day and thus gradually begin to grow into the person He had originally called me to be.

The Grace-Filled Circle of Mercy

In the Beatitudes Jesus does say that mercy will come to those who give it. (Matthew 5:7). It seems to me that a beautiful cycle is begun and continued in all of this. I feel and receive the Lord's mercy; now I can reach out and share what I received as a gift with others. If I then give this mercy as a gift, I will again receive it. I need mercy, and I receive it. I give it, and receive it again. This is the opposite of the "vicious circle," an end to the Old Testament law of retaliation, "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." This is what we can call a "grace-filled" circle. "Happy are those who are merciful to others, God will be merciful to them." How beautiful.

How can I practice this mercy? I find that the evening news is a good place to start. We are always hearing about murderers, thieves, rapists and sometimes I find it easy to start condemning and assigning them to prison, hell, and other places. Wow, and here I was once myself in front of a judge. How can I ever pass judgement on others? Because I have personally experienced God's mercy, I am far less critical of others in trouble. I "fell" but was offered through God's mercy a chance to pick myself up and live again.
Give Freely What You Have Received Freely

A few statements from my journal may help to illustrate my feelings a little more in detail:

"I note that for the first time I can tell about my inner fears and accept them as such and not be so judgemental and condemnatory of myself. Thank God, I have this chance; maybe God's mercy is being accepted as a gift."

"I have many painful feelings and thoughts about myself. I find it hard to accept that I did offend and hurt many people. I judge myself very cruelly and tend to give myself many reasons for not loving myself and to feel sorry and have loads of self-pity. This will not help me to grow at all. I can be a loving person, caring and sensitive, yet my actions were not that way. I need to learn the meaning of mature, adult love."

On some particularly difficult days, I used to reflect on the little things in life that I began to appreciate as never before........

"One thing I noted lately... all the little gleams of joy that come from experiencing the little things... The beauty of rain and a few flowers in the cracks of the courtyard concrete and that REDACTED gave me a little plant and flower book yesterday. I so much enjoy and appreciate these little gestures. In here, it's these things that seem to awaken my feelings that things are okay and God is so very good to me."

I was so fortunate to have many friends visit me while at the hospital. I wrote: "I am overwhelmed with a feeling of joy and gratitude that I have many people outside of this place who call for me. God's mercy is so full."

I offer these thoughts and reflections as a way to help you personally reflect on God's mercy in your life. I am sure that my thoughts could be repeated over and over as the experiences of so many people regarding the special ways God has shown His mercy.

The important thing is to recall God's mercy and to be grateful. Then......... give as a gift what you and I have received as a gift. May we all be blessed in our efforts to do just that.

Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good. His mercy endures forever.

I do not agree with that.

If he is to be housed in some religious place I would suggest that he go to Ojai. (Bruno)

Tuesday

Dear Cardinal Manning,

Greeting in the midst of Lent! I hope the chimney is still "afloat" and not under too much water. It's been so wet here that weeds and fungo are nearly growing more coal concrete walks! At least it's grown in honor of the coming St. Patrick's Day. I'll be 39 that day (truly!), and probably remain in that status for another year to come.

I still "wait", as usual, for a divine resolution to my case. Last Thursday, I was assigned my former judge—this is good because he is fair and honest. He recently had a triple bypass heart surgery, or perhaps the broken with his suitably low dress.
a clear & perhaps more understand¬ ing judge. (I can always hope).
The outcome could be - 1) coming back live for more time, an outpatient status for 1 year, or 2) probation for 1 year with a provision for mental health therapy, 3) county jail for 6 months - 1 year. The latter is our D.A.'s office plan, and even if I do get the outpatient status, the D.A. will still recommend a jail term after wards because he does not consider this place any punishment. (Could ordinarily serve him here for a very short time & the just may change his viewpoint?!) Whatever is decided I put I'll accept well. Of I do get jail - maybe I could qualify for the work furlough program.
Then I could go out & back in the daytime & be incarcerated at night. I shall take all my classes and groups, and have even picked up some cooking & independent living skills classes that are really great! Some day I'll meet you for dinner, I guess you'd think twice about that offer!!!

I still arise daily at 3:30 a.m. for (no! not monster prayer) my work, janitorial work, in the front main lobby. I've accumulated vast piles of money (I am paid 600 hours, as I had 44 hours per month), please do not inform Monsignor Hunter of this, as I may end up having some taken out just kidding.

I pray all the best for you and the Divine. May all you be successfully blessed.

Dear Cardinal Manning,

I hope that your "ad litem" visit to Rome was a positive and blessed experience for you. I am so happy to have been let out of atrocity by Judge Shaw until May 12's sentencing date, that I wanted to say "hello" and show that have and pray with you. I feel so grateful to be allowed to stay at such a very beautiful and compassionate place, The Brothers are very kind and thoughtful toward me. I cannot leave here (as a condition of my "O.S." status) except to visit my lawyer or Pontine or the probation officer. I work with him because he must make a recommendation to Court on my future plans + needs. We hope the judge grants me probation & not jail. My parents drove up from [REDACTED] on last Wednesday and brought me down. After 2 years, I marveled at the beauty of the outside: green hills etc. This is a gorgeous weather the year, naturally as well as ethically!

I spend my day here reading, writing, praying (+ they have a very nice new chapel + very prayerfully done) + relating, talking, and just doing nothing.
I can see a wind shear if that's right now. Yesterday I had some visitors from former parish in Santa Barbara & I got a lot of rain. It's raining very heavily now, so I guess I'll not get to see the pond just outside my door for some time. (At least it'll be properly full up!) I miss some of my visits and fellow-patients from Atascadero, but I do not miss the "place."

Have a good week, and I pray that all continues to go well for you and all you do. Again, I am thankful for your kind concern and prayerful interest and supportiveness.

Very sincerely,
A brother in Christ,

Dear Monsignor Hawkins,

I hope all goes well for you! Now that I am settled in here, I thought I'd say "hello." You know what is happening. I feel very grateful and happy that Judge Shaw gave me an "O.S." status until my sentencing date on May 12. I must stay here on the grounds, and leave only to see my lawyer or the probation officer. I hope that the judge grants me probation with the provision I work with the outpatient staff. Then, I can look for an apartment or place to live and begin my job at "S.C.R.C." if the judge approves. I will need assistance with transportation then.

I'll keep you informed as to what develops. Meanwhile, I am enjoying my stay here. The Brothers are truly kind and hospitable.

Have a great week.

Sincerely and gratefully,

REDACTED telephoned my office at 1:15 pm today to inform us on the outcome of today's hearing, it lasted three hours. There was a Dr. present at the hearing.

The judge gave Father Romer a suspended sentence with ten years probation. He will be reporting regularly to Mr. Ventura Co. Probation Office.

Father Romer was informed that he would be subject to "Search and Seizure" with out warning.

Secondly, that he must be accompanied by another adult if he goes anywhere there are children.

Third, Father Romer must make restitution for court costs as follows: $1,260 for the REDACTED Case and $1,770 for the REDACTED Case. The Judge, however did not close that part of the case, so there is a possibility some of the other parents may come forward.

The review hearing is scheduled for Monday, November 21, 1983.
Priest who molested children gets probation

By Gregg Zoroya

A Thousand Oaks priest convicted in 1981 for child molestation today was given 10 years of strictly supervised probation.

The Rev. Patrick Roemer, 38, of St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church, was given a suspended prison term of eight years and three months and placed on probation by Superior Court Judge Robert Shaw.

Shaw noted that Roemer had already served two years in custody at Atascadero State Hospital, where he was committed after his conviction in 1981. He molested the children in 1980.

In addition, Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor successfully sought restitution for the victims' families to help parents pay for therapy.

Testimony today by several of those parents was very critical of the Catholic archdiocese.

The parents testified about their children's suffering, and blamed the Catholic Church for doing nothing to help them.

"We thought the church would step forward and say, "Hey, what can we do to help?" But they haven't done a damn thing," said the father of a 14-year-old boy who was molested by Roemer.

During a tense moment this morning, one boy's mother testified that her distraught son finally told her, on Christmas Day, 1980, about being molested by Roemer several months earlier.

Her son told her that, during a church-sponsored camping trip in San Bernardino County, he was molested at night in the cot where he was sleeping.

She quoted her son as saying: "As he (Roemer) was talking about how wonderful God was... he started moving his hands down into my pants."

The woman said her son felt something was wrong with him, that he had done a terrible thing.

The parents entered their sons in therapy programs, but several said they can no longer afford the payments. All the parents talked about how the molestations had changed their children's personalities, and their own views of the church.

"Did you look to the church for support, help and assistance?" Taylor asked one mother.

"I did," the woman answered. "I called Catholic Social Services and they told them. And they said they couldn't get involved."

"In fact, I wrote a very long, appealing letter to Cardinal (Timothy) Manning, and I got a brief note back from his secretary saying they would pray for us... I was heartbroken."

Then she added: "After two years, they (church officials) have done nothing."
Thursday note

Dear Monsieur Hawkes,

Thank you very much for your letter (a quick response). The encouragement, affection and gift of money are all appreciated.

I did have my final program staffing conference Tuesday, and it passed. I was approved, to go within 3 months (or so). I could return to court for final decision. I'm very happy and also "lager." I'd appreciate your passing this letter on to the Cardinal at his return, as you said. I apologize: You did send me that check for the RE. I'm sorry I forgot. You mentioned about trying to get up to see me before Christmas - if you are able, I'd really enjoy that. I had a visit from my parents today. I sent well. They went every 4 on Skelax.
May all go well for you! I Hope you Thanksgiving will be a special day.

Convicted Priest Named in Earlier Molestations
Records Show Roemer Admitted Homosexual Acts With Santa Barbara Boys

By JAMES QUINN, Times Staff Writer

A former Thousand Oaks parish priest who last week was placed on 10 years probation for molesting 15 local boys has admitted molesting an equal number of youngsters during an earlier assignment in Santa Barbara, according to court documents.

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, a 39-year-old admitted homosexual, reportedly made the new admission during interviews with Ventura County Probation Department staff members prior to his sentencing by Ventura Superior Court Robert L. Shaw.

According to the interviews, Roemer admitted molesting about 15 young boys during assignments at two Santa Barbara area Catholic parishes between 1970 and 1978.

In pre-sentencing interviews, Roemer also told probation officers that he twice sought help from priest-counselors in Santa Barbara and that he told the counselors about his child molestation.

No charges were filed in Santa Barbara against Roemer, according to Ventura County prosecutors.

Roemer, known affectionately as “Father Pat” to youths he counseled at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks from 1972 to 1984, pleaded no contest in 1982 to 13 felony counts of child molestation. He also signed a confession admitting to molesting 12 other boys ages 8 to 14 in the Conejo Valley.

For the past two years, Roemer, who remains a priest, has been undergoing court-ordered treatment at Atascadero State Hospital aimed at reorienting his sexual interest away from boys to adult males.

At last week’s hearing, Atascadero officials said Roemer had made substantial progress and should be released under strict probation.

Shaw approved a plan under which Roemer will live in a secluded Woodland Hills guest house and work at a West Los Angeles religious bookstore.

While turning aside a prosecution request that Roemer face a year in jail, Shaw imposed a suspended sentence of 8 years, 4 months. The judge said the sentence would be carried out if Roemer should engage in further child molestation.

Shaw also ordered Roemer to pay the costs of therapy for his victims.

At an earlier pre-sentencing hearing for Roemer, parents of Conejo Valley victims testified that they had notified church officials in Thousand Oaks and Los Angeles that their sons had been molested by Roemer but that nothing was done.

One mother testified she wrote a detailed letter to the office of Cardinal Timothy Manning in Los Angeles but in reply received only a short note saying they would pray for her.

A spokesman at the Archdiocese of Los Angeles declined comment.

Another mother told how her son was molested by Roemer while on a church-sponsored camping trip near San Bernardino. She quoted theboy as saying: “As (Roemer) was talking about how wonderful God was, he started moving his hands down into my pants.”

Several parents testified they notified Father Colm O’Ryan, pastor at St. Paschal,

In willingness in the past to pay for extra security, the City Council has approved a committee recommendation that such an ordinance be drafted. There will be a public hearing before the council votes on the ordinance, Bernson said.

A spokesman for the Los Angeles Police Department said the department would not oppose Bernson's ordinance but would be more enthusiastic about it if city police officers were going to provide the extra security.

'May Be Only Practical Option'

"It may be the only practical option Bernson has, but it is not the most desirable one," said William Booth, the department spokesman.

Bernson said he, too, would prefer to use city police officers. But he said that local officials said they are not sure whether the city's current law permits the selective employment of city police in neighborhoods where residents are willing to pay extra.

"It would mean that more affluent communities would be able to avail themselves of something that poorer neighborhoods can't afford, and that could lead to an accusation of unequal protection under the law," said James Williams, director of intergovernmental relations for the Office of the Chief Legislative Analyst.

Williams said a bill has been introduced in the Assembly that would authorize use of city police in special districts.

Even in its present form, the proposed ordinance would be subject to challenge as a prohibited method of assessment under the terms of Proposition 13.

Assessments Must Have Direct Benefit

Since Proposition 13 was approved, assessments levied by special districts must be shown to confer a direct benefit on the property of the owners being assessed.

Roberts, the assistant city attorney, who is drafting the ordinance said recently that an argument could be made that extra security in a neighborhood does not necessarily improve the value of private property in that neighborhood.

"Such a case could be made, although I think the law is on our side," Roberts said.

Robbins said he is(Job) convinced that frequent security patrols in the Tampa-Bryan neighborhood would improve the value of his property.

"In my building, I think it would make a substantial difference in the vacancy rate. It would definitely have an economic impact," he said.

of their sons' reports of molestation but that no action was taken against Roemer.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph E. Taylor said that "subsequent to church officials being notified, at least 11 more boys were molested."

A spokesman for St. Paul's said Ryan was on extended leave and unavailable for comment. The pastor previously declined comment in the case.

During his three years at St. Paul's, Roemer was widely praised for his work with children and sometimes was asked to local police to counsel troubled youths.

The Conejo Valley Parent Teacher Asso., awarded him its 1980 Honorary Service Award for his work as counselor to children and organizer of youth activities.

After Roemer's arrest in January, 1981, parents began a letter-writing campaign on his behalf, accusing police and prosecutors of being too quick to believe Roemer's youthful accusers.

At the priest's preliminary hearing, a handful of parents physically shielded Roemer from reporters. One woman screamed at a photographer seeking to take the priest's picture.

In defending Roemer, parents contended that priests who work with young boys are frequently the victims of molestation accusations.

Such support ceased within 10 days of Roemer's arrest, however, when Dist. Atty. Michael Bradbury released a confession signed by Roemer detailing the numerous times he had molested thousands of boys.

Prosecutor Taylor argued in court that the high degree of trust Roemer had in the Conejo Valley, and his abuse of that trust, was a reason for sending him to jail for a year.

Taylor also noted that the molestation acts were premeditated and occurred "over a very long period of time."

But Bruce Mayfield, Roemer's attorney, argued that the priest had cooperated with police and psychiatrists, and that other priests and therapists have been in contact with Roemer.

Father Roemer has agreed to meet with his psychiatric problems.

Mayfield also contended that Roemer had nearly two years at Atascadero was "for all practical purposes a form of incarceration."

Taylor estimated that Roemer will have to pay therapy cost for his victims of at least $3,000 and "probably a lot more as time goes on."

Dear Brothers,

You who were ordained to serve our needs have done us an ill service in the case cited in the attached copy of a newspaper clipping. When I read this account in our local Star-Free Press in late May, I set about investigating as well as I could the truth of the assertions, refusing during my search an invitation to comment on the issue through the media. I assured the reporter that I was involving myself in the issue in the way I think best.

Now that I have looked into the situation, I see this as a classic example of the Good Samaritanproblem: in this case a bishop, a priest and a social worker passing by looking in disgust at the victims covered with blood, dirt, vomit and seminal fluid, the three keeping their ecclesiastical garments clean and clutching protectively the communal purse. Whether any lay person, except the district attorney and a newspaper reporter came to these people's aid I have yet to learn.

I am ashamed of the actions of my bishop and of Catholic Social Services in this case (and I recall now the recent child abuse case by a nun in the diocese, where the family had to resort to the courts after being refused help through the chancery office.) I have reviewed my own life and brought to recollection my own sins of fear, insensitivity, hypocrisy and idolatry, so I can say to you lovingly, "Dear Brothers" and ask God to complete the work of forgiveness in me.

One of the tasks I need to do to see that this does not happen again in the Catholic community is to confront you with my thoughts and feelings. I am grateful that St. James advises us to do this privately at least in the first instance. Due to a mild Parkinson's disease, I cannot drive to Los Angeles for appointments with you, so I must use the mail. My accommodating agnostic husband (I am a convert to the church after my marriage) would probably drive me to the city, but I chose not to ask him to do so, since he is quixotic to attempt to have any influence on the bureaucracy of the church.

I have been given to understand that Fr. Roemer has had some support from the clergy and I pray that you will stand by him in the difficult days ahead. I am told that Fr. __________ has had even more fraternal help in his burn out experience, and I hope you will act wisely in his regard. But where is any concern by the clergy for the victims of Fr. Roemer's disorder and for their understandably angry and confused parents?

Please do not ask your secretaries to reply to this letter. It is addressed to you personally and I prefer no acknowledgement of it to one by an aide, and please do not tell me about the legal dangers of involving the church in this issue. I have been long married to REDACTED and know about law suits and lawyers' games, but I also know about integrity and something about the creative power and readiness of the Holy Spirit to help us find ways to behave as Christians. I beg you to find a way to help these justifiably angry and confused parents whom you have injured by your rejection, and I ask you to apologize to the community whom you have offended by acting as you have in your official capacities in this case.

May Almighty God have mercy on us, forgive us our sins and bring us to everlasting life.

Dear Cardinal Manning:

A particularly sensitive issue was raised recently in a Ventura County court case dealing with a Catholic priest. It begs for a response from the Archdiocese and we would hope an interview with you might be possible.

During a hearing before Ventura County Superior Court Judge Robert Shaw on Thursday, May 26, the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer was sentenced for the crime of child molestation. He was placed on a program of supervised probation.

Just before the sentencing, five parents of children who were victims of Roemer testified about how these young boys have dealt with problems stemming from the crimes. A common theme dominating this testimony was a disillusionment and disappointment with the Catholic Church for its purported failure to offer these families any assistance in the two years since the crimes occurred. Said REDACTED whose 14-year-old son REDACTED had been molested by Roemer: "We thought the church would step forward and say, 'Hey, what can we do to help?' But they haven't done a damn thing."

During another portion of the hearing, Ventura County Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor asked REDACTED, whose son REDACTED was another victim: "Did you look to the church...for support, help and assistance?" She replied: "I did. I called Catholic Social Services and told them. And they said they couldn't get involved. In fact, I wrote a very long appealing letter to Cardinal Manning, and I got a brief note back from his secretary saying they would pray for us... I was heartbroken."

The testimony during the hearing was the subject of a front-page story in the Star-Free Press on May 26. After the hearing, Mrs. REDACTED and Mr. and Mrs. REDACTED of Thousand Oaks, the parents of two other boys, and who were victimized by Roemer, visited the offices of the Star-Free Press to expand on their frustrations with the church. We have not publicized these further allegations and will not without first giving the church a chance to respond.

Since the publication of the May 26 article on the Rev. Roemer's sentencing, we have received feedback from Catholics in Ventura County who have expressed surprise and disbelief that the church has reportedly done nothing for these parents or their children.

We would like to set the record straight. Has the parish or Archdiocese considered action to assist the victims of these unfortunate crimes? Is Mrs.

statement correct that she failed to receive a full reply to her appeal for assistance?

We believe that a full and fair airing of the story is important to allay concerns raised by the courtroom statements of these distraught parents. We respectfully request that you grant an interview with a reporter from the Star-Free Press, at your convenience.

Attention: Mr. Stan Whisenhunt, Managing Editor

Dear Mr. Whisenhunt:

Cardinal Manning has referred to me for reply your letter to him of June 22, 1983. As you may remember I represented Father Patrick Roemer in the matter before Ventura County counsel was engaged. There are some facts which I think you should be aware of and which I think will answer the inquiries contained in your letter: (1) Father REDACTED the co-administrator of Father Roemer's parish contacted the parents of every child involved and expressed his sympathy and willingness of the church to be of assistance. (2) Early in the case before any of the arraignment proceedings were conducted, at the instructions of the Chancery Office, I contacted as many of the parents as would speak with me. Some refused because the District Attorney requested them not to discuss the matter with me. This is no criticism of the District Attorney. He was simply fulfilling his responsibilities as the prosecutor in the case and his refusal is understood. However, among those I talked with was the lady who testified in court that when she requested help from the Archdiocese she was told by letter that they would pray for her. I talked with this lady about April 2, 1981 before her request and she advised me that she had medical expenses that were close to $500.00 and that she would like to have help from the church. I passed this on to His Eminence Cardinal Manning. He had a check for $500.00 sent to her and the letter of transmittal said in part "we are attaching a check for $500.00. This hopefully will assist you in paying for your maternity costs. The genuine concern for the Church, its ministers and its people is deeply appreciated. We shall indeed keep a prayerfull remembrance for you."

I ask you, does this put a different face on the story as you had it heretofore? And you note she was asking for personal medical help - nothing for her son.

Furthermore, I have been discussing with Father Roemer's probation officer the matter of psychiatric expenses that Judge Shaw has ordered Father Roemer to pay. Although this is basically Father Roemer's responsibility he is without funds and I have arranged for Father to cover his responsibilities under the court order.

For your information as far as I know there has been no effort by parents to contact the Church concerning this matter except as indicated in your letter. The efforts in this area were those of Father REDACTED and myself at the direction of the Chancery Office mentioned above. His Eminence nor any of the Chancery officials, to my knowledge, have any additional information. Please call me if I can be of further assistance.

program. The program is designed to address the problem of child abuse in the community. It provides a safe and supportive environment for children and their families to receive help and support.

The program offers a range of services including counseling, education, and support groups. It also provides resources for families to access legal and medical services.

In addition to the program, there are also community programs that focus on preventing abuse. These programs work with schools, churches, and community centers to educate people about the risks of abuse and how to prevent it.

The community is encouraged to participate in the program and to report any concerns they may have. They are asked to be vigilant and to report any suspicious activity or behavior.

The goal of the program is to prevent further abuse and to provide support and resources for those affected by abuse. The community is working together to create a safer and more inclusive environment for everyone.
Dear Cardinal Manning,

I surely hope and pray that you are well! I thought I'd share a little, and let you know (as we sometimes say!) "when I am at"

I'm still involved Monday and Thursday evenings in therapy in Sherman Oaka. That experience so really helpful, I've discovered. About 4 weeks ago, I "re-visited" Atascadero - this time, however, I could "walk out." That was a good "letting go," Sometimes this stuff needs to "know" and put that some of these efforts are helpful (don't we all need to know that?!)

RE: FATHER PATRICK ROEMER
DATE: 15 NOVEMBER 1983

Monsignor Hawkes:

I have searched the file of Father Pat Roemer, and find no indication of even a suspicion of wrong-doing before 27 January 1981. This was the date of his arrest, which was reported to me by Father REDACTED.

There was a newspaper article which claimed that a parent came to Father REDACTED sometime before this date and that the matter was investigated by the Sheriff's Department and then dropped. There are some implications in the newspaper article that this was a cover-up on the part of Father REDACTED and the REDACTED at St. Paschal Baylon, who happens to be a member of the Sheriff Department.

Both REDACTED REDACTED and Father REDACTED have assured me that previous to 27 January 1981 no report was ever made to the Chancery Office by Father REDACTED regarding the condition of Father Roemer. Likewise, Father REDACTED and Father REDACTED are both of the opinion that Father REDACTED did not report this matter to the Chancery Office before 27 January 1981. Father REDACTED added that he was sure that Father REDACTED had mentioned none of this to anyone before 27 January 1981.

Corporation; PATRICK ROEMER;
FATHER COLM O'RYAN; ST. PASCHAL
BAYLON CATHOLIC CHURCH; an

DOES 1 through 50, inclusive.

Defendants.

Plaintiffs complain of Defendants, and each of them and allege:

ALLEGATIONS COMMON TO ALL CAUSES OF ACTION

1. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, associate or otherwise, of Defendants DOES I through 50, inclusive, and each of them, are unknown to Plaintiffs, who therefore sue said Defendants by such fictitious names and will seek leave of court to amend this complaint to show their true names and capacities when the same are ascertained. Said Defendants are sued as principals or agents, servants and employees of said principals and all of the acts performed by them were performed within the scope of their authority and employment.

2. At all times herein mentioned, each of the Defendants was the agent of each of the remaining Defendants, and was acting within the purpose and scope of said agency and employment.

3. At all times herein mentioned, Defendant POMAN CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP OF LOS ANGELES (hereinafter "ARCHBISHOP") was and is a California corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California and authorized to transact and transacting business in the State of California, with its principal place of business in the County of Los Angeles.

4. At all times herein mentioned, Defendant ARCHDIOCESE OF LOS ANGELES, EDUCATION AND WELFARE CORPORATION (hereinafter "ARCHDIOCESE"), was and is a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California and authorized to transact and transacting business in the State of California, with its principal place of business in the County of Los Angeles.
5. Plaintiffs are informed and believe and thereon allege that at all times herein mentioned, Defendant ST. PASchal BAYLON CATHOLIC CHURCH (hereinafter "ST. PASchal's") was and is an incorporated association sued herein under the name by which it is known, doing business as a church with its principal office in the City of Thousand Oaks, County of Ventura, State of California.

6. At all times herein mentioned, Defendant PATRICK ROEMER (hereinafter "ROEMER") was a priest of the Roman Catholic Church employed by Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, and ST. PASchal's, and each of them, and in doing the acts herein alleged was acting in the said employment.

7. At all times herein mentioned, FATHER COLM O'RYAN (hereinafter "O'RYAN") was a priest of the Roman Catholic Church employed by Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, and ST. PASchal's, and each of them, in a managerial capacity, and in doing the acts herein alleged was acting in the said employment and in his managerial capacity.

8. Prior to the incident alleged hereinafter, Defendant ROEMER informed various counselors and psychologists employed by the Catholic Church of Defendant ROEMER's tendencies toward pedophilia, his prior sexual molestations of minor children, by Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, and ST. PASchal's. Plaintiffs are informed and believe and thereon allege that said counselors, psychologists and other persons knew or should have known that Defendant ROEMER would repeat these acts on minors with whom he would come in contact during the course and scope of his employment. Said psychologists, counselors and other persons are named herein as Defendants DOES 1 through 20. When Plaintiffs ascertain the true names of said Defendants, Plaintiffs will seek leave to amend this complaint to add said names.

9. REDACTED December 27, 1980, a parishioner parent of a minor who had been sexually molested by Defendant ROEMER informed Defendant O'RYAN that her son had been severely sexually molested by Defendant ROEMER and that such act was committed during the ROEMER's employment. Defendant O'RYAN assured said parent that the matter would be investigated and remedied. Thereafter, having been notified of Defendant ROEMER's molestation of a minor, Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, O'RYAN, and ST. PASCHAL's continued to employ Defendant ROEMER as a priest, and failed to take any precautions to insure the safety of minor children coming into contact with Defendant ROEMER. Moreover, said Defendants continued to employ Defendant ROEMER in a position at ST. PASCHAL's, placing him in charge of children's services and encouraging him to use his position of authority as priest and teacher to lead the children of ST. PASCHAL's parishioners in their religious learning at all times herein mentioned.

L.A. archdiocese sued over child molestations by priest

Mothers of four boys seeking damages for psychological trauma in suit

By WALT STEGMIR
Daily News Staff Writer

The archdiocese of Los Angeles was sued Thursday over sexual molestations committed more than three years ago by an Thousand Oaks priest.

The mothers of four boys who the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer was accused of molesting filed the civil lawsuit in Ventura County Superior Court.

Roemer, 39, pleaded no contest to three counts of felony lewd behavior with children, and was found to be a mentally disordered sex offender. Altogether the district attorney's office charged that Roemer fondled eight boys.

Defendants in the lawsuit are the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles, St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks, Roemer, and his supervisor at the time, the Rev. Cohn O’Ryan.

The mothers are seeking unspecified monetary damages for psychological trauma and emotional suffering they say resulted from incidents that occurred in 1980 and 1981 involving Roemer.

Roemer was a priest at St. Paschal Baylon. In February 1981 he was charged with five counts of lewd behavior with young boys and three counts of misdemeanor child annoyance. He admitted to sheriff's deputies that he molested the children, according to court documents.

Roemer spent 22 months in Atascadero State Hospital before being released on probation last May. He was last living in the San Fernando Valley and working in West Los Angeles.

O’Ryan is no longer at the church. He was named as a defendant under the theory that he knew in late December 1980 that Roemer was charged with fondling a boy, yet neither he nor the Catholic Church took any precautions to ensure the safety of other children.

A 7-year-old boy and 10-year-old boy were subsequently fondled by Roemer in January 1981, according to court documents.

Attorney Louis Samonsky Jr. of Camarillo filed the lawsuit on behalf of the mothers and their sons. Samonsky said the lawsuit was not filed for three years because it took this long for the mothers to find out the Catholic Church would do nothing in this case.

"The Catholic Church just turned its back on them," Samonsky said.

No one was available at either St. Paschal Baylon Church or the archdiocese to comment on the lawsuit.

Although the lawsuit seeks no specific amount of damages, it seeks money for medical and psychological treatment of the boys. Samonsky said one boy underwent an extreme personality change because of the molestations.

The lawsuit also seeks punitive damages on the grounds that Roemer acted maliciously in fondling the boys to obtain sexual gratification for himself and the church failed to take steps to curb Roemer, even though it knew or should have known of his tendencies toward pedophilia.

During the criminal proceedings against Roemer, he was interviewed by two psychiatrists. According to court documents, he told Dr. Ronald S. Patterson that his desire to touch children for pleasure went back to the 1970s and this need to touch children got stronger. Roemer also told Patterson that he contacted a clinical psychologist in Santa Barbara, who was also a priest, about his behavior.

In an interview with Dr. Ronald A. Markham, Roemer admitted involvement with more than 20 children dating back to 1970, according to court documents.

O'RYAN, AND ST. PASCHAL'S

(Negligent Employment, Punitive Damages)

97. Plaintiff REDACTED realleges and incorporates herein this reference each and every allegation contained in paragraphs 86 through 88, inclusive, of his Fourteenth Cause of Action and each and every allegation contained in his Fifteenth and Sixteenth Causes of Action, as if set forth fully herein.

98. Plaintiff REDACTED is informed and believes and thereon alleges that all times herein mentioned, Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, O'RYAN, and DOES 21 through 30 were responsible in some manner in hiring, employing and placing Defendant ROEMER in his position as an employed priest at ST. PASchal'S.

99. Plaintiff REDACTED is informed and believes and theron alleges that all times herein mentioned Defendant ROEMER was in charge of children's services at ST. PASchal'S. Plaintiff is further informed and believes and theron alleges that in said capacity, Defendant ROEMER was encouraged to and did frequently come in contact with minor children.

100. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that prior to placing Defendant ROEMER in said position of employment as above-described, Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, O'RYAN and ST. PASchal'S knew or should have known that Defendant ROEMER had sexually molested and would continue to molest minors with whom he came in contact.
101. In spite of said knowledge, Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, O'RYAN and ST. PASCHAL'S continued to employ Defendants ROEMER in said capacity, and failed to warn minors or their parents or guardians of Defendant ROEMER'S conduct.

102. As a proximate result of said Defendants' employment of Defendant ROEMER, and ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, O'RYAN and ST. PASCHAL'S failure to warn as above-alleged, Plaintiff REDACTED came into contact with Defendant ROEMER and suffered the injuries as above alleged, which injuries Defendants ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, O'RYAN, and ST. PASCHAL'S knew or should have known would occur.

103. As a direct and proximate result of said negligent employment and of said failure to warn by Defendants, Plaintiff has suffered and continues to suffer mental and emotional distress and as a proximate result thereof has been required to and continues to receive the aid, treatment, counseling and assistance of psychiatrists, psychologists and physicians, the services of which have caused him to suffer monetary damage in an amount not yet ascertained, but which will be shown by an amendment to this complaint or according to proof.

104. As a direct and proximate result of said negligent employment and failure to warn by Defendants, and each of them, Plaintiff has suffered severe and permanent emotional distress, all to his general damage in a sum within the jurisdiction of this Court.

105. The conduct of Defendants, and each of them, as hereinabove alleged, in continuing to employ Defendant ROEMER and in failing to warn Plaintiff or his parents or guardians was in conscious disregard of the rights of Plaintiff and thereby entitles Plaintiff to punitive and exemplary damages in a sum to be shown at trial.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

A. Introduction

Plaintiffs' first amended complaint totally misses the point which was made and sustained by this Court at the time of defendant's demurrer to plaintiffs' original complaint.

The demurrer was sustained because the plaintiff failed to allege with legal sufficiency that defendant Roman Catholic Archbishop could be held vicariously liable for the sexual misconduct of its priests, in this case the defendant Patrick Roemer. In plaintiff's original complaint the plaintiffs alleged the following:

1. On page 3, paragraph 6, that "defendant "Patrick Roemer was a priest of the Roman Catholic Church employed by defendants' Archbishop, Archdiocese, and St. Paschel's, and each of them, and in doing the acts herein alleged was acting in the course and scope of said employment."

2. On page 3, paragraph 7, "... and in doing the acts herein alleged was acting in the course and scope of said employment and in his managerial capacity."

3. On page 3, paragraph 8, "... his prior sexual molestations of minor children, some of which were performed during the course and scope of defendant Romer's employment."
4. Plaintiff further alleges that all other sexual acts were within "course and scope" at page 4, paragraph 9; at page 6, paragraph 14; at page 14, paragraph 37; at page 20, paragraph 60; at page 27, paragraph 86; at page 27, paragraph 87.

Now the plaintiffs have filed a first amended complaint which alleges nothing new in this regard. Plaintiffs simply repeat the conclusion and allegation that defendant Roemer acted in the "course and scope" and then plaintiffs have thrown in for good measure that:

"Defendant Patrick Roemer . . . was a priest of the Roman Catholic Church, in charge of children's services at St. Paschel's, . . . and in doing the acts herein alleged was acting in the course and scope of said employment." (Page 3, paragraph 6.)

and that:

"Defendant Roemer told said counselors, psychologists, priests and other personnel that said acts of molestation were performed during the course and scope of said defendant Roemer's employment." (Page 3, paragraph 8.) (The underscored is all that is new in plaintiffs' allegations.)
These changes do not cure the defects of the previous complaint. There are only changes in style and format, but not substance.

B. Authority for Demurrer and Motion to Strike

A defendant may demurrer to a complaint when it appears on the face of the complaint that the pleading does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. (Code of Civil Procedure, §430.10(e).)

A complaint must state facts constituting a complete cause of action without the aid of conjectured facts not stated. (Lambert v. Southern Counties Gas Co. (1959) 52 C.2d 347, 352.)

If a pleading is not only insufficient, but it is evident that it cannot be made sufficient, a demurrer without leave to amend may be employed. (Wilson v. Sharp (1954) 42 C.2d 675, 677; Barr Lumber Company v. Shaffer (1951) 108 Cal.App.2d 4, 23.)

A defendant may also demurrer to a complaint when it appears from the face thereof that the complaint is uncertain. (Code of Civil Procedure, §430.10(f).)
Every statement of fact in a complaint must be direct and certain and not by way of inference, or a demurrer to the complaint for uncertainty will lie. (Kraner v. Halsey (1889) 82 C. 209, 212; Bernstein v. Piller (1950) 98 Cal.App.2d 441, 443-444.)

A defendant may also demurrer to a complaint where it appears from the face thereof that there is a defect or misjoinder of parties. (Code of Civil Procedure, §430.10(a).)

I. ALMA W. CLEARLY STANDS FOR THE PROPOSITION THAT REGARDLESS OF THE WORK A PRIEST OR CLERGYMAN PERFORMS, EVEN IF IT IS RELATED TO "CHILDREN'S SERVICES," SEXUAL MISCONDUCT IS ALWAYS BEYOND THE COURSE AND SCOPE OF HIS CLERICAL DUTIES.

Consequently, Alma W. demands that as a matter of law, when Fr. Roemer began molesting said plaintiffs he was removed from the course and scope of his clerical duties because his wrongful action has become so attenuated that the law will not hold the defendant, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Los Angeles, a corporation sole ("Archbishop"), vicariously liable. Further, in the instant case, not only are Fr. Roemer's acts so "attenuated" that the law flatly refuses to impose liability, but defendant Fr. Roemer's actions are in no way pursuant to his occupational duties as a priest; in fact, his conduct is totally contradictory to the purpose of his clerical duties.
Sexual molestation bears no relation to the performance of one's duties as a spiritual counselor and clearly is not, in the words of Alma W., "in pursuit of the occupational duties" designed for a priest in performing his role as a spiritual guide for the young, -- which is precisely why plaintiffs have filed suit. If "sexual molestation is in no way related to mopping floors, cleaning rooms, . . . " then it certainly is not related to spiritual guidance by a priest or clergyman.

1. With regard to plaintiff, REDACTED the defendant Roemer is alleged to have lifted plaintiff REDACTED up and placed him on his leg and put his hand under his shirt and rubbed his stomach. Defendant Roemer then slid his hand down REDACTED pants and inside his underpants and rubbed his penis for several minutes. Defendant Roemer also kissed REDACTED on the neck, near the ear, as he was rubbing him.

2. With regard to plaintiff REDACTED, the defendant Roemer is alleged to have rubbed his stomach, chest, underarm area, touched skin under his shirt and kissed him repeatedly on the right ear.

3. With regard to plaintiff REDACTED the defendant
Roemer is alleged to have put his arm around REDACTED shoulder, hugged and fondled him, placed his head on REDACTED shoulder, and, later defendant Roemer came up behind and wrapped his arms around him and put his chin on REDACTED shoulder and continued to fondle him. REDACTED was sitting on a bench when defendant Roemer came up and sat very close to him, forcing his body to touch REDACTED and Roemer put his arm around his shoulder.

4. With regard to plaintiff REDACTED the defendant Roemer is alleged to have sexually molested REDACTED as REDACTED asked defendant Roemer to aid him in saying his good-night prayers by reaching down REDACTED pajama bottoms and rubbing his penis.

Any sexual act such as described above is not within the course and scope of the duties of the defendant priest as a matter of law. The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Los Angeles is not liable to plaintiffs and may not be held liable to plaintiffs under the doctrine of respondeat superior by reason of any of the acts of sexual misconduct alleged in plaintiffs' first amended complaint to have been committed by the defendant Patrick Roemer, a Roman Catholic priest:

This course and scope issue is controlled by Alma W. v. Oakland Unified School District (1981) 123 Cal.App.3d 133, 176 Cal.Rptr. 287. The plaintiff in that case was an 11-year old student at one of the District's schools who alleged that she had been sexually molested and raped by a school district custodian in the custodian's office on the school's premises on a Friday afternoon. She joined the school district as a defendant on the theory of respondeat superior. The District interposed a general demurrer which was sustained by the trial court and judgment thereon entered in favor of the District. The Court of Appeals affirmed on the ground that the acts of the custodian in raping and molesting the appellant as a matter of law could not be within the course and scope of employment, and therefore there was no basis to impose liability on the District.

In a well-reasoned and exhaustive opinion the Alma W. court held that an employer is not liable for the sexual misconduct of an employee, even though the offenses took place on the employer's property during working hours:

"This case presents us with a factual situation where the connection between the employee's duties and the employee's wrongful action has become so attenuated that the law will not hold the employer vicariously liable. Sexual molestation is in no way related to mopping floors,

-8-cleaning rooms, or any other tasks that are required of a school custodian. . . .

"Where an employee pursues his own ends, the use of property or facilities entrusted to him by the principal is an inadequate basis for imputing liability to the employer. . . .

"Nor does the fact that the offense occurred during working hours make Bell's actions incidental to his employment . . . If an employee's tort is personal in nature, mere presence at the place of employment and attendance to occupational duties prior or subsequent to the offense will not give rise to a cause of action against the employer under the doctrine of respondeat superior." (123 C.A.3d 139-140.)

The court in Alma W. v. Oakland Unified School District also rejected appellant's argument that liability should be imposed on the employer District as a means of spreading the risk to the community at large:
"Distilled to its essence, appellant's argument is little more than that the risk of loss from an employee's sexual assault should fall on the school district as a means of spreading the risk to the community at large. Appellant is leaning on a slender reed. The 'spread the risk' concept underlying the doctrine of respondeat superior does not mean that attribution of liability to an employer is merely a legal artifice invoked to reach a deep pocket or that it is based on an elaborate theory of optimal resource allocation (citation). Rather, the concept of spreading the risk is simply another way of saying that an enterprise should be charged with the cost of those accidents directly attributable to its activities. (Citations) ... We invoke the doctrine of respondeat superior to indemnify only those losses which as a practical matter are sure to occur in the conduct of the employer's business. A sexual assault simply does not fall within the range of risks allocable to an employer." (123 Cal.App.3d at 143-144.)
That Alma W. v. Oakland Unified School District involved a public entity does not detract from its applicability to the Archbishop because the common law rule and the rule for California governmental entities with respect to respondeat superior liability is the same:

"The general rule of respondeat superior at common law for non-governmental employers is the same as that set forth in the Government Code for public employers: an employer is vicariously liable for the torts of employees committed within the course and scope of their employment." (123 Cal.App.3d at 138-139.)

Any claim that Alma W. should not apply in favor of defendant Archbishop because a Catholic priest occupies a different relationship to a church member such as the plaintiffs than a custodian does to a student should be rejected out of hand because the rationale of Alma W. is that an employee's sexual misconduct is simply beyond the course and scope of employment, and is not based on the nature of the particular position held by the offending employee. The fact that the individual defendant is alleged to be a priest and the employee in Alma W. was a custodian should not preclude the applicability of the holding in Alma W. to the present situation, with the result that the Archbishop is not liable for the acts of the defendant priest.

Thus, under Alma W. v. Oakland Unified School District the Archbishop may not be held liable for the acts of the defendant priest consisting of any of the following: (1) molesting the minor plaintiffs; or, (2) any other act or conduct of a sexual nature committed between defendant priest and plaintiffs. The Archbishop is therefore entitled a ruling of this Court that the Archbishop may not be held liable to the plaintiffs under the doctrine of respondeat superior or any other agency theory for any of the acts enumerated in the foregoing notice of demurrer and motion or any other act or conduct of a sexual nature by the defendant priest. The Archbishop is entitled to have the demurrers sustained without leave to amend.

Other jurisdictions have reached the same result as Alma W. on the same reasoning.

In Magnuson v. O'Dea (Wash. 1913) 135 Pac. 640, a young girl between 16 and 18 years old was kidnapped. The case was dismissed as to certain defendant corporations and as to O'Dea as bishop of the Diocese of Seattle but retained as to him and all other defendants in their private capacities.
The jury verdicts for several plaintiffs, one of which was against Bishop O'Dea as an individual, were reversed.

In Magnuson the plaintiff's daughter attended a Catholic academy in Tacoma conducted by the Sisters of Visitation. The Sisters, the rector of St. Leo's Church and an attorney were Bishop O'Dea's co-defendants.

The alleged kidnapping occurred when the plaintiff mother took her daughter from the school to Seattle; during the evening the daughter ran away and returned to the Rectory at Tacoma. The rector took her to the home of the co-defendant attorney where she stayed for about three months. She was then returned to her mother.

The Washington Supreme Court stated that the trial court erred in denying Bishop O'Dea's motion for a directed verdict and for a judgment non obstante veredicto.

The plaintiff's judgment was reversed with directions to enter judgment for Bishop O'Dea and to grant a new trial as to the other individual defendants.

In Carini v. Beaven (Mass. 1914) 106 N.E. 589, it was alleged that a parish priest dragged an 18 year old girl from a church service into the vestry where he allegedly raped her. As a result she gave birth to a child. The demurrer of the defendant bishop (Beaven) was sustained without leave to amend and affirmed on appeal.
In Allen v. National Peanut Corporation (1947) 75 N.E.2d 240, defendant's motion for nonsuit was granted upon plaintiff's opening statement and was affirmed on appeal. In Allen the plaintiff, a girl 15 years old, was hired to work in one of defendant's stores by Pelosi, the store manager. One evening Pelosi raped the 15 year old plaintiff in the rear room of the store. Previously Pelosi had been convicted of lewdness and of neglect to support his illegitimate child. The Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts held "Moreover even if the defendant employer had known all the facts, it might have had reason to anticipate attempts at seduction on his part, but not a crime of violence like rape. [Citations.] Of course such a crime had no connection with his employment. [Citations.] The case is governed by Carini v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Springfield, 219 Mass. 117, 106 N.E. 589, LRA 1915B, 825." (Emphasis added.)

Other jurisdictions have reached the same result as Alma W. but on different reasoning. In City of Green Cove Springs v. Donaldson (5th Cir. 1965) 348 F.2d 197, a citizen sued the City of Green Cove Springs as a result of one of its police officer's assault and rape. The judgment of the trial court for the citizen was reversed by the Fifth Circuit which held that plaintiff's injury, due to assault and rape by the officer, was not the proximate cause of negligence of the city but resulted instead from an intervening independent and unforeseeable act.
It therefore seems abundantly clear that each of the demurrers of the defendant Archbishop are well taken and should be sustained without leave to amend as to each of the causes of action for the reasons stated in each of the cases above, especially Alma W. v. Oakland Unified School District (1981) 123 Cal.App.3d 133.

II. The claims of plaintiff REDACTED for mental and emotional distress are time barred and otherwise not cognizable under the law.

It is also again the position of the defendant Archbishop that in addition to the reasons set out in Point I: (1) that the statute of limitations (Code of Civil Procedure, section 340(3) bars the claim of REDACTED for personal injuries; and (2) that her claims for emotional distress are not legally cognizable under the allegations in the first amended complaint.

A. Code of Civil Procedure, Section 340(3), Bars the Claim of REDACTED for Emotional Distress

In paragraph 82 in the thirteenth cause of action on page 25 plaintiff REDACTED alleging that "on or about May 10 or 11, 1980," her son, REDACTED was sexually -15-molested; in paragraph 85 she alleges that as a result she "has suffered mental and emotional distress all to her damage in an amount in excess of the jurisdictional minimum of this Court." The original complaint was not filed until February 23, 1984. Therefore, more than one year has elapsed since her cause of action allegedly arose. In fact, prior to filing of the original complaint, three years, eight months and forty-four days had elapsed since her alleged cause of action arose.

Therefore, section 340(3), Code of Civil Procedure bars the claim of REDACTED for emotional distress. As will be further seen below, the claim of REDACTED for mental and emotional distress is barred by the one-year statute of limitations, Code of Civil Procedure §340(3).

Damages for emotional distress, mental anguish, humiliation and embarassment are controlled by Section 340(3), Code of Civil Procedure, which provides:

"An action . . . for injury . . . caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another . . . " must be brought within one (1) year.

"Section §340(3) covers personal injuries of every kind, regardless of the nature of the wrongful act:

"(a) It applies to the typical action for damages suffered from a negligent act.

"(b) It also applies to an action for personal injuries suffered from an intentional tort. (See Groff v. DuBois (1922) 57 Cal.App.343, 207 P. 57 [injuries from malicious attempt to evict from premises].)

"(c) It applies to an action for damages suffered from emotional distress. (Emphasis added.) In Huntly v. Zurich (1929) 100 Cal.App.201, 212, 280 P. 163, a widow's action against defendants who allegedly performed an unlawful autopsy on her deceased husband's body, the court said:

'There need be no physical contact with the body of a person to constitute a cause of action for personal injury. When a bodily injury occurs, the law considers the action as one for personal injuries, regardless of the nature of the breach of duty. It adopts the nature of the damage as the test, and not the nature of the breach... it was intended to embrace therein all infringements of personal rights as distinguished from property rights.' (Emphasis in original.)

"In Sevilla v. Stearns-Rogers, supra, defendant manufacturer contended that the products liability action against it was barred under C.C.P. 337.1 and 337.15 because its product had been installed in a sugar refinery which employed plaintiff, and thereby became an 'improvement of real property.' The trial court granted defendant summary judgment. Held, reversed. In products liability actions the one-year period runs from the date of injury, not the date of purchase of the product, and the manufacturer theoretically remains liable indefinitely. (101 Cal.App.3d 611.) While the Legislature has imposed outside limits on some claims, there is no indication that it intended manufacturers to be benefited by C.C.P. 337.1 or 337.15. (101 Cal.App.3d 611.)"
(e) It applies to an action under the 'dog bite statute' (4 Summary, Torts, §795); the statute merely changed the proof required under the common law action for injuries suffered from a 'vicious' dog. (Pritchard v. Sharp (1974) 41 Cal.App.3d 530, 531, 116 Cal.Rptr. 9.)

(f) It applies to an action based on breach of warranty. (Becker v. Volkswagen of America (1975) 52 Cal.App.3d 794, 125 Cal.Rptr. 326.)

"In the Becker case it was contended by plaintiff that the enactment of U.C.C. 2725 (text, §293) changed the law by making applicable the four-year limitation of that section in all cases in which damages for personal injury were sought in an action for breach of warranty. The court examined the conflicting case law in other jurisdictions and the views of Prosser and the Second Torts Restatement on products liability, and concluded that the Commercial Code section was intended to apply to commercial transactions between buyer and seller, and not to personal injury actions, whether based on negligence, strict liability or breach of warranty. (52 Cal.App.3d 800, 802.)

(g) It applies to an action for loss of consortium (Priola v. Pauling (1977) 72 Cal.App.3d 380, 383, 140 Cal.Rptr. 186.)
"(h) It applies to an action based on ingestion of a drug. (Gray v. Reeves (1977) 76 Cal.App.3d 567, 576, 142 Cal.Rptr. 716.)"

(See 2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (2d ed. 1970) Actions, §309, p.1153 and 2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (2d ed. 1983 Supp.) Trial, §309, pp.142-143.)

The California Supreme Court has held that there is no distinction between "fright, nervousness, grief, anxiety, worry, mortification, shock, humiliation, indignity, embarrassment, apprehension, terror or ordeal." (See Capelouto v. Kaiser Foundation Hospitals (1982) 7 Cal.3d 889, 892-893; 103 Cal.Rptr. 856.)

It is therefore respectfully submitted that the one-year statute of limitations (Code of Civil Procedure section 340(3)) bars the claims of REDACTED for "mental and emotional distress" or any other personal injuries alleged on her behalf in the first amended complaint.
B. The Law Does Not Permit Recovery of Damages for Physical Harm or Emotional Distress Caused by the Knowledge of an Injury to Another Person.

As stated above, Mrs. [REDACTED] claims "mental and emotional distress" because her son, [REDACTED] was sexually molested. The law does not permit recovery of damages for physical harm or emotional distress caused by the knowledge of an injury to another person.

The opening paragraph of BAJI No. 12.83 states the general rule from Dillon v. Legg (1968) 68 Cal.2d 728:

"Ordinarily the law does not permit recovery of damages for physical harm and emotional distress caused by the knowledge of an injury or death of another person."

The Use Note to BAJI No. 12.83 is also helpful:

"Before giving this instruction, the court must determine as a matter of law whether the accident and harm were reasonably foreseeable."
guided by the factors in Dillon v. Legg [citations]." (See BAJI (6th ed) page 525.)

These factors from Dillon v. Legg, supra, were set forth in a jury instruction which was specifically approved in Krouse v. Graham (1977) 19 Cal.3d 59, 137 Cal.Rptr.
863. The factors which are relevant here are:

"1. Whether plaintiff was located near the scene of the accident as contrasted with one who was a distance away from it;

"2. Whether the shock resulted from a direct emotional impact upon plaintiff from the sensory and contemporaneous observance of the accident as contrasted with learning of the accident from others after its occurrence."

REDACTED does not allege that she was near the scene when REDACTED was allegedly molested; nor does she allege that her "mental and emotional distress" resulted from the sensory and contemporaneous observance of the alleged molesting of REDACTED Without alleging and proving both of these factors, REDACTED cannot state a cause of action. (See BAJI No. 12.84.)

In Wynne v. Orcutt Union School Dist. (1971) 17 Cal.App.3d 1108; 95 Cal.Rptr. 458, disclosure of a child's fatal illness which caused shock to his parents' nervous system was held not a compensable injury.

Recovery was also denied in Jansen v. Children's Hosp. (1973) 31 Cal.App.3d 22, 106 Cal.Rptr. 883, where the plaintiff's mother alleged that due to the defendant hospital's negligence her five-year old daughter died a painful death from a gastro-intestinal hemorrhage, that she was with the child during her last hours, and, therefore she suffered emotional trauma from witnessing the death. Judgment for defendant on demurrer was affirmed. The court noted that the Dillon decision "contemplates a sudden and brief event causing the child's injury." (31 C.A.3d 24.) The court also noted that the event must be one which can be the subject of sensory perception; that is, visibility of the tortious act itself, not merely the result, is essential. The court held that to extend the Dillon rule to the entire area of injury to a parent by improper diagnosis of a child's ailment is contrary to the Dillon opinion's counsel of moderation. (31 C.A.3d 24, 25.)
114 Cal.Rptr. 868, the "Dillon rule" was held inapplicable to shock suffered by the plaintiff mother seeing her injured daughter at home 30-60 minutes after the accident and emergency treatment.

Similarly, in Hair v. Monterey (1975) 45 Cal.App. 3d 538, 543; 119 Cal.Rptr. 639, the "Dillon" rule was held inapplicable where the mother was in the waiting room while surgery was being performed on her child and where serious permanent injuries did not develop until two days later. (In the Hair case the court took note as it did in Jansen of Dillon's counsel of "moderation," and observed that, "We chose to heed that caution." (45 C.A.3d 544.).)

In Justus v. Atchison (1977) 19 Cal.3d 564, 139 Cal.Rptr. 97, the plaintiff father alleged that he was in the hospital delivery room where his wife was in labor, that he witnessed disturbing developments in emergency procedures, that he witnessed his wife's pain, and that he was present when the attending doctor announced that the fetus had died. Judgment for defendants on demurrer was affirmed.

In the Justus case, above, the allegations of the complaint showed only physical presence; there was no allegation of a shock resulting from a "sensory and contemporaneous observance of the accident." The event, by its very nature, was hidden from the plaintiff father's perception; nor could he have otherwise sensed it. "To put it another way, he had been admitted to the theatre but the drama was being played on a different stage." (19 C.3d 584.) The disturbing developments induced a sense of anxiety, but it did not become shock until he was actually informed of the death by the doctor. "In short, the impact derived not from what he saw and heard during the attempted delivery, but from what he was told after the fact." (19 C.3d 585.)

According to REDACTED allegations she did not witness the alleged sexual molestation nor was it an event which was the subject of her sensory perception. According to the allegations in the first amended complaint, she learned about the event much, much later after it allegedly occurred. REDACTED allegations fall far short of those which were adjudged inadequate in the Justus case. In the Justus case the allegations of the complaint showed only physical presence but failed to allege a shock resulting from a "sensory and contemporaneous observance." REDACTED makes no attempt to allege "physical presence" let alone "sensory and contemporaneous observance" of the event.

Therefore, the defendant Archbishop's demurrer to Mrs. REDACTED claims for "mental and emotional distress" (and any other claims for personal injury) should be sustained.
without leave to amend.

Alternatively, the defendant Archbishop's motion to strike claims for "mental and emotional distress" (and any other claims for personal injuries) should be granted without leave to amend.

III. THE FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT FAILS TO STATE A CAUSE OF ACTION FOR PUNITIVE DAMAGES AGAINST THE DEFENDANT ARCHBISHOP.

It is the position of the defendant Archbishop that in addition to the reasons set out in the points above that the plaintiffs' first amended complaint fails to state any facts upon which an award of punitive damages may be predicated against it.

The essential allegations of the first amended complaint in regards to punitive damages are set forth in paragraphs 15, 17, 18, 19, 32, 38, 41, 42, 55, 61, 63, 64, 65, 77, 88, 90, 91, 92 and 105. However, each of these paragraphs uses or repeats one or more of the following conclusions: "maliciously," "wanton and conscious disregard of the rights and feelings of plaintiff," "intentional and malicious," "malicious, extreme and outrageous acts," "malicious and oppressive," "intentional, malicious, and extreme acts."
The allegations of punitive damages set forth below are representative of the other "punitive damages" paragraphs (enumerated in the last paragraph):

"19. The conduct of Defendants, ROEMER, ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE and ST. PASCHAL'S, and each of them, in doing the acts herein-above alleged was malicious and oppressive and said Defendants were guilty of wanton disregard of the rights and feelings of Plaintiff and by reason thereof, Plaintiff demands exemplary and punitive damages against Defendants in an amount according to proof."

"61. In making the uninvited and unprovoked attacks on Plaintiff as heretofore alleged, Defendant ROEMER acted maliciously and was guilty of wanton and conscious disregard of the rights and feelings of Plaintiff, and by reason thereof Plaintiff demands exemplary damages against Defendants ROEMER, ARCHBISHOP, ARCHDIOCESE, and ST. PASCHAL's in an amount according to proof."
Such allegations fail when measured under the standards set up by the statute and by the California cases.

Punitive damages are authorized by section 3294 of the Civil Code (1983). It provides:

"(a) In an action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, where the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice, the plaintiff, in addition to the actual damages may recover damages for the sake of example and by way of punishing the defendant.

"(b) An employer shall not be liable for damages pursuant to subdivision (a), based upon acts of an employee of the employer, unless the employer had advance knowledge of the unfitness of the employee and employed him or her with a conscious disregard of the rights or safety of others or authorized or ratified the wrongful conduct for which the damages are awarded or was personally guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice. With respect to a corporate employer, the advance knowledge and conscious disregarding, authorization, ratification or act of oppression, fraud, or malice must be on the part of an officer, director, or managing agent of the corporation."

Thus, in order to recover punitive damages plaintiffs must plead and prove either malice, oppression or fraud; plaintiffs must also plead and prove that the defendant Archbishop had advance knowledge of the unfitness of the defendant priest and assigned him to his respective post with a conscious disregard of the rights or safety of others or that the Archbishop authorized or ratified the priest's wrongful conduct. Clearly the allegations of the first amended complaint amount to none of these.

Initially, it should be noted that terms such as "maliciously," "wanton and conscious disregard," "intentional and malicious," "malicious, extreme and outrageous acts," and the like, may not be considered in support of the pleading when challenged by demurrer:
"[T]he general rule [is] that a complaint must contain only allegations of ultimate facts as opposed to allegations of evidentiary facts or of legal conclusions or arguments," (Burke v. Superior Court (1969) 71 Cal.2d 276, 279; see also Krug v. Meeham (1952) 109 Cal.App.2d 274.)

The general rule is that on demurrer, in determining whether a cause of action is properly stated, the court will take into consideration only well pleaded facts. (Daar v. Yellow Cab Co. (1967) 67 Cal.2d 695; Serrano v. Priest (1971) 5 Cal.3d 584.)

Therefore, inasmuch as the terms "maliciously," "wanton and conscious disregard," "intentional and malicious," "malicious, extreme and outrageous acts," and the like are conclusions and under the rule set forth above, they must be disregarded.

In Wise v. Southern Pacific Co. (1963) 223 Cal.App.2d 50, the court considered the status of such words. Although it was held that because of other material in the complaint the demurrer should not have been sustained, it as instructive to examine the court's characterization of certain language:
"Equally conclusionary and defective are allegations that an act was 'wrongful,' 'illegal,' 'without authority,' 'unlawful,' 'unjust,' 'arbitrary,' or 'fraudulent' which without additional allegations raised no triable issue. (223 Cal.App.2d 50, 60 [emphasis in original]; see also Hancock v. Burns (1958) 158 Cal.App.2d 785, disapproving as conclusionary: "willfully," "wrongfully," and "maliciously")."

"Gross error" and "arbitrariness" are other examples of the kinds of words and phrases which have been classed as legal conclusions inadequate to support pleadings unless accompanied by more specific averments. (Clark v. State of California (1969) 275 Cal.App.2d 743, 749.) "Gross negligence" has been held a conclusion of law. (Barlett v. Jackson (1936) 13 Cal.App.2d 435, 437; Nicholas v. Smith (1934) 136 Cal.App. 272, 276-277.) The descriptive words "improperly and unlawfully" and "wrongfully, falsely, fraudulently, maliciously and unlawfully" have also been held conclusions of law. (Jones v. Oxnard Schood Dist. (1969) 270 Cal.App.2d 587, 592.)

In the first amended complaint fraud is not alleged; thus, we are left with allegations concerning "malice" and "oppression."
The leading California case on pleading "malice" is Gombo v. Ashe (1958) 158 Cal.App.2d 517 (rev'd other grounds in Taylor v. Superior Court (1979) 24 Cal.3d 890, 157 Cal.Rptr. 693) in which the court held that the allegations in the complaint were insufficient as a matter of law to show malice on the part of a drunken driver. The complaint alleged:

"[D]efendant was then and there knowingly and willfully intoxicated, having had [sic] overindulged in alcoholic refreshments, well knowing that at said time and place the excessive alcoholic refreshments consumed by him rendered him physically unfit to operate a motor vehicle upon said public highway, and that he knew the combination of alcohol and fatigue made him a menace to all persons using said highway, including the plaintiffs." (158 Cal.App.2d 517, 526.)

It should be noted that what was alleged in Gombo v. Ashe, supra, was essentially that the plaintiff intentionally became intoxicated with a reckless disregard of its consequences to others on the highway. The Court of Appeals held this insufficient as a matter of law to show malice.

"In order to warrant the allowance of [punitive] damages the act complained of must not only be willful, in the sense of intentional, but it must be accompanied by some aggravating circumstance, amounting to malice. Malice implies an act conceived in a spirit of mischief or with criminal indifference towards the obligations owed to others. There must be an intent to vex, annoy, or injure." (158 Cal.App.2d 517, 526-527.)

This same requirement of an intent to do harm was echoed in Ebaugh v. Rabkin (1972) 22 Cal.App.3d 891, a medical malpractice case. In reversing the jury's award of punitive damages, the court stated:
"In the instant case there is simply no evidence that any of the appellants [defendants] were guilty of malice, either 'express or implied.' On the contrary, the record negates any conclusion that the unauthorized operation on respondent's person took place out of evil motive or criminal indifference by appellants, or with an intent to injure or do harm to respondent for the mere satisfaction of doing it." (22 C.A.3d 891, 895.)

Oppression also requires this personal motive to vex, annoy or injure. Although no California case has been found in which punitive damages have been awarded on the basis of oppression alone, the term has been defined in conjunction with that of malice. For example, in Baker v. Peck (1934) 1 Cal.App.2d 231, 36 P.2d 404 the complaint alleged:

"... that 'defendant ... maliciously and intending thereby to oppress plaintiff, violently struck plaintiff ... '" (1 Cal. App.2d 235.)
The court, in defining oppression, stated:

In 1980 the legislature amended Civil Code section 3294 and defined "oppression" as "subjecting a person to cruel and unjust hardship in conscious disregard of that person's rights." (Civil Code §3294(c)(2).) It is respectfully submitted that plaintiffs' first amended complaint fails to properly allege that the defendant Archbishop subjected any of the plaintiffs to cruel and unjust hardship in conscious disregard of that person's rights.

In Broussseau v. Jarrett (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 864, 141 Cal.Rptr. 200 it was held that the complaint's conclusory characterization of the defendant physician's conduct as intentional, willful, and fraudulent was an insufficient statement of "oppression, fraud, or malice, express or implied" within the meaning of section 3294.

Similarly, in G.D. Searle & Co. v. Superior Court for Sacramento County (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 22, 122 Cal.Rptr. 218, a complaint against a pharmaceutical manufacturer was held insufficient with respect to the demand for exemplary damages where the allegations of wrongful, knowing and willful conduct were conclusionary and the complaint failed to allege that the manufacturer either intended to injure customers or acted in conscious disregard of their safety, despite the contention that it was sufficient to alleged reckless disregard of potential danger.

Thus, the first amended complaint fails to allege either malice, oppression or fraud against the defendant Archbishop and therefore fails to state a cause of action with respect to punitive damages as against the defendant Roman Catholic Archbishop.
Conclusion

The Alma W. case represents the clear weight of authority that no matter how one's claim is styled, adjectived or otherwise described, the defendant Archbishop may not be held liable for the defendant priest's acts of a sexual nature; such misconduct is beyond the course or scope of a priest's duties as a matter of law.

The same is true of the assault and battery, the intentional infliction of emotional distress, the negligent infliction of emotional distress and the negligent employment theories: they all spring from the same well of sexual misconduct. Thus the holding in Alma W. should be controlling and the defendant Archbishop's demurrers should be sustained without leave to amend.

The claim of REDACTED for mental and emotional distress is admittedly somewhat different from the other causes of action. Her claim arose in 1980 but she did not file her original complaint until 1984. Clearly the one-year statute of limitations (Code of Civil Procedure section 340(3)) bars her claim. Furthermore, her pleadings do not bring her claim within the holding in Dillon v. Legg because she was not at all near the scene of the incidents; nor did she sustain her injuries from any "sensory and contemporaneous" observation of the alleged molesting of her son, REDACTED Thus her claim is barred no matter from which vantage point one views it.

Therefore, the demurrers of the defendant Archbishop should be sustained without leave to amend. Alternatively, the motions to strike should be granted without leave to amend.

Respectfully submitted,

This motion to strike will be based upon Code of Civil Procedure, section 435, and upon the grounds that the above mentioned language in plaintiffs' first amended complaint is irrelevant, redundant, immaterial, conclusionary and evidentiary, and upon the additional ground that there are not sufficient facts properly stated or pleaded to constitute a claim for punitive or exemplary damages as against the moving party defendant. Therefore the above language should be stricken from plaintiffs' first amended complaint as to the moving party defendant.

Interrogatory No.

(A) Saint John's Seminary, Camarillo, Father ROEMER informed the church officials of his pedophilia and attraction to young males. He confided with Father REDACTED at the Santa Barbara Parish about his behavior. Father COLM O'RYAN was informed by REDACTED on or about December 27, 1980 of Father ROEMER's molestations of REDACTED which took place in May of 1980. Discovery is continuing and at this point these are the known sources for the statement in paragraph eight of the First Amended Complaint.

(B) The information was given to Father O'RYAN on or about December 27, 1980. Father ROEMER's statements at Saint John's Seminary were made during his stay there; his statements to Father REDACTED were made between 1970 and 1978.

(C) Information relating to Father REDACTED and the Seminary was obtained during the time that Father ROEMER was being prosecuted by the Ventura County District Attorney's Office. Information was learned first hand from REDACTED about her statements to Father O'RYAN.

(D) Father ROEMER has knowledge of all of the allegations; Father O'RYAN of course took part in the discussions with REDACTED all Plaintiffs in this lawsuit as well as their parents; persons who were involved in the District Attorney's prosecution of Father ROEMER.

(E) Documents contained in the District Attorney's file concerning the prosecution of Father ROEMER.

(F) N/A
Interrogatory #2

(A) REDACTED and REDACTED went to SAINT PASCHAL's and personally spoke with Father O'RYAN on or about December 27, 1980, and Father O'RYAN personally questioned REDACTED about the molestation which was reported by REDACTED and REDACTED. Father O'RYAN assured Mrs. REDACTED that the matter would be taken care of.

(B) The entire REDACTED family, Father O'RYAN, Father ROEMER, all have knowledge of what went on in the visit. All Plaintiffs and their families have knowledge coming from Mrs. REDACTED REDACTED address REDACTED in Exton, Pennsylvania 19341, has knowledge of the meeting between Father O'RYAN and the REDACTED after having spoken with Father O'RYAN in February of 1981.

Interrogatory #3

(A) I doubt if anyone would consent to the assault. As far as knowledge of the assault, it would be after Defendant ROEMER's arrest. The church and ARCHDIOCESE as well as the arresting persons were informed. Father O'RYAN knew Father ROEMER had molested previously and had the opportunity to remove him from his duties to guard against further incidents. Father REDACTED and a priest in Santa Barbara knew of Father ROEMER's pedophilia.

(B) January 26, and January 27, 1981 when Father ROEMER was arrested.

(C) Unknown except for Father ROEMER and REDACTED

(D) Documents in the District Attorney's file

(E) None other than documents in the District Attorney's file.
Interrogatory #4

(A) REDACTED who was the first molest victim to step forward, and have Father ROEMER taken away from the other children, endured a tremendous burden. He had mixed feelings at first, because he did not want to get Father ROEMER in trouble. Because of our good family relationship, he was able to describe what happened, and felt guilty about it. He suffered severely mentally, and was very nervous about the events. He was humiliated because it happened to him, and he was paranoid everyone would find out about it. We keep it as quiet as possible. But the articles in the paper gave REDACTED mother's name, and again, he had to hear about this at school. It affected him. Our main concern is the emotional or sexual problems that he faces in the future.

(B) Humiliation, paranoia, fear, guilt. see 4(A)

(A) Father ROEMER had a duty as a priest to protect the well-being and safety of young boys which he failed to do.

Father O'RYAN had a duty to protect parishioners from Father ROEMER's molestations.

Interrogatory #1

(A) Saint John's Seminary, Camarillo, Father ROEMER informed the church officials of his pedophilia and attraction to young males. He confided with Father REDACTED at the Santa Barbara Parish about his behavior. Father COLM O'RYAN was informed by REDACTED on or about December 27, 1980 of Father ROEMER's molestation of REDACTED which took place in May of 1980. Discovery is continuing and at this point these are the known sources for the statement in paragraph eight of the First Amended Complaint.

(B) The information was given to Father O'RYAN on or about December 27, 1980. Father ROEMER's statements at Saint John's Seminary were made during his stay there; his statements to Father REDACTED were made between 1970 and 1978.

(C) Information relating to Father REDACTED and the Seminary was obtained during the time that Father ROEMER was being prosecuted by the Ventura County District Attorney's Office. Information was learned first hand from REDACTED about her statements to Father O'RYAN.

(D) Father ROEMER has knowledge of all of the allegations; Father O'RYAN of course took part in the discussions with REDACTED all Plaintiffs in this lawsuit as well as their parents; persons who were involved in the District Attorney's prosecution of Father ROEMER.

(E) Documents contained in the District Attorney's file concerning the prosecution of Father ROEMER.

(F) Documents contained in the District Attorney's file concerning the prosecution of Father ROEMER.
Interrogatory #2

(A) REDACTED and REDACTED went to SAINT PASCHAL's and personally spoke with Father O'RYAN on or about December 27, 1980, and Father O'RYAN personally questioned REDACTED about the molestation which was reported by REDACTED and REDACTED. Father O'RYAN assured Mrs. REDACTED that the matter would be taken care of.

(B) The entire REDACTED family, Father O'RYAN, Father ROEMER, all have knowledge of what went on in the visit. All Plaintiffs and their families have knowledge coming from Mrs. REDACTED REDACTED address REDACTED in REDACTED REDACTED has knowledge of the meeting between Father O'RYAN and the REDACTED after having spoken with Father O'RYAN in February of 1981.

Interrogatory #3

(A) I assume that no one had knowledge of the assault of REDACTED prior to the assault; Father ROEMER certainly "had knowledge and consented to" the assault and was associated with Defendant ARCHBISHOP or ARCHDIOCESE.

(B) It is unknown at this time when Father O'RYAN or other officials from SAINT PASCHAL's were notified of the assault.

(C) Father ROEMER performed the assault on or about January 19, 1981. It is unknown at this time when officials connected with Defendants SAINT PASCHAL's learned of the assault.

(D) Father ROEMER and Plaintiff REDACTED Plaintiff's parents were told of the assault afterwards.
(E) Documents in the District Attorney's files
(F) Father ROEMER performed these assaults while he was in the employ of SAINT PASCHAL's, the ARCHDIOCESE, and the ARCHBISHOP. This was after Father O'RYAN had been informed by REDACTED of the previous molestation.

Interrogatory #4

(A) REDACTED has suffered damages from this molestation which will be with him indefinitely. First of all, my son REDACTED was assaulted in one of the safest places on this earth, a confessional. The Defendant was a priest, at one of the highest levels of trust, and was respected by our son. REDACTED, for some time, had to endure the embarrassment of his peers. This information was printed in the newspaper. Our son has gone through tremendous mental stress and probably will face more as an adult. He has lost all desires to go back to that parish or any Catholic church because of what happened. This same Defendant, Father ROEMER, was the priest who had recently administered REDACTED first communion. REDACTED is missing the Catholic education and up bringing his parents had planned for him. Mistrust for authority figures, males, and the church are all results of this molestation.

Interrogatory #9

(A) The molestation to REDACTED was carried out after the

REDACTED

At the time Father ROEMER carried out this molestation, he was preforming a function as Head of Children's Services at SAINT PASCHAL'S. He was receiving the

Interrogatory #10

(A) Plaintiff was a minor, and had a special relationship with SAINT PASCHAL'S and Father ROEMER, as well as the Catholic church. Father ROEMER was acting as a servant of God in his duties as a priest, his role allowed him to say mass, hear confession, instruct and counsel adults and young people in his parish. The victims were actively involved in church activities as they had been taught to do. The Defendant owed a chance to listen to his confessions without molesting him, and giving him some guidance or a few prayers to say.

(B) Defendants had a duty to provide for safety including making sure that church personnel would be fit for providing for the needs of minor parishioners. Father ROEMER's molestation of retaining Father ROEMER in his church position after notice to the church of molestation.

(C) Objection, calls for a legal conclusion. In the spirit of cooperation the following information is offered; January 19, 1981, Defendant ROEMER's molestation of Father O'RYAN's failure to remove Father ROEMER from his position of dealing with children after notice by of molestation. Discovery is continuing at this time, and should Plaintiff secure Further information, it will be provided to Defendant.

Interrogatory #13

(A) Father ROEMER had been admitting his pedophilia ever since he had attended seminary. He had sought counseling for it with church members; Father O'RYAN had been notified by REDACTED initially on December 27, 1980, that Father ROEMER had committed a severe molestation of REDACTED in May of 1980. Father O'RYAN did nothing about this notice, and continued to place Father ROEMER in a position where he could come in contact with minors. Father REDACTED of Sacred Heart Church in Saticoy was told by police authorities of Father Roemer's molestation of REDACTED in late December 1983; nothing was done. Father REDACTED

(A) From the first day of the sports camp, my son REDACTED was extremely frightened by Father ROEMER. He begged us to let him quit after the first day because Father ROEMER had been bothering him over a time period from October 9, 1978 until the beginning of the sports camp in June of 1980.

I had always been present, so I made sure that nothing really terrible happened. Never the less, was always afraid of Father ROEMER, and whenever he encountered him (at football games) rushed over to me and said, "Don't leave, that 'gay' priest is after us all." When my husband and I discussed the fact that was harassed and frightened by Father ROEMER, and wanted to quit the sports camp, we decided that since the $60.00 non-refundable fee had been paid in advance, we would have attend anyway, but due to the problem with Father ROEMER, I would not work, and would be there, at least when the camp over for the day. We thought that would be safe during the actual sporting events. But, Father ROEMER did not let anything stop him. He came after on the field, grabbing him, and holding him, and telling him, "You can't get away...you have such a nice body...I want you to come to my room and see some pictures."

(B) Plaintiff was afraid that Father ROEMER would come and get him, I could not work for over a year due to the fact that insisted that I not leave him, insisted that he not be on the second floor of the house alone; his problems were unbelievable.

My husband, my son \textit{REDACTED} and I all agreed that what Father ROEMER tried to pass off as affection was way beyond the norm. He would approach young boys, hug them to him, and rub and fondle them, all the time while the boys would struggle to get free. He went from one boy to another. It gave you a weird feeling to watch this going on. It served to frighten our child \textit{REDACTED} and you could see the other boys get out of Father ROEMER's way when he happened upon the scene. The boys would go over and stand next to their parents on the sidelines at football games. At the sports camp, I watched Father ROEMER literally hold captive boy after boy. The children where clearly either fearful or annoyed, or both.

(A) \textit{REDACTED} spent the year 1980 from June on being so fearful that he could not be left alone. This is a boy of age 12--most 12 year old boys are able to be left for periods of time. would not go to the second floor of our house alone. He would play outside with neighbor children because he was afraid "that priest will come and get me". was wakeful in the night, had nightmares and openly was mistrustful of men with whom he came in contact.

After Father ROEMER's arrest and when we came forth, was extremely frightened that Father ROEMER would come and "beat me up". He thought Father ROEMER knew where he lived because of the sports camp application. was afraid to testify because "maybe he'll jump up there in court and get me". stayed frightened until age 14 or so when he got a lot larger. He would say "I'll be able to beat up Father ROEMER now, I am bigger than he is". He told us, however, "I'll never trust a male teacher, a coach or a scout master. They could be like Father PAT".

He has stated "I'll never let my guard down...I don't trust men very much...I need to be strong to be able to fight a man if he is a fag like Father PAT".

(A) I, [REDACTED] telephoned Father O'RYAN at SAINT PASCHAL's parish and requested an appointment to see him. I advised him over the telephone that this concerned the molesting of my son by Father ROEMER. [REDACTED] and I went that day, December 27, 1980, to Father O'RYAN's office at SAINT PASCHAL's and we spoke for a considerable length of time, approximately one hour. I explained to Father O'RYAN the circumstances of [REDACTED] having finally admitted what Father ROEMER had done to him, and Father O'RYAN questioned [REDACTED] to great lengths. [REDACTED] was very embarrassed and uncomfortable, but answered all questions put to him. It was not a pleasant ordeal for him, but I felt that it was necessary for Father O'RYAN to have the opportunity to talk to [REDACTED] since his first hand testimony was shattering and should have had an effect on Father O'RYAN.

Two of the statements that I particularly remember Father O'RYAN making at the time helped to ease my mind that the situation would be remedied, and a third statement assured me that my church would assume responsibility for seeing that got the help he needed so badly. The first statement was that should realize that just as there were bad people in other jobs so there are bad men in the priesthood, but not many. Father O'RYAN stated further the it would be like finding a sliver in your finger. If you dig it out, the wound would heal, but if you ignored it, it would just get worse. Father O'RYAN stated that he would "take care of the problem" referring to Father ROEMER.

When advised of the radical personality changes had undergone since the retreat, obvious need for help was discussed. Father O'RYAN stated that he would help us to obtain psychological counseling. He said that there were two avenues that he wanted to check out and that he would give us a call as soon as possible with an answer. The two avenues which he mentioned were a private therapist who was a member of the parish at SAINT PASchal's, and Catholic Social Services. Father O'RYAN never called us back and when I finally did get in touch with him, he was very brief and not nearly as open with me. Father O'RYAN informed me that his hands were tied and he would not be able to help us.

(B) Mother's day, 1980

Interrogatory #4

(A) [REDACTED] has no close friends. He has never been invited to another boy's home to spend the night. He does not get invited to the birthday parties of his school mates. He refuses to go to church, and only occasionally attends when pressured into it. His self esteem is so low that it would be difficult to believe that he is classified by the school district as "gifted" and is on the varsity city basketball team. He does not see himself as bright or talented. His therapy has only been moderately successful. He feels that the therapists have been more interested in the money they get from talking to him than from helping him. This cynical attitude is typical of his personality today, as it has changed since the molestation. [REDACTED] personality changed after the molestation. He was once a happy, lighthearted child and became a destructive, defiant and antisocial person.

(B) [REDACTED] has buried his ability to make friends. He has lost the friendship of his father. He has frequent nightmares, and talks in his sleep. When his mother goes in to calm him and wake him, he is troubled and confused. He says that he does not remember the dreams the next morning, but these episodes are always followed by days of depression and anger.

After the names of the victim's families were printed in the newspaper, [REDACTED] was afraid to leave the house. He wanted to stay away from the basketball game he had the next day. I insisted that he go, and was probably wrong in doing so, as the boys on his team questioned him and stared at him. REDACTED is extremely moody now, and very cynical. When he discusses kissing or loving on television he scorns or ridicules it or laughs at it. He has lost the desire and even willingness to go to church unless forced. He is very frightened of starting Jr. high school next year and is afraid of older boys.

One brief example can explain what his opinion of himself is like. Although he is one of the top five basketball players in his age group in the city, REDACTED was amazed when one of the younger boys asked him to meet him at the park to practice shooting hoops before the tryouts this month. This is a boy REDACTED has known for five years who is nearly a year younger than REDACTED and a grade behind him. Yet, REDACTED felt he was being honored to be asked. REDACTED never expects anything good from anyone anymore. I doubt that any man could get close enough to hurt him again, or be nice to him, either. REDACTED has a shield around him that is very hard to penetrate. The fact that he was even able to go to the park to meet his friend is progress. Much of that progress we owe to REDACTED his basketball coach last year. I explained the molestation to Mr. REDACTED before the first practice began. Mr. REDACTED never tried to get chummy with REDACTED and never did I see him touch REDACTED or pat him on the back. But he always stood there and smiled, and told REDACTED he was proud of him. He straightened out the fights that REDACTED always seemed to slip into without shouting or casting blame. He made REDACTED feel a little more normal. He help REDACTED want to be liked, and that is definitely progress, but such a drop in the bucket compared to what he still lacks. REDACTED has had to go through questioning after questioning.

First I questioned him, then his dad did. Then the police came. Then Father O'RYAN questioned. Then the story hit the newspapers and the District Attorney questioned him. There have been pretrial hearings, visits to the court, therapists asking questions, a seemingly endless procedure. REDACTED wants to forget the molestation, but states that it is constantly with him.

(A) I, REDACTED, telephoned Father REDACTED at SAINT PASCHAL's parish and requested an appointment to see him. I advised him over the telephone that this concerned the molesting of my son by Father ROEMER. REDACTED and I went that day, December 27, 1980, to Father O'RYAN's office at SAINT PASCHAL's and we spoke for a considerable length of time, approximately one hour. I explained to Father O'RYAN the circumstances of REDACTED having finally admitted what Father ROEMER had done to him, and Father O'RYAN questioned REDACTED to great lengths. REDACTED was very embarrassed and uncomfortable, but answered all questions put to him. It was an unpleasant ordeal for him, but I felt that it was necessary for Father O'RYAN to have the opportunity to talk to REDACTED since his first hand testimony was shattering and should have had an effect on Father O'RYAN.

Two of the statements that I particularly remember Father O'RYAN making at the time helped to ease my mind that the situation would be remedied, and a third statement assured me that my church would assume responsibility for seeing that Redacted should realize that just as there were bad people in other jobs so there are bad men in the priesthood, but not many. Father O’RYAN stated further the it would be like finding a sliver in your finger. If you dig it out, the wound would heal, but if you ignored it, it would just get worse. Father O’RYAN stated that he would "take care of the problem" referring to Father ROEMER.

When advised of the radical personality changes Redacted had undergone since the retreat, Redacted obvious need for help was discussed. (D) The flier mentioned in 2(A), and a follow-up letter giving those on the retreat the names and addresses of other participants are the only two documents put out by the church of which I am aware. I have been unable to obtain copies of either documents, but it is possible that they are still held within the files of SAINT PASCHAL's. It is also possible that Mrs. REDACTED REDACTED named in 2(A) above, would have a copy.

(E) Unknown

Interrogatory #4

(A) My inability to continue my close relationship with my church is verifiable through my friends as well as church donation records. Witnessing my son completely change from a sweet young child to a cynical, and untrusting child has been devastating. I have lost many friendships, and my daily activities have been necessarily rescheduled around therapy appointments and meeting REDACTED emotional needs.

(B) The first sign of my emotional distress has been in dealing with REDACTED. His radical personality change seemed likely to drive the family apart before we finally admitted what happened. I still continue, at times, to feel unreasonable guilt over whether or not there was something that I could have done that might have prevented the tragedy. All the old "Don't talk to strangers" speeches seem so futile now. REDACTED is not the same person he was before the molestation. He has never again been carefree or young. His cynical attitude alienates those who love him. His self-destructive behavior has diminished, as has most of his physical lashing out at others, but this is control, not relief. REDACTED cries easily and inappropriately. He shows a mean streak towards other boys, and has a barrier between himself and those men with whom he must deal. In some ways he is no longer a child. In other ways, he is far too much a child for someone now in the sixth grade. I deal with this daily. Somedays I think that he might be starting to do better. A teacher will tell me that he seems to be relating better with his peers; and then a parent will call me and complain about a needless, unkindness or fight, and I know that it is not over yet.

Another area of extreme distress is in the change in attitude between REDACTED and his father. It is almost as though they have no relationship at all. REDACTED no longer tries to please his father. His father reacts with anger and impatience.
They never touch. They rarely speak to one another, unless in anger. REDACTED father has been rejected by REDACTED, and his father hurt is manifested in an attitude that tells REDACTED that he will not ever again try to break through the wall REDACTED has built up around himself. It is easy for a mother to see when one of three sons gets the brunt of the punishments, the sharpest lash of temper. REDACTED father really tried at first to get close to REDACTED again after we found out the molestation. REDACTED could not handle the closeness, and now REDACTED father has stopped trying. This has been a major factor in the deterioration of the relationship. We are all still together, but the fun is gone.

REDACTED attitude even affects his brothers. They are each about four years apart, being three, seven and almost eleven. The two young ones get along very well. I can take REDACTED alone anywhere, or the two young ones together anywhere, and all is well. Put REDACTED in the group with his brothers, and the fights start. He teases. He punches. He keeps then at a distance, and alienates them; then he cries because they don't like them. I deal with this daily. As it is impossible to know how to deal with the situation. My health is not good anymore. Life is not fun at our house anymore. I can't reach him.

I have lost my feelings of spiritual security within my church. We changed parishes. Even at SAINT JULIE's, it is an effort to make myself go. I no longer sing with the church choir. I don't teach CCD classes. When I go to mass, it is no longer for myself. I go because the children should be there. I don't feel that I am part of that community anymore. The priest did not do that. The priest was a person, and all of us do wrong, although his crime was more than just wrong. It is still inconceivable to me. And yet, I felt that the church could have helped us. They could have, and decided not to do so. A letter that I wrote to Cardinal Manning literally took the heart out of me, trying to explain what had happened and what was happening. I asked for help and support. We were expecting our third son at the time, and I stated that REDACTED needed help and we were financially unable to provide. I received back a formal note from one of the Cardinal's staff offering prayers for our family and $500.00 for partial help in paying the expenses of the birth of our new child. It was a crushing blow. I tried to write another letter, but I just could not do it. I wanted to send the check back and tell them to keep it, but at that point it would have meant food from the table, so we used the money. REDACTED will never be the same. As my opinion of the Catholic church changed, and as it became more difficult and less productive to force REDACTED to attend mass, my husband stopped going. He never goes anymore. He no longer talks of converting. He sees the church too clearly as a business entity.

Our middle son is to make his first communion this year. After his CCD teacher scolded me for not taking him to mass, I have now gone three weeks in a row. The teacher said she could not do anything for him if we did not take him to church. I am trying to force myself to go each Sunday. It is a pressure that I would rather not feel, but maybe I can gain back some of what I have lost.

There is one other area of daily distress, and I do not expect it ever to lessen while I have young boys in my care. It is not possible to be constantly with them. It is not possible to really protect them. They must be allowed to play outside, to attend school, to join sports. I cannot follow them everywhere; I cannot really protect them. When they go out that door in the morning will they make it back safely? I am fearful of teachers, coaches, scout leaders, a friend's husband—someone a child would trust—one of these hurt my sons, I wish I knew what the future holds. I wish I could forget.

Dear Archbishop Mahony,

I hope and pray that all goes well for you, and all your work there! May I please add my "Congratulations" to you as our new Archbishop!

I've decided to write you to say both "Hello" and to share a little more personally of myself because I can see some real changes in my life that I'd like to inform you about and also to ask your "opinion/think!"

I was ordained a priest in 1970, spent 1/2 year active up in Santa Barbara, and until 1981 in Thousand Oaks. I was assisted for 7 months making at St. Paul's... and, after 6 months of very poor and difficult court hearings, I was sentenced to 10 years at Atascadero state hospital. In 1953, after 22 mos. more, I was sentenced to 10 years in prison (5 years suspended prison sentence). I just recently completed 2 1/2 years probation and am doing well. On an "severance leave" status, and believe that I want to continue in that position for some time. I grew quite a bit in that period of being "locked away," and while full a need for more personal growth.

I attend 2 to 3 hours of group psychotherapy a week, and also see a psychiatrist privately at hospitals for private direction. My present job is as a bookkeeper-stenographer at ABC in Redondo Beach. The last 2 years I have tried extremely to seek other employment on the "pencil" job, help those of assisting others, to have been unsuccessful. I believe that my gifts as talents are best used in assisting others while making sure I do not lose myself in the process. I recently applied to the "psychiatric technician" training program at Alexandria (where I was a patient), and took the written test last Monday. If I pass, I face a different real-intense, and if I pass there, I could be chosen to begin a 1-year intensive study experience program there to be licensed. If I am accepted, I'll need to try and get my probation changed to Van Buren County, and many other details taken care of.

Thanks, as far for your patience in reading through all of this. I am asking you if I may please come to see you, and find out what are the "guarantees" of my being "on line" in our neighborhood may I return to the actual guaranteed here at some time in the future, or whatever? I have not personally shut the door to this, but I also need to know your true feelings about this. I would appreciate being able to sit down & discuss some of these things with you.

H ave a great week!
I thank you for your help——
Be at peace——
Sincerely & gratefully,
[Signature]

Pat Roemer

Dear Pat:

I wish to acknowledge your letter of September 29th, 1985, and although I do not know you personally I have heard of your case.

It is my understanding that you are on "inactive leave" status and that is the status which I also wish to continue.

I was glad to have the information about your past situation and your present and future plans. I share your hope that you may be able to enter into some type of counseling work for the future.

It is not appropriate at this time to discuss the possibility of any future priestly ministry since you are still on legal probation, and I understand there are civil suits pending as well. Possibly once all of these matters are settled, some years from now, it may be opportune to look into some of the broader questions which still remain.

Assuring you of my prayers and with every best wish I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Re: REDACTED vs. Roman Catholic Archbishop of Los Angeles, et. al.

Dear REDACTED,

I did not provide you with the letter from Father Roemer to Judge dated March 25, 1981 because I do not have an original of that letter. I do, however, have a transcription of that letter which I am enclosing. I would imagine that the original letter is in the Court's files.

As you can see, in the letter he admits confiding in a member of the Catholic clergy about his sexual attractions to young boys while he was in Santa Barbara. Of course, this would have occurred previous to the time the children were molested.

I have received extensive psychological evaluations on all of the children and am in the process of putting together a structured settlement demand for the children and a lump sum offer for REDACTED.

You should expect to receive that package by the end of June.

Please call should you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Re: ... v. RCA, et al.
Ventura County Superior Court Case No. 82750

Dear [REDACTED]

I am taking the liberty of replying to your letter of May 6, 1986 addressed to [REDACTED].

The facsimile copy of the Roemer letter (3/25/81) which was attached to your letter raises two very substantial and significant issues. (I am referring to the second paragraph wherein he says that he described his "problem" to a "priest-confidante" in Santa Barbara.)

The first question raised is that of what is sometimes referred to as the "seal of the confessional." The priest hearing a penitent's confession cannot act on what he hears in the confessional outside the confessional under Canon Law. Thus there can be no civil vicarious liability on the part of the RCA if the person is a priest such as in this case.

The second question raised is the clergyman-penitent privilege in Evidence Code sections 1030-1034. Section 1034 seems to comport with Canon Law. The priest referred to in the Roemer letter definitely feels that he is bound by the seal of the confessional and section 1034 under the circumstances of this case.

I thought it only fair to bring this to your attention. Our client is interested in trying to work out something for the youngsters involved; and therefore, we look forward to the settlement package mentioned in your letter of May 6, 1986.

Very truly yours,

Dear Archie,

I'm writing to ask if you can obtain any information for me concerning civil suits against Pat Roemer in the Archdiocese. I hear from time to time stories that such suits or suit is in process, but I really don't know anything about it. It would be helpful if I could have some information. For instance, I don't even know who the litigants are. It would be helpful to know their names. It would also be helpful to know something about what stage the suit is in and how long lawyers anticipate it will take to be settled. If there is anything you can give me on this Archie I would appreciate it or if there is someone that you can refer me to I would appreciate that too.

Thank you very much for your kindness in the past and now.

Fraternally yours,

Dear Archbishop Mahony,

I am in receipt of your letter of June 21, 1989; and I wish to acknowledge your favorable decision with regard to our request that the Archdiocese of Los Angeles compensate Reverend Patrick Roemer in the amount of $1,500 per month.

Father Roemer has asked me to indicate to you his gratitude for your considerations in this matter; and he has also asked that I inform you formally that he accepts the decisions that you have made in the matter of his support as indicated in your letters of May 17, 1989, and June 21, 1989.

Father Roemer has been in contact with Monsignor Curry, and it is my understanding that appointments are being scheduled in order to establish a process by which he can begin to seek employment. He definitely shares your hope that he will be able to establish himself before the end of the six-month period.

In closing, may I express my personal gratitude for the spirit of pastoral concern that has been demonstrated in bringing this delicate and sensitive matter to a conclusion. It has been a lengthy process, but one which I believe has given careful consideration to Father Roemer's situation.

Re: REDACTED vs. Archdiocese, et. al.

Dear Mr. REDACTED:

The following is a settlement proposal in connection with the above-referenced matter. I have included for your evaluation psychological studies done on each of the four molested boys. The studies were performed by Dr. REDACTED who has an excellent reputation here in Ventura County.

I am sure that you are well aware of the national nature of the problem of priest pedophiles and of the attention focused on this problem by the media. I have been in contact with various attorneys who are handling these cases. I am including a tape of a West 57th Street report on the issue which is followed by the Dan Rather CBS News broadcast which highlighted the problem, focusing on the Louisiana cases which have been studied in the National Catholic Reporter. It should be noted that Louisiana law does not provide for punitive damages. I have previously provided you with the Time magazine article which mentioned our case in its overview of the national dilemma of Catholic priests who are child molesters.

The primary losses of all these victims are essentially threefold:

1. The loss of religion, faith, spirituality;
2. The loss of innocence;
3. The loss of trust;

The children's experience of having been the sexual object of a Catholic priest has had a devastating and rippling effect on their young lives. To young people, a priest is God; the children's feelings toward Father Roemer were particularly imbued with this attitude. Father Roemer was in charge of children's services at St. Paschal's and was regarded with deep reverence.
and affection. He had received numerous accolades from community groups, honoring him for his services to children. Indeed, when the molestation of the plaintiffs were first made public, the community responded with almost unerring backing of Father Roemer and accusations that the children were lying. The children were aware of the community response, and this made the experience all the more devastating for them.

The children's response was, predictably, in many ways, uniform. To be singled out by the clergy for positive purposes leads to feelings of specialness and unique worth. To be singled out the clergy for abuse carries with is the same impact, but to its reverse. Other than unique feelings of self-worth, a child feels equally intense feelings of self-loathing and self-denigration. All the children in this case suffered the different types of psychological damage flowing from being victims of sexual abuse.

The tragedy in all these cases is that many of these molestations could have been prevented. Plaintiff [REDACTED] who was 12 at the time he was molested by Father Roemer, had on enumerable occasions shared with his parents his fears of Father Roemer. Those fears were based on his observations from ages 10 through 12 of Father Roemer's conduct with young boys. Young [REDACTED] observed Father Roemer at football games and sports camp activities acting overly affectionate with young boys. He told his parents that the priest was constantly touching, hugging, and rubbing the faces, heads and bodies of other children and advised his mother that he thought the conduct by the priest was inappropriate. These observations by a young child certainly could and should have been made by persons working with Father Roemer.

During the course of Father Roemer's evaluation by the criminal courts, he acknowledged sexual involvement with over 20 children dating back to 1970 after his graduation from St. John's Seminary in Camarillo. Father Roemer has admitted that his molestation of the children was carried out to gratify his own sexual needs and that erection and ejaculation normally accompanied his activities of fondling children. [He had confided with [REDACTED] at the Santa Barbara parish about his problem, and Father Roemer sought assistance through a psychologist while assigned to Santa Barbara parishes.] While these communications are privileged under California law, certainly they fly in the face of Canon 2359 paragraph 3;

"Any touching with the intent of physical arousal is cause for suspension and the priest must be stripped of his duties."

The May 1980 molestation of Plaintiff [REDACTED] was shared with Father Colm O'Ryan in December of 1980. Father
O’Ryan met with Plaintiffs and at St. Paschal’s. In that meeting after literally bared his soul and shared with Father O’Ryan the terrifying experience he had kept from everyone for seven months. Father O’Ryan, who was Monsignor at St. Paschal’s, along with Father and who had placed Father Roemer in charge of children services at that parish, assured Mrs. that he would investigate the matter and would talk to Father Roemer. Father Roemer remained in his position until he was arrested.

After their one hour meeting, Father O’Ryan assured Mrs. that he would "take care of it" and said he would talk to a parishioner about psychological help for and would contact Catholic Social Services on behalf. This was never done.

Father Roemer was not removed from his position. Father later told both and others that "his hands had been tied" and that he could do nothing about Father Roemer even after notification by the of Father Roemer’s molestation of The did not pursue criminal charges based on Father O’Ryan’s representations that the matter would be handled within the Church.

The went to New Year’s Day Mass, January 1981, at St. Paschal’s and were shocked to see that not only had Father Roemer not been removed from his position, but he was conducting the mass. This frightened greatly. called Father O’Ryan the next day (Monday, January 2, 1981) and was told he was busy and could not talk. She called on Tuesday and was given the same story. She then went down to St. Paschal’s and at that point Father O’Ryan told her that "his hands were tied" that the parishioner he had formerly mentioned could not help with psychological care, and that Catholic Social Services could not get into the middle of the matter. He told Mrs. that if needed therapy, that would be her responsibility.

Father at Sacred Heart Church in Satigo was contacted by of the Ventura County Sheriff’s Office on December 30, 1980 concerning an investigation of Father Roemer in connection with revelations. Again, nothing was done by any member of the Catholic clergy and of course, in late January, 1981, Father Roemer continued his course of conduct and this time chose Plaintiffs and as his next victims. The Church had retained Father Roemer in his position. The molestations were performed during confession and prior to CCD classes at the parish.

Father O’Ryan was approached by in February of 1981, who was an officer of SLAM, a group sponsoring a Stronger Legislation Against Molesters. Father O’Ryan told Mr.
"I blew it. I did not do the right thing." Father O'Ryan had been Father Roemer's superior for two and one half years. Father O'Ryan was referring to his retention of Father Roemer in his position as head of children's services at St. Paschal's and the fact that he did indeed go on to molest Plaintiffs and even after the revelation of the sexual molestation of.

The following is a proposal for each plaintiff:

REDACTED

REDACTED was six years old when he was molested by Father Roemer, whom he had affectionately called "Father Pat."
He described to Ventura County Sheriff's officers the incident as follows:

A while ago, my family and I went camping with a church group. The first night we were there, I asked Father Pat to come over to my bed and say my good night prayers. After saying the prayers, Father Pat reached down my underwear and began feeling my penis. He did it for about the time it takes to count to 20. During that time Father Pat talked about "Peace" when I did not do or say anything at the time.

REDACTED father was sleeping in a bunk a short distance away and was sound asleep at the time. REDACTED was wearing underwear and no pajamas and was under the covers. REDACTED said he felt like screaming to his Dad but did not have the courage. REDACTED did not know what to do. He did not mention the molestation to anyone, but stated he relived it every time he closed his eyes.

REDACTED personality change began right after the incident. He did not share the experience with anyone because he thought he might get in trouble. He refused to go to church. REDACTED is a gifted child and his school performance declined noticeably for one year after the molestation. Prior to the molestation, he was viewed as an easy going, adaptable child with minimal conflict with his parents. He became a very serious behavior problem during the seven months after the molestation before REDACTED revealed it.

REDACTED became consumed with self-loathing. He began to throw temper tantrums, cut on his headboard with a pocket knife, played with a cigarette lighter in his bed and burn the blankets, pillows and a jacket and was constantly getting in trouble. He refused to sit on his father's lap and had tremendous difficulties relating to his father. He felt that he was a bad person. His outlook on life became pessimistic as though others did not care for him. Although this outlook has lessened, he has never retained his original carefree attitude toward life. He is wary of adults, especially male authority figures.

REDACTED is described as having a continuing deficit in his social adjustment. He has become socially reserved and is not trustful. He is cautious and conservative to the effect that his attitudes have had a significant impact on his interpersonal functioning. He fears the dark, has somatic complaints, fears social events and worries about his parents and other family members not being available to him. He is more distrustful than others his age and keeps his distance from people, maintaining an attitude of objectivity and skepticism. He is cautious toward other children, careful and watchful. There are times when he has overwhelming doubts, fears and a sense of hopelessness about his future even though he knows he is very capable mentally.

Death is considered as an alternative to REDACTED Following the molestation, REDACTED showed an abnormally high degree of unacceptable social behavior and these problems continue. He has an excessive interest in sex and masturbation which has occurred frequently and has not been conducted in the privacy which one would expect. At the same time, he has exaggerated modesty.

REDACTED is very sensitive to the possibility of rejection. He does not have good tolerance for frustration when it bears on his sense of self-worth. In group situations, he is very sensitive to rejection and is sensitive to demands made on him by others. He is quick to react with noncompliance and irritability and is demanding and argumentative. He feels that he is not accepted by his peers and is quite afraid that others will find out about his victimization.

REDACTED religious and spiritual adjustment have been completely and totally undermined. To REDACTED Father Roemer was more than a spiritual advisor; he was a friend and an alternate father symbol for the one who had abandoned him as an infant (Mr. REDACTED is REDACTED; step-father).

REDACTED used to look forward to going to church and now is cynical about religion. To REDACTED, Father Roemer and God were so closely intertwined that he cannot understand why a God would be so cruel.

REDACTED REDACTED REDACTED

REDACTED

REDACTED

One of the tragedies in REDACTED case is the fact that had this incident not occurred, REDACTED might well have chosen the priesthood as his vocation. He is a very introspective child, is bright, and tries to emphasize conscientiousness, persistence and adherence to moral standards in his thoughts and actions. He considers himself morally disciplined, ordered and dominated by a sense of duty. Caring for others is an essential theme in his conception of what he should strive to be. REDACTED rejects religion. REDACTED felt that priests were sent from God and working for God. If one of God's people did something wrong, maybe God was responsible. REDACTED is still reticent to go to mass and has lost that spiritual link with his family that he had enjoyed previous to the molestation.

It is requested that a $250,000.00 settlement be put into a structure that would pay out at REDACTED 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, and 22nd birthdays as well as his 25th and 30th birthdays. Initial payments would cover attorney's fees and costs.

REDACTED was ten years old at the time of his molestation. The incident occurred in late January 1981 after a CCD (religious instruction) class. REDACTED was taken to Father Roemer in order to give his confession. Father Roemer instructed him to sit on his lap in the confessional. Father Roemer fondled REDACTED; chest when he asked him the confessional question, "What had done wrong?" Father Roemer rubbed stomach, chest and underarm area touching his skin under his shirt. Father Roemer kissed him on the right ear twice while he was massaging his body.

Prior to that incident, loved going to church, enjoyed his religious education classes and family participation in church activities. When was asked what his thoughts were on whether his own sexuality would be affected by what happened to him, he stated "There is a chance. I am not saying it is going to happen or it won't. Sometimes I think about it. Every time I think about being gay, it makes me sick."
 Added to these problems is the loss that has had in his spiritual life. Like the other children, he is now skeptical and cynical about religion. The entire family used to be a close Catholic unit which shared religious and spiritual feelings; they also shared participation in church-related social activities and the inclusion of Catholic life philosophies in their lives. The no longer believe in any Catholic religious or spiritual philosophies. The Sunday mornings which they used to share together are not spent in joint activities. [The once tried the Mormon church as an alternative, but found this to be unsatisfactory.]

A $250,000.00 settlement is proposed, to be put into a structure that would pay out at 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, and 22nd birthdays as well as his 25th and 30th birthdays. Initial payments would cover attorney's fees and costs.
was seven years old when he was molested. On January 26, 1981, he was at St. Paschal's for the purpose of attending CCD classes. Father Roemer asked to come into his office to look at some old yearbook pictures. He went into the office and Father Roemer sat in a chair near a desk. Father Roemer lifted up and placed him on his leg, far enough back so that was close to Father Roemer's chest.

Father Roemer showed a book with pictures from when Father Roemer had gone to school. He said it was the kind of book where everyone in the class takes pictures together. While looking at the book, Father Roemer put his hand under T-shirt and started to rub stomach in slow circular movements. Father Roemer kissed on the neck near the right ear as he was rubbing him. Father Roemer then slid his hands down into pants and inside his underpants. He massaged penis with short fast strokes. stated that Father Roemer's hands and legs were shaking at the time and he asked Father Roemer why he was shaking all over. Father Roemer replied, "I am cold." stated that it was hot in the room at the time and Father Roemer was wearing a jacket. became scared and asked Father Roemer if he could leave.

Father Roemer has stated that he did have an erection and ejaculated during the time that he was fondling and reported the incident to his parents at dinner that night and the police were contacted. Father Roemer's arrest followed. felt guilty about telling on the priest. He did not stop Father Roemer, even though he knows the priest was doing something terribly wrong, because he was afraid. He still fears that Father Roemer might come back and molest him or hurt him. Further, has had to cope with the inappropriate aggressiveness and hostility of his older brother which was resulted from molestation.

does not think he will ever go to church again. He is angry with himself that he did not do anything to try to stop Father Roemer or hit Father Roemer. He has rapid mood changes in which he get frustrated, and becomes very aggressive. The fact that was the first to reveal Father Roemer's sexual advances made him the focus of attention of law enforcement and the news media and this was a hardship on as well as the rest of his family. His parents feel he is excessively embarrassed about being identified as a victim. He has become hysterical over the prospect of such identification. He consulted a psychologist, due to the trauma of his victimization.

has expressed concern that the molestation experience could make him gay and still worries about the possibility. His school performance declined greatly after the molestation and was marked by a decline in interest as well as effort.
His parents feel his embarrassment and sensitivity over his victimization have made him more withdrawn and prone to overreact to criticism and avoid situations in which he might fail. He is concerned about "informing" on a priest and has strong guilt feelings.

REDACTED has stated, "I grew up all through the Church and I feel we miss it." Like REDACTED, he lacks any spiritual faith and recognizes the void in his spiritual and family life which was once filled by the Catholic Church. [Dr. REDACTED] predicts "a sleeper effect" caused by REDACTED, sexual abuse; his statements would indicate he experiences an ongoing sense of humiliation of being used as a sexual object and dismay at the discovery of his impotency when it came to protecting himself from such inappropriate advances. He believes he was victimized because he was a weak person. His current psychological make-up is one which shields him from reality and has prevented him from developing mechanisms of coping with stress.
In the summer of 1980, (REDACTED) was attending a sports camp held at St. Pascal's school. (REDACTED) was 12 at the time. [Prior to the time he was molested by Father Roemer, he had observed the priest for approximately two years being what (REDACTED) considered to be overly affectionate with young boys.] These observations were at football games and at the sports camp. (REDACTED) saw that the priest was constantly touching, hugging and rubbing the faces, heads and upper bodies of other children and advised his mother that he thought this conduct by the priest was inappropriate. His mother assured him that she would be there most of the time and would be able to protect him.

On the first day of sports camp, Father Roemer came up close behind (REDACTED) and wrapped his arms around (REDACTED) chest, resting his chin on (REDACTED) head. This made (REDACTED) extremely nervous and uncomfortable and for the rest of the day, he tried to avoid the priest. When his mother picked him up that afternoon, he told her that he did not want to return to the camp and explained what Father Roemer had done. His mother told him to avoid the priest and that she would come to the field early to pick him up every day and watch him. The next day, (REDACTED) felt like the priest was looking for him all day. At one point, while (REDACTED) was playing soccer, Father Roemer approached him and said, cynically, "You can't get away from me." The next day while (REDACTED) was playing football Father Roemer complimented (REDACTED) on his running ability and said that he was a good runner when he was in school. He asked (REDACTED) to come to his office and look at sports pictures in his yearbook. (REDACTED) felt that Father Roemer was a homosexual and that his behavior was typical of that of a homosexual.

That afternoon, when the activities were over for the day, (REDACTED) went to the front of the church and waited for his ride. He was sitting on a bench when Father Roemer came up and sat very close to him, touching his body and putting his arm around him. He kept his arm around (REDACTED) until some other boys came up and started talking to him.

In October of 1980, (REDACTED) was signing up for flag football at Thousand Oaks High School and saw Father Roemer there. He hid from him, not wanting Father Roemer to see him because he was afraid of him. Three months later (REDACTED) saw Father Roemer at Westlake Theatre with a single young boy.

(REDACTED) states that he could tell that Father Roemer was deriving sexual pleasure out of the touching of him and other young boys; he knew that Father Roemer was not normal.

These incidents made (REDACTED) extremely afraid of Father Roemer, fearful that he might try to come to his home to get him. He did not want his mother to leave home and until the ninth grade exhibited strong fears related to Father Roemer. He began to have nightmares. When Father Roemer was arrested and convicted, was scared that he would break out of jail and get him, even though he was assured by his parents that this would not happen. experience affected his relationship with his father. was on guard and felt that he could not trust adult males. His deep fear of being left alone affected the entire family. As he did not want his mother to leave during the day, she had to cut back on her work hours in order to accommodate him. His frequent bad dreams were accompanied by a lack of self-confidence, excessive dependence on his parents, and immature reactions. During the months after the molestation, he was tense, sensitive and prone to being preoccupied with his own needs. He lost his temper often and was not willing to go along with family plans. felt guilty, was afraid of sleeping alone and talked excessively about dying or being injured. His parents report that these changes had subsided by the summer of 1985. His parents feel he was affected so strongly by Father Roemer's advances because Father Roemer was so persistent in attempting to gain physical contact with still feels he could not be in the same room with a man alone, like a teacher. He is still on guard and his preoccupation hinders him in athletic endeavors. Physical contact in school sports bothered him and he is afraid of what others will think of him.

view of the Catholic Church and religion has changed. [Although he was not a Catholic prior to the incident, he was quite religious] He felt God spoke through priests and nuns and now believes that they do not and should not have the trust of people and that they are "more screwed up" than normal people. He is very bitter toward the Catholic Church.

His total disillusionment with religious persons began with his discovery that a priest approached him with sexual intentions. He believed religious persons were committing a fraud on an unwilling subject and his experience as being a victim of a sexual assault by a priest has put a considerable distance between and the possibility of the beneficial effects of associating with religion. He suffers from a low level of continuing anger growing out of his perception that he is a socially defensive person as a result of being the object of this sexual approach. He feels that he has a sense of distance from male persons and the experience has deprived him of time and opportunities he would otherwise realize. He feels he is a person who has lost a certain amount of intellectual freedom as he is preoccupied with caution and is self-conscious around his peers. has a fairly high degree of anxiety concerning female peers; he is unsure of himself and does not know how he should act. His male relationships and his definition of who he is as a male person are characterized by doubt and anger; he is unsure of what to expect of men, especially older men.

It is requested that a $175,000.00 settlement be put into a structure that would pay out on 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, and 22nd birthdays as well as his 25th and 30th birthdays. Initial payments would cover attorney's fees and costs. The initial 18th birthday payment will be delayed due to the time allotted for the Archdiocese to review the settlement proposal.

REDACTED has a breach of contract action arising out of St. Paschal's sponsorship for the camp for which the family paid. REDACTED was molested at camp. Defendant's demurrer to that cause of action was overruled. REDACTED seeks emotional stress damages as well as damages arising out of the costs the family has incurred in order to have undergo psychological therapy.

Mrs. REDACTED herself has suffered deeply from the events which occurred at the camp. REDACTED seven month repression of events, as noted above, produced a severe and destructive personality change. REDACTED teachers and principal brought this change to Mrs. REDACTED attention prior to REDACTED revelation of the assault and Mrs. REDACTED was at a loss to explain it. As discussed above, REDACTED became distant from all the family members, especially his father, and this caused the entire family anguish.

Mrs. REDACTED could be described as "a strong Catholic" prior to these events. Her faith has been shaken. As noted, she was reassured by Father O'Ryan that the matter would be taken care of and dropped criminal charges because of those reassurances. After that, more children were molested by Father Roemer and had she not dropped the charges, the molestations probably would not have occurred. Mrs. REDACTED resigned from St. Paschal's parish, leaving friends and roots. She joined a Newbury Park parish.

Most distressing to Mrs. REDACTED has been not only her questioning of faith in the lack of response on the part of the Church, but enduring rejection of faith and the seemingly permanent changes in his personality. Settlement in the amount of $50,000.00 is requested.
The above demand offers are good until October 24, 1986. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

REDACTED

Dear REDACTED

I do hope that this letter reaches you. After ten minutes on the phone to 1531 West Ninth Street, this was the only address that anyone could come up with; but it doesn't strike me as the one we had discussed.

I am enclosing in this letter two memoranda on the topics we had discussed concerning Pat. I hope that they will be helpful to you. One point that is not specifically covered in either memo is the question of a the period within which a penal action would have to be initiated against Pat. Presuming that an action would be instituted under canon 1395, §2, which states that "if a cleric has otherwise committed an offense against the sixth commandment of the Decalogue with force or threat or publicly or with a minor below the age of sixteen, the cleric is to be punished with just penalties, including dismissal from the clerical state if the case warrants it," the period of prescription (which is the term used in canon law for a "statute of limitations") is five years. This is based upon canon 1362, §1, n. 2, which states that "a criminal action is extinguished by prescription in three years unless it is a question of: ... an action due to offenses mention in cann. 1394, 1395, 1397 and 1398, which have a prescription of five years."

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I can do anything to be of assistance to you or Pat in this matter.

RE: Pat Roemer

I had a call from Father REDACTED, who does aftercare for the Paracletes in Jemez Springs. He had had a call from Pat Roemer asking for information about the Congregation.

Pat said he was calling to say that he and some other priests were interested in the work of the Congregation, and I fathered he had the possibility of joining in mind.

I told Father REDACTED that we were encouraging Pat to seek laicization.

Archbishop of Los Angeles

Dear Archbishop Mahony,

I am writing on the behalf of Reverend D. Patrick Roemer who has asked me to act as his canonical advocate in the hope of resolving certain difficulties which have arisen in his relationship with the Church of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Father Roemer has attempted to initiate a dialogue with you on at least three occasions; however, these efforts on his part have been quite frustrating to him in that he has not been successful in reaching you. I am, therefore, approaching you on his behalf in the hope that a dialogue can be begun. This letter outlines the concerns which he wishes to bring to your attention.

Father Roemer remains dedicated to the priesthood to which he was ordained; but he is also fully aware of the difficulties which his past conduct has caused the Church of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, and he acknowledges the impossibility of his serving as a priest in the Archdiocese in the future. He has currently completed five of the ten years of the summary probation determined by the courts; and as he begins the latter half of this probation, he is most anxious to make plans for the future. In order to accomplish this, however, there are a number of personal matters which must be resolved.

While he does not wish to be a source of embarrassment or difficulty to the Archdiocese, it does appear that certain of Father Roemer's rights under canon law have been ignored. These continue to be a source of stress and severe hardship for him; and a remedy must be sought if he is to implement any future plans successfully.

It is helpful to present a chronology of the events surrounding Father Roemer's situation and to present a number of principles contained in canon law:

A. A CHRONOLOGY OF EVENTS

1. On January 26, 1981, Father Roemer was placed under arrest by the authorities in Ventura County for child molestation. At no time did Father deny the accuracy of these charges.

2. Shortly after the time of his arrest, Father was placed on "inactive leave," and his faculties were removed. Since it appears that no penal process was followed, it seems that this was an administrative action. At the same time, the Archdiocese arranged for Father Roemer to have one hour of therapy a week until the time of his sentencing on May 29, 1981.

3. On May 29, 1981, Father was sentenced to ten years at Atascadero State Hospital. A few months following his incarceration, Monsignor Hawkes informed Father that his salary was to be discontinued. This decision continues to remain in effect.

4. On April 11, 1983, Father Roemer was released from Atascadero State Hospital and was placed on his own recognizance until the court determined the conditions of his probation. For six weeks he was in residence at St. Joseph's Hospital in Ojai, California.

5. On May 25, 1983, Father was placed on summary probation for ten years, the probation which he is currently serving.

6. Following the hearing which placed him on probation, the Archdiocese provided Father with a used car and subsequently reimbursed him approximately $1,100 for numerous repairs which had to be made on the vehicle. It is also clear that the Archdiocese paid for all of Father Roemer's legal expenses which were associated with his arrest on the child molestation charges; and the Archdiocese also arranged a financial settlement for one of the victims of Father's actions.

7. Since his release, Father Roemer has himself been responsible for a number of medical, legal and personal obligations which he has incurred. Due to the difficulties which surround his circumstances, it has been extremely difficult for him to find steady or permanent employment; and this has resulted in his accumulating outstanding debts in excess of $15,000. He currently is unable to meet his monthly expenses, and the amount of his indebtedness continues to increase. From 1983 to the present time, Father Roemer has received no additional financial or pastoral assistance from the Archdiocese of Los Angeles; and he has been unsuccessful in his attempts to approach the Archdiocese for assistance.

B. CANONICAL PRINCIPLES

1. Canon 281 provides that clerics, since they dedicate themselves to the ecclesiastical ministry, deserve a remuneration which is consistent with their condition in accord with the nature of their responsibilities and with the conditions of time and place. This precept also directs that such remuneration should enable clerics to provide for their needs and for the equitable payment of those whose services they need, and that provision is to be made for assistance of those needs resulting from illness, incapacity or old age.

2. Canon 1350 presents the principle that even when (canonical) penalties are imposed upon a cleric, provision must be made that he not lack those things necessary for his decent support. Even in the case of dismissal from the clerical state, an obligation in charity remains to assist a person who is truly in need.

3. Canon 6 states that with the promulgation of the 1983 Code of Canon Law, the 1917 Code of Canon Law, universal or particular laws contrary to the current code and universal or particular penal laws issued by the Apostolic See unless contained in the current code are abrogated.

The circumstances in which Father Roemer finds himself unquestionably call into question his ability to function in the priestly ministry at the present time in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. His condition represents a most serious problem for which he is undergoing continuing therapy and observation. Canon law, however, does not provide for the discontinuation of all support solely due to a priest's incapacity to function. It is clear that the principles concerning remuneration insist that an obligation exists in justice to provide for a priest suffering from illness. It would appear that the complete removal of financial support on the part of the Archdiocese would be a denial of Father Roemer's rights under canon 281.

Father Roemer has never been placed under a penalty by the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Even if the "inactive leave" which was imposed at the time of his arrest in 1981 were construed to be a penalty, this certainly could not constitute dismissal from the clerical state. One might argue that the 1917 Code of Canon Law would allow for the "privation of a benefice," thus justifying the privation of Father's salary; however, with the promulgation of the current code, such a sanction would have been abrogated. Short of dismissal from the clerical state, which is not applicable in this case, an obligation in justice continues to exist to provide for Father's needs.

Even though Father Roemer does recognize and acknowledge that there is no possibility of his being able to function as a priest within the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, it will not be possible for him to pursue seriously any future plans as long as he is handicapped by the personal indebtedness under which he is laboring at this time.

It is the purpose of this letter to ask that Father Roemer's rights as a priest under canon law be acknowledged and that he be offered the basic assistance which these rights guarantee. In order to initiate a dialogue and arrive at an equitable resolution of this matter, we would make the following proposals:

1. That a mutually agreed to process be determined which will provide for a full examination of Father Roemer's rights under canon law given the unique circumstances in which he finds himself;

2. That provision be made for continuing medical and psychological treatment until that time when Father Roemer is personally able to assume these responsibilities;
Most Reverend Roger M. Mahony
July 14, 1988

3. That a schedule of financial compensation be established to provide for Father Roemer's basic needs which will not only alleviate his past indebtedness but which will allow him to pursue in a serious manner plans for the future.

It is hoped that this letter will serve as a means by which a serious dialogue may be begun in a spirit of charity and pastoral sensitivity, as it is Father Roemer's desire that an equitable solution be found to the questions which he is raising.

I thank you for the serious consideration which you will give to this matter.

Dear Father Roemer:

I have received a letter from Father REDACTED dated July 14, 1988 with respect to your current status and situation.

In the letter from Father REDACTED, there are some canons from the Code of Canon Law quoted. However, other equally important canons are omitted, and I believe that it is important that we all understand your canonical status in a fuller sense.

I am somewhat puzzled by Father REDACTED assertion that you tried to meet with me on three separate occasions and were not permitted to do so. I would be willing to meet with you in the near future and I would ask that you make the necessary arrangements through Monsignor Thomas Curry, my Vicar for the Clergy.

When that appointment is arranged, I can then outline for you my understanding of the canonical provisions, including your financial liability towards the families and young people who have been so severely damaged through your own personal conduct.

With every best wish, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Father REDACTED the canonist who is representing Pat Roemer, called me today about the appointment with you. He insists he must be present since he claims your letter indicates that you will be discussing some canonical matters at the meeting.

I had checked with REDACTED and found that November 22 at 3 P.M. would be available, and he was agreeable to that date. However, I stressed that you wished to stay with the October 4 date and that I could not agree to a change without verifying it with you.

My sense is that Pat Roemer will not come now on his own. He was to call me back to say if he would come on Oct 4 but had Father REDACTED make the call.

Let’s go until the Nov. 22-

I talked to REDACTED Rawden, and his policy was that if a priest did not have an appointment in the Archdiocese that, in his mind, was the equivalent of suspension—and since the matter of Pat Roemer has come to light he has not had an appointment in the Archdiocese.

Dear Patrick:

At our recent meeting held at the Chancery Office on Tuesday, November 22, 1988 it was suggested that no formal action was taken by the Archdiocese of Los Angeles to suspend you from priestly activity.

I am writing to recall for your information my letter dated October 7, 1985 in which I repeated the status which you had prior to my arrival in the Archdiocese, and which you still have, namely "inactive leave." Although you have not been canonically suspended, in view of Canon 1044 #2, paragraph 2, you are impeded from the exercise of your orders.

I would once again recommend strongly that your next steps include a formal petition to our Holy Father seeking an immediate return to the lay state. I would fully concur in that petition, and I am quite confident that it would be granted almost immediately.

Dear Archbishop Mahony,

I am in receipt of your letter of December 20, 1988, in which you recall our meeting of November 22, 1988. I understand from your action that it is your wish that I not exercise the priestly ministry. May I point out that I have always honored the requirements of the "inactive leave" on which I was placed in 1981.

At our November meeting, I was given to understand that you would initiate a pastoral examination into the difficulties I have been experiencing since my release from the Atascadero State Hospital in April 1983. This was also to include an examination of the future plans I wish to consider and the assistance which I would need in order to implement them. You indicated that you would expedite this process and would also provide me with a written memorandum of understanding concerning the process which you had proposed. I am most desirous that the process be begun as soon as possible so that I can begin formulating my future plans.

I look forward to hearing from you concerning these arrangements.

RE: Father Patrick Roemer

I am writing this letter at the request of Reverend Patrick Roemer. I understand that you are examining Father Roemer for Archbishop Mahoney, and that some question might arise about his suitability to conduct his priestly duties. Because I am a specialist in the area of sexual offenses, and, also, have been seeing Father Roemer in psychotherapy for approximately seven years, I believe that I am qualified to provide information which may be of assistance in your examination of his case.

Before I discuss any aspects of the case, perhaps it would be helpful for you to know something about my own background. I am a licensed psychologist in the State of California.

Not only did my duties involve the treating of sex offenders, but also of children who had been sexually molested.

In 1981, I assumed a position as staff psychologist at the Atascadero State Hospital where I began working intensively with sex offenders and continue to do so up to the present time. In fact, my present assignments at the Atascadero State Hospital are quite relevant to my work on Father Roemer's case. Currently, I serve in two positions at the state hospital: the first is as a staff psychologist on the Sex Offender Treatment and Evaluation Project which is mandated by the California State Legislature to research the treatment of sex offenders; the second, is as the coordinator of the Human Sexual Behavior Laboratory.

In addition to these activities, I have treated many pedophiles in my private practice, and have done extensive court and consulting work in this area. Finally, I served as Father Roemer's primary psychotherapist while he was at Atascadero State Hospital.

Before discussing the specifics of Father Roemer's case, perhaps it would be helpful to examine the diagnostic criteria concerning pedophilia which both the psychological and psychiatric professions employ. These criteria are discussed in the 3rd edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM III), and include the following: first, over a period of at least six months, the individual experiences recurrent urges and fantasies of sexual involvement with children; second, the individual must act out on these or be "markedly distressed" by them; third, the individual must be at least 16-years-old, and at least 5 years older than the child (except for a late adolescent boy who is sexually involved with a girl who is 12- or 13-years-old); fourth, the acting-out sexual behaviors must not be incidental to other conditions such as mental retardation, organic damage, schizophrenia, and drug intoxication.

REDACTED

In addition, there must be some consideration of the conditions under which he may be discharged from the hospital. Prior to a recommendation by the state hospital to the court that an individual be released, a multidisciplinary team is assembled. Typically, such a team is comprised of the treating psychiatrist, psychologist, social worker, and nursing staff. A team was assembled in Father Roemer's case, reviewed all of the clinical evidence which had accumulated while he was being treated at the hospital, and concluded that his ability to cope with stress was now sufficient, that his judgment was adequate, and that he no longer posed a risk to the community. In other words, the hospital formally reported to the court that in the judgment of its professional staff, Father Roemer had progressed to the point where he was able to cope with any inappropriate urges. That the court agreed is demonstrated by the fact that it allowed him to return to the community.

I believe that it is absolutely essential that the above information be understood in order to properly assess this case. What I mean by this is that scientific research has demonstrated that even normal men may also be aroused by pedophilic stimuli (heterosexual and/or homosexual). The difference between such men and the pedophile is not the fact of arousal but the acting out on that arousal. What the professional staff determined at the hospital, and what I have found as I monitor his progress subsequent to his discharge, is that Father Roemer is now capable of living his life with sufficient self-control.

In view of all of this information, I believe that it is reasonable to conclude that there are significant changes in Father Roemer’s status such that he is no longer functioning psychologically as he did prior to his hospitalization. I believe that the psychological changes are qualitatively and quantitatively to such an extent that there are no reasons why he cannot discharge his priestly functions.

Please feel free to contact me if you wish further information, or would like to discuss any aspect of this case. Thank you for allowing me to be of service in this matter.

Respectfully submitted,

REDACTED, Ph.D.

Dear Monsignor Curry,

I am writing with regard to the situation concerning Reverend D. Patrick Roemer and in light of the fact that it has been over a month since our meeting with REDACTED REDACTED and Father REDACTED.

Since there has been no communication with us since the time of our meeting on March 13, this letter is to inquire as to the status of the investigation into Father Roemer's needs and to ask when we might expect a decision from Archbishop Mahony in this matter.

Thank you for your attention to this inquiry.

Most Rev. Roger M. Mahony
Archbishop of Los Angeles

Los Angeles, CA. 90015

Dear Archbishop Mahony,

At your request we met with Rev. Patrick Roemer on March 13, to discuss the issues pertaining to his case as described in a letter to you from Reverend REDACTED dated July 14, 1988. We had a cordial meeting with the two of them. We pointed out to them that canonical matters were outside the scope and realm of this meeting. We were there as your representatives to assess his personal needs and to present you with our recommendations.

Based on that meeting, we would like to make the following observations. Fr. Roemer has a dream that he would like to return to active ministry somewhere, sometime, whether that be in some diocese or Religious Community. He is aware however of your feelings on the matter and we did not lend him any encouragement in that direction either.

In the event that that does not work out for him, he would like to return to school and pursue a degree. Evidently he is bright and scores well on tests. This of course involves money and clearance from the State for any kind of certificate or license. In the course of our discussion it was obvious that he cannot afford to go to school, so Fr. REDACTED suggested the possibility of a loan from the Archdiocese. We were not very enthusiastic about that idea, and asked what kind of program he had in mind, where he intended to pursue these studies, for how long and what this would cost.

A couple weeks later, we received a letter from Father REDACTED saying that Fr. Roemer had done some research and found a program at California State University Long Beach which is suited to his educational needs and suitable to the Probation Department, and that he could enroll for this fall's program as long as he meets the May 1, registration deadline.

The following are two paragraphs from that letter: "According to information provided by Cal State Long Beach, the total fees for a single student for the 1988 - 1989 academic year were estimated at approximately $1,330. This includes university fees, books and supplies; and it presumes that the student would be living off campus. Father estimates that his monthly living expenses in the south bay area would be in the area of $1,500. This presumes that he would be enrolled as a full-time student meaning that he would not have a source of income through employment during the two year program that he is envisioning."
Re: Rev. Patrick Roemer

Thus, the total costs over the period of two years (not taking into account cost of living increases, etc.) would be approximately $38,660.

Were Father to have to undertake this program as a part-time student, there would be a significant escalation in the university fees; and the program would take a significantly longer period of time to complete."

These are his dreams. The present reality of the situation is that Fr. Roemer has a debt of over $19,000, as of December 31, 1988. Almost $11,000 of this is owed to Dr. REDACTED his therapist who charges $95.00 for each weekly visit. Then he has borrowed $8,000 from his mother and aunt. That figure does not reflect the 5.3% interest on $3,000, 11.5% on $2,000 and 5.5% on the remaining $3,000. On top of this his present job will end on June 30, 1989 and neither will he have any insurance coverage.

In fairness to him, we would agree that his living expenses are not exorbitant, for example his monthly rent is only $270. From the records he shared with us, it appears that he keeps his expenses to a minimum.

In evaluating Fr. Roemer's needs it would be our recommendation that the Archdiocese help him to retire the debt, which by now is probably in the neighborhood of $20,000. Secondly, we do not consider his educational proposal as being realistic and would therefore recommend instead that the Archdiocese exercise its influence in helping him find a job that would meet his needs.

Thirdly, we recommend that the Archdiocese pay him a monthly salary of about $800 during this transitional period. This is based on his current monthly expenses which he shared with us. Fourthly, we recommend that the Archdiocese give him insurance coverage until he procures a job that will give him coverage.

We hope Archbishop that this input will be helpful to you in reaching a decision in this difficult matter. Assuring you of our willingness to be of any further help and with best wishes, we remain

Sincerely yours,

REDACTED

RE: Pat Roemer

REDACTED sent copies of his letter to you to REDACTED and myself, and we both think the recommendations are reasonable and generous.

We would advise going with these recommendations, but with the stipulation that the monthly salary be for a six-month period and that we all evaluate the situation at the end of that time.

In the past, REDACTED has indicated that the Archdiocese, by way of members of the Finance Council, might well be able to find a job, and with your permission I will pursue this with REDACTED.

Unless you wish to do so, neither REDACTED nor I think it necessary for you to meet with Pat Roemer again, and we will be very willing to handle the matter if that is your wish.

Please make certain that all of this is in writing, that our limits are clear, etc. I believe we need to say that getting a real job now is also a high priority. May I please see the draft?

Thank you for your letter of April 18, 1989.

Dear Patrick:

REDACTED and Father REDACTED have reported to me on their meeting of March 13 with you and REDACTED. Based on the report of that meeting, I am writing you with the following suggestions as to how the Archdiocese can be of assistance to you:

Although the report states you would like to pursue a degree course, I do not think it feasible for the Archdiocese to support you in such a venture. Rather, I strongly recommend that you seek employment by which you will be able to support yourself. In the event that you find it difficult to locate a job, the Archdiocese will be willing to work with you in this matter and to solicit the assistance of business people who are involved in the affairs of the Archdiocese.

During the period in which you are seeking employment, the Archdiocese will be willing to assist you in the amount of $800 per month and to have you covered by the Archdiocesan health insurance. I propose such an arrangement for a six-month period, after which we would evaluate your situation.

The report also states that you are currently in debt as a result of therapy and having to borrow money from family members. To assist you, the Archdiocese will be willing to pay off this debt, which I understand is currently about $20,000.

I hope these suggestions will be of help to you and look forward to hearing from you soon. I am aware that you had hoped to return to ministry, but as I emphasized to you previously, I do not see how that would be possible and I continue to advise you to petition the Holy Father for your return to the lay state. Again, I cannot stress too highly the importance of your finding a position that will enable you to support yourself and settle into a regular pattern of life.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

MEMORANDUM

TO: Msgr. Thomas Curry
FROM: Archbishop Roger Mahony + RMM
SUBJECT: PATRICK ROEMER

While I agree with the general approach, I feel strongly—maybe too strongly!—that something needs to be said clearly in this letter about the background of the case.

I believe that reference needs to be made to the extraordinarily serious actions of Pat, the enormous monies the AD paid out for his attorneys, the large sums we had to pay the families, etc.

Following this brief overview summary, I then think the focus should be on his getting a job—a real job. We should indicate that the Church has already spent enormous sums of money getting him one professional career already, and he blew it. The Church carries no such obligation to now prepare him through schooling for another career.

I know this sounds a bit harsh, but I believe that our letter (since it will be the first such written word to him) should recap some of the history in order to place the proper context.

THANKS SO VERY MUCH FOR REVIEWING MY IDEAS—I WOULD WELCOME THE OPPORTUNITY TO DISCUSS ALL OF THIS WITH YOU!
Dear Patrick:

REDACTED and Father REDACTED have reported to me on their meeting on March 13 with you and Father REDACTED. Based on this report, I hope the Archdiocese will be able to assist you to become truly independent and self-supporting.

Because of the extraordinary seriousness of your actions in the past, I do not believe you could ever be appointed to a position of priestly ministry in this Archdiocese, and neither could I recommend you to another diocese. My understanding is that you have taken your therapy very seriously and have made substantial progress in dealing with the problems in your own life that have given rise to the present difficulties, and I am very thankful for this and will continue to hope and pray for your continued recovery.

However, your actions have had a devastating impact on numerous people, and the effects of these actions will remain with them for the duration of their lifetimes. Without making any judgment on your own present recovery, the Church must be aware of the feelings and sentiments of all those who know of your past. To restore you to a position of priestly ministry would be to invite a continuing reminder to the people who were immediately involved of what was a very bitter experience, and to a much wider audience of what was a terribly painful episode in the Church community. I raise these matters not to accuse you again about incidents that had a disastrous effect on your own life, but to state something that pertains very much to both your and our responsibilities to our Catholic people in this local Church.

As the Archdiocese seeks to ascertain your real needs for the future, I believe we need to carry on our discussions within a context of understanding of what has already taken place. To date, the lawyers' fees amount to a figure in the region of $60,000. Because of your actions, the Archdiocese was exposed to grave civil liability and has already reached settlements involving substantial sums of money with a number of people. While the details of these settlements are protected by confidentiality, the Archdiocese has been advised that our exposure to liability is not yet complete, and that there are possibly others who may come forward.

At this stage, I would like to emphasize my strong conviction that your should seek employment with a view to being able to support yourself adequately and completely. Although the report from REDACTED REDACTED and Father REDACTED states that you would like to pursue a degree course, I do not wish to commit the Archdiocese to such a venture. Rather, I wish to see you devote your full attention to seeking employment. To this end, the Archdiocese would be willing, if necessary, to seek the advice of business people who are involved in the affairs of the Archdiocese.

During the period in which you are seeking employment, the Archdiocese will be willing to assist you in the amount of $800 per month and to have you covered by the Archdiocesan health insurance.
I propose such an arrangement for a six-month period, after which we would both evaluate your situation.

Sincerely yours,
RMM

This payment is by way of a gift to you, and implies no other liability past, present, or future. The Archdiocese would not be in a position to assume any other bills which you might incur in the future.

Attached is a revised draft of a letter to Pat Rosner. Please let me know if this is still in line with your thinking, and do not hesitate to make any changes or suggestions.

I very much agree with you that whatever we can do needs to be put in the context of the background of the case, and I also see the importance of stating some facts and issues for the records in the future.

Excellent letter! Please note the one addition and make a copy. Please have typed for my signature. Send via certified mail, return receipt.

Dear Archbishop Mahony,

I am writing with regard to the petition which Reverend D. Patrick Roemer and I have placed before you concerning his support. This letter is prompted by the fact that over two months have passed since our meeting with your representatives, and Reverend REDACTED

When I wrote Monsignor Curry last month inquiring into the status of our petition, he stated his belief that REDACTED and Father Curry's report had been received by you and that the Archdiocese would be in touch with Father Roemer and myself soon.

While acknowledging the demands which are made on your time, I wish to stress that the continuing delay is most difficult for Father Roemer in his present circumstances; and, therefore, my purpose in writing is to request as expeditious a decision in this matter as possible.

Most Reverend Roger Mahony
Archbishop of Los Angeles
1531 West Ninth Street
Los Angeles, CA 90015-1194

Dear Archbishop Mahony,

Father Roemer and I have examined the decision which you have made in the matter of the petition which we presented to you in July of 1988 regarding his maintenance and support. Both he and I feel that your letter of May 17, 1989, presents a decision which resolves many of the difficulties which Father Roemer has been experiencing.

At the outset we wish to express our appreciation for your willingness to enter seriously into a process resulting in a pastoral response to the concerns which were brought to your attention. We are sensitive to the concerns which you have raised in your letter, and it is also our wish not to create further difficulties for those whose lives have been affected by this situation.

Father Roemer is prepared to accept your decision; however, there are two points which are a matter of concern to us and which we wish to present to you in this letter in the hope that you will consider them and possibly emend the decision which you have made.

We are grateful to the Archdiocese for pledging to provide Father Roemer assistance in his search for suitable employment which will allow him to support himself adequately and completely. Since he has experienced difficulty in finding employment in the Atascadero area, the assistance of these business persons will prove most valuable.

It is of concern to us, however, whether or not it will be possible for Father Roemer to find suitable employment in the six month period of time which you present in your letter. Although he intends to undertake this pursuit seriously and actively, his present status and situation will create difficulties for him in this search.

It is our hope that the evaluation which you speak of at the end of six months will leave open the possibility of extending his support should he have been unable to find suitable employment even with the assistance and advice of the persons whom you refer to.
Most Reverend Roger Mahony
May 25, 1989

A second concern focuses on the amount of monthly assistance which you are offering Father Roemer during this period. We acknowledge with gratitude the fact that the Archdiocese will pay the $20,000 indebtedness which Father has incurred since 1981; however, we are concerned that the amount of $800 which you are proposing will not be sufficient for him to meet the monthly expenses that he will encounter in the Los Angeles area and may well result in his entering into a new period of indebtedness.

It is our presumption that you have arrived at the amount of $800 based upon the financial summaries which were provided to and Father These summaries presented the living expenses which Father Roemer has experienced while living in Atascadero. Since he will be moving to the Los Angeles area, this will have an impact on his monthly living expenses.

The cost of living in Los Angeles is significantly higher than that of Atascadero; and Father Roemer's housing and transportation expenses will increase significantly due to his move to Los Angeles. We are, therefore, concerned that the amount which you have proposed will not be sufficient for him to meet these higher living expenses.

We are asking that you consider adjusting your offer taking this move into consideration; and we would recommend that an amount of $1500 per month would be more realistic considering the present cost of living in the Los Angeles area. In making this request, Father Roemer would be willing to keep records of his expenses for accounting purposes during the period in which the Archdiocese is assisting him.

While it was disappointing to us that you did not deem it proper to assist Father in a program of education which would make available a much wider range of employment possibilities, we again do feel that your decision is a pastoral resolution of many of the difficulties which Father Roemer has been experiencing since his remuneration was discontinued in 1981; and we do again express our gratitude for the assistance which you are offering. It is our hope that you will consider favorably the emendation which we are proposing and will include the concerns which we have presented in this letter.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

cc: Reverend D. Patrick Roemer

RE: Rev. Patrick Roemer

I discussed the attached letter with REDACTED, and we both agree that $1500 per month would probably be a more realistic figure while Pat is getting settled in Los Angeles. I can also ask REDACTED to go ahead and contact some business people with a view to finding a position for him.

I do think we can make it clear to Pat that we will continue to evaluate the situation, but that our expectation is that he will get settled very quickly.

Please let me know if you wish me to draft a response.

Yes, please!

Dear Father REDACTED

Thank you for your letter of May 25, 1989 regarding Patrick Roemer. After careful consideration, I do agree that the Archdiocese will be willing to pay Patrick $1500 per month while he is seeking employment. As indicated in my letter to him of May 17, we see this as an arrangement of support for a six-month period, after which we would both evaluate the situation.

While I wish to assist Patrick during the time in which he is seeking employment, I also want to stress the importance of his seeking to make himself independent as soon as possible. Therefore, while we will continue to evaluate the situation, I hope he will be able to establish himself before the end of the six-month period.

As I also mentioned, the Archdiocese will be willing to assist with seeking employment, and if Patrick wishes us to make some contacts to this end, I would appreciate it if he could let us know his schedule, when he would be available, etc.

I look forward very much to seeing Patrick settled and self-supporting, wish him well in this endeavor, and anticipate hearing from you in the near future.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Attached is a copy of Pat Roemer's resume. This is the person I spoke to you about helping find a job.

I told him you would want to talk with him before contacting employers and he will be happy to meet with you.

I suspect this resume needs to be redone and please let me know if I can help.

With much appreciation of your very practical assistance as always.

RE: Patrick Roemer

First of all, let me apologize to you for not sending you some background on this case. I realize Pat called you yesterday, and you knew only what I had mentioned to you in conversation. Sorry. I hate to be put in that kind of position myself.

Pat was born in Oxnard in 1944, so he will be 45 this year. He attended St. John's Camarillo, and was ordained in 1970. He served as associate pastor in several parishes in the Santa Barbara Region and did very well. In his last parish, St. Paschal, Thousand Oaks, he was extremely popular, especially for his work with the youth.

In early 1981, however, he was arrested for child molestation. On his arrest, he indicted himself completely by giving a confession to the arresting officer. Because the administrator of the parish had been warned by a parent of Pat's behavior and had not done anything about it, the Archdiocese has settled with a number of children and their families. The settlement is secret, but there may well be other claims.

Pat was tried and sentenced to ten years in State prison. Because of the presence of a parents' group opposed to child abuse in the Thousand Oaks area, the case got great publicity.

He served a number of years and was released on parole. Since his release, he has not been able to settle into a stable job. Part of the reason was, I think, that he was hoping to be able to return to the active priesthood at some time. He also stayed in the Atascadero area working in counseling with prisoners. However, he will most likely never be able to get a state license, and this is not a very fruitful line of work for him to be pursuing.

Archbishop Mahony has made it clear to him that he can never again serve as a priest here and that we could not recommend him to another diocese. We are helping him to make a transition in his life and are encouraging him strongly to seek laicization. He has asked if the Archdiocese would send him back to school to be trained for another profession, and the Archdiocese is not willing to do this.

We have received very good accounts from the therapist he is attending, and I have reason to believe he has made very significant progress in his life. However, because this disease is so deep rooted, we do not know that a person is ever cured.

Pat is a very talented person. He should be good in sales or management. Obviously we would not recommend him for a job that involved working with minors.

I do hope this background will be helpful, and please let me know if I can give you any more information.

Many thanks for all your help.

I wish to acknowledge your letter of June 30, 1989 in which you accept the final decision and plans which I have offered in the case of D. Patrick Roemer.

However, unless you possess power of attorney for D. Patrick Roemer, I must ask that Patrick send me a letter of his own composition and with his signature in which he accepts the details of our plan and final decision. This is necessary for both canonical and civil requirements.

I received the $20,000.00 check today! I appreciate your help, and that of [REDACTED], your secretary.

I'm coming down to L.A. this Sunday - I feel very positive and excited about the new movie tomorrow. I had a good meeting at [REDACTED] last Sunday, and will see you soon. I'm in contact again as soon as I am "settled." He is a very kind and helpful...

I am now working in my portion offer to transfer position to Orange as when I have to attend annual meetings, will be much closer than Ventura County. It does seem to be all working out nicely.

I am much grateful for your efforts. Don't hesitate to bring up, if correct! Please be assured of my grateful remembrance at play and every positive thought as I have another phase of my life.

Dear Mr. REDACTED,

This letter is to report that I have found a position with the United Cambodian Community, Inc., with offices both here in Garden Grove and also in Santa Ana. I was recently hired as their "Basic English Skills Testing Specialist." I give basic English tests to refugees and immigrants coming through Orange County. This position is part of a grant, and the particular funding is completed this November, so I do hope that it is re-funded so this position continues. I find it very interesting since my work is a social service, and this field is what I am studying at Cal State, Long Beach in the evening. My salary is nearly $1500 per month, so my take home will be around $1300 which is very basically meeting my needs.

I also would ask that, if possible, I could be compensated for one more month, i.e. receive a check on November 1. I know that this would greatly assist me since payment for our spring semester is due, book payments are due and I am new in my position at work.

I appreciate the assistance I have received from the Archdiocese through the help of Archbishop Mahony and yourself.

Very sincerely and gratefully,

D. Patrick Roemer

Mr. Patrick Roemer
REDACTED

Dear Patrick,

I hope that this letter will find you in good health and spirits. Though somewhat belatedly, I pray that this year will be a blessed and happy one for you.

I am writing to you at the instance of Cardinal Mahony and in my capacity as Episcopal Vicar for Canonical Services. As part of the responsibilities of this new position, I work to seek a pastoral and canonical resolution of the status of those priests of the Archdiocese that, for various reasons, have taken an "inactive leave" from priestly ministry.

His Eminence has asked me to contact you so that I might encourage and assist you to prepare a petition for a Dispensation from the Obligations of Priesthood to the Holy See. This seems appropriate, in view of the many years that you have been away from ministry, the successful adjustment that you have made to secular life, the state of your health, and the special circumstances that realistically would make it impossible for you to ever effectively engage in priestly ministry.

Initially, all I wish to do is to meet with you, hear what has been happening in your life, and discuss your openness to this proposal. On the basis of our informal conversation, I would hope that we could then amicably work together to resolve your present canonical status.

Consequently, I would really appreciate it if you would call me within the next few days so that we can arrange to get together by no later than March 3, 1999. We could meet either at my office or at another location where you might feel more comfortable. At that time, we could also discuss any other question you might have. Please call me at the office to arrange an appointment at REDACTED. Or, if you prefer, you can leave a message for me on my machine at home at REDACTED.

I know that this is a difficult and perhaps even painful decision for you to make. I wish you to know that I will be willing to assist you in any way I can. Until we meet, you can be assured of my prayers, please remember me in yours.

Fraternally yours in Christ,

Rev. Modesto Lewis Pérez, J.D., J.C.D.
Vicar for Canonical Services/Vice Chancellor
Notes from phone conversation with [REDACTED] on July 14, 1999. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] called the VFC asking for information regarding the time and length of assignment of Fr. Donald Patrick Roemar at St. Pascal Church. Dr. [REDACTED] provided her with general information because Father Roemar’s file was not available.

[REDACTED] called back asking for specific dates. Dr. [REDACTED] then inquired as to her interest in this information. She informed him that her stepson is claiming that Fr. Roemar molested him while he was at St. Pascal’s. She was inquiring about dates because she was not sure that she believed him. She reported that he has many problems, including [REDACTED]. He currently is blaming all of his current and past difficulties on his accusation of molestation.

[REDACTED] stated that this has never been reported to anyone in the church and she had just found out about this last year. Dr. [REDACTED] informed her that he would call her back with the information that she requested within one week. Dr. [REDACTED] also informed her that the archdiocese is willing to hear a complaint from her stepson if he wanted to do so.

April 4, 2002

Dear Cardinal Mahony,

I was born in Santa Barbara in 1968. My family attended St. Raphael’s Church and it was at that Parish that my family came to know Fr. Patrick Roemer. In approximately 1975 my family moved to Thousand Oaks and became parishioners at St. Paschal’s. Fr. Roemer was transferred from St. Raphael’s to St. Paschal’s where our friendship continued. I attended St. Paschal’s School and was an altar boy.

I spent numerous nights with Fr. Roemer. The occasion I remember most was a trip to a ranch house where we spent the night. We shared a sleeping bag where we touched each other and he kissed me. At that age I was too confused and scared to come forth. He was a Priest whom I had been taught to respect and additionally a friend of my family.

The night Fr. Roemer was arrested he had had dinner with my family and my mother was to take me to the rectory later that night to spend the night with him. I know he was sent to Atascadero State Hospital and I hope his priesthood was taken away. He had molested numerous boys who, like me, trusted and respected him.

I now live here in [REDACTED] my mother lives here also. I have [REDACTED] sons and I work 50 to 60 hours a week to provide for them. I coach soccer for my boys. My father [REDACTED] This tragedy in my life has tormented me for approximately 20 years and I have not been able to talk about it. My boys have not been baptized. My mother has taken them to church with her at Our Lady and they express interest in attending church. I too want to again be a part of the Catholic Church and I have recently tried to return and take them with me. That attempt has made all this childhood horror come flooding back and I have been able to talk with my mother about it to some extent for the first time.

This childhood abuse has caused me emotional pain for most of my life. It has tormented me for all these years. I blame the Archdiocese of Los Angeles for moving Fr. Roemer from Santa Barbara to Thousand Oaks because of accusations at St. Paschal’s. That was the time for the cycle to be broken and many boys to be protected by the intervention of the Archdiocese. I hold the Church accountable for this damage to me and to many other boys. I need to find the professional help to put this part of my life behind me and I ask that the Archdiocese pay for the help that I need. I have no way to afford this help. I need it solved for my own peace and so that my family and I can return to the Church. I have not spoken with an attorney and have no intention of doing so; I only wish to be rid of my own hurt.

I would appreciate your response by 30 April. Thank you for your help.

Sincerely yours,

Dear REDACTED,

I am profoundly sorry for the abusive treatment and betrayal of trust that was inflicted upon you by Father Patrick Roemer. A priest has a trusted position and any form of deception and abuse is intolerable. As you know, Father Roemer is no longer in ministry.

Let me apologize for not responding by April 30 as you requested. With the Cardinal’s recent hospitalization, we have not been able to be as responsive as you and some others deserve.

I realize that no words can remove the anger you have. You have given voice to your abusive experience. You have broken the silence. I pray that this very fact may contribute to your spiritual and emotional healing.

The Cardinal received your letter before going to Rome for meetings with the Pope and the American Cardinals regarding sexual misconduct by priests. He has reflected then and now on the content of your letter and will incorporate this knowledge in future policy and action steps.

Please call Sister REDACTED, our REDACTED at REDACTED. She will make an appointment to talk with you and will work with you to assure that you receive the professional therapy that will help you deal with that deep hurt of which your letter so powerfully speaks.

Please accept my humble and heartfelt apology in the form of these few words. I pray that the Holy Spirit’s healing power will fill and strengthen you.

Dear Monsignor Cox:

I have received your letter of 8 May and am grateful for your concern and sympathy. My anger is building daily; it is like allowing a genie out of the bottle. I feel as though I am going to explode and, as I expressed earlier, I badly need help in putting this problem to rest. I have consulted with an attorney who believes that I am entitled to damages although I don’t know if I could go through a trial. I am ashamed of the things that were done to me and don’t want to proclaim them to the world. The attorney further believes, as I do, that getting psychiatric help is the first step. As you say, having broken my silence, hopefully healing is possible and I have to believe deep inside that the Church will do the right and moral thing.

I explained in my earlier letter that I work 50 to 60 hours a week and there is no possible way that I could meet with Sister REDACTED or receive counseling in Los Angeles. Further I would not feel comfortable discussing my response to this problem with a woman. I believe that I should be able to obtain the professional help that is right for me.

We have a psychiatrist here in REDACTED, Dr. REDACTED, who is an active, committed Catholic and who also has a son, and three daughters, of his own. Further he is a fine and capable doctor. I specifically wish for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles to pay him to give me the help I need. On your assurance, I am sure that I could have Dr. REDACTED bill you directly. REDACTED

Our local Priest, Father REDACTED, would give me any spiritual help that I need but I do not believe that he is sufficiently trained to help me with my anger and hurt. He has expressed his concern for me. REDACTED

I hope that the Cardinal is recovering.

Your Eminence,

On 16 November 2004 you presented and supported the petition, dated 10 November 2004, of the Rev. Dear Craig,

I'm sorry this letter is late in coming—when you phoned, I was still unpacking from a move to a new apt. completely. I still cannot get my computer operational, so I had to hand-write the letter—so unprofessional, I know! I cannot use our work computer since it's in a very conspicuous place—no privacy. Plus we aren't allowed to use it for personal things.

Thanks for your phone conversation—I wish you well!

Re: Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer
Petition of Father Roemer for a Return to the Lay State
Prot. No: 165/03

Your Eminence:

Enclosed, please find a petition for a dispensation from the obligations of the clerical state and a return to the lay state submitted by Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer.

As you recall, I had previously written to you on March 21, 2003, requesting the imposition of the penalty of dismissal from the clerical state on Father Roemer. I provided selected documentation regarding the fact that Father Roemer confessed to sexual abuse of minors, and was convicted and imprisoned on those charges.

In view of his petition and for the good of the Church, I hereby recommend that His Holiness accept this petition as soon as possible and that a rescript of dispensation from clerical obligations and return to the lay state be issued in an expeditious manner.

I am also enclosing the completed cover sheet requested by the Congregation in matters involving graviora delicta.

Thank you for your attention to this difficult matter. Please be assured of my prayers.

Sincerely yours in Christ.

Cardinal Roger M. Mahony
Archbishop of Los Angeles

RESPONSE/RECOUSE MADE BY THE CLERIC

Year

BISHOP’S VOTUM

Subsequently, while preparing to provide that additional information, Father Roemer indicated a willingness to petition for a dispensation from the obligations of the clerical state (laicization). That petition, in his own hand, has now been received.

I hereby request that, for the good of the Church and for the spiritual welfare of Donald Patrick Roemer, this petition be granted as quickly as possible.
Your Eminence,

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith has received your letter of 7 April 2003 and the documentation for the Reverend Donald Patrick ROEMER, a priest of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles accused of sexual abuse of a minor, for whom you are requesting a dismissal ex officio et in poenam.

To aid our study of the case, this Congregation would ask Your Eminence kindly to send to us information regarding the conduct and actions of Fr. Roemer since the events of 1981, specifying precisely, whether or not there are more instances of alleged abuse. In fact, from the documentation at hand, it appears that the alleged delicts committed by Fr. Roemer, for which Your Eminence is now seeking his dismissal from the clerical state, are subject to prescription. It would therefore be most helpful to receive and review recent documentation and evidence which would establish beyond doubt that Fr. Roemer constitutes a grave risk to minors and could abuse the priestly ministry to perpetrate serious crimes against the young. It must also be noted that no documentation regarding the actions taken by the Archdiocese with regard to Fr. Roemer, neither in the past nor at present, appear in the documentation Your Eminence has sent.

In order to expedite the examination of this case, we kindly ask Your Excellency to arrange that a summary of the case be tabulated according to the example enclosed. Every element of the summary should be supported by the relevant documents, either in the original or in an authentic copy.

I take this opportunity to offer Your Eminence my sincere sentiments of esteem. With every best wish, I remain, devotedly yours in the Lord

RE: Donald Patrick Roemer

Your Holiness:

In this season of Lent, please know that you are in my prayers as you continue to shepherd our Church in this time of war and crisis.

I am writing to request an ex officio dismissal from the clerical state of Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer. I make this request in accord with the provision of the revisions recently made to the motu proprio Sacramentorum Sanctitatis tutela, specifically the amendment to Article 17 that was made on 7 February 2003.

The circumstances of Father Roemer involve a grave and clear case provided for in the above-mentioned amendment. A brief summary is attached that sketches the salient points at issue.

The case is clear because there is no doubt whatsoever that he committed the ecclesiastical and civil crime of sexual abuse of minors. This is established by the fact that Father Roemer admitted to this misconduct on different occasions, most importantly by entering a plea of “No Contest” before the criminal courts of the State of California in March of 1981. In the laws of the State of California, a plea of no contest is an admission of guilt. Father Roemer served time in a state mental institute for criminal sex offenders as a result of this criminal conviction. All this is established in public records.

This is a particularly grave case in that the abuse involved at least seven minor boys over a significant period of time.

This is also a notorious case, in that Father Roemer’s crime received news coverage at the time, including a national publication. Information about his conviction and abusive activities has been surfaced anew by the media during this past year.

Given that there is no doubt of the facts, it would be unnecessary and unduly onerous to deal with his case in the ecclesiastical judicial process. It would also require that we again burden those harmed by Father Roemer by seeking their testimony for the sake of the ecclesiastical trial. They have already been harmed grievously, and I wish to act in a way that does not reopen wounds or add to their distress.

Therefore, for the good of the Church, I ask that you impose dismissal from the clerical state on Father Donald Patrick Roemer.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. With gratitude for your service of the Church and for your kindness, I am

Sincerely Yours in Christ,

Summary of Salient Facts
Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer

Donald Patrick Roemer was born on March 17, 1944 and ordained as a priest for the service of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles on May 23, 1970.

On January 26, 1981, Father Roemer was placed under arrest for child molestation by the Sheriff of the County of Ventura, located within the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. He acknowledged such misconduct on that occasion.

On March 10, 1981, before the Superior Court, Father Roemer admitted to criminal misconduct with three different boys, and entered the formal plea of "no contest." In the criminal law of this jurisdiction, a plea of "no contest" is an admission of guilt. On May 29, 1991, he was sentenced to ten years at Atascadero State Hospital, a facility for sexual criminal offenders. In accord with the sentencing laws then in place, he received probation two years later.

Father Roemer's situation received extensive press coverage at the time. His case was even reported in the August 9, 1982 of the national magazine, Newsweek. In the past year, the media have again brought this past criminal conviction into public discussion.

Extensive civil litigation resulted from the abusive conduct of Father Roemer. Since the first report of abusive activities, we have confirmation that Father Roemer abused at least seven different children. There is a recent report that there may be yet another person who suffered abuse at his hands.

Father Roemer has previously been invited to petition for dispensation from the obligations of the clerical state but has not done so.

VOTUM OF CARDINAL ROGER MICHAEL MAHONY

April 7, 2003

His Holiness
Pope John Paul II
00120 Vatican City State

RE: Donald Patrick Roemer

Your Holiness:

It is with urgency yet with deep sadness that I write to urge the dismissal from the clerical state of DONALD PATRICK ROEMER. I refer you to my earlier letter dated 21 March 2003 in which I requested his ex officio dismissal. That initial petition sketched the vitally important reasons for making this request. By means of this votum, as advised by the officials of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, I wish to provide some additional information in support of this request.

As mentioned in my earlier letter, Father Roemer’s case is a particularly egregious one. As the result of a plea bargain, Father Roemer entered a plea of “no contest” to three counts of child molestations. This was the result of a plea bargain. He was actually charged with nine counts (nine separate victims) and the criminal court documents at indicated that there were five other victims not included in the nine counts. The victims ranged from age six to age fifteen. Since these events, a number of other people have come forward to the Archdiocese claiming to have suffered abuse at the hands of Father Roemer.

At the time of his arrest, trial and sentencing, Father Roemer’s case received significant attention in the media. Father Roemer’s case received national press coverage in the August 9, 1982 issue of Newsweek magazine. Samples of articles that appeared at that time, including the Newsweek piece, are included with the documentation accompanying this votum.

As of this date, Father Roemer’s case has not been recycled in the media. Five new civil claims for damage, however, are among prospective lawsuits to be filed. While we are making efforts to resolve these and other potential claims by mediation, there is a strong likelihood that these civil suits will be filed and engender significant new publicity.
Father Roemer has been out of any active priestly ministry since 1981. He has no faculties and no authorization to conduct priestly ministry. He has not, however, petitioned for a dispensation from the obligations of the priesthood. This fact causes concern, consternation and wonderment on the part of many of our people. And with the large number of his victims, the detailed descriptions of his crimes that are easily available as part of the public record, and the likely prospect of continued media attention, it is a source of scandal to at least some of our people.

Father Roemer’s taped admissions along with his plea and criminal conviction (all included in the enclosed documentation) leave no doubt of his guilt. There is no possibility whatsoever that he can or should ever be reinstated into ministry. In light of this, it is my firm conviction that it is necessary for the Church to act firmly and promptly by dismissing him from the clerical state.

Therefore, I respectfully request that you act to dismiss Donald Patrick Roemer from the clerical state.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Monsignor Craig A. Cox, J.C.D.
Statement of the Vicar for Clergy
Regarding Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer

I was appointed Vicar for Clergy of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and have served in this office since January 1, 2001. As part of my responsibilities, I am the custodian of clergy files and I am responsible for the assignment, spiritual welfare and continuing formation of the priests and deacons of this Archdiocese.

Let me first note that we have chosen not to send copies of the entire file related to Reverend Donald Patrick Roemer. The voluminous material in his file is contained in six separate large file folders. Much of the material is related to the various civil lawsuits that were lodged against the Archdiocese of Los Angeles as a result of Father Roemer’s misconduct. Many of the other documents relate to the financial support provided to victims and to Father Roemer during his transition, as well as to the therapeutic assistance provided for Father Roemer. I attest that the selected materials included with this request for ex officio dismissal from the clerical state fairly and accurately document the essential facts verifying his misconduct.

I concur with the reasons offered by Cardinal Mahony for requesting the dismissal of Father Roemer from the clerical state. In this case, to seek a dispensation from prescription and the to conduct a full ecclesiastical trial of dismissal would be both unnecessary and unduly onerous. I wish to add one further reason to support the request of Cardinal Mahony. The presbyterate of this Archdiocese is made up of many extraordinarily fine men. They, sadly, have been badly and unfairly battered by the storm of controversy that has raged in this past year. In my assessment, the dismissal of such a notorious offender as Father Roemer will have the effect of supporting and strengthening the morale of the vast majority of good, holy and dedicated priests who have been unjustly tainted by those of our number who misused their spiritual authority to prey on the young and innocent. For the good of this local church, and specifically for the good of this presbyterate, I join my voice to that of Cardinal Mahony in requesting the intervention of the Holy Father to dismiss Donald Patrick Roemer from the clerical state.

Thank you for considering this vital request. May the Holy Spirit continue to guide you always.

PENAL CODE

(16. In General

In a prosecution of defendant for burglary and other crimes, evidence showing that defendant raped the victim twice, sodomized her and compelled her several times to orally copulate him over two-hour period was insufficient to support the jury's finding that he inflicted "great bodily injury" on the victim within the meaning of Penal Code, § 661, which prescribes enhanced punishment for the intentional infliction of such injury. Neither forcible rape, sodomy, nor oral copulation can, in and of themselves, constitute great bodily injury for the enhancement of punishment provision of burglary, and neither can the commission of such offenses together, without any additional physical manifestations or consequences, constitute such injury. 21 Cal Jur 3d Criminal Law § 2331.

A state statute prohibiting "crimes against nature" is not unconstitutionally vague for failing to give fair warning to a man convicted under it for forcing a woman to submit to his acts of cumulilus, where the phrase "crime against nature" had been considered by the courts of some states to encompass acts of cumulilus, the broad interpretation of "crime against nature" including acts of sexual aberration beyond those acts constituting the common law offense of sodomy, as opposed to the narrow interpretation of "crime against nature" being limited only to acts constituting sodomy at common law, was not itself unconstitutionally vague, the state's highest court, although not specifically holding that cumulilus fell within the statute, had given clear notice in its decisions that the statute would receive the broader of two plausible interpretations and would be applied to acts of cumulilus when such a case arose, and there was no possibility of retroactive lawmaking whereby a criminal statute, narrow and precise on its face, would be expanded by judicial construction to encompass acts clearly outside the scope of the statute as written. STATEMENT OF FACTS

COUNT I

On January 26, 1981, the Ventura County Sheriff's Office, East Valley Station, received a report of a possible child molest from a 23 West Lucero, Thousand Oaks.

Deputy REDACTED responded to the call. He reported:

On 1-26-81 at about 1935 hours, I arrived at the victim's home re: a possible child molest. I contacted the victim's parents who gave this account: Mr. REDACTED told me that on 1/26/81 at about 1800 hours, victim REDACTED and the family were eating dinner. REDACTED told the family about the following incident: On 1/26/81, REDACTED went to CCD classes. Suspect, Father Patrick Roemer, asked REDACTED to look at some old pictures. REDACTED said that Father Roemer rubbed REDACTED stomach and then his "doofer." REDACTED told me that "doofer" means penis in their family. REDACTED said that Father Roemer started to shake. REDACTED said he was scared.

REDACTED REDACTED told me that REDACTED has a teacher and a helper in the CCD class. They are REDACTED REDACTED (See F/U Det. McIlvain for phone.) REDACTED said she called Mrs. REDACTED and told her about the incident. Mrs. REDACTED advised Mrs. to call the church and talk to the senior priest about it. I talked to the victim, REDACTED a 7-year-old boy with blond hair and blue eyes. I first showed REDACTED my black flashlight and asked him what color it was. He said it was black. I asked him if I would be lying if I said the flashlight was yellow and he said yes. I asked if it was wrong to tell a lie and he said yes. I asked REDACTED if he would tell the truth and he said yes. Again, I stressed the importance of telling the truth.

REDACTED gave the following account: Today (1/26/81), his teacher, Mrs. REDACTED picked up REDACTED and drove him to CCD classes. The children play in the yard for awhile and then go to class. REDACTED put his books down on a bench away from the other kids; however, Father Roemer came out of his office and asked Brian to come inside and look at some pictures. Father Roemer sat in a chair near a desk. Father Roemer lifted up and placed on the Father's leg, far enough back so that was close to the Father's chest.

Father Roemer showed a book with pictures from when Father Roemer went to school. He said it was the kind of book where everyone in the class takes pictures together. I asked if he meant a school yearbook and he said yes. While looking at the book, Father Roemer put his hand under his T-shirt and started to rub his stomach. I asked him to show me by rubbing his own stomach. He made slow circular movements on his stomach. Father Roemer said that Father Roemer rubbed stomach for about one-half minute. Father Roemer then slid his hand down into and inside Father Roemer started to rub doofer. Father Roemer rubbed doofer for a couple of minutes and then Father Roemer started shaking. His hands and legs were shaking and Father Roemer said, "I'm cold." He told me it was hot in the room and that Father Roemer was wearing a jacket or coat. He told me that he became scared and asked Father Roemer if he could go now. Father Roemer said, "Okay."

... went toward his class and on the way he told his friend that Father Roemer had shown him some pictures.

I asked where his "doofer" was and he pointed to his crotch area where his penis would be. I asked if he could tell me another name for doofer, but he seemed too embarrassed. I asked him if he used his doofer to go to the bathroom and he said yes.

I put my pencil on the kitchen table and told to pretend that my pencil was doofer and to show me how Father Roemer rubbed doofer. made several short, fast strokes on the pencil.

I talked again and she added that Father Roemer was very friendly with children and has taken several groups on field trips. Father Roemer is the youth minister and active with all the youth sports activities. Father Roemer was not very involved in adult activities.

I contacted Det. K. McIlvain and told her the above info. She called the church and left a message for Father Roemer.
On 1/26/81 at about 2230 hours, Father Roemer called the East Valley Sheriff's Station. I called Det. McIlvain at Los Robles and she advised to ask Father Roemer to come to the station. I told Father Roemer we were investigating a case and we would appreciate it if he could come down right away. Father Roemer said he wasn't busy and would come to the station. He didn't ask why. REDACTED had told me that this had never happened before and that he never saw anyone else go into the office with Father Roemer before.

REDACTED said no one else witnessed the incident.

On January 26, 1981, Det. Kelli McIlvain of the East Valley Station responded to the residence for the purpose of reinterviewing REDACTED Det. McIlvain reported:

Following conversation with Deputy REDACTED, I requested he have the victim and parents come to the EVSO for interview. They arrived a few minutes before 9 p.m.

Victim REDACTED 7-1/2 years, DOB: 4-18-73, said that today while at St. Paschal's Church, T.O., about 3:30 p.m., just prior to CCD classes (religious instruction), suspect asked him into a small office saying, "Do you want to see some pictures." The victim sat on the priest's lap as the priest showed him pictures from a book. (Described like a school yearbook.) As the boy looked at the book, the suspect put his hand inside the victim's shirt and rubbed his abdomen and chest area. Suspect then put his hand inside victim's clothing and rubbed his doofer (penis). The suspect began shaking very hard and said to the victim, "It's cold in here." The victim finally asked the suspect if he could leave and the suspect said yes. After he got outside the office, he told Mrs. REDACTED that Father Roemer had shown him some pictures. He then went to CCD class which starts at 3:45 p.m. He told his parents what had occurred at dinner. Victim also said the suspect kissed him on the neck, near the right ear, as he was rubbing him. The whole incident lasted about five minutes.

REDACTED said she phoned REDACTED teacher) after learning what occurred and Mrs.
REDACTED recalled telling her that Father Roemer had shown him pictures. REDACTED after hearing information, told her she would contact a church member, to see what should be done about the information. REDACTED recontacted REDACTED, saying said the police should be notified.

REDACTED had already decided to phone the police.

Prior to the interviews with REDACTED phoned the church and left a message with REDACTED to have Father Roemer phone me as soon as possible.

The suspect returned the call around 2245 hours. Deputy REDACTED talked with him and asked if he could come to EVSO. He said he would.

STATEMENT OF DONALD PATRICK ROEMER

Detective McIlvain's report continues:

I interviewed suspect in the EVSO on tape, following Miranda waiver, approximately 2300 hours.

Donald Patrick Roemer. D.O.B. 3-17-44. 36 years.

REDACTED

Following is a narrative summary of taped interview.

The suspect, who has been a Catholic priest for 11 years, said that everything that said was probably true. Today, 1-26-81 around 3:30 p.m., he asked the boy into the teachers' lounge on churchgrounds, had him sit on his lap, stroked his stomach, abdomen, and genitals. He also had the boy stand up next to him for awhile and stroked his penis. As the boy was sitting on his lap, he did begin to shake. He did make a remark about it being cold to cover up for the shaking. The suspect did have an erection and an ejaculation resultant from the fondling. The victim asked if he could go out to play and Father Roemer said yes. The total time suspect was stroking victim was about two minutes. When asked if he kissed the victim, he said he didn't recall, but if the victim said he kissed him, then he did. The suspect said he knew when the boy left the office that he would be found out. He also heard the victim yell to Mrs that Father Roemer had just shown him pictures.
Suspect said he has been struggling with feelings of a homosexual nature since he was young and sought assistance while assigned to a parish in Santa Barbara through a church psychologist.

The suspect also admitted that information given by REDACTED was true and did occur on 1-18-81. (See statements of REDACTED under Count II.)

Also on 1-19-81, while in the teachers' lounge at 3:30 p.m., he rubbed the stomach, chest, and underarm area of REDACTED 6th grade, 11 years. (See statements of REDACTED under Count III.)

Two weeks ago, 1-12-81, teachers' lounge, he rubbed stomach, chest of REDACTED 7-1/2 years. (See statements of REDACTED under Count IV.)

Father Roemer took a group of boys on a trip to San Diego during the week following Christmas, 1980. They stayed in one hotel room with two double beds. During this trip, at night, believing REDACTED, 14 years, to be asleep next to him in the bed, he touched his genitals.

Also during this trip, while sleeping with REDACTED, 14 years, he attempted to touch his genitals, but the boy had not been asleep. He got out of the bed and went and laid down on the floor. The suspect asked him what was wrong and the boy replied, "You felt too low." The suspect then told the boy he would never do anything like that (to cover up his actions) and that the boy was wrong about his intentions. (See statements of REDACTED under Count VII.)

The suspect also related that he had use of a ranch in Fillmore, via relatives, from approximately August 1979 to August 1980 where he often took boys for the weekend or overnight. They would sleep in sleeping bags on the living room floor. REDACTED 13 years, and REDACTED 14 years, on separate occasions, one time each, were stroked on stomach and chest area. (See statements of REDACTED pages 28 to 30, and REDACTED, pages 31 to 32.)

He stroked genitals and stomach of REDACTED 14 years, while asleep at the ranch on one, maybe two occasions. (See statement of REDACTED page 30.)

He also stroked stomach, chest area of REDACTED two or three times in the teachers' lounge.
on churchgrounds.

The suspect was very cooperative, appeared truthful. He said he usually had an erection during the stroking activity and sometimes he ejaculated.

In a report prepared by Detective McIlvain on January 29, 1981, she stated:

On January 29, 1981, approximately 1615 hours, at the direction of Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor, and while my conversation of 1/26/81 with suspect Donald Patrick Roemer was still fresh in my mind, I listened to the taped recording of that conversation. The following is my word-for-word accounting of the conversation from its beginning through the Miranda waiver. All responses of suspect are underlined. My statement/questions are in quotes.

"I don't know if you are aware of the fact that there is a family in Thousand Oaks that has a young boy that is giving information accusing you of child molest. The information was given this evening and I felt like we should try to get in touch with you as soon as we possibly could because of the sensitivity of it. What is your whole name, Father?"

Donald Patrick Roemer.

"And your date of birth?"

March 17, '44.

"Making you" 36.

"And your residence address?"

REDACTED

"Do you have your own phone there?"

Yes. Well, there's a house phone and I have a private phone. The house phone is 496-0222.

"The house phone is kind of like a work phone isn't it?"
It's a work phone and I have a private line.

"I'd like to talk to you about the information given, but I have to read you your rights because at this point you are a suspect in the crime of child molest. Okay."

Yes (suspect nods yes)

"You understand that you're suspected of committing the crime of child molest? Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods head) Inaudible yes.

"You have the right to remain silent. Do you understand?"

UmmHmm.

"If you give up that right, anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"You have the right to talk to a lawyer and have him present with you before and while being questioned. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods head) Inaudible yes.

"If you cannot afford to hire a lawyer, one will be appointed to represent you before any questioning at no cost to you, if you wish one. Do you understand?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"Do you understand all of these rights (cough/excuse me) that I have explained to you?"

(Suspect nods yes) Inaudible yes.

"Do you have any questions about these rights?"

No, I don't think so.

"Having these rights in mind, do you wish to give up these rights and talk to me about the charge against you?"

I'd rather talk to you.

"You would?"
Yes.

"Okay."

"Do you know a boy by the name of REDACTED"

The interview was approximately 60 minutes long, only the first 30 minutes were recorded on tape. On the tape, suspect discussed activity with both REDACTED boys, victim REDACTED and REDACTED. Off tape, but during second part of interview, he discussed victims REDACTED and REDACTED in San Diego, REDACTED REDACTED and REDACTED in Fillmore.

A verbatim transcript of the 30-minute taped portion of the interview by Detective Kelli McIlvain of Donald Patrick Roemer on January 26, 1981 is marked Exhibit "A," attached, and fully incorporated herein by reference in this "Statement of Facts."

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator REDACTED interviewed REDACTED and reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 5 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the company of both parents at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is a 7-year-old, 2nd grade student at University Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He attends CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church and has done so for three years. His CCD teacher is REDACTED who also transports him to and from class.

REDACTED related the following information: I see Father Roemer every time I go to CCD classes. He always hugs me and kisses me on the head. On January 26, 1981, when I got to CCD class, Father Roemer came up and hugged me. He had a book in his hand and said, "Come into the room where the teachers meet (teachers' lounge) and look at some pictures."

When we got in there, he picked me up and put me on his lap. He was holding the book and rubbing my "wiener." He told me to stand up because it would be easier. He started shaking after he started rubbing my "wiener." I asked him why he was shaking and he said because he was cold. He still had his hand under my pants and I asked him if I could go outside. He said, "Sure" and took his hand out of my pants.

I went outside and told REDACTED that Father Roemer had shown me some pictures and tickled my chest.

When I got home and was eating dinner, I told my Mom and Dad what had happened. I felt like a "tattletale" for telling them.

I have never seen Father Roemer shake like that before. When he was rubbing my "wiener," I didn't tell him to stop because I was afraid.

On February 12, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED by telephone. Investigator Smart reported:

On February 12, 1981 at approximately 8 a.m., I telephoned the above witness regarding an incident that occurred on January 26, 1981 involving Father Roemer and REDACTED.

REDACTED is a teacher at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. She transports several children to and from CCD classes, including REDACTED and REDACTED and REDACTED.

REDACTED related the following information:

On January 26, 1981, I drove REDACTED and REDACTED to CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church. When we arrived, the boys got out of the car and walked toward their classrooms. I went to my classroom and then went to the supply room to get some supplies for my class.

As I was returning from the supply room, en route to my classroom, REDACTED came up to me and told me that Father Roemer had taken him into his office and had shown him some pictures. I made some appropriate comment, like, "That's nice," or something like that.

At that moment, Father Roemer walked up and asked me what REDACTED had told me. Father Roemer asked if REDACTED had told me that he had shown him some pictures. The discussion was brief as it was time for classes to start and I left for our classroom. I did not notice anything unusual about REDACTED that day, but I do recall he may have been nervous during class. He had to leave the classroom twice that day to go to the bathroom, which is unusual for REDACTED.

In retrospect, I guess it was unusual for Father Roemer to walk up to me and ask what REDACTED had said to me. Father Roemer usually does not walk up to adults and talk to them. He spends the majority of his time with kids.

I know REDACTED quite well and I know in my heart he would not fabricate a story or lie about what has happened.

I have been very concerned about the entire incident because of the impact it has had on the community, the church, the young boys involved, and Father Roemer. I have a young son who is involved in the church and also attends CCD classes. I have questioned him about Father Roemer and he has denied that anything like that has happened or has been attempted. I feel confident he is being truthful.

COUNT II: REDACTED

On January 26, 1981, VSO Deputy Bruce McDowell interviewed REDACTED, 10 years, DOB: 3-12-70, and reported:

He related that on 1/19/81, while suspect was hearing his confession, the suspect rubbed his stomach, chest, and armpit area (touching skin under his shirt). The suspect and were sitting side-by-side in chairs. The suspect also kissed him on the right ear twice.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator interviewed REDACTED and reported:

related the following information:

On January 19, 1981, my entire CCD class went to confession. The confession was with Father Roemer who instructed me to sit on a bench in the confessional. Father Roemer sat beside me. He hugged me and kissed my right ear two times. At the same time, he put his hand under my shirt and started rubbing my stomach, chest and under my arm. He continued rubbing for 30-45 seconds and then stopped.

I finished with confession and left. I did not tell anyone what Father Roemer had done until I told my parents what had happened to him. Father Roemer has not done anything like that to me before.

COUNT III:

told me he attends catechism classes at St. Paschal's Church every Monday from 1600 hours to 1700 hours. He first denied going into a teachers' lounge, but then stated he did after his mother described the room. This interview was recorded and mother and father was present. He said that Father Roemer talked to him about how he was doing in school. He denied sitting on Father Roemer's lap. He told me he was afraid of getting Father Roemer in trouble. He did say that sometimes he (Father Roemer) put his hands under his shirt. Father Roemer scratching under his arm, denies that Father Roemer scratched or rubbed his chest. He did say that he rubbed his stomach once. He didn't remember when. REDACTED then said he didn't want to talk about it anymore. His mother inquired as to why and he replied he just didn't want to talk about it.
His parents told me they would call me if they told them anymore. I told my father if REDACTED.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart.

Reported:

On February 4, 1981, at approximately 3:30 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his mother at his residence in Thousand Oaks. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is 12 years old. He is a 6th grade student at Acacia Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes in Thousand Oaks. He has been a member of St. Paschal's Church for approximately five years. Through his association with the church, he is acquainted with the defendant, Father Roemer.

REDACTED related the following information:

On January 5, 1981, while attending CCD classes on the churchgrounds, I was talking to Father Roemer about my new school. I was telling him that nobody there liked me and that was bothering me. Father Roemer said he knew that and asked me to go into the teachers' lounge with him to talk about it.

We went into the teachers' lounge and sat down on individual chairs. They were placed one behind the other. I sat down and Father Roemer sat directly behind me. We were talking about my new school. Father Roemer started rubbing my stomach and chest, under my shirt. He started shaking while he was rubbing me. He continued rubbing my stomach and chest for approximately five minutes. (At this point I asked him to estimate when five minutes had lapsed. We continued talking and Tim interrupted to tell me that five minutes had passed. The actual time that had lapsed was five minutes and six seconds, as timed by REDACTED stopwatch.

The next incident occurred the following week (January 12, 1981) at CCD classes. Father Roemer took me into the nurse's office. I thought he wanted to talk to me about my new school. I sat on a couch and Father Roemer sat behind me. He started rubbing my chest and under my arms. His hand was under my shirt while he was rubbing. This lasted for about three minutes and Father Roemer was shaking while he rubbed me. We did not say anything about the rubbing, but I was a little concerned about it.

On the following week (January 19, 1981) at CCD class, Father Roemer took me into the teachers' lounge to talk to me about my new school.

We sat in individual chairs again. Father Roemer sat behind me and put his hand under my shirt. He started rubbing my chest and under my arms. He was shaking, like he was nervous, while he rubbed me. This time it lasted about eight minutes. We talked about my new school and I looked at a magazine while Father Roemer was rubbing me. About two minutes after he stopped rubbing, the bell rang and I went to class.

This is the last time anything happened. I did not see Father Roemer when I first went to class the next week (January 26, 1981). REDACTED incident occurred on this date.)

COUNT IV:

On January 27, 1981, Sergeant REDACTED interviewed REDACTED

SERGEANT REDACTED reported:

REDACTED interview, 1/27/81. I talked with REDACTED with his father, REDACTED present. The interview was recorded. REDACTED told me he attends catechism classes at St. Paschal's Church. He attends class only on Mondays. He missed the class on Jan. 19, 81, but was there on Jan. 12, 81. His father confirmed these dates as REDACTED was not sure of the dates. He told me sometimes he sits on Father Roemer's lap and they talk about football. He plays football for the Raiders. REDACTED did not remember when he went to the teachers' lounge with Father Roemer, maybe two or three weeks ago. He said his father dropped him off and he went to the lounge with Father Roemer. They left the lounge prior to the class bell ringing. He said he did not go in with his shirt off. REDACTED said that in the lounge, Father Roemer rubbed his chest and stomach. I asked REDACTED to show me how Father Roemer rubbed his chest. REDACTED pulled up his shirt and put his hand under the shirt. He rubbed his breast and stomach. I asked him what that part of his body was called and he told me, "boobies." He then said that Father Roemer rubbed his boobies. He said Father Roemer never put his hand inside his pants and Father Roemer never asked him to touch any part of Father Roemer's body. He said that Father Roemer only rubbed his chest the one time in the room. REDACTED said that Father Roemer shivered like he was cold while rubbing him. Nobody was in the room when this occurred. He did not tell anyone what had happened and no one has told him it happened to them also. I asked REDACTED how long the Father rubbed him and he told me five minutes. I then asked REDACTED to tell me about how long, to tell me when to stop timing him, when it had been as long as with the Father. REDACTED stopped me around 40 seconds after I started timing him. He told me he did not tell Father Roemer to stop. I asked REDACTED if he knew what a lie was and he told me it is when you don't tell the truth.

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 1:10 p.m., District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 1:10 p.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his father at his residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was also present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is 8 years old and is a 2nd grade student at La Dera Elementary School in Thousand Oaks. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes. He is acquainted with Father Roemer through his association with the church.

REDACTED related the following information:

My Dad usually takes me to CCD classes and drops me off. When I get there, I just walk around, usually by myself until class starts. I always see Father Roemer there. One day, Father Roemer walked up to me and said, "Hi." We started talking about football. Father Roemer said he had won trophies and asked me if I wanted to see them. We went into the teachers' lounge and he closed the door. Father Roemer asked me to sit down on the couch and he sat down beside me, about six inches away from me.
We were talking about football and he showed me a medal he won in football. He stuck his hand under my shirt and started rubbing my stomach and chest, including my nipples. He asked me if it felt good and I said, "Kinda."

Father Roemer had his hand on my leg while he was rubbing my stomach. He was shivering while rubbing my chest and stomach. He started shivering soon after he started rubbing my stomach. When his hand was on my leg, it was close to my privates, but he did not touch them. After Father Roemer stopped shivering, he told me I had better go out now because classes were about to start.

I asked REDACTED if Father Roemer had ever done this to him before. He said that he had about seven times before, always outside on the churchgrounds while he was waiting for CCD classes to start. REDACTED said it only happened the one time in the teachers' lounge and that was the only time he was aware that Father Roemer shivered.

REDACTED said that he felt that it was "weird or strange" that Father Roemer rubbed his stomach and he felt uncomfortable and thought it was wrong.

COUNT V:

On January 28, 1981 at approximately 11 a.m., Detective Kelli McIlvain received a telephone call from Mrs. REDACTED regarding her son REDACTED. Detective McIlvain reported:

Approximately 1100 hours, 1/28/81, I received a phone call from Mrs. REDACTED. She related that she had taken her son, REDACTED, 11 years, to see suspect for some counseling around the middle of November 1980. The suspect arranged to take him to a drive-in movie the Saturday night after Thanksgiving, 11/29/80. The suspect picked him up about 8:30 p.m. and returned him early, around 10 p.m. When REDACTED got home, he said he was tired and went right to bed. Either that same evening or the following day, she received a phone call from suspect. He said he just wanted to know how REDACTED was doing. Mrs. REDACTED just concerned. Another counseling appointment was made with suspect, but REDACTED refused to go to it. Then last night, following press article of suspect's arrest, REDACTED told her that while at the drive-in the suspect had touched his leg and he (REDACTED) moved to the far side of the car and kept his coat pulled tightly around himself. After a while, he told the suspect he was tired and wanted to go home, to get away from the suspect. Mrs. REDACTED said she had talked with her son's pediatrician and that REDACTED has some emotional problems stemming from abuse by his natural father and the pediatrician recommended, and she concurred, that REDACTED was not at a state where he should be interviewed. She went on to say she felt the whole thing should have been handled by the church. She knows the Roemer family and has felt physically ill ever since the news article came out. She was very upset on the phone, crying. She did say, near the end of the conversation, that she would talk to her husband and possibly consider an interview at a later date (Mr. REDACTED had phoned me 1/27/81 and advised his stepson could possibly have some information regarding the case and he said his wife would bring him in for an interview at 1 p.m., 1/28/81).

The District Attorney's Office made repeated efforts to interview both REDACTED and REDACTED, but permission was refused by Mrs. REDACTED. She stated that her son's emotional condition was too precarious to permit such interviews, and she had been advised by REDACTED pediatrician to avoid the trauma of testifying in court. Mrs. REDACTED refused to disclose the name of the doctor, and refused the offer of the District Attorney's Office to put her doctor in contact with Dr. REDACTED of the Harbor-UCLA Medical Center so that the pediatrician would have the benefit of expert advice and consultation in order to properly assess what the effects of testifying would be on Lance. Shortly before the scheduled preliminary hearing of March 3, 1981, Mrs. REDACTED retained Attorney REDACTED and directed the District Attorney's Office to deal with him.

COUNT VI:

On January 28, 1981, Detective Kelli McIlvain interviewed REDACTED 12 years, DOB REDACTED. Detective REDACTED reported:

Above witness interviewed on tape 1/28/81 at 1530 hours in presence of his mother, REDACTED.

He said that during the summer 1980, he attended Ernie Folley Sports Camp held at St. Paschal's School. It was held from Monday through Friday from about 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. He missed Monday's session. On Tuesday, his first day at the camp, the suspect stood close behind him, wrapped his arms around his chest area, leaned his (suspect) head down, chin resting on witness' head and was talking to him. This made REDACTED nervous and uncomfortable. For the rest of Tuesday he tried to avoid suspect. When his Mom picked him up Tuesday afternoon, he told her that he didn't want to return to the camp and explained what suspect had done. His Mom told him to avoid the suspect and she would come to the field early to pick him up every day and watch him. On Wednesday, witness felt like the suspect was looking for him all day. At one point, while witness was playing soccer, suspect came up to him and said, "You can't get away from me." On Thursday, while witness was playing football, the suspect told the witness that the witness was a pretty good runner and when he (suspect) was in school, he was a good runner too. He asked the witness to come to his office sometime and look at his sports pictures in his high school yearbook.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 9:30 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED at the East Valley Sheriff's Office in the presence of his mother, Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor was present during the interview. REDACTED is a 7th grade student at Ascension Lutheran School in Thousand Oaks.
was questioned regarding his involvement with the defendant, Father Donald Patrick Roemer. He related the following information: I attended the Ernie Folley Sports Camp at St. Paschal's Church
Father Roemer was present each day that I attended.
I was acquainted with Father Roemer, having first met him while playing flag football in October 1979, but had no previous personal contact with him.

On June 17, 1980, while at the sports camp, Father
Roemer came over to a bench where I was sitting with three or four other boys. He said, "Hi, how's it going?" and sat down between me and another boy. He put his arm around my shoulder and started asking questions. He asked me what my name was, how old I was, what my favorite sport was, and other similar questions. While he was sitting there, his body was in contact with mine
and on at least two occasions, he placed his head next to mine. His face would be very close to mine when his head was leaning on my shoulder and he would turn to talk to me.

Father Roemer said I was a nice boy and that I could run very fast. At that point I got up and went out to play basketball. While playing ball,
I saw Father Roemer put his head on the shoulder
of some other boys that were sitting on the bench.
I didn't see Father Roemer anymore that day.

When my Mom picked me up that day, I told her I didn't want to go back because the priest was doing weird things. After I told her about what Father Roemer was doing, we stayed there for awhile and watched him.

Father Roemer interjected that she watched interacted with him, hugging, touching, and kissing them. She saw him rubbing their faces, heads and upper bodies. The kids appeared to try to get away from him, but he would resist their attempts. REDACTED stated her observations made her very concerned about Father
Roemer's conduct and felt he was overly friendly.

continued: I returned to the sports camp on June 18, but did not see Father Roemer on that day. On June 19, at about 11:30 a.m., I was going ready to play soccer. I saw Father Roemer and tried to avoid him. He pursued me and said,
"You can't get away from me." He came up behind me and wrapped his arms around me and put his chin
on my shoulder. I started to walk away from him and he walked with me, still holding that position. He was talking to REDACTED and I pulled away from him. I was under the impression that Father Roemer's behavior was similar to that of a homosexual.

When the activities were over for that day, I went to the front of the church and waited for my ride. I was sitting on a bench when Father Roemer came up and sat very close to me. His body was touching mine and he put his arm around my shoulder. He kept his arm around me until some other boys came up and started talking to him. The kids and Father Roemer left and I was picked up shortly thereafter.

On June 20, 1981, I returned to the sports camp and ran the 50-yard dash. Father Roemer came up and said, "You run very fast." He said that he was a runner in high school and said, "Someday you can come over and look at my annual." I said, "yeah, sure," in a low voice, expressing reluctance. Father Roemer said, "See you later," and walked away. I think he knew I was reluctant.

In October 1980, I saw Father Roemer when I was signing up for flag football at Thousand Oaks High School. I hid from him, not wanting him to see me because I was afraid of him.

I saw him one time after that in January 1981 at the Westlake Theatre. He was there with a young boy and did not see me. I have not seen him since that time.

COUNT VII: REDACTED

On January 27, 1981, Detective Kelli McIlvain interviewed REDACTED 14 years, DOB: REDACTED

Detective McIlvain reported:

Above victim interviewed on tape in presence of his father, REDACTED approximately 1930 hours.

He related that he, REDACTED and REDACTED went to San Diego with suspect from December 26, 1980 to December 30, 1980, from Friday to the following Tuesday. They stayed in a Holiday Inn in a room with two double beds. The evening of December 26, 1980, REDACTED slept in one bed with suspect. The next three nights, December 27, 28, 29, 1980, REDACTED slept in the bed with suspect. On Saturday night, December 27, 1980, REDACTED recalls the suspect and boys laid in bed (actually REDACTED slept on the floor the whole four nights) and talked until about 0100 (December 28, 1980). This was the first time REDACTED slept with suspect. As they were all talking, suspect was rubbing his chest, underarm and stomach area. About 1 a.m., they quit talking and decided to go to sleep. The suspect was still rubbing and as he began rubbing REDACTED lower stomach area, REDACTED got up out of the bed and went and laid down on the floor. The suspect got out of bed and sat on the floor next to REDACTED. Suspect asked him what was wrong. REDACTED said, "You rubbed too low." The suspect told him that he had been asleep/half asleep and he would never do anything to hurt him. That it was not his purpose or intention to do anything besides stroke his stomach. The victim, REDACTED says he believes the suspect. The suspect didn't touch him the next two nights. REDACTED said that what occurred is really nothing and he doesn't want to get the suspect in any trouble.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981, I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of his mother at the REDACTED residence. Deputy District Attorney REDACTED was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is a 9th grade student at Thousand Oaks High School. He is Catholic and attends church and CCD classes at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. He is acquainted with Father Roemer, having been introduced to him by REDACTED at McDonald's Restaurant approximately three years ago. He has socialized with Father Roemer on several occasions. He has gone to movies with Father Roemer and on one occasion, went on an overnight trip to San Diego with him.

While attending the movie, Father Roemer would put his arm around him and would rub his bare back. REDACTED said he thought that was okay and didn't see anything wrong with Father Roemer rubbing his back.

Regarding the trip to San Diego, REDACTED related the following information:
Father Roemer called and asked me if I wanted to go to San Diego. I told him that I would like to go.

On December 26, 1980, Father Roemer and I went to San Diego. We stayed in a single room with two double beds at the Holiday Inn in downtown San Diego. Father Roemer paid for the room, our meals, and most of the expenses while we were there.

The first night we were there, I slept in one of the beds alone. Father Roemer and slept in the other bed and slept on the floor. The next night, I slept in bed with Father Roemer. I slept in my boxer shorts and Father Roemer wore pajamas.

Father Roemer started rubbing my back. He also rubbed my stomach and chest. He was not saying anything about what he was doing. I was uncomfortable and got out of bed. Father Roemer got out of bed and asked me what was wrong. I told him I was uncomfortable and that he had "rubbed a little too long."

Father Roemer said he was half asleep and didn't know what was going on. He apologized and said he was sorry if he had annoyed me.

COUNT VIII:

On December 27, 1980, Deputy of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed Deputy reported:

I responded to where I contacted victim, a 6-year-old boy. I asked to tell me what happened in his own words.

said that, "Awhile" ago, he and his family went camping with a church group. One night they were there, he asked suspect (he calls him Father Pat) to come over to his bed to say his goodnight prayers. After saying the prayers, suspect reached down his pajama bottoms and began feeling his "penis." He said he did it for about the time it takes to count to 20. During the time the suspect talked about "peace," did not say or do anything during this time.
I asked why he waited to tell what happened. He said that he was afraid that he (victim) would be sent to jail. He also said that suspect has never done anything like this to him before, nor has he since. Suspect has not talked to victim about what happened. REDACTED said he had felt bad since it occurred, so he finally told his mother. REDACTED said he could not give any further details.

I talked to REDACTED mother. She relayed the following:

On May 10 and 11, 1980, she and her family went on a religious retreat at Camp Yolijwa in the San Bernardino Mountains. They went with Father Patrick Roemer and other members of St. Paschal's congregation, Thousand Oaks. She said that after they returned, REDACTED no longer wanted to go to church. He seemed to have a dramatic change in attitude toward church.

She said that REDACTED told her about the incident on December 25, 1980. She waited to report it because they were out of town. She said their family is very close to Father Roemer and she reported it in hopes he would receive help.

On January 28, 1981, Detective REDACTED of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department reported an interview with REDACTED

At the request of Lt. REDACTED I interviewed above victim at his home at REDACTED in REDACTED The victim stated that he and his father had gone to a weekend retreat with Father Roemer from St. Paschal's Church. The victim, nor his father, could remember exactly when the trip took place, possibly in late April or May of 1980. The victim stated he was in his pajamas at approximately 2000 hours when Father Roemer started talking to him about the church and God. During the conversation, Father Roemer touched the victim in the groin area. According to victim, Father Roemer then removed his hand and nothing more happened. The victim's father was asleep in another bunk in the room at the time it happened.

I asked victim's mother if she desired criminal proceedings and she stated she was only interested in seeing that Father Roemer received help for his problem.
The above information was relayed to Lt. McKinley.

On January 5, 1981, Lt. REDACTED of the Ventura County Sheriff's Office filed the following report regarding action taken by him in the matter involving REDACTED

Lt. McKinley reported:

On Monday, 29 December 80, Lt. REDACTED telephoned me and advised me of information contained in original report. On Tuesday, 30 December 80, I contacted REDACTED of Sacred Heart Church, for advice on how to best handle the situation, administratively.

On Friday, 2 January 81, I telephoned REDACTED mother of victim and arranged for REDACTED to further interview victim on that date.

REDACTED told me that she and her son had spoken to REDACTED Father Roemer's superior, and informed him of the incident, who assured them the incident would be thoroughly handled. Det. REDACTED evaluation of the victim was that he was probably truthful about the incident.

As the incident occurred more than seven months ago in another jurisdiction (San Berdo) and a copy of the report had been sent to SBSO for statistical purposes and victim and parents desire no formal prosecution and they have brought the incident to the superior of suspect, presumably competent authority, no further action is warranted by this department. Case closed.

On February 4, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED and her son, REDACTED Investigator Smart reported:

On February 4, 1981 at approximately 11 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED and her son REDACTED at the Ventura County Sheriff's East Valley Station. Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor was present during the interview.

REDACTED is a 7-year-old male. He is a 2nd grade student at Bannon Elementary School in Newbury Park.
I first met Father Roemer about three years ago at a CCD teachers' class at St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. At that time, I was attending a Catholic church in Newbury Park. About a year later I started attending St. Paschal's Church because of Father Roemer. He was very friendly, maybe even overly friendly, but I liked him very much.

On May 10 and 11, 1980, our family attended a family retreat in San Bernardino. We stayed in barrack-type houses. The men occupied one and the women were housed in the other. Sleeping facilities consisted of bunk-type beds, similar to military style. We stayed at the camp for two days and then returned home.

I was not aware of any unusual appearance or incident while attending the retreat. However, on December 27, 1980, REDACTED related an incident involving Father Roemer that occurred at the retreat. REDACTED said that Father Roemer had rubbed his stomach and his genitals while he was in bed and had called Father Roemer to help him say his prayers.

The incident was reported to the Sheriff's Office. I also reported the incident to Father O'Ryan who is the pastor at St. Paschal's Church. Father O'Ryan assured me the matter would be dealt with. Therefore, we decided not to pursue criminal prosecution. I have not received any feedback from REDACTED as to what action was taken regarding this incident if, in fact, anything had been done whatsoever.

REDACTED was then asked a series of questions regarding the incident that occurred at this retreat. He related the following information:

We got there (church camp) at about 9:30 or 10 p.m. We had a snack and then went to bed. We were sleeping with our clothes on in sleeping bags on bunk beds. My Dad was sleeping in a bunk across from me on the other side of the room. The lights were all turned off, except for the one in the bathroom.

I called Father Roemer and asked him a question. He came over and knelt down beside my bed. He was still dressed at that time. I asked Father Roemer a question. He started to answer the question and at the same time stuck his hand under my pants.
He held onto my penis and moved his fingers. His fingers were wrapped around my penis and he moved the lower fingers while holding it. (REDACTED demonstrated with the use of a soda bottle that he had been drinking from.) He held onto my penis for about 60 seconds. He did not say anything about it. I did not say anything about it because I was "too scared to tell him to stop." He was petting me on the head at the same time he was holding my penis.

After about 60 seconds, Father Roemer said goodnight and left. I saw him go into the bathroom. After Father Roemer left, I laid there for about a half hour because I could not go to sleep. "I had nightmares about Father Roemer dying because he did sin."

The next morning someone said that I fell out of bed and Father Roemer picked me up and put me back in bed. I do not remember anything about that.

I thought about what Father Roemer had done to me, but I did not tell my Dad because I was too scared and I did not think anyone would believe me.

I saw Father Roemer that day, but only with my Mom and Dad. Nothing else happened while we were at the camp. I saw Father Roemer at church thereafter, but he never did anything like that to me again.

He always hugged and kissed me, but that is all.

On February 6, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart talked with REDACTED by telephone.

Investigator Smart reported:

On February 6, 1981 at approximately 1 p.m., I telephoned REDACTED regarding an incident involving her son, REDACTED.

REDACTED stated she talked to Father O'Ryan on December 27, 1980 and again on January 30, 1981 regarding the Father Roemer incident involving her son, REDACTED.

REDACTED stated that Father O'Ryan appeared to be grateful that the matter had been brought to his attention. He assured her that the situation would be thoroughly looked into and something would be done about it. He gave the analogy that the situation "is like having a splinter in your thumb, if something isn't done about it, it continues to get worse."
On February 10, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart telephoned Father Colm O'Ryan, Pastor of St. Paschal's Church in Thousand Oaks. Investigator Smart reported:

On February 10, 1981 at approximately 7:50 a.m., I called Father O'Ryan regarding a scheduled appointment for an interview that he had cancelled.

Father O'Ryan stated he had consulted with legal counsel who had advised him not to discuss the case involving Father Roemer with the District Attorney. Therefore, he felt he should follow that advice.

I asked Father O'Ryan if he had been advised by defense attorney, REDACTED Father O'Ryan said he had not. He stated he had been advised by a local legal counsel in the community and refused to identify that person.

I informed Father O'Ryan it was essential that we talk with him regarding Father Roemer since he is Father Roemer's supervisor and obviously knowledgeable about the allegations involving Father Roemer. I told Father O'Ryan he would receive a subpoena in the near future. Therefore, he would be required to appear as a witness, without the benefit of discussing the facts of the case with the District Attorney.

Father O'Ryan stated he would recontact his legal advisor and let me know if and when he would allow an interview.

Detective McIlvain reported:

Above victim interviewed on tape. He was brought in by parents, REDACTED and REDACTED approximately 2010 hours, EVSO.

He said that the suspect never did anything to him. A couple of times he went on overnight trips with suspect to a ranch in Fillmore. On the first trip, he was one of six boys taken by suspect. He didn't really know the other five, but recalls one boy's name was REDACTED. On the second trip, he was one of five boys. His friend and neighbor, REDACTED went also. He cannot remember who else went. (He and his parents could not recall the dates.) They all slept in sleeping bags on the floor in the living room. The suspect had tickled his chest and stomach area, but nothing else. After talking with victim REDACTED I asked his parents if they would check to see if they could identify dates of Fillmore trips. One trip was during school year, prior to summer 1980. Approximately 2100 hours, I received a call from Mrs. REDACTED. She advised that the REDACTED were mistaken. Her son REDACTED had never gone on any trip with suspect. She also said she had talked with her son and the suspect had never done anything to him. She seemed upset.

On February 5, 1981, District Attorney Investigator Pete Smart interviewed REDACTED Investigator

Smart reported:

On February 5, 1981 at approximately 9:40 a.m., I interviewed REDACTED in the presence of both of his parents at the District Attorney's Office. Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor was present and participated in the interview.

REDACTED is a 9th grade student at Newbury Park High School. He is Catholic and attends St. Paschal's Church and CCD classes. He has known Father
Roemer since he (Roemer) came to St. Paschal's parish and is very fond of him. REDACTED is also active in the St. Paschal's youth program. He has socialized with Father Roemer on several occasions. He has attended movies and has gone on overnight outings with him to Father Roemer's parents' ranch in Fillmore. He has never been alone with Father Roemer on any of these social outings.

REDACTED thinks Father Roemer is a very affectionate person. Father Roemer has hugged him and kissed him on the forehead many times. REDACTED claims he has never gone into the teachers' lounge with Father Roemer. However, he has gone into his office and has been shown pictures in a book. While looking at the pictures, they were sitting side-by-side and Father Roemer had his arm around him.

On one occasion, REDACTED invited Father Roemer to his home for a swimming party. This occurred in early August 1980. REDACTED and REDACTED were also present. Mr. & Mrs. REDACTED were not at home; however, were aware of the party and gave their approval.

During the course of the party, Father Roemer "ticked" REDACTED in the rib area. REDACTED denies that Father Roemer had ever rubbed his stomach and/or chest.

REDACTED has also gone to the movies and on overnight outings to Father Roemer's ranch in Fillmore. At the movie, Father Roemer would sit between REDACTED and one of the other boys who were present. Father Roemer would put his arm around him and occasionally tickle his knee. He did not attempt to rub his back or other parts of his body.

REDACTED and several boys were invited by Father Roemer to spend the night at his parents' ranch in Fillmore. They arrived at the ranch at approximately 4:30 or 5 p.m. They went for a walk, ate, and then sat around the living room telling ghost stories. Father Roemer had his arm around someone all of the time.

At approximately 10 or 11 p.m., they decided to turn in for the night. They all slept in sleeping bags on the floor, except Father Roemer. He slept on the couch. Everyone slept in pajamas. They changed into their pajamas in the bedroom, out of the presence of Father Roemer and each other.
denied that Father Roemer had touched or rubbed him while they were at the ranch. He did not observe Father Roemer touching or rubbing any of the others present. There were no unusual or remarkable occurrences while at the ranch. The following morning they got up around 6 a.m. and returned home.

said that Father Roemer is a very affectionate person and has hugged him, kissed him on the forehead and tickled him. However, he has not attempted to rub his stomach or chest. said that REDACTED is also affectionate, but he doesn't tickle. REDACTED denies being aware of Father Roemer shaking or shivering during any of the aforementioned contacts with him.

Detective Kelli McIlvain of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed REDACTED 14 years, DOB: Detective McIlvain reported:

Above victim interviewed in presence of his father, REDACTED, in EVSO on tape.

He related the suspect had never done anything to him. He did go on an overnight trip to the ranch once. Neither he nor his father could recall the date. They did sleep in sleeping bags on the living room floor and the suspect slept next to him in a sleeping bag, but he could not recall suspect touching him.

On January 27, 1981, Sergeant Jack Hughes of the Ventura County Sheriff's Department interviewed REDACTED 14 years, DOB: REDACTED Sergeant REDACTED reported:

INTERVIEW 1/27/81 1915 hours. I recorded the interview with REDACTED with his father and mother present.
He told me he went to San Diego with Father Roemer the Friday after Christmas. They left on December 26, and stayed five days and four nights at the Holiday Inn in San Diego, Room 1003. He said two other boys went along, (unknown last name). They stayed in a single room which had two double beds. The first night, the night of December 26, 1980, he slept with Father Roemer and slept on the floor and slept in the other bed alone. He only slept the one night in the same bed with Father Roemer. He said he did not know if anything had happened as far as Father Roemer touching him anywhere. He is a sound sleeper, which his mother confirmed. His mother said that is very hard to wake up. There was no reason he did not sleep in the same bed as Father Roemer. He just fell asleep on the floor watching TV. He told me he is fond of Father Roemer, but would tell me if he remembered anything happening.

D. FREDDIE ALVAREZ

Deputy William Montijo of the Ventura Sheriff's Department, on February 12, 1981, attempted to interview REDACTED and made the following report:

At approx. 1930 hours, I drove to REDACTED in an effort to interview REDACTED a victim in this investigation. REDACTED victim's step-father, met me outside of the house and I explained my purpose. REDACTED told me his son was not home, that he was in L.A. and would be returning the following day some time around 6 p.m. I explained to REDACTED that it was important I obtain a stmnt. from victim. REDACTED related he had talked with his son about Father Roemer and he told me his son told him nothing had happened. I made an appoint- ment to attempt contact with victim btwn. 1900-2100 hours on 2/13/81.

At approx. 1930 hours, I drove to the residence and again was met by REDACTED his wife, and two other adults outside of the residence. REDACTED related his son had not yet returned from L.A. I again told REDACTED it was important we spoke with his son. I told REDACTED we could contact his son at Colina School or at a later time. REDACTED questioned me regarding the case. I told REDACTED that the "S" had admitted touching his son. REDACTED asked me if questioning his son could wait until his court appearance. I explained it was necessary to interview his son prior to court. I asked REDACTED if his son was home and he just did not want me to talk to him. He said that his son was not home. REDACTED seemed to be evasive about his son's whereabouts and I felt his son was possibly in the residence. I was of the impression by REDACTED conduct that he really did not want his son involved with Roemer's case and was sympathetic towards his plight.

No further effort to interview REDACTED by this officer.

On February 2, 1981, Detective Kelli McIlvain of the Ventura County Sheriff's Office submitted the following report:

This date I talked with REDACTED Director, of Special Education and Special Services, Conejo Valley Unified School District, 1400 East Janss Road, Thousand Oaks, 497-9511.

He related in late October or early November 1980, a previous student, REDACTED told his mother that suspect, after a church-related class, had rubbed his stomach and chest. The suspect shook all over during this action. REDACTED told REDACTED (Acacia School), REDACTED teacher at the time. REDACTED was advised to phone the Ventura Sheriff's Department with this info.

The possible victim now lives at REDACTED and attends Poindexter School.

Approximately 1600 hours, this date, Sgt. A. REDACTED and I attempted to contact victim at his residence. REDACTED talked with REDACTED (victim's Dad) who said he would have his wife contact us if she had any information.

On February 17, 1981, Detective REDACTED Ventura County Sheriff's Department, interviewed REDACTED Mrs. REDACTED is a special...
Detective McIlvain reported:

Mrs. [REDACTED] related that in September 1980, Mrs. [REDACTED], mother of student [REDACTED], told her the following: Father Roemer, after either CCD or class or altar boy class, had put his hand inside [REDACTED]'s shirt and stroked his stomach. While doing this, Father Roemer began to tremble all over.

Mrs. [REDACTED] thinks this occurrence was in June of 1980. After learning of this in September, she immediately gave the information to her supervisor, and then to [REDACTED], Director of Special Education of Conejo Valley Unified School District. (Prior to [REDACTED].) At a later date, she gave the information to [REDACTED].

She recalls she went to [REDACTED] because Father Roemer was on Acacia School campus talking and visiting with students about once a week. It was Father Roemer's practice for at least school year 79-80 and 80-81 (to time of arrest) to come to Acacia School during the lunch hour on Mondays.

Mrs. [REDACTED] knew of no formal purpose/reason for his visits. She recalls that after her discussion with Mrs. [REDACTED], Father Roemer quit coming to her class table in the cafeteria as he had done in the past. He stopped visiting as much with [REDACTED].

Mrs. [REDACTED], said that another student of hers, [REDACTED], 11 or 12 years, had told her that Father Roemer was his "favorite rabbi" because Father Roemer had kissed him on the cheek. [REDACTED] later told her that Father Roemer had invited him to his home. [REDACTED] does not think [REDACTED] visited Father Roemer at his residence because the newspaper article of his arrest was printed shortly after her talk with [REDACTED].

She learned that Father Roemer was often on Glenwood Elementary School campus and had filled out some sort of on-campus application for Redwood School. Mrs. [REDACTED] did not know if he had ever filled out any similar application for Acacia School in the past. She knew of no other person who was routinely on Acacia campus without a formal purpose.

WHEREFORE, The People of the State of California respectfully submit this Statement of Facts as proof of the factual basis of the pleas of nolo contendere by Donald Patrick
Roemer to three counts of violation of section 288(a) of the Penal Code (Counts I, II, and III of the Information).

Respectfully submitted,

DR: Okay.
KM: You understand that you're suspected of committing the crime of child molest. Do you understand?
DR: Uh-huh.
KM: You have the right to remain silent. Do you understand?
DR: Uh-huh.
KM: If you give up that right, anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law. Do you understand?

EXHIBIT "A"
you understand?

DR:

KM: If you cannot afford to hire a lawyer, one will be appointed to represent you before any questioning at no cost to you if you wish one. Do you understand?

DR:

KM: Do you understand all these rights that I've explained to you? Do you have any questions about these rights?

DR: No, I don't think so.

KM: Having these rights in mind, do you wish to give up these rights and talk to me about the charges against you?

DR: I'd rather talk to you.

KM: You would?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Okay. Do you know a boy by the name of REDACTED

DR: Yes. REDACTED

KM: Did you see REDACTED Today?

DR: Yes, I saw him today.

KM: What time did you see him?

DR: Saw him when he got there for his religious instruction class. I forget the exact, probably about 3:20 to 3:25.

KM: What did you say to REDACTED

DR: What did I say to him?

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: I asked him--I'm just going to tell you.

KM: Okay.

DR: I have no problem.

KM: Okay.
DR: No problem. Because, well -- it, it is a problem, it isn't -- maybe it's the best way for it to come out.

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: I mean, I've dealt with it before on a spiritual basis and it never works and I am having a problem, not that I'm going around molesting children and stuff like that. I'll just tell you exactly what happened, probably exactly what he said.

KM: Okay.

DR: Can I ask you what he said?

KM: He said that ah you asked him to come into an office and look at some pictures --

KM: Okay.

DR: My year book.

KM: Your year book pictures and he said that you had him sit on your lap.

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Is that right?

DR: And I had him stand up.

KM: And you had him stand up? Where did you have him stand up?

DR: Just right in front of me. I mean, not expose himself, I,
I touched him.

KM: Did you touch his penis?

DR: Yeah.

KM: Did you --

DR: Not all the way, but I --

KM: Did you stroke his penis?
DR: Well, kinda, just kinda back and forth, but I never really grabbed it or touched it all the way.

KM: Did, did you do this while he was sitting on your lap?

DR: No, while he was standing.

KM: What did you say to him when you were doing this?

DR: Well, I started out by stroking his stomach and asking him if that felt good --

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: -- and I he said yes and I just went further. He didn't say anything but yes and he was paging through the book.

KM: This was when he was standing up?

DR: Well, yeah, he was, he was sitting in my lap first and then I asked him to stand up and --

KM: Okay. So then you ah, put your hand under his shirt and stroked his stomach--

DR: At first.

KM: --at first, and then did you--was he sitting on your lap when you were stroking his penis?

DR: I think I did it first when he was, when he was standing up and when he sat down again I did it for a short time, just a few seconds and that was it.

KM: So you, you had him sit down, stand up, sit down, is that right?

DR: Well, when he first came in he stood up, but then he sat down in my lap, looked at the pictures. That's when I started it--

KM: Uh-huh.

DR: He stood up, then he sat down.
KM: Okay. Did you tell him to stand up?
DR: Yeah.
KM: Why did you tell him to stand up?
DR: So it would be easier or me to get my hand down there.
KM: How long do you think, how long do you think this whole incident took?
DR: About a minute and a half, two minutes. It really wasn't long.
KM: Ah,
DR: I know this is hard for you; it's hard for me.
KM: I'm sure it is, Father. Have you already told REDACTED REDACTED is it?
DR: REDACTED really isn't the pastor anymore. REDACTED REDACTED is.
KM: Have you already told REDACTED?
DR: I will.
KM: How did REDACTED already know about it when I called?
DR: About what?
KM: About ah, a 7-year-old, a young boy making an accusation, do you know?
DR: REDACTED knew about it?
KM: Yeah. I called and talked with you, and you must have got my message because you--
DR: Oh, I, I got your message.
KM: And the Father asked me is this concerning a young boy and I said that I only would talk with you.
DR: It could be that the parents had called and talked to him.
KM: No, they didn't. I've already talked with them. Maybe somedbody else, or they talked Maybe--

DR: How could he have possibly known?

KM: Somebody else must have called. This only happened today.

DR: Yes.

KM: Is it alright if I have a cigarette?

DR: Sure.

KM: Okay, they have another boy who's name is [REDACTED]

DR: Yes.

KM: He told me something that happened during confession. Would you know what that would be?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: What was that then?

DR: He came in and sat on my lap for confession, I put my hand under his shirt. I didn't, you know, molest him or anything like that.

KM: When ah, when [REDACTED] was in your office, did you kiss him on the ear?

DR: Can't remember. That's the truth, I don't--

KM: You don't remember?

DR: I don't remember.

KM: Do you think you could have?

DR: I could have.

KM: He also said that when you were stroking his penis and he was sitting on your lap, you were shaking.

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Is that true?

DR: Yes.
KM: When ah, when was in confession and you had him sit on your lap, and you rubbed his chest, did you kiss him on the ear?

DR: I don't think so. Did he say that I did?

KM: Yeah.

DR: If he did, then it was probably right. I don't

KM: Have you, you were saying you've been dealing with this spiritually--

DR: And psychologically.

KM: And psychologically.

DR: There's a priest in Santa Barbara that I go to, used to go to on a regular basis, but I haven't seen him in about 4 or 5 months.

KM: Has anything like this ha--have you ever done anything like this in the past?

DR: I've come close to it, yeah.

KM: Am I going to find out about other victims besides, besides?

DR: It has happened before, yes.

KM: It has?

DR:

KM: Has it happened before, while in Thousand Oaks at this particular church? How long have you been at this church?

DR: For 3 years. Not quite 3, it'll be 3 years this June.

KM: And where were you assigned previously?

DR: Santa Barbara.

KM: Santa Barbara.

DR: Never happened there.
KM: Have you ever been arrested for anything prior to this?
DR: No.
KM: How long have you been a Father?
DR: 11 years.
KM: 11 years.
DR: Please be patient. This is painful.
KM: I know and I appreciate how hard it must be. Nobody, I'm sure, but you, can know how terribly hard it is.
DR: Last year I got the, because of interest in working with kids and it's not just motivated by the problem, last year I got the honorary service award from the National PTA for working with kids. What a farce now --
KM: Can you give me an estimate of how many times in the past this has happened, fondling the genitals?
DR: I don't know. Two, two times before.
KM: And how long ago has this been?
DR: It's been within this year.
KM: This year? All, January of this year?
DR: I don't think January.
KM: 1981?
DR: Yeah.
KM: It's been since Christmas?
DR: Well, there was one occasion, right after -- I'm not trying to elude you. I'm just, I don't really know when exactly it was.
KM: Ah, other than fondling with your hand -- the other two incidents, was there any type of sexual activity?
DR: No.
KM: Okay. Have you had very many boys sit on your lap during confession and rub their chests?

DR: Besides brother, I don't know --

KM: Do you think that's appropriate behavior, Father?

DR: No, I know it's not appropriate. I, I--

KM: I understand that you realize what you did was wrong, but I've got the feeling, from what you said before, --

DR: No, I don't, I'm not trying to cover up or anything --

KM: It's not as overt as what happened with [REDACTED] but --

DR: Yeah.

KM: -- but it's still inappropriate--

DR: Yeah, it most certainly is. I have not nearly enough sought out, I think, enough psychological help for the problem I have. (pause) Like, even after it happened, I think I knew, I really did know --

KM: You knew what?

DR: That I was I just felt it, I mean, it's not like I haven't told anybody before.

KM: Have you told people before?

DR: Not people, but this priest that's up in Santa Barbara.

KM: Yeah. But you've--have you told anyone else?

DR: No.

KM: Do you know the names of the other two boys?

DR: Ah -- there is one, well there's one kid that sat on my lap in confession and I did it -- [REDACTED]

KM: And how long ago do you think that was?

DR: Not long, I think it was two weeks ago.

KM: You know how to spell it?
DR: REDACTED

KM: How old is REDACTED?

DR: I think REDACTED was 7-1/2.

KM: Was he already going to confession?

DR: I think he made his first one, but I didn't do it in confession.

KM: When did it happen?

DR: That was in, in that same room--it's not my office, it's the teachers' lounge. That is in the center of the school.

KM: Now would that have been the 12th, Monday the 12th? It would be two weeks ago today.

DR: I think, I think that would be REDACTED.

KM: Was, is he going to CCD? Wouldn't that be about the same thing?

DR: It was Monday. You're just talking about in general, not genital?

KM: You didn't rub his genitals that time?

DR: No. I didn't rub his at all.

KM: did you rub his stomach?

DR: Yes. And his chest.

KM: _____ touch his skin --

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Did you show him your year book that time?

DR: No.

KM: How long did this--ah, how long was it?

DR: About 2 minutes.

KM: Was this about 3:30?

DR: Ah, around 3:30.
KM: And besides the other incident?

DR: One other — He's a 6th grader. And that was the same day — I don't think that was on the same day. I can't remember exactly when that happened, I think it was last week, last Monday. He spells it

KM: He's in 6th grade, so he's 11 or 12?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: And you think this was last Monday?

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: Which be the same day went to confession and this happened. went to confession -- Okay, when he went to confession was not on a Monday, it was his day for CCD. Yes it is, he comes--he was sick today. So, it was the same--it was the same, think it was--the same day.

KM: He was sick today?

DR: Yeah. His brother was not there.

KM: Okay. So, so it was on the same day with Did this happen in the confessional?

DR: No.

KM: Where did it happen?

DR: In the room.

KM: In the, ah, the same room we were talking about previously?

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you have the 6th grader sit on your lap?

DR: No. He sat in a chair next to me.

KM: And this wasn't during confession?

DR: No.
KM: How did you have him come into the office?
DR: As soon as he got there. It was previous--confess--the confession time wasn't Saturday. It was, it was a special time that REDACTED and I have the penance service and they can go to confession if they want. So, that was after 4 o'clock. I don't know the precise time, but this is before CCD. It starts at 3:30.

KM: REDACTED
DR: REDACTED

KM: Well, was he in that office for a prepenance conference?
DR: No.

KM: What was he in the office for?
DR: I asked him to come in there.
KM: Why did you, did you ask him to come in to look at anything or for what reason?
DR: I jus--he's in a special class at school.
KM: Uh-huh.
DR: Not at our school, but at Acacia and I asked him to come in to see how he was doing because I didn't see him at lunch that day when I was there.
KM: What did you say to him, while you were rubbing his chest?
DR: I just asked him how things were going, just had like a general conversation.
KM: You were jus--and you were rubbing his chest while you were having a general conversation?
DR: Uh-huh, yes.
KM: Well, did he seem alarmed?
DR: No. You're asking me for a fact.
KM: Yeah. Yeah, I know.

DR:

KM: Well, that's right.

DR: I know what I'm doing is -- wrong.

KM: I'm just trying to see--you're sitting side-by-side--

DR: And I reached over like this.

(pause)

KM: Rubbing his chest.

DR: Yeah.

KM: Did you have an erection when you were doing this?

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you have an erection when you were doing this to ah, REDACTED

DR: Yes.

KM: Did you ejaculate?

DR: Ah, yes.

KM: Did you ejaculate while rubbing the chest?

DR: Ah, I can't remember.

KM: Okay. Do you remember if you ejaculated after rubbing REDACTED ---

DR: Ah, today you mean?

KM: No REDACTED wasn't -- today.

DR: Oh, that's right, ah no. That was different.

KM: But you had an erection when, you -- with REDACTED

DR: Uh-huh.

KM: And you had an erection when you were with REDACTED

(pause)

DR: Yes.
KM: Have you ever done anything like this with any little girls?

DR: No.

KM: Well, it was 2 weeks ago with REDACTED 1 week ago with REDACTED and today with REDACTED Is there anything else, Father, is there anything else that will come to light, that you think you should talk about now?

DR: Yeah.

KM: What is that?

DR: Everything I tell you has to go down?

KM: It does, Father.

DR: Probably be made public too?

KM: The ah--

DR: You don't have to answer that.

KM: The details of this, I won't make public. It will be public information that you've been arrested.

DR: What does that mean?

KM: Well, whoever is arrested -- that's public information, just point of fact -- that's what it is, public information, but I won't be talking to the press, myself, about details of the case. And I know that that is very frightening from your position right now. But the real point is this activity is wrong -- it's gotta be stopped. That's the important part.

DR: Right.

KM:

DR: I understand. I -- but, like how it's stopped --

KM: Yeah. Important too.
DR: What, what kind of help can I get, if any at all?

KM: What kind of psychiatric help?

DR: Is that part of the procedure?

KM: It is part of the procedure, you will be ah, evaluated by psychiatrists and I, I really don't know what kind of help they will give you. I know it is essential you're motivated to be helped.

DR: Yeah. There's no doubt about it, it's kind of like trying and trying and trying not to get involved in that, failing over and over again and not knowing what to do.

KM: Fighting it and fighting it.

DR: Fighting it and not knowing how to handle it anymore. Fooling yourself that the more you go and talk to a spiritual leader it's gonna do, and letting it go, you know?

KM: There are special psychiatrists for this kind of problem that specialize in this area. Ah, I don't, I can't tell you what, what the courts will do about this. I can't say no, they'll just put you, you know, in a psychiatric program, I really can't tell you, cause I don't know what the sentencing will be.

DR: Can I just ask you some questions? I mean just --

KM: Sure, go ahead.

DR: It'll obviously be all over town. I mean, just tell me.

KM: I think that the people in your church have a great respect for all the work you've done and I think that from investigations in the past, you will have some friends that will stick by you and will help you through this time and ah, I've already heard that you have done excellent work with the youth in the church.

DR: That's all shot.

KM: Well, people understand that, if the work was done, it was accomplished and you've done it, so I wouldn't say it's all shot. People that care about you are going to be most concerned of handle the whole thing. We both know, there are times when it takes a great deal more courage to tell the truth than it does to lie.

DR: I know it. I know.

KM: People make mistakes.

DR: I'm gonna trust _____, maybe it's for the best.

Where do I go from here?

KM: Well, I'm going to have to arrest you.

DR: Fine. I mean, like do all the rest of those people have to be contacted?

KM: They should be contacted. They will be contacted, Father. The parents of _____ and _____ are very upset, naturally, but they also expressed a lot of concern about what would happen to you.

DR: That's great.

KM: Is there anything else that I'm going to find out?

DR: Yeah.

KM: Okay

Priest to plead no contest to child molesting

By Gregg Zóroya

A Thousand Oaks priest said this morning he will plead no contest which is the same as a guilty plea in a criminal case, to felony charges of molesting three children.

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, 36, priest at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church, said he would make the plea in exchange for district attorney's officials dropping five other child molestation charges against him.

The agreement between Roemer and the District Attorney's Office was revealed during a court appearance before Municipal Court Judge Bur M. Henson.

The appearance was to be a preliminary hearing, but a stipulation to waive the preliminary hearing was presented to Henson. The waiver was conditioned on an agreement by Roemer to plead no contest.

Henson ordered Roemer to appear for arraignment in Superior Court Friday. Any plea agreement would normally be entered at that time.

If Roemer pleads no contest, he could face a maximum of 10 years in prison for the crimes.

The expressionless priest hustled his way through a dozen newspaper, radio and television reporters without acknowledging any of the questions directed to him.

"We don't have any comments, no comments at all," Oxnard attorney Bruce Mayfield said while escorting his client out of the building.

The priest was arrested Jan. 26 by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of making "advances of a sexual nature" to a child during a catechism class.

The original complaint, accused Roemer of molesting nine boys on separate occasions last year and this year. Two of the molestations occurred outside Ventura County but were initiated in this county, the district attorney charges.

The ages of the victims range from 6 to 13. The three felony cases to which Roemer indicated he would plead no contest occurred in January, said Deputy District Attorney Joe Taylor.

As a result of the agreement and a prior decision by district attorney officials, five counts, including two misdemeanor counts, will be dropped. A sixth count was going to be dismissed anyway, Taylor said.

The families of the nine victims were informed Monday that they would not have to appear at the preliminary hearing, Taylor said, indicating that the agreement had been tentatively reached that day.

Roemer remains free on a written promise to appear in court.
Thousand Oaks priest admits he molested 3 boys

By Gregg Zoroya

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, 31-year-old Catholic priest at a large Thousand Oaks church, admitted in court this morning that he molested three young boys who attend the church.

An evidence package submitted in court by the District Attorney's Office detailed how Roemer fondled one young boy while in the lounge of St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks, where Roemer was a priest. It also described another incident, the 12-year-old during Christmas and Hanukkah in Fillmore, where the priest had access to in August.

In addition to the three boys, named in the three cases, there were 10 other boys who were interviewed, said about their experiences with the priest. Roemer's name is suspected of being a mentally disordered sex offender.

When Roemer was found to be sexually disordered, he was committed to Atascadero State Hospital for a maximum of 10 years.

The District Attorney's Office filed a 10-page statement of facts with Shaw's hearing, he said, was designed to take the place of evidence that would have been submitted at Roemer's preliminary hearing last week. Roemer denied the hearing, saying he intended to plead no contest.

The statement submitted by the District Attorney's Office released the same statement of facts to the press minutes after Roemer's court appearance this morning.

In it was evidence from a 30-minute interview with the priest by authorities where Roemer admitted the allegations by a 15-year-old boy were true. Roemer admitted having sex with the young boy and vaguely indicated he was sexually misconducted only that the priest was doing something as well as could be expected.

Roemer remains free without bail until his sentencing. He is scheduled to appear at the courthouse in the courtroom alone did not give her name and consequently was not free.
Judge sentences molester priest to state hospital

By Gregg Zoroya

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer was led from court into custody Friday afternoon for eventual transportation to Atascadero State Hospital, where he will be treated as a mentally disordered sex offender.

The 80-year-old Catholic priest, a former religious instructor for children at St. Paschal Baylon Catholic Church, Thousand Oaks, is an admitted child molester.

After Roemer was given 90 days of examination at the state hospital for criminal sex offenders, officials there may find that the facility is inappropriate and recommend something more lenient. But the priests could remain there for up to 10 years.

Superior Court Judge Robert L. Shaw's choice of Atascadero was a major defeat for Roemer, whose attorney argued that the state facility was too severe a confinement.

But Shaw said that Roemer's crimes weighed heavily against him.

"I believe he is bothered that the victims originally placed their faith in the priest, and the parents were willing to put their children in his care," Shaw said. "I suppose (for them) it's almost like God committed a crime," Shaw said.

The decision on where to send the priest for treatment was the final phase in the well-publicized case.

It began in late January with the shocking announcement that a Thousand Oaks Catholic priest had been arrested for molesting young members of his parish.

On March 10, Roemer pleaded no contest (the equivalent to a guilty plea in a criminal case) to three counts of molesting young boys. One incident occurred in a confessionals.

Court documents revealed that Roemer has admitted several other molestations to authorities. Prosecutor Joe Taylor, a deputy district attorney, cited other victims in the past 11 years.

Based on psychiatric examinations, Shaw ruled May 8 that Roemer is a mentally disordered sex offender and amenable to treatment.

Although Shaw leaned toward sending the priest to Atascadero, he ordered County Mental Health Program Director Dr. William C. Keating to examine alternative mental health institutions.

Keating's report, as well as comments by the examining psychiatrists and interviews with officials at Atascadero, provided defense attorney Bruce Mayfield of Oxnard with a considerable basis for arguing that the state hospital is too severe a confinement for Roemer.

Keating, for example, rejected Atascadero as a placement. Mayfield said that officials contacted at Atascadero said a patient like Roemer might not respond well to treatment at the hospital, confinement among the chronic, violent inmates at that institution could cause irreparable harm to the priest, Mayfield said.

Even Taylor cited an incident in which a priest, under similar circumstances, did not obtain suitable treatment at Atascadero.

One institution Keating recommended and Mayfield pushed was St. Mary's Hospital, San Francisco.

Taylor pointed out that St. Mary's is a licensed, qualified private facility. It would save taxpayers the cost of confinement at Atascadero — between $10,000 and $35,000, Taylor said.

There was never any indication of who would pay for Roemer's confinement in a private facility.

But Taylor said he learned that St. Mary's has never handled a mentally disordered sex offender case.

Shaw noted this in his decision and added that, because it is private, there would be no accountability to the courts.

Atascadero attempts to cure sex offenders

Attention was focused recently on child molestation when a Catholic priest was convicted of molesting boys. This story, the first of two parts, examines the kind of treatment sex offenders can receive from the state.

By WALT STEGMeyer

The future home of the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, the former Thousand Oaks priest convicted of molesting boys, is a pink L-shaped building set among the hills of Atascadero, a small community 18 miles north of San Luis Obispo.

Atascadero State Hospital houses behind three steel doors not only hundreds of sex offenders who prey on children but also violent rapists and other criminals.

Yet despite the violent background of many of the 1,000 hospital patients, staff members, including women, walk down the long corridors unmoled and hospital officials report attacks on staff members are rare.

It is behind these walls of the huge, sprawling complex that male patients, possibly years, that Roemer will receive therapy and treatment that hospital officials hope will deter the 37-year-old priest from fondling young boys in the future.

Whether Roemer can be cured of his pedophilia — the unnatural desire to molest boys — is an unanswered question. Roemer has admitted to molesting at least 80 boys over a period of 12 years and some experts believe pedophiles cannot be successfully cured of their unnatural desires.

These experts take the position that pedophilia may not be a mental illness but is essentially a lifestyle that never changes.

They say there is no certainty as to the cause of pedophilia, no known cure and no reliable clinical ability to predict future dangerousness.

One well-known expert who takes this position is Dr. Roland Summit of the Harbor-UCLA Medical Center and a recognized authority in the area of child molesting.

"During a hearing last year on changing the child molesting laws, Summit described pedophiles as men who have "lifelong sexual desires for children."

The doctor said pedophiles do not come across as criminals or mentally disturbed, but believe they have the "right and duty" to molest children.

As a result of this viewpoint, there is currently pending legislation in Sacramento to not only lengthen prison sentences for child molesters, but also require that if they are treated at Atascadero that they be returned to prison to serve out their sentence once treatment is completed.

Roemer is under a 10-year, 12-month maximum commitment. This is the longest time he could be committed to Atascadero, or if the judge finds he would not benefit from further treatment, be sentenced to state prison.

Ventura County Superior Court Judge Robert Shaw, who found Roemer to be a mentally disordered sex offender and sentenced to hospital treatment, has ordered that the first progress report on the priest be filed by Sept. 1.

Roemer will probably be transferred to Atascadero this week according to county jail officials. At Atascadero he will be seen by a psychiatrist and a mental profile will be developed, said David B. Hamilton, assistant to the hospital medical director.

The hospital staff will then determine what kind of treatment program Roemer should be placed in, Hamilton said. He said this assessment can take 30 days or longer.

There are different treatment programs at Atascadero, Hamilton said. A child molester could end up in the same program as a violent rapist if the program is aimed at solving a basic problem that led to sex crime, Hamilton said.

One program dealing with sex offenders who are judged to be a danger to others, such as Roemer, deals with sex-related problems through group therapy and other consciousness-raising groups and seeks to teach the "men self-evaluation and self-discipline," Hamilton said.

There is also a service at the hospital, offered by Dr. Richard Laws, that seeks to cure deviant sexual behavior through abstinence therapy.

Deputy District Attorney Joseph E. Taylor, who handled the prosecution of Roemer and did research on treatment offered at Atascadero, explained that it is first determined what kind of sexual activity excites the patient.

Once this is determined, the patient is shown pictures or movies of this kind of sexual activity and becomes excited and becomes excited and when becomes excited an ampule containing ammonia is released, Taylor said. In theory, the patient begins to associate the unpleasant experience of the ammonia with the deviant sexual activity and no longer is attracted by this kind of sexual activity, Taylor said.

MONDAY: What happens to the victims of child molesters.
Hospital may discover identities of the others

"Attention was focused recently on child molestation when a Catholic priest was convicted of molesting boys. This article, the second of two parts, concerns the trauma that affects victims of molestation.

By WALT STEGMEIR
Daily News Staff Writer

While the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer is undergoing treatment at Atascadero State Hospital, some of his child-molesting victims are also undergoing counseling for the trauma they suffered from that Thousand Oaks priest.

Roemer, 37, has admitted to molesting 30 boys during the past 11 years. Fifteen of those boys have been identified, said Deputy District Attorney Joseph E. Taylor, and the incidents go back a year.

The victims who have been identified range in age from 6 to 14, and Taylor said some are undergoing counseling for the psychological damage they have suffered. Taylor said he hopes the boys would not suffer any lifelong psychological effects.

In many cases, Roemer fondeled the boys to obtain sexual gratification, and Taylor said the trauma from this kind of molesting is usually less than in cases in which a man engages in specific sexual acts, such as sodomy, with a boy over a long period of time.

For one boy, however, the fondling continued over a period of several months and the effect on the boy was very destructive, Taylor said. The boy's grades at school went down and the boy did not want to attend church, Taylor said.

It was just recently that the other child molestings, which go back to 1970, came to light. Taylor said there is no way his office can force Roemer to identify them.

Once Roemer is placed in a treatment program at Atascadero State Hospital, however, doctors have the power to make Roemer try to recall who the other victims are, Taylor said.

If the identification of these boys, who now might be adults, is made, then the question is how to deal with a molestation that occurred years ago, Taylor said.

Taylor indicated the best approach would probably be to find out if there is a potentially damaged child and then proceed from there. The parents of the boys would probably be notified that their sons were molestation victims, Taylor said.

Only recently has there been increased concern about the victims of child molestation. Previously, thousands of dollars were spent treating convicted child molesters at Atascadero and other state hospitals, but little attention was paid to what happened to the victims.

One man who has concerned himself with the victims is Dr. Herman Kagan, director of the children's program for the country mental health department in the Simi-Conejo Valley areas.

Kagan said a boy or girl who is sexually molested by someone he or she trusts often develops very confused feelings, because he or she both trusts the molester but is also frightened.

"When (children are) confused, they feel they have done something wrong," Kagan said. He said one of the purposes of therapy is to help the child understand this confusion is a natural reaction to trusting someone and then seeing something happen that makes him or her afraid.

In counseling, the doctor tries to explain to the child that he or she is not the one at fault in the molesting and it was the adult's responsibility not to engage in such action, Kagan said. "It is often difficult to convince a child he is not the one at fault."

Kagan said this same kind of confusion also occurs in rape cases and the victim tends to believe she was at fault. It is important to "get the blame shifted to the right party and get the confusion cleared up," Kagan said.

In working with victims of child molestation, Kagan said, parents play a very important supporting role. "If the parents support the child, it certainly makes it a lot easier," Kagan said. Without the parents' support, the child can feel he or she "is not only abused by the abuser, but he is also abused by those who are supposed to provide him with support," Kagan said.

Kagan said child molesting can result in the child's developing doubts about himself and his own worth. "The child thinks he is damaged goods, he is bad," Kagan said.

The damage caused by a child molestation might surface later in life, when the person is in his 30s or 40s, Kagan said.

Officer wounded on robbery call

PHOENIX (UPI) - A Phoenix police officer suffered a minor gunshot wound to the hand when a liquor store clerk mistook him for a robbery suspect.

Police said an armed man forced Michael El Mani, 21, an employee of Buckeye Liquors, to hand over about $150 Saturday night.

As the suspect was leaving, El Mani pulled out a .357 magnum revolver and fired a shot, detectives said. Nearby officers heard the shot and responded to the scene.

As Officer William Heydenreich was approaching the door with a drawn gun, police said El Mani looked up, saw the gun and fired a round, striking the officer in the left hand.

Heydenreich was treated and released. El Mani does not face any charges, investigators said. Nearby officers heard the shot and responded to the scene.

Beware of Child Molesters

The idea that adults might be sexually attracted to children is so offensive that most parents prefer not to think about it. They should. By conservative estimates, one out of 10 children is sexually abused each year, often by a trusted authority figure—a teacher, doctor or camp counselor—or by the parents themselves. In Pittsburgh a 24-year-old secretary is serving five years on probation for molesting the four-year-old girl for whom she baby-sat. A former mayor of Alamogordo, N.M., was convicted recently on five counts of sex crimes involving young girls. And a Roman Catholic priest in charge of youth affairs at his church in suburban Los Angeles confessed to between 20 and 30 homosexual encounters with minors. Sexual child abuse cuts across all social, economic and racial strata. Irving Frager, a California attorney who used to prosecute child molesters, believes that "it is probably the most common serious crime against a person in the United States."

It is also the perfect crime. In every respect, children are singularly vulnerable victims. They can be easily persuaded to cooperate with molesters and are then too afraid or ashamed to talk about it with their parents (page 46). On that rare occasion when a sex offender is reported and convicted, there is an excellent chance that the courts will intervene on his behalf and that he will soon be walking the streets again; for the last 30 years the criminal-justice system has accepted the psychiatric consensus that child molestation is a treatable illness, a viewpoint that rarely results in a full prison term for offenders. That consensus is now crumbling, largely under pressure from a California-based organization called Society's League Against Molestation (SLAM) and its offshoots around the country. The citizens' groups argue that the best way to treat child molesters is to keep them locked away from their prey. Since it was founded two years ago, SLAM has lobbied successfully for five California laws that make the crime a little easier to get away with.

One out of 10 youngsters is sexually abused each year—usually by someone the victim knows and trusts.

Even though up to two-thirds of all child molestation cases never come to light, the number of reported incidents has grown rapidly since the mid-1970s. In California the number of known offenses climbed from 2,281 in 1977 to 8,864 last year, and the Los Angeles district attorney's office says that a third of the sex-abuse cases it handles involve child victims. "I suspect that this is a much more serious and frequent crime than rape," says Dr. Gene G. Abel, director of the Sexual Behavior Clinic at the New York State Psychiatric Institute. Abel's study of 238 sex offenders showed that each child molester was responsible for abusing an average of 68.3 young victims—more than three times the number of adult women assaulted by each rapist.

Many parents believe their children will be safe if they don't talk to strangers. But according to David Finkelhor, assistant director of the Family Violence Research Program at the University of New Hampshire, victims and their parents know the assailants in two-thirds of the cases. A third of the victims in his study were molested by a relative and an equal number by an acquaintance. "We're still teaching our children the myth that it's the stranger in the big Cadillac who offers them candy," warns David Lloyd, a staff attorney at the special child-abuse unit of Washington's Children's Hospital National Medical Center. "But it can be the Boy Scout leader, ice-cream vendor, people who have professional access to children or a lot of interest in them."

"Pied Piper? Or it can be the family priest. The case of the Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer is virtually an allegory of trust abused. Until a year ago Roemer was the youth minister of St. Paschal Roman Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks, Calif., a position placing him in frequent contact with his young charges. "He was like a Pied Piper to the children," recalled one parishioner recently. "He had a very good rapport with the kids, especially the boys." He also gained the confidence of their families; when the parents of two brothers, seven and ten years old, had Roemer investigated and arrested for fondling their sons, many parishioners accused local authorities of persecuting the priest. His church superiors, it turned out, knew of another incident involving a young boy but did not discipline Roemer. Despite prosecution efforts to imprison him, a superior-court judge sentenced him to confinement in a California state mental hospital.

Father Roemer was diagnosed as a “fixated pedophile,” an adult who is compulsively and almost exclusively aroused by children. Fixated pedophiles are one of the two main types of molesters. Usually they are white males with an attraction to young boys—a preference that does not extend to adult men. They frequently identify with and have affection for their victims. The reason, according to A. Nicholas Groth, director of the sex-offender program at the Connecticut Correctional Institution in Somers, is that an enormous number of child molesters—81 percent of the convicted pedophiles in that state—were themselves abused as children. “The pedophile is re-enacting his own victimization,” says Groth, “but he wants to change it into a warm and loving experience, where he is in control, to purge the original fear.” Despite his warm feelings, the pedophile is not above threatening a child with harm either to himself or his family to get what he wants—which could be anything from fondling and mutual masturbation to anal or oral intercourse.

Incest: The second major category of molester is the “regressed offender.” He is a man with a normal heterosexual orientation who turns to young girls at a crisis point, such as a divorce or a professional setback. Boston attorney Richard Bourne cites the case of a 65-year-old widower with no previous history of child molestation; he was accused of fondling his neighbor’s daughter, who brought over cookies to cheer him up after her mother died. Frequently, regressed offenders will suddenly begin to molest their own children. But according to Abel, the majority of men who commit incest do so because they are genuinely afraid of children, not because of family dynamics. “They are child molesters who stay at home,” he says.

Because of the peculiar circumstances, regressed offenders are considered highly treatable. A growing number of sex-abuse experts, however, are pessimistic about curing molesters who have a lifelong history of emotional as well as sexual involvement with children. Pedophilia, says Los Angeles sex-crimes prosecutor Jacqueline Connor, “is nothing more than a preference, homosexuality. Unfortunately, the [sexual activity] is never consensual.” UCLA psychiatry Prof. Roland Summit believes most child molesters belong in prison, not state mental hospitals, where they will never be cured nor confined for very long.

“You can’t say [pedophilia] is an illness more than you can say bank robbery is a illness,” says Summit. “Treatment has been used as an escape from responsibility.” This is precisely the rallying cry of SLAM, which now has 45 chapters in California and counterparts in at least 11 other states. The organization was found

Acting Out a Secret

Most young victims of sexual abuse have been bribed or threatened not to talk about the experience. Molesters make a pact of secrecy with children—and that silence can be the source of their most intense suffering. Often it is far worse than the physical abuse. “These children don’t have broken bones, but they have broken psyches,” says Ann Burgess, a nursing specialist at Boston City Hospital. “What really damages them is keeping it all bottled up.” To break the silence, Burgess directs a pioneering treatment program at City Hospital, in which young victims describe their experiences and express their feelings in a special form of play therapy.

A few simple toys enable children to reveal incidents they cannot—or will not—put into words. “Anatomically correct” dolls, with genitals and yarn for pubic hair, permit children to stage a sexual assault. Speaking through the mouth of a puppet frees them to tell a secret without directly breaking a pledge of secrecy. Drawing, however, is the most effective method of externalizing memories and emotions. Last May, four-year-old Sophie, bleeding in the vagina, was brought to the pediatric clinic at City Hospital. Shy and passive, she refused to explain her injury, so nurses gave her crayons and paper. Sophie first sketched a small stick-figure portrait of herself with an orange slash across the pelvis. Next to it she drew a large, forceful figure with oversize male genitals colored in red. After hesitating, Sophie tearfully explained that the large figure was a counselor at her day-care center, and that he had shoved his fingers into her anus and vagina. With that admission the small girl began crying around the clinic, proudly announcing that she had told her “secret.”

Lorna Bernhard, the clinic’s head nurse: “It was a sudden miraculous change.”

Children forced to keep their secret for any length of time develop psychosomatic disorders. As many as 10 a week come to City Hospital suffering from nightmares, insomnia or stomach cramps. Eight-year-old Nicholas was admitted after stomach pains

Anatomically detailed dolls: They express what words cannot by Patti Linebaugh, whose two-year-old granddaughter, Amy Sue Seitz, was raped, mutilated, and murdered by Theodore Frank in March 1978—just weeks after his release from the Atascadero State Hospital. Despite his 20-year history of child molestation, the articulate Frank not only had persuaded staff psychiatrists that he was rehabilitated, but was showcased before other inmates as an example of what therapy could accomplish. Although Frank was sentenced to death in the Seitz case, the trial judge acknowledged that he could be freed in 12 years for good behavior. "When he said that, I decided to do everything in my power to prevent Frank from ever being released," says Linebaugh.

Background: One of SLAM's first accomplishments was eliminating California's "Mentally Disordered Sex Offenders" program, which had allowed Frank to be treated rather than punished. The group also pressured legislators into requiring a minimum of three years in prison for all repeat offenders and for first-time offenders who used force or engaged in "substantial" sexual conduct, such as oral, vaginal or anal intercourse. The Colorado SLAM also plans to reintroduce a bill requiring an investigation into the background of applicants for youth-related jobs. Though of questionable constitutionality, Colorado SLAM cofounder Becky Davis argues that the bill is "only reasonable. [Molesters] don't pick these kids up in bars, they go where the kids are."

Critics of SLAM regard it as the "castration fringe." They argue that putting child molesters into prison without therapy will only reinforce their drives and thus ultimately increase their threat to society. One reason is that child molestation violates even the honor code of convicts: pedophiles who admit they're in prison are likely to be beaten by fellow inmates. If they discuss their urges with mental-health authorities, they jeopardize their release. Consequently, says Dr. Abel, the imprisoned molester "focuses more and more on his fantasies and he comes out the way he came in." Abel believes that molesters can be successfully treated. At Abel's Sexual Behavior Clinic, the only voluntary, free, outpatient program in the country, a staff of 17 uses behavior-modification techniques to make child-oriented fantasies repulsive to molesters.

Testimony: Sex-abuse experts are also developing ways to shepherd young victims through the criminal-justice system. At the Children's Hospital in Washington, psychologists, social workers, doctors and a lawyer are available around the clock to treat child-molestation victims for injuries, test for venereal disease and collect medical evidence to use in court. In Baltimore, the State's Attorney's Sexual Offense Task Force has managed to surmount one of the foremost obstacles in prosecuting these cases: getting credible testimony from young victims, who are usually fuzzy about when and where the abuse occurred. Taskforce chief Edwin Wenck has successfully used childlike—but reliable—testimony as, "It happened two days after Peggy's birthday party." He prepares children for the trial by walking them through the courtroom and making the sort of "evil eyes" a defense lawyer might use to intimidate them. In New Mexico, the prosecution is allowed to videotape children's testimony in certain cases to spare them the trauma of appearing in open court.

Despite the legal prejudices against child testimony, there is good reason to believe that most youngsters are telling the truth. "The younger a kid is, the more believable he is," claims Gerry Ronneburger, a member of a Long Island citizens group called "Reform All Sexual Child Abuse Laws." David Lloyd of Children's Hospital in Washington suggests that a child who suddenly becomes familiar with the technical names for genitalia or can describe sex in any detail may well have been abused. Sometimes children come away from the experience with sexualDubious feelings. Rhoda Mills Sommer, a sex-abuse counselor at the Pittsburgh Action Against Rape, says that parents should be aware that child victims may have experienced pleasure as well as fear. "One of the ways we mess kids up is to tell them they only had bad feelings," says Sommer.

Children are frequently flighty, too. "There are kids who are terribly seductive," says Jean Lothian, a vice president of the research center Odyssey Institute. "Around the wrong people, that behavior will be misinterpreted and exploited." Sex-abuse experts encourage parents to teach their children the difference between acceptable and unacceptable ways for them to be touched, as well as who has the right to touch them. Molesters are as threatening to children as drunk drivers, says Dr. Abel, and children should learn how to avoid them—just as they learn to look both ways when they cross the street.

aches kept him from school. Asked to draw a picture of himself, Nicholas included male genitals and female breasts on the figure. Under questioning by the staff, he admitted that at camp the previous summer he had been sodomized by a counselor. As his drawings suggested, the assault had distorted his self-image. "He was tormented by a man and could only understand it by seeing himself as someone feminine," explained Burgess. "He thought he had become like a girl."

The hospital's pediatric clinic has a staff of 20 trained nurses to treat young victims of sexual abuse, each handling as many as eight cases at a time. Children visit the clinic once a week for the first few months and then twice a month for as long as a year. As they draw and talk in brightly painted rooms, their phobias emerge and in time can be purged. Follow-up studies by City Hospital show that roughly 90 percent of the children resume normal lives. Sophie, who is black, had been assaulted by a white man and had developed a fear of all white males. She is now growing friendly with the hospital's white male doctors. Nicholas worried that because he had been sodomized, he would turn homosexual. Over time his counselor convinced him that the fear was groundless, and the hormone therapy eventually disappeared from his self-portraits. Says Bernhard: "We don't want the children to bury or to dwell on their sexual abuse. We want them to put it into perspective."

Prosecution: In addition to their duties at the clinic, the nurses work with the children who testify at the molester's trial. Sometimes they also assist in the prosecution; the Suffolk County district attorney plans to call Lorna Bernhard as a witness in the trial against the man accused of molesting Sophie. Other hospitals around the country now offer treatment similar to the services available at Boston City Hospital. And today more than 150 communities nationwide field teams specially trained to treat molested children. In the run-up to the evidence that untreated victims of sexual abuse frequently grow up to become molesters themselves, the new programs may help break a very vicious circle.

Convicted Priest Named in Earlier Molestations

Records Show Roemer Admitted Homosexual Acts With Santa Barbara Boys

By JAMES QUINN, Times Staff Writer

A former Thousand Oaks parish priest who last week was placed on 10 years probation for molesting 15 local boys has admitted to molesting an equal number of youngsters during an earlier assignment in Santa Barbara, according to court documents.

The Rev. Donald Patrick Roemer, a 39-year-old admitted homosexual, reportedly made the new admission during interviews with Ventura County Probation Department staff members prior to his sentencing by Ventura Superior Court Robert L. Shaw.

According to the interviews, Roemer admitted molesting about 15 young boys during assignments at two Santa Barbara area Catholic parishes between 1970 and 1975.

In pre-sentencing interviews, Roemer also told probation officers that he twice sought help from priest-counselors in Santa Barbara and that he told the counselors about his child molestations. No charges were filed in Santa Barbara against Roemer, according to Ventura County prosecutors.

Roemer, known affectionately as "Father Pat," to youths he counseled at St. Pascual Baylon Catholic Church in Thousand Oaks from 1978 to 1981, pleaded no contest in 1981 to three felony counts of child molestation. He also signed a confession admitting to molesting 12 other boys ages 6 to 14 in the Conejo Valley.

For the past two years, Roemer, who remains a priest, has been undergoing court-ordered treatment at Atascadero State Hospital aimed at reorienting his sexual interest away from boys to adult males.

At last week's hearing, Atascadero officials said Roemer had made substantial progress and should be released under strict probation.

Shaw approved a plan under which Roemer will live in a secluded Woodland Hills guest house and work at a West Los Angeles religious bookstore.

While turning aside a prosecution request that Roemer be sentenced to a year in jail, Shaw imposed a suspended sentence of 8 years, 4 months. The judge said the sentence would be carried out if Roemer should engage in further child molestation.

Shaw also ordered Roemer to pay the costs of therapy for his victims.

At an earlier pre-sentencing hearing for Roemer, parents of Conejo Valley victims testified they had notified church officials in Thousand Oaks and Los Angeles that their sons had been molested by Roemer but that nothing was done.

One mother testified she wrote a detailed letter to the office of Cardinal Timothy Manning in Los Angeles, but, in reply, received only a short note saying the would pray for us.

A spokesman at the Archdiocese of Los Angeles declined comment.

Another mother told how her son was molested by Roemer while on a church sponsored camping trip near San Bernadino. She quoted the boy as saying, "As he (Roemer) was talking about a wonderful God, I was started moving my hands down into my pants."

Several parents testified they notified Father Colm O'Ryan, pastor at St. Paschal Baylon.

of their sons' reports of molestation but that no action was taken against Roemer.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph E. Taylor said that "subsequent to church officials being notified, at least 11 more boys were molested."

A spokesman at St. Paschal said O'Ryan was an extended leave and unavailable for comment. The pastor previously declined comment. In the case.

During his three years at St. Paschal, Roemer was widely praised for his work with children and sometimes was asked by local police to counsel troubled youths.

The Concho Valley Parent-Teacher Assn. awarded him its 1980 Honor Service Award for his work as a counselor to children and organizer of youth activities.

After Roemer's arrest in January, 1981, parents began a letter-writing campaign on his behalf, accusing police and prosecutors of being too quick to believe Roemer's youngful accusers.

At the priest's preliminary hearing, a handful of parents physically shielded Roemer from reporters. One woman screamed at a photographer seeking to take the priest's picture.

In defending Roemer, parents contended that priests who work with young boys are frequently the victims of molestation accusations.

Such support ceased within 10 days of Roemer's arrest, however, when Dist. Atty. Michael Bradbury released a confession signed by Roemer detailing the numerous times he had molested thousands of boys.

Prosecutor Barry Taylor argued that the week that the high degree of trust Roemer had achieved in the Concho Valley, and his abuse of that trust, was a reason for saying him to jail for a year.

Taylor also noted that the molestation acts were premeditated and occurred over a very long period of time.

But Bruce Mayfield, Roemer's attorney, argued that the priest had cooperated in full, working with police and psychiatrists, and that every psychiatrist and therapist who has come in contact with Father Roemer has agreed that he is coping with his psychiatric problems.

Mayfield also contended that Roemer's stay of nearly 20 years at Atascadero was "for all practical purposes a form of incarceration,"

Taylor estimated that Roemer will have to pay therapy cost, for his victims, of at least $15,000 and probably a lot more as time goes on.
